- Chainsaw is a "hazardous" condition?
 - "ultra hazardous" v. "hazardous" condition
Did you think there is a legal term?
They don't have proof that there is a legal difference between "ultra"
v. a hazardous condition.
They are thinking in strict liability v.
~~negligent~~ liability

Paul's theories:

- Owned the chainsaw - allowed a untrained person.
- property owner + liable for worker

McGiure's cut down apple tree w/ Dulberg chainsaw

Nov 4, 2013 - Paul's #? Paul says that Mast called the mtg. Why?
Why call a mtg at that point if the $7500 was made & waiting for response - 7207

strict liability ultra hazardous activity + own

- strict liability
- voluntary participation
- own benefit & purpose.
