THE REPORTER: Sir, can you raise your right hand, please?

WILLIAM McGUIRE,

after being first duly sworn, deposeth and saith as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. MAST:

Q. Please state your name, sir.

A. William McGuire.

MR. MAST: This is the discovery deposition of William McGuire, taken pursuant to notice, in accordance with the applicable rules.

BY MR. MAST:

Q. Mr. McGuire, what's your address?

A. 1016 West Elder Avenue, McHenry, Illinois 60051.

Q. Okay. And you live with Carolyn?

A. Yes.

Q. She is your wife?

A. Yes.

Q. How long have you been married?

A. I am not remembering very good. '91. Since '91.

Q. Okay. And you have always lived at that address?

A. Let's see.

Q. I meant during your marriage.

A. I moved in in '89.

Q. At the Elder address?

A. Correct.

Q. Before you were married?

A. Yeah. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you have any prior marriages?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Any children?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Okay. And Carolyn has three children, two daughters and a son, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the son is David Gagnon?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And have you known Dave -- Well, let me ask this: How long before you were married did you know --

A. I have known Dave since 1984.

Q. How did you meet Dave?

A. Through his mother.

Q. So you have known Carolyn since '84 as well?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. Is that when you started kind of dating, that type of thing?

A. Yes.

Q. Where did you meet? Through what kind of --

A. Where did I meet Carolyn?

Q. How did you meet Carolyn? I'm sorry.

A. I met Carolyn at a marina.

Q. Okay. And are you retired?

A. Yes.

Q. What is your work -- Before you retired, what were you doing?

A. Carpenter.

Q. Okay. When did you retire?

A. '06.

Q. Is that because of the disability?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Are you -- What's your injury? What's your disability, back?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. So you are not able to do heavy type work; is that correct?

A. No.

Q. Is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So you have some type of permanent chronic back problem?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. I am sure you have used a chain saw in your life, correct, or not?

A. No.

Q. So you never used a chain saw?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Although we have a chain saw here on the table that I am understanding you and Carolyn purchased --

A. Correct.

Q. -- the same year as Paul's accident at your house?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And I might be wrong but I am taking this from what Carolyn said but Carolyn said that sometime early 2011 before Paul's June 2011 accident you two purchased this chain saw that's here on the desk today?

A. Yes.

Q. And it's a red bodied chain saw and it's a gas chain saw, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. From Efco, E-F-C-O, MT, 3500. That's what I am reading off of it; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Yes?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Who purchased it?

A. I did.

Q. Okay. Where did you purchase it from?

A. Menards.

Q. And since you have never used the chain saw before and I am assuming because of your injury you weren't planning on using this one, why did you purchase it?

A. Well, I was wondering if we had a storm come through and some trees come down I would learn how to use it. I am a carpenter.

Q. Okay.

A. And I pick up things very quick but if I don't have to use it, I don't want to use it.

Q. Okay. So you got it in case?

A. Emergency, correct.

Q. Okay. And you got it for your use, not anybody else's?

A. Yes.

Q. For yours, I mean, you physically?

A. Personally. Personally in case we have trees come down or any of that problems.

Q. But for you to use, correct? Not for you to have somebody else use. You got it for you to use; is that correct?

A. Basically I bought it if one of the kids wanted to borrow it, I would let them borrow it.

Q. I understand the options there, but I am asking the reason you bought it is for you to use, not somebody else to use?

A. Yes.

Q. There is options, anybody can use it. I get that.

A. Yes.

Q. But you bought it for yourself to use, though, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. How long have you known Paul Dulberg?

A. I probably met him in the '80s because David and him were probably friends and, you know, kids come over and come and go and that's probably when I ran across him the first time.

Q. All right. Before -- I think Paul's chain saw accident at your house was sometime June 2011; is that your understanding?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay. Did you know Paul to ever use a chain saw before his injury at your house in 2011?

A. Yes. He was on the property and David used the chain saw.

Q. Are we talking the day of his accident?

A. This is prior.

Q. Okay. Go ahead.

A. Because you were asking if Paul -- I ever saw him operate a chain saw.

Q. You are right.

A. And he was at the house. David cut down an apple tree in the backyard and I saw Paul use the chain saw on an apple -- the stump, the apple stump, to try to get it closer to the ground. That's the only time I ever seen him use the chain saw.

Q. Fair enough. Was that in the same year of his accident at your house?

A. That was prior.

Q. Same year, though?

A. You know, probably -- I believe it was. I believe it was.

Q. Carolyn seemed to think the apple tree cutting was sometime in May of that year.

A. You know, she was probably right. It was before the pine tree.

Q. The evergreens or --

A. Well, I call them evergreen, pine tree.

Q. Same thing. Right. Before Paul's accident?

A. Yes.

Q. Right. Okay. So according to you, sometime in May 2011 when the apple tree was being cut down by Dave, Paul was also there to help and he used it to cut the stump?

A. The stump, the tree stump.

Q. Down lower?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And that's the only time -- So the only time you ever saw Paul use a chain saw before his accident in June 2011 was the one time at your house when he cut the stump off that apple tree?

A. Yes. He got the stump lower to the ground.

Q. Is that true? What I just said, is that true? I will say it again because you interrupted me by adding on. Let's just answer what my question is.

Okay. My question is: The only time you ever seen Paul use a chain saw before his accident at your house in June 2011 was when he cut the stump down a little bit lower from the apple tree that was at your house in May of 2011?

A. Yes. The one David Gagnon cut down and he got the stump down lower, yes.

Q. Is what I just said true?

A. Yes. Yes.

Q. All right. Because you keep adding. Just answer -- If you don't understand my question, I will reword it, but try to answer what I am asking instead of adding on to what my question is, all right?

A. Okay.

Q. Got me?

A. Yeah.

Q. Did you see Paul doing anything with the use of the chain saw that you thought dangerous or unsafe before his accident?

A. No.

Q. Did you know that Paul -- and I'm not sure he was but I have to ask you. On the day of Paul's injury at your house in June 2011, you know, with Dave there, do you know if Paul was ever even using the chain saw that day?

A. No.

Q. Do you know? You don't know?

A. I don't know if he was using the chain saw.

Q. That's what I am asking. Okay. Let me ask you a couple questions and today -- Well, let me ask it this way: When is the last time you spoke or saw Paul?

A. Probably three weeks ago in a grocery store.

Q. Did you speak to him or just see him?

A. Said hi.

Q. Did he say hi to you?

A. Yes.

Q. Was that it?

A. Correct.

Q. Did you see him carrying anything?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Did you see him do anything that would suggest he wasn't having problems with his arm that he cut in this chain saw accident at your house in 2011?

A. I did not see him doing anything but walking with his mother.

Q. Okay. Before Paul's accident in June 2011 at your house, were -- did you consider him a friend, just a friend of your stepson's? How did you -- What was his status with you?

A. I considered him a friend of my stepson.

Q. Okay. So more of an acquaintance to you then? He wasn't somebody you'd socialize with outside of your son or something then?

A. Correct. If he wasn't around for my son, he didn't come around.

Q. So he wasn't like your buddy or anything?

A. No. No.

Q. Okay. So you were on good terms with him because he was obviously on good terms with your son before this accident occurred, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Did that change at all at least in your mind? Now Dave has spoken his peace so we don't even need to go into what Dave thinks, but in your mind has your feelings about Paul changed today versus before his injury at your house?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Good, bad, indifferent, what?

A. Well, I think he is a fibber.

Q. Okay. Fair enough. You are just being honest. Okay. Why do you think he is a fibber?

A. You know, it should be cut and dry. I mean, it was an accident.

Q. Right. All right.

A. And that's all I know.

Q. Is it -- So I am reading into this, you can tell me if I am wrong, but is it because a lawsuit was filed; is that why?

A. Duh. Yes.

Q. Well, listen, I have to ask these questions, sir. Let me just go through this and make it easy for me, all right?

A. I'm sorry. Yes.

Q. You are making it hard. The fact that a lawsuit was filed and you are part of that lawsuit has that made you feel that he is a fibber?

A. Well --

Q. Or I am trying to find out.

A. Basically, since the lawsuit was filed and, you know, it wasn't cut and dry, I just probably don't want nothing to do with him now, so.

Q. Okay. So let me -- again, I have -- because some of the words you have used, I have to ask you about it. Do you feel he is a fibber or you just don't like the fact that he filed a lawsuit against you?

A. I don't like the fact that he filed a lawsuit.

Q. Okay. So fibber meaning liar, you are not calling him a liar?

A. No. No. No. I'm sorry. Just because he filed a lawsuit.

Q. All right. So let me -- Again, I got to clear that up now. Do you believe in your mind that Paul is a fibber or a liar or don't you know?

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay. And I meant more about this lawsuit obviously. You don't know if he is lying or fibbing about the lawsuit because you don't know what happened, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Fair enough?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So you would not characterize him as a fibber for filing the lawsuit because you don't know if he is or not, true?

A. True. True. Yes.

Q. Before the accident occurred at your house in June 2011, did you believe Paul was a credible, honest soul, person?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Did you have any reason to believe that he would fib prior to this accident?

A. No.

Q. Okay. All right. Have you heard -- Well, let me put Dave aside for a minute. Other than through Dave, have you heard that Paul was trying to make more out of this accident than was warranted other than -- I'm sorry. Let me --

MR. BARCH: Other than David or his attorney.

BY MR. MAST:

Q. Yeah. Other than through Dave or Dave's attorney or your attorney I guess, have you heard either from Paul or anybody else --

A. No.

Q. -- something to the effect that Paul was trying to make more out of this claim or accident than he should?

A. I have not heard nothing, no.

Q. Okay. Have you ever heard Paul suggest since his accident that he was trying to get people to say things to make this case worth more than it is?

A. No.

Q. Have you ever heard Paul since his accident or anybody -- Strike that.

Have you ever heard Paul since his accident ever suggest that he may never have to work again in his life or he is going to be able to be rich or anything like that, those issues, since this accident?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Have you heard those through Dave?

A. No.

Q. Dave has not even told you those things that Paul has said supposedly?

A. David has told me that he is not telling the truth.

Q. Okay.

A. That's what he told me.

Q. All right. So Dave told you Paul is not telling the truth about the accident.

A. Correct.

Q. But has Dave ever told you since the accident that Paul was trying to get him to lie or get him to say things so that they can retire?

A. Dave --

Q. Hold on. Let me finish the question -- so he can retire or make a lot of money out of this case? Has he said that?

A. No. Dave has never told me that.

Q. Okay. Okay. So I just want to make one other question on that just to make sure I covered everything.

Is it fair to say then other than maybe through your attorney you have never heard any allegation or suggestion whether by Paul or anybody else, Dave, Paul, anybody, that Paul was trying to make more out of this case than was justified and/or trying to get people to talk in favor of him in return for anything? Have you ever heard those things?

A. Other than David's comments or maybe my attorney a little bit, I haven't heard nobody else say a word.

Q. Okay. Including Paul, correct?

A. Oh, yeah.

Q. Okay. So what did Dave tell you in that regard?

A. Dave was saying that somehow the accident happened different than when the way Paul was describing it.

Q. Okay. And that's not quite what I asked so let me go back because we are going to get into that. Okay.

Let me -- My question was framed more to other than your attorney, have you heard from anyone including Paul, including Dave, anyone, that Paul was trying to get people to fabricate or lie to his favor in this case or to help him recover in this case?

A. No. Nobody told me that.

Q. Not Dave, not Paul, nobody, right?

A. The only thing I am saying is the question you are asking me is the same question I am saying is if it's got to pertain to the accident, David didn't agree with the way Paul stated the accident happened. Other than that --

Q. And I understand there is two versions of the accident. I understand that.

A. Correct.

Q. My question was different, though. My question was: Have you ever heard, other than through your attorney, that either Paul or Dave suggested that Paul was wanting people to lie for him or to fabricate anything?

A. Other than Dave and my attorney, no. Nobody has told me anything about --

Q. I am including Dave in that. What did Dave tell you about Paul wanting him to fabricate or lie? Did he say that?

A. As far as Paul telling David to change the story or fabricate?

Q. Yeah. Did he do that?

A. David never mentioned it to me like that, no.

Q. Okay. So all right. So let me say the question again then. Is it fair to say, and putting your attorney's comments to you aside, okay, I am not asking you about your attorneys, but with regard to anybody else, you have never heard anyone suggest that Paul was trying to get Dave to lie, fabricate about this case, fair enough?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay. You never heard that?

A. No.

Q. All right. As I understand it, there are two evergreens in your backyard back in June 2011 that you guys wanted cut down so you could put a storage shed back there, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And as I understand it, I don't remember if it was you or your wife, but one of you asked Dave to do that work -- help with that work, right?

A. Yeah. Knock some lower branches down.

Q. Right. Who asked him to do that?

A. You know, I don't remember.

Q. Okay. It was either you or your wife?

A. Correct.

Q. And I think your wife said she was going to pay Dave something for his gas or whatever, right?

A. Basically, she'd give him a pair of pants. I don't know. They are always mothering the son, you know.

Q. Right. So what their arrangement was as far as money or --

A. Some kind of gift.

Q. Listen, you are going to make this last twice as long as -- I'd like to get you in and out of here as quick as possible but because I have to keep repeating the question, it's going to make it difficult so I am just trying to tell you we can probably get out of here real quick but I am going to have to keep backing up. So let me try to move forward but let me finish my question, okay?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. All right. So whatever the arrangement was between Carolyn and Dave as far as what he would get in return for doing this work, you don't know; fair enough?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And what was Dave's experience, if you know, in use of a chain saw before this accident with Paul at your house?

A. Stuff I have heard, a project he worked on through the course of me living there and physically seeing him prune the trees on the property with a chain saw.

Q. Okay.

A. That's about the extent of it.

Q. With a chain saw?

A. Correct.

Q. With your chain saw?

A. No. We didn't have it then.

Q. Okay. With his chain saw on his property?

A. No. Back when David lived at the house.

Q. With you?

A. On our property when David lived there --

Q. Right.

A. -- I don't know where he got the chain saw but he had a chain saw and he done some pruning on the property and that I have seen him do.

Q. Okay. Okay. And how often was that? Just the one time or was it repeatedly?

A. I would say a handful of times.

Q. Okay. Over the course of several years?

A. Yeah. Correct.

Q. And that was while he was living with you?

A. Yeah.

Q. And that's the only time you have known him to use a chain saw other than in 2011?

A. This goes back in, you know, in say in the mid '80s, in the '90s, you know, whenever he would go around the yard and prune stuff up with the chain saw.

Q. Did you have a chain saw at the house at that point?

A. Not mine. You know, he might have borrowed one from a friend or he might have had one. I don't know.

Q. Okay. In 2011 other than the two evergreen trees he was going to take some of the branches down off of, did he do -- did Dave do any other work with the chain saw on your property in that year?

A. Cut the apple tree down.

Q. Okay. Anything else?

A. No.

Q. Okay.

A. You know, he did a little chain saw work. No. That was about it. That was about it that I remember.

Q. Okay. So the apple tree and the two evergreens, those are the only chain saw work he was doing at your house in 2011, correct?

A. That I remember. You know, I'm trying to remember because I know Paul took some scrap from the front yard from a maple tree.

Q. Yeah. Your wife said just to --

A. And --

Q. Go ahead.

A. And I don't remember if he used the chain saw to cut them pieces up a little further but I don't remember that.

Q. What your wife said was a tree company took that tree down.

A. Yes, they did.

Q. Let me finish. And left some stumps or sections and Paul and Dave cut those sections up so

Paul could have firewood. That's what she said.

A. I --

Q. You don't know?

A. I know Paul took the wood, the bulk of the wood.

Q. Who cut it up, you don't know?

A. No.

Q. Okay. So the only time you know that Dave used a chain saw on your property in 2011 was the two evergreens that he was cutting branches off at the time Paul was hurt and the one apple tree?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. I think Paul's accident was June 28, 2011. Do you know that to be true or not?

A. You know, it sounds -- but I don't know.

Q. Do you know what day of the week it was?

A. No.

Q. Okay. You were retired so you would have not been working. Would you have been home at the time?

A. Yes.

Q. What were you doing at the time of Paul's injury?

A. I was in the house.

Q. Doing what?

A. Watching TV.

Q. Okay. Was that -- Do you know about what time Paul's accident occurred that day?

A. I don't remember.

Q. If you were watching TV when his accident occurred, would that have been pretty much what you were doing for most of the day prior to leading up to his accident or were you doing other things in the house?

A. I was in the house. I am trying to remember -- I might have walked around a little bit, you know, and then I was in the house.

Q. Did you ever go outside the house while Paul and Dave were in the backyard working?

A. No.

Q. So would it be fair to say that day of Paul's accident before his injury, you don't know who was doing what type of work, where, when or how?

A. That's true.

Q. Okay. And you never viewed at any time prior to Paul's injury what they were doing back there in the backyard, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Do you know what -- I know that you said Dave was going to cut down some limbs from the two evergreens, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And I think Carolyn then said ultimately once the limbs were down, you were going to have the tree company come out and cut the big base of the tree down, right?

A. Yes.

Q. So Dave's task was really just to take the branches off the base of the tree, right?

A. Yeah.

Q. All the way up?

A. No. No. It was too high.

Q. So just up to a certain level?

A. Yes. Yes.

Q. Okay. How high, do you know?

A. You know, I want to say, I don't know, 15, 20 some feet. You know, I don't know. It was tall trees. That's all I am saying.

Q. And the limbs at the bottom are bigger than the limbs at the top, right?

A. Yes.

Q. How wide -- if you have an estimate, how wide are the limbs, the branches, coming off the evergreens at the bottom of the trees?

A. Oh, they had to be -- in the base of it had to be, I don't know, four or five feet, something like that.

Q. How wide around?

A. Oh, wide around, inch and a half in diameter.

Q. Okay. All right. And do you have any idea of how many total branches needed to be cut down by Dave?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Was it more than 20?

A. Oh, yeah. Probably.

Q. There was a lot of them?

A. Probably, yes.

Q. Do you know when he started this work in relationship to the day of the accident?

A. The day before.

Q. Okay. Do you know how many hours he worked the day before?

A. Maybe an hour and a half, a couple hours I think. I really don't remember.

Q. Okay. So after working the day before, there would have been branches already on the ground, right?

A. Correct.

Q. And did you know Paul was coming over to help out?

A. No.

Q. Did you know who invited him over?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Did you even know he was on your property when --

A. Yes.

Q. Let me finish the question. Did you even know Paul was on your property by the time he got hurt?

A. Yes.

Q. How did you know he was on the property?

A. Because I seen him out in the yard. I petted his dog.

Q. You mean when he arrived?

A. Sometime through the course when he was there.

Q. Oh, because I asked you before if you ever saw them work during the process of their work and you said no, so.

A. I didn't see them working but I petted his dog.

Q. Oh, so you knew he was there because his dog was there?

A. Yes.

Q. You didn't know he was there by seeing him?

A. Yes. I seen him on the property.

Q. All right. When he got there or during the course of the day?

A. I don't know when the exact time he arrived but I looked out in the yard and there was him and his dog.

Q. Okay. And did you go outside when you saw him there?

A. Maybe I was outside or something. I don't remember coming in and out but --

Q. This is what I am trying to understand, you said you never saw what they were doing.

A. Right.

Q. Paul and Dave, so I am assuming what did the dog come inside and that's when you petted him or when did you pet the dog?

A. They were working behind the garage and I didn't go behind the garage where they were working but if you come up to the back -- the back of the house, before you go around the garage, that's where I saw David, Paul and the dog. I went outside, petted the dog, said hi to Paul and I went back in the house.

Q. All right. So you were only outside a minute or two?

A. Yeah. Not long.

Q. Okay. And you went out there specifically to pet the dog and say hi to them or for some other reason?

A. You know, I might have been taking out a bag of trash. I don't remember.

Q. Okay. And where you saw Paul and Dave, were they engaged in the tree work at the time or had they taken a break? What were they doing?

A. No. No. Just chitchatting.

Q. Okay. So this is before they began work that day, during the midst of their work, do you know?

A. I couldn't tell you.

Q. Okay. What time was this, do you know?

A. No. I don't remember.

Q. Do you know how long Paul was at the property already by the time you went back to pet the dog and say hi to him?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Where you saw them was that in the area that they would have been working to cut the tree down --

A. No.

Q. -- or was that somewhere else?

A. It was in -- It was like by the driveway and the work was in the back of the -- towards the back of the yard. They were in the -- by the -- say around the back door of the back porch.

Q. Of the house.

A. Correct.

Q. Why were they there in relationship to the work they were doing? Do you have any idea?

A. No. I don't know what they were doing. They were standing there talking and the dog was sitting there.

Q. All right. Your wife was inside?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you know your wife ever to go outside while they were working that day?

A. She might have -- Go ahead.

Q. Did you know if your wife was ever outside that day of Paul's injury before his injury?

A. I don't keep track of her.

Q. So the answer is you don't know?

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay. All right. So when you went outside, you met up with them kind of at the rear of the house?

A. Yes.

Q. But they were not engaged in the work at the time, right?

A. Right.

Q. And you pet the dog and went back inside?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And that's the extent of your time outside the house prior to Paul's injury to your knowledge?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay. So you don't know who was doing what that day, when and how, fair enough?

A. Yes. I don't know.

Q. As far as Dave and Paul, you don't know who was doing what -- whose tasks were what tasks or what they were doing, fair enough?

A. I don't know. I don't know.

Q. Is that fair enough then?

A. That's -- I don't know. Correct.

Q. Okay. What is your first knowledge or notice of Paul's accident then?

A. I heard some commotion and I ran outside and they were getting in the vehicle to go to the -- to get patched up.

Q. To go to the hospital?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay. So was Paul's arm already wrapped?

A. You know, I am trying to remember if my wife was getting him a towel or something like that. I don't know but all I know is they were beelining it for the -- a vehicle.

Q. Okay. So they were on their way from the house to the car?

A. Yeah. Yeah. So I might have caught a glimpse of them by the back door going to the -- I am trying to remember and then something about -- oh. Yeah. I did hear him say from the vehicle please watch my dog.

Q. Okay. Paul said that?

A. Yes. Yeah.

Q. It was Paul's dog?

A. Yes and I believe he was already in the vehicle when he yelled out the window that.

Q. Okay. So they were already basically gone --

A. Yeah.

Q. You didn't have a chance to talk to them, right?

A. I did not talk to them.

Q. So by the time they were leaving for the hospital in the car that you saw, you didn't know what happened other than there must have been some injury?

A. Correct.

Q. Did you know who was injured?

A. Yes. Paul.

Q. How did you know that?

A. My wife said Paul is injured.

Q. Did she say how he got injured?

A. No.

Q. Okay. After he left, Paul left with Dave to the hospital, when did you next see Paul and Dave?

A. When they came back from the hospital.

Q. How many hours later?

A. It seemed like three, four.

Q. And did you speak to Paul and Dave?

A. Yeah.

Q. What did they say?

A. Well, they weren't talking too much. I asked Paul how he is feeling. He said I am a little sore and I asked David, you know, and Dave says not too good. You know, he says -- weren't in a very talkative mood.

Q. Not too good meaning Paul wasn't too good or what?

A. Well, Paul basically just came back and he -- I am trying to figure out how he got home. Maybe Mike --

Q. I am not evening asking that right now.

A. Okay.

Q. My question is: What did Paul and Dave say when they arrived home at the hospital? You said Paul said I am sore. Then David --

A. David really wasn't talking at all.

Q. Did either of them discuss how the accident occurred with the chain saw?

A. No. No.

Q. How long were they back at the house? Short -- Were they only there for a short period of time?

A. Yes. Yes.

Q. And did they both leave again?

A. I am trying to remember how he got home.

Q. I'm not asking how anybody got home. I am asking once they arrived home with Paul and Dave, they then left again or don't you know that?

A. You know, I don't remember if he came back to our house or he came back to his house.

Q. Who is "he"? Who, Paul?

A. After the emergency room.

Q. Who?

A. Paul.

Q. Who is "he"? Okay.

A. I don't remember if he came back to our house or I don't remember if David drove him directly home to his house. I don't remember that. I am trying to remember that.

Q. Okay. All right. So when -- You would not have talked at least --

A. Wait a minute. I do remember now. He did come back to our house and I asked him how you doing and he says okay. And then --

Q. Who is "he"? I don't know who you are talking about.

A. Paul, the guy that got hurt.

Q. Paul said I am okay?

A. I asked him how are you doing? Paul said I am okay.

Q. Okay. Did he say anything else?

A. No.

Q. And then what did Dave say?

A. Dave didn't really talk.

Q. Okay. How long did they stay home?

A. A minute or something. He was collecting on the dog.

Q. Okay. Then what did they do?

A. Let's see. Mike McArtor picked the dog up. Maybe he took Paul, too. I don't remember.

Q. All right.

A. I don't remember.

Q. At least what Carolyn says is that Dave and Paul drove away to fill his prescription and then Dave came back alone.

A. You know, they could have. They could have.

Q. So you don't know that?

A. Right.

Q. Okay. All right. So by the time Dave returned home, whether Paul was with him or not, you don't know?

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay. Did Dave tell you -- now this is still the same day of the accident? Did Dave tell you how the accident occurred?

A. No.

Q. Has Dave ever described for you how the accident occurred?

A. Yeah.

Q. When? First time.

A. Probably a day or so later.

Q. What -- So a day or so after the accident, Dave had a conversation with you?

A. Yeah.

Q. What did he say?

A. He says -- How did it go? He stuck his arm --

Q. Who is "he"? I need names so I know who you are talking about.

A. Hang on. Hang on. He said that Paul stuck his arm --

Q. Wait. Stop. Dave said that Paul --

MR. BARCH: Try to use names when you are referring to the people. That's all he is asking.

THE WITNESS: Okay. David said that when working with Paul, somehow Paul did something wrong and got his arm cut.

BY MR. MAST:

Q. Did he explain what he did wrong?

A. No. He really didn't.

Q. Did he say that he got his arm cut on the chain saw?

MR. BARCH: "He," David?

MR. MAST: You got me.

THE WITNESS: David said he got his arm -- Paul got his arm cut on a chain saw.

BY MR. MAST:

Q. But David didn't specify how or what he did to get cut?

A. No. No.

Q. Okay. Did Dave ever specify to you at any other conversations about what Paul did and why it caused him to get cut by the chain saw?

A. No.

Q. So other than that first conversation with Dave where he just described generally that Paul did something wrong to get cut --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- did you have any other conversations with Dave about how the incident occurred?

A. No.

Q. Was that the only time?

A. Basically, yeah.

Q. Okay. Dave never got more specific than that?

A. No.

Q. All right. So any time you have talked to Dave it's always been, well, Paul did something wrong to get cut but he didn't specify anything more than that?

A. No.

Q. Is that correct?

A. Yes. He didn't want to talk about that, and he wasn't --

Q. Is that correct what I just said?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. Did you ever talk to Paul about how the accident occurred?

A. No.

Q. Since the accident, have you ever talked to Paul?

A. Yes.

Q. How many times?

A. Maybe -- I am trying to think here. That may be once since the accident happened I have seen him in the grocery store.

Q. Is that the one you talked about earlier today?

A. Correct.

Q. Where you just said hi to him?

A. Correct.

Q. So since Paul's accident at your house with the chain saw, you have only spoken to him once and that was at the supermarket when you said hi to him and he said hi to you and that was it, right?

A. You know, I think he did come over. I don't remember. I think he did come over and I asked him, you know, how you doing or something like that and it was probably a week or so after.

Q. Okay. Let me go back then. My question was how many times have you spoken to Paul since the accident. Your answer is twice, right?

A. Probably twice.

Q. Okay. The first time is one week after the accident where Paul came over to the house, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And who was present?

A. My wife.

Q. Okay. And Paul?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And what -- How long was Paul there?

A. A couple minutes with his dog.

Q. And what did Paul say to you or either of you?

A. Well, you know, basically said I am going along. Everything is fine and, you know, my wife said how you doing and exchanged pleasantries and that was about it.

Q. Okay. Now, this is kind of what I'm wanting to find out. Paul has obviously -- at least to me obviously, has had some follow-up treatment and has had some difficulties with his arm because of this accident. Okay. Are you aware of that or not?

A. I have heard that, yes.

Q. Okay. So when you say a week afterwards that he said I am doing fine, are you saying that everything is great? He is not having --

A. Well, he seemed to be --

Q. Let me finish the question. Are you saying that he related to you that everything is great, he is having no problems or was he just trying to exchange pleasantries and say yeah, everything is okay?

MR. BARCH: I just object to the form of the question but go ahead if you understand it.

THE WITNESS: When the guy said he is fine, I thought he was healing well and meant I am doing fine.

BY MR. MAST:

Q. Okay. Did he describe for you what he meant by fine other than use the word --

A. No. No. No.

Q. -- other than use the word fine in response to your inquiry?

A. No. He didn't describe fine.

Q. Okay. Did he say I am pain free?

A. No.

Q. Did he say I am back to normal or anything in that regard?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Did he ever describe for you, again Paul, how the specifics of his accident occurred?

A. No.

Q. After that couple minutes at your house, he left and you only saw him one other time, that was at the supermarket where you exchanged hi's and that was it?

A. Yes. Yes.

Q. And that was the one you described earlier on in this deposition when you met him at the grocery store?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And you never spoken or talked to Paul other than those two times since the accident, correct?

A. Yeah.

Q. All right. I think I am -- Oh, wait. I wanted to ask you since I got these photographs, I might as well get these marked. I will just mark one of them because they are all the same.

(Whereupon, Deposition Exhibits 1, 2 and 3 were marked and dated.)

BY MR. MAST:

Q. Okay. I just marked three exhibits. The first one is a photograph we took today of the chain saw that's on the table in front of you, correct?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Yes. I need you to verbalize the answer yes.

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Is that the chain saw you have talked about over the course of your deposition today? That's the chain saw that Dave was using at the time of Paul's accident?

A. Yes.

Q. And that's the chain saw that you purchased earlier in the year new from Menards, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And Exhibit 2, is that a true and accurate copy of the manual for that same chain saw you purchased?

A. I believe so.

Q. And Exhibit 3 I believe is some additional paperwork that came with it as well as the receipt on the top, correct?

A. I assume so, yes.

Q. Well, take a look. I need you to make sure. Is that what that is? Just take a look through all of those documents in Exhibit 3 just to make sure those were all documents that came with the purchase of the chain saw.

A. Yes. They came with the chain saw.

Q. So all of the materials, Exhibit 2 and 3, all those materials came with the purchase of the chain saw, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And they are all accurate copies of those documents, correct?

A. Yeah.

MR. MAST: Okay. Thank you. That's all I have.

MR. ACCARDO: I do not have any questions.

EXAMINATION

BY MR. BARCH:

Q. Just earlier when Mr. Mast was asking you about what you knew about Dave's experience with a chain saw, you mentioned that he did some pruning of trees. You saw him do that around your home?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Yes?

A. Yes.

Q. Then you also said you heard some stuff about him using chain saws?

A. Yes.

Q. And when you say you heard some stuff about him using chain saws, what were you referencing?

A. I was referencing to him through the course of the years when he was living there when I was living there when he was out helping friends and coming back home and saying something like I did some work for -- pruning some trees on some people's property or, you know, helping a friend out.

Q. Okay. So -- And to the extent David may have had some experience with a chain saw away from your home, you wouldn't know about that, you weren't there; is that fair?

A. True.

Q. And at any time prior to Mr. Dulberg being injured on June 28, 2011, did you have any reason to be concerned about the manner or method that David was using the chain saw?

A. No. I had no concern.

Q. At any time that day or the day before, did you go out there and tell him how you wanted him to use the chain saw?

A. No.

Q. Did you tell him how you wanted him to go about tending to the trees, the pruning of the trees?

A. No.

Q. Is it fair to say that you left all the cutting and the decisions on what to do and how to do it up to David?

A. Yes.

Q. And with respect to what David and Paul may have talked about, if anything, that day, how they were going to go about using the chain saw, what they were going to do with respect to those trees, you weren't part of any of that?

A. True. I was not part of any of it.

MR. BARCH: That's all I have.

MR. ACCARDO: I don't have anything.

MR. MAST: All right.

MR. BARCH: We are going to -- We are just going to reserve. Carolyn is going to look at her transcript. I will give you a chance to read it, too, before it's final.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

DR. SCOTT SAGERMAN,

called as a witness and having been first duly sworn under oath, was examined and testified as follows:

E X A M I N A T I O N

BY MR. ACCARDO:

Q. Doctor, could you please state your name and spell it for the court reporter?

A. Scott David Sagerman, S-A-G-E-R-M-A-N, M.D.

MR. ACCARDO: Let the record reflect this is the discovery deposition of Dr. Scott Sagerman taken pursuant to notice, taken in accordance with the Rules of the Circuit Court of McHenry County, the Rules of the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois and any other applicable Local Court Rules.

Q. Good morning, Dr. Sagerman. I'm going to be asking you some questions today about a patient of yours by the name of Paul Dulberg, okay?

A. Yes.

Q. You've given depositions before?

A. Yes.

Q. You're familiar with the ground rules governing depositions?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, we've been tendered a copy of your C.V. which we've marked as Exhibit No. 1 for identification. Is that relatively current and up-to-date?

A. Yes.

Q. And what kind of doctor are you?

A. Orthopedic surgeon.

Q. And do you have a specialty within the orthopedic field?

A. Yes.

Q. And what is that?

A. Hand and upper extremities.

Q. And you're currently affiliated with Hand to Shoulder Associates?

A. Yes.

Q. And that is in Arlington Heights, Illinois?

A. Yes.

Q. And that's where we're located today; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, do you have any independent recollection of Paul Dulberg?

A. Somewhat.

Q. You have your chart here today for Mr. Dulberg; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And what you have in front of you, does that comprise your entire chart for Paul Dulberg?

A. I think he had a Volume 1 chart from previous treatments in 2003 and 2004. I don't have that whole chart, but I have the typed office notes from that chart.

Q. Okay. And then in regards to this accident or care and treatment starting in 2012, you have your complete chart for Mr. Dulberg; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Feel free to refer to your records and your notes when you need to. Now, the accident that we're here to talk about took place on June 28th of 2011. And it looks like Mr. Dulberg first came to see you on February 27th of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And he was referred to you by a Dr. Frank Sek; is that correct?

A. I'm not sure. Dr. Sek was the addressee of my correspondence from the first office note.

Q. Do you know what kind of doctor Dr. Sek is? Is he an internist?

A. I don't know. But Mr. Dulberg had been to my office before that when he had treatment in 2003 and 2004.

Q. Right. Let's talk a little bit about that 2003 and 2004 treatment. What did he come to your office for generally?

A. He came for a left arm condition of cubital tunnel syndrome.

Q. And what is cubital tunnel syndrome?

A. Ulnar nerve dysfunction due to compression at the elbow.

Q. And what is the ulnar nerve?

A. The ulnar nerve is one of the main peripheral nerves in the arm that passes behind the elbow in a region called the cubital tunnel before it extends down to the inner side of the hand to provide sensation and motor function to the muscles.

Q. Generally what were Mr. Dulberg's complaints in relation to his left arm when he came to see you back in 2003, 2004?

A. Numbness and tingling in the ulnar nerve distribution of the left hand.

Q. And what is the ulnar nerve distribution of the left hand?

A. The inside of the hand, the ring and small fingers especially.

Q. And is there an indication from those records from 2003 and 2004 as far as the onset or triggering event for those symptoms that Mr. Dulberg complained of back then?

A. He said it was following a motor vehicle accident which occurred in March of 2002.

Q. Did he describe to you at all how that accident happened or explain any type of the mechanism of that particular injury or those symptoms that he was claiming?

A. I don't recall, and those are not reflected in my notes.

Q. And what would be some common causes of cubital tunnel syndrome?

A. Well, the cause is compression on the nerve which may arise spontaneously. But there are some other factors that can contribute to it or cause it such as a direct injury to the vicinity of the nerve, or sometimes strenuous manual activities can contribute to the nerve compression.

Q. Can repetitive use -- typing, using the computer, using a mouse, anything like that -- can that cause cubital tunnel syndrome?

A. No, I wouldn't think so; not those type of sedentary activities.

Q. When you said a direct impact to the vicinity of the nerve, where are we talking about? We're talking about over the elbow?

A. Yeah. It's the inner side of the elbow, toward the back where the nerve runs behind the joint.

Q. And you performed a couple of procedures to correct that cubital tunnel syndrome on Mr. Dulberg back then?

A. Yes.

Q. And were those procedures successful as far as you know?

A. I think so.

Q. So now when he first came to see you in February of 2012, what did he come to see you for?

A. For a right arm laceration of the forearm from a chain saw accident which occurred June 28, 2011.

Q. Did he tell you at all or give you any description of how this chain saw accident occurred?

A. No, not specifically.

Q. And I'm looking -- I'm referring to your February 29th letter to Dr. Sek. Mr. Dulberg indicates that he developed symptoms of numbness in the small finger with weakness; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there any indication as to when those symptoms started? Was it something that was immediate? Did it take some time?

A. I don't know.

Q. Did Mr. Dulberg ever provide you with any records from the emergency room shortly following this particular accident or did your office ever obtain any?

A. No, I don't believe so.

Q. His past medical history indicates remarkable for arthritis and cervical disc disease. Is the arthritis, would that have been located in the neck?

A. I don't know. He didn't specify.

Q. He was on some medications when he first came to see you?

A. Actually, he did specify degenerative discs in the neck. And the medications were naproxen, paroxetine, tramadol, cyclobenzaprine.

Q. Did he ever indicate to you that he ever experienced any symptoms relating to the degenerative disc disease in his neck?

A. Well, he said he had neck pain on the health information form that he filled out that day I first saw him.

Q. He didn't go into any more detail about that?

A. No.

Q. The medications, naproxen, what is that for or what is that medication?

A. That's an anti-inflammatory medication used for typically pain symptoms related to inflammation.

Q. And how about tramadol?

A. That's another type of analgesic pain medicine.

Q. And fluoxetine?

A. I don't know. He indicated that it was for depression.

Q. And cyclobenzaprine?

A. He said it was for muscle spasms.

Q. Now, you performed an examination when Mr. Dulberg first came to see you; is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And what were the results of that examination?

A. The right forearm showed a 7 centimeter transverse scar at the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm.

Q. And what area are we talking about there?

A. The inner side of the forearm between the elbow and the wrist. There was local tenderness and sensitivity to percussion with a positive Tinel's sign and paresthesias radiating into the small finger.

Q. What is a positive Tinel's sign?

A. Tapping or percussion over a peripheral nerve will elicit symptoms of sensitivity or shooting pain or electric shocks indicating nerve injury or nerve dysfunction.

Q. Is that a subjective or an objective finding?

A. Subjective.

Q. And then going on with his examination?

A. There was also sensitivity of the cubital tunnel region.

Q. And we're talking about on the right side; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And you already talked about when he came to see you previously in 2003, 2004 about the cubital tunnel region of his left arm; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And as far as --

A. I'm sorry, you said about the left arm?

Q. Right. Well, when he came to see you previously it was for the left?

A. Correct.

Q. And when he came to see you here it's for the right?

A. Correct.

Q. And then we get into wrist and elbow motion are unrestricted?

A. Yes.

Q. And then going on with his examination?

A. There was no atrophy. He was unable to adduct his small finger.

Q. What does that mean?

A. Bring the small finger closer to the other fingers, draw it back in. Flexion strength was grossly normal. Sensation was decreased to light touch in the small finger only with inconsistent two point discrimination.

Q. What does that mean, inconsistent two point discrimination?

A. His ability to sense one or two points on the fingertip was not consistently correct.

Q. You reviewed X-rays that were taken of his right forearm?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you review the films themselves or just the radiologist's report or both?

A. I think the films.

Q. And those appeared to be normal --

A. Yes.

Q. -- as far as fracture or anything like that?

A. There was no fracture or foreign body.

Q. And then there was an MRI that you reviewed from February 3rd of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And again, would that have been the film or the radiologist's report or both?

A. The films.

Q. And that indicates that no abnormality was seen; is that correct?

A. Yes. I think I also have copies of the report of the MRI in my file, although I didn't refer to that specifically in the report.

Q. Right.

MR. BARCH: Yeah, it did come in your records.

BY MR. ACCARDO:

Q. And if I could just look -- if I could refer you to the report of the MRI, under clinical history he gives complaints or a reason why this particular MRI was taken was weakness in the fourth and fifth fingers, is that correct, under clinical history?

A. Yes.

Q. And which are the fourth and fifth fingers?

A. I think the ring and small fingers.

Q. And also he was indicating pain in the forearm and hand?

A. Yes.

Q. And I know that the MRI came back normal. But under impression, I just wanted to ask you a couple of questions. It says that there's no forearm abnormality appreciated, but this does not exclude the possibility of an ulnar nerve impingement or injury, but there is no gross mass or abnormal infiltration along the expected course of the ulnar nerve. What does that mean?

A. Well, nothing abnormal was appreciated on these images. And I think the radiologist is saying that the lack of an imaging abnormality does not exclude the possibility that the nerve could have been injured.

Q. Then it goes on to state that there was no obvious tendon or muscle abnormality appreciated.

A. Yes.

Q. And it looks like your office received a copy of a nerve conduction report or nerve conduction study that was performed by Dr. Levin back in -- on August 10th of 2011? I have a copy of it if you want to take a look at it. It came in your records.

A. Oh, yes, I have it.

Q. Oh, okay.

A. This is a different exam here.

MR. BARCH: Is this March 13 of '12?

MR. ACCARDO: Oh, I'm sorry. That's the later one.

THE WITNESS: There's two.

BY MR. ACCARDO:

Q. Yes. You have both, right?

A. Yes.

Q. From August 10, 2011 and March 13, 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. Let's talk about that August 10, 2011. You reviewed a copy of that report from Dr. Levin?

A. Yes.

Q. And what did that indicate?

A. No electrophysiologic evidence of diffuse neuropathy.

Q. Is that significant to you at all?

A. Yes.

Q. How so? Obviously it's a negative finding?

A. Yeah. Diffuse neuropathy would possibly be a contributing cause of nerve symptoms if it was present, but this report states that it's not present.

Q. And sort of going back to when we asked you that question about, under the impression in the MRI report, about not excluding the possibility of an ulnar nerve impingement or injury, does that -- do the results from the nerve conduction study from August 10, 2011 sort of rule that out? Does that sort of take care of that little caveat, if you know what I mean?

A. Well, I don't think it rules it out either. I felt that additional testing was warranted to evaluate the possibility of nerve injury.

Q. Now, after taking the history and your examination and your review of the radiological studies as well as the nerve conduction study, you came up with an impression back in February of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And what was that impression?

A. Right forearm laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury.

Q. And what indications led you to come up with the impression of a probable partial ulnar nerve injury?

A. Well, he had a scar over the region of the forearm where the ulnar nerve travels. He said it was a deep laceration, so there's a possibility that the nerve was directly injured by the chain saw. And that he had symptoms of paresthesias, numbness and weakness, that could be attributable to an ulnar nerve injury. There were findings on examination of local sensitivity and altered sensation in the distribution of the ulnar nerve that again suggests the possibility of a nerve injury.

Q. And your plan was, I think as you said before, was to send him out for some additional testing?

A. Yes.

Q. And specifically, you wanted him to go get an EMG?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, what's the difference -- he had the nerve conduction study from Dr. Levin. What's the difference between a nerve conduction study and an EMG?

A. Well, an EMG is electromyography, where the muscles are tested for signs of denervation that would indicate a nerve injury.

Q. As opposed to a nerve conduction study which is what?

A. Yes. A nerve conduction study measures the velocity of the nerve impulses which is another way of detecting signs of a nerve injury.

Q. Why was it then that you wanted him to have an EMG if he had already had a nerve conduction study? Just because they measure two different things?

A. Yes. I think for a more complete assessment of the nerve function, an EMG in my opinion is warranted.

Q. And you first brought up the possibility of a surgery for nerve exploration pending the results of the EMG; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. What is nerve exploration surgery? I'm guessing it's somewhat self-explanatory, but in layman's terms if you could just sort of explain what you were talking about there.

A. A surgical procedure under anesthesia to expose the area of the presumed nerve injury to determine the extent of the injury and the need for nerve repair or other treatment if the nerve injury is confirmed.

Q. And he indicated that he would follow up with his EMG and actually go get that; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, you also have work status is no restriction. Did Mr. Dulberg give you any indication or do you know what he was doing for a living back in February of 2012?

A. He said he was involved in graphic design printing.

Q. Did he ever make any complaints or indicate to you that he was unable to perform his job duties back in February of 2012?

A. I don't recall.

Q. So Mr. Dulberg did go have the EMG; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And he went back to Dr. Levin who was the doctor that had performed the previous nerve conduction study?

A. Yes.

Q. And it looks like that EMG was done on March 13th of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And then he came back to see you on April 2nd of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And he indicated there was no change in his symptoms at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. And you reviewed the report of the EMG?

A. Yes.

Q. And what did that show?

A. There was no denervation and ulnar nerve conduction was within normal limits. And the report states there was no evidence of focal or diffuse peripheral neuropathy.

Q. And is that significant to you?

A. Yes.

Q. Why or how so?

A. It means that there's no documentation that the nerve was not functioning normally.

Q. And you performed an examination again of Mr. Dulberg --

A. Yes.

Q. -- in April?

A. Yes.

Q. His right forearm scar was stable and non-tender?

A. Yes.

Q. And he still had a positive Tinel's sign?

A. Yes.

Q. And you indicate that adduction of the small finger remains limited, consistent with a positive Wartenberg's sign. What is Wartenberg's sign?

A. The patient will have difficulty bringing the small finger back toward the other fingers, indicating weakness in one of the intrinsic muscles of the hand.

Q. And again, this sensitivity to percussion with a positive Tinel's sign and adduction of the small finger with a positive Wartenberg's sign, are those subjective or objective findings?

A. Well, Tinel's sign is purely subjective. The Wartenberg's sign, I suppose there's a voluntary component possibly, so I don't know if I would call it purely objective. I don't know how to answer that exactly.

Q. Okay.

A. I suppose it's partly both.

Q. And your plan was -- you gave him some different treatment options, and he did not wish to pursue that exploratory surgery; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. At least at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. You gave him a referral out for some therapy?

A. Yes.

Q. For strengthening and scar management. What is scar management?

A. Treatment for a sensitive scar from an injury. Maybe local soft tissue modalities being applied to the scar directly or scar mobilization with massage and stretching, those type of things.

Q. Would that be sort of just to loosen up whatever scar tissue there is in that area?

A. I suppose. Loosen up and diminish sensitivity, discomfort or abnormal sensation related to the scar.

Q. And again, his activity and work status was unrestricted?

A. Yes.

Q. He came back to see you to follow up in May of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And his complaints at that time were a little different than they had been previously?

A. Yes.

Q. How were they different?

A. He said he had persistent pain with use of his arm, especially gripping activities.

Q. That was something new to you?

A. Well, I didn't note that earlier. I don't know if he said it earlier or not, but it's not in my notes that way. He also had no change in other symptoms of numbness.

Q. And he indicated that the no change in his symptoms of numbness which is not bothersome?

A. Yes.

Q. And as far as the way that's written, would that indicate to you that his symptoms of numbness were not bothersome to him at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. And he claimed that his function was limited because of this pain?

A. Yes. That seems to be a new complaint compared to the initial evaluation.

Q. And upon examination, what were your significant findings, if any?

A. The right forearm scar was tender with positive Tinel's sign, local sensitivity. His finger flexion was full. There was no triggering or locking, no clawing. The Wartenberg's sign was still positive. The intrinsic strength was slightly weak.

Q. What is intrinsic strength?

A. Strength of the muscles in the hand that control movement of the fingers.

Q. And how is that measured?

A. With resistance by the examiner.

Q. And you said that there was no --

A. I mean, it can't be graded numerically, but a judgment is made about whether the strength of the muscles is normal or weak.

Q. During that, is there any comparison made between a patient's left and right sides, whatever side they're complaining of versus, I guess for lack of a better term, a normal side or an asymptomatic side?

A. Yes. You can judge whether one hand is weak when you compare it to the other side being examined simultaneously.

Q. And you indicate no clawing. What is clawing?

A. An abnormal posture of the finger related to muscle weakness or muscle imbalance which can be seen in an ulnar nerve injury situation.

Q. And under your treatment plan you bring up again the possibility of surgery --

A. Yes.

Q. -- for ulnar nerve neurolysis.

What is that?

A. Neurolysis is an exploration of a nerve, surgical exploration of the nerve to determine the extent of injury to the nerve, possibly decompress the nerve or release it from scar.

Q. And he was going to follow up with Dr. Levin for medication, and then he was also going to see Dr. -- how do you pronounce his name?

A. Dr. Biafora is my partner.

Q. Does he have the same specialty as you?

A. Yes.

Q. Why was it that he wanted to go see him? Or did you send him to the other doctor for a second opinion?

A. I think I possibly suggested it, yes.

Q. And again, his activity and work status as of May of 2012 was still unrestricted?

A. Yes.

Q. And he did go see your partner a few days later in May of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And did you have a chance to review Dr. Biafora's report?

A. Yes.

Q. Was there anything significant to you in there? Was there anything different than what you had found?

A. Yes.

Q. And what was that?

A. He noted a positive Tinel's at the cubital tunnel.

Q. Why is that significant to you?

A. That's another potential location for compression or dysfunction of the ulnar nerve.

Q. Which would also explain the symptoms that Mr. Dulberg was complaining of to you?

A. Some of them. It wouldn't explain scar symptoms at a more distal location, but it may explain nerve symptoms in the ulnar nerve distribution of the hand.

Q. And what were Dr. Biafora's recommendations?

A. He thought there was a likely partial ulnar nerve injury in the right forearm and ulnar nerve neuritis. And he felt the patient may benefit from an ulnar nerve exploration with neurolysis, including cubital tunnel decompression with possible anterior transposition, and exploration of the tender portion of the scar in the forearm.

Q. And then Mr. Dulberg follows up with you after his visit with Dr. Biafora?

A. Yes.

Q. It looks like he had started on some medication from Dr. Levin?

A. Yes.

Q. And what was that that he started on?

A. Neurontin.

Q. And what is that?

A. Medication used to treat nerve related pain.

Q. Have you used that drug to treat nerve related pain in your patients?

A. Well, I don't prescribe it myself, but I've had patients who were prescribed that medication by other physicians to treat nerve related pain.

Q. Why is it that you don't prescribe it yourself?

A. Well, there's a potential for side effects, and sometimes the dose has to be adjusted. And I think it's best prescribed by a physician with more expertise in that particular drug.

Q. Would a doctor with more expertise be Dr. Levin?

A. Yes, a neurologist.

Q. He did indicate no change in his symptoms despite taking this medication and that he did have some side effects. Did he tell you what those side effects were?

A. I don't recall.

Q. And indicates that interfere with functioning. Did he tell you what kind of functioning that he was talking about?

A. I don't recall. That medication can cause some drowsiness. I don't know if that's what he was referring to. I don't have any recollection of this conversation.

Q. So it's not necessarily, as far as you recall or would know, specifically related to having functioning difficulties with his hand or his arm?

A. I don't know.

Q. And Mr. Dulberg had then made the decision to go ahead with the surgery?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, he had been undergoing some therapy which in June of 2012 he said was discontinued due to lack of progress. Was that therapy that you had referred him out for?

A. I think at one point I had referred him for therapy. I don't know if anybody else had as well. We do have some records from the therapist. I see one from April 22, 2013 that has me listed as the referring physician. And it says discontinue occupational therapy with home exercise program.

Q. That was in April of 2013?

A. Yes.

Q. Who was that from, what therapy?

A. Dynamic Hand Therapy.

Q. I was just sort of interested because, going back to your note from May 14th of 2012, he indicated that the therapy was beneficial, and then in June of 2012 he indicates that it was discontinued due to lack of progress. I just didn't know whether your notes reflected or if you had any of the notes from any physical therapy showing any lessening of effectiveness or anything between May of 2012 and June of 2012.

A. I don't have those in my file. They may have been received and discarded. I don't know.

Q. And your examination of Mr. Dulberg on June 6th of 2012 revealed what that was significant?

A. He had pain with gripping activities localized to the forearm region, resulting in increased numbness in the ring and small fingers with weakness of his grip.

The rest of it was I think unchanged from what we had previously documented.

Q. And you were able to duplicate the positive Tinel's sign at the cubital tunnel area?

A. Yes.

Q. And it says without ulnar nerve subluxation. What does that mean?

A. The nerve did not subluxate or move out of position when the elbow was bent. So the nerve was stable.

Q. You went over your plan for surgery with him, he said everything was good to go with that, is that right, insofar as he wanted to have the procedure done?

A. Yes. I think he wanted to proceed, and he understood the risks and benefits and possible complications and the expected outcome and the prognosis. And informed consent was obtained for the procedure.

Q. Now, you note the prognosis is guarded in terms of symptom improvement. Why is that or why was that at that time?

A. Well, we didn't know exactly how much improvement there would be, so that's why the prognosis is guarded. It's hard to predict how much better the symptoms will be when we don't know the extent of the nerve injury until we explore it. So we just couldn't make a firm prognosis without knowing the extent of the nerve injury and how it would respond to the surgical treatment.

Q. And he did have the procedure then on July 9th of 2012?

A. Yes.

Q. And you performed that surgery?

A. Me and Dr. Biafora.

Q. Biafora, okay. Sorry if I'm mispronouncing his name.

A. I'll tell him.

Q. Your preoperative diagnosis and postoperative diagnoses were the same; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. As far as under what circumstances the procedure was performed, is that under general anesthesia, local anesthesia, inpatient, outpatient?

A. I think it was outpatient surgery under regional block anesthetic which would also include sedation.

Q. Would he have been under at that time or more like in like twilight? He wouldn't have been all the way under.

A. Not a general anesthetic, but he would have been sedated which you might refer to as twilight. And his arm was blocked with local anesthetic so that it was numb during the procedure.

Q. And what were your findings? Now, there were a couple of components to this procedure; is that correct?

A. Two, yes.

Q. One was to the right elbow region which would have been the cubital tunnel release; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the other one was in regards to the area of the right forearm; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. In regards to the cubital tunnel area, what procedure and what findings did you come up with during that?

A. Cubital tunnel release was performed and there was thickening of the cubital tunnel ligament with scarring of the ulnar nerve to the floor of the cubital tunnel and local constriction. The nerve also appeared constricted at the flexor pronator aponeurosis. And there was another structure above the cubital tunnel but no constriction of the nerve at that level.

Q. What does all of that mean in layman's terms?

A. That he had a pinched nerve at the elbow.

Q. Is that similar to the findings in regards to his left arm back in 2003, 2004?

A. I don't have the operative report in the records here from that procedure, so I can't tell you the specific findings that were noted.

Q. The findings at least in your operative report from July of 2012 in regards to the cubital tunnel, are those consistent with cubital tunnel syndrome? Is that sort of what we're talking about?

A. Yes.

Q. And we had already talked about some common causes of cubital tunnel syndrome before?

A. Yes.

Q. In regards to the area where the injury was -- strike that.

In regards to the right forearm, what did you find?

A. There was extension of the laceration into the subcutaneous tissues and fascia overlying the flexor carpi ulnaris muscle. A piece of retained absorbable suture material was present. The muscle fibers were intact. The ulnar nerve was intact beneath the muscle belly. There was no visible scarring around the ulnar nerve at this level.

Q. And again, in layman's terms, what does that mean?

A. It means that the laceration from the chain saw was relatively deep -- below the skin, below the fat, and into the muscle covering -- but the muscle fibers were intact. There was a suture material present presumably from when the laceration was originally repaired at the time of the injury. And the nerve was not cut or visibly scarred in that area.

Q. Was that, what you found during the procedure in regards to the right forearm, is that significant to you at all either one way or the other in regards to the complaints that Mr. Dulberg had made before the surgery.

A. Yes, it's significant.

Q. How so or why?

A. Well, I think that scarring from the laceration would account for his symptoms. And fortunately, the nerve itself was not cut or scarred and we didn't have to repair the nerve, so that was fortunate.

Q. How would it be that the scarring from the laceration would cause his symptoms?

What exactly would have been happening there?

A. Well, it's hard to know specifically what the mechanism of the pain symptoms and nerve symptoms was. We can't be sure what's causing those symptoms, although there's certainly scarring from the laceration involving the muscle, fascia, and near the nerve. So I think that's about all we can say in terms of an explanation for his symptoms.

Q. How about what you found in regards to his cubital tunnel syndrome in relation to the complaints that he was making, could that also have been a cause?

A. Yes. I think the nerve compression could account for the symptoms of paresthesias, the numbness in that distribution of the ulnar nerve, and the weakness.

Q. And those are two independent findings or independent areas in regards to the cubital tunnel area and the right forearm; is that a fair statement?

A. Yes, two separate sites.

Q. Now, after the procedure you performed, he came back to see you for various follow-ups in July, August, and then October of 2012; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And how was he progressing during that time in regards to his recovery from the procedure?

A. His pain was controlled. His incisions were clean. There was no infection. The incision healed, incisions healed. He was doing well. His arm felt better. His function had increased. His symptoms had improved.

Q. Did his symptoms completely resolve or were they just improved?

A. They did not resolve completely. But through August 27th it says that his progress -- he was making progress in therapy. His strength had increased. His function had improved. There was still some scar tenderness and soreness in the elbow.

Q. And was he put on any restrictions as far as use or work?

A. Yes.

Q. And what were those?

A. Initially he was off work after the surgery until July 30th. Then he was given restriction to limit activities requiring forceful gripping and avoid lifting, pushing and pulling with the right arm. And those restrictions were modified October 22, 2012 to be limited forceful gripping and limited lifting, pushing and pulling.

Q. Would he have been limited or were the limitations that you imposed on him, would they have been in any way related to any type of use of the computer, mouse, track pad, keyboard, anything like that?

A. No, those activities would not need to be avoided or restricted because they don't require forceful gripping, lifting, pushing or pulling.

Q. And it looks like then he started to -- or he came back and, starting in December of 2012 and thereafter, started making some complaints related to his left arm; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And did he indicate when those difficulties with his left arm started?

A. He said recent onset. Well, that was my report saying recent onset. I don't recall if he said exactly when it started.

Q. And what types of symptoms was he complaining of in his left arm?

A. There was tenderness to the lateral epicondyle and guarded range of motion. Pain at the end range of extension and pain reproduced with resisted wrist extension. So those were consistent with lateral epicondylitis.

Q. Which is what?

A. Degeneration of the tendon origin at the elbow.

Q. Is that in any way related to what people refer to as tennis elbow?

A. Yes, that's another term given to it.

Q. And what are some causes for that particular condition?

A. It's typically degenerative. It's wear and tear. The tendon fibers lose strength and pain symptoms can develop. There can also be injuries that precipitate symptoms like blunt trauma to the area or certain strenuous manual activities that can aggravate it and cause symptoms to arise.

Q. Can it result from somebody overcompensating in using one arm over the other?

A. Well, that's kind of a vague scenario, overcompensating. I think if that resulted in enough strain to the involved tendon, it could aggravate it and precipitate symptoms of it. Depends on what activities we're talking about.

Q. Starting in December and up to -- it looks like your last visit with him was in late August of 2013, were the complaints limited to the left side or was he also still making complaints of anything related to the right side?

A. Well, in March of this year he said that his right forearm was sore intermittently and there was mild sensitivity at the forearm scar. And then most recently, in August of this year, he described intermittent right forearm muscle cramping with discomfort.

Q. Was that cramping with use or certain activities or was it just sort of coming out of nowhere or doesn't it indicate?

A. It doesn't say for sure, but I see a note that the patient's neurologist suspected possibly dystonia and suggested a referral for evaluation and medical treatment by a neurologist who specializes in that condition.

Q. Did you make any referrals out to any other medical care providers?

A. I see a note of referral to Dr. Kujawa, a neurologist.

Q. And that would have been done by a referral that you made?

A. Yes.

Q. And in regards to his complaints of left-sided problems beginning in December of 2012, what if any treatment did you provide him and what was your impression? Or I guess that would sort of go vice versa. What was your impression and what if any treatment did you provide for him?

A. The impression was left lateral epicondylitis. We gave him a referral for therapy for epicondylitis protocol. We gave him activity and work restrictions to avoid aggravation of his symptoms. We gave him a local steroid injection in the left elbow with continuation of occupational therapy. And then as far as the last visit in August of this year, he was allowed to follow up as needed.

Q. Does your office, as far as you know, show any future appointments scheduled with Mr. Dulberg?

A. I don't know. I don't have that information available here in the file.

Q. Is that something we would be able to check?

A. Yeah. It would be on the computer in the office.

Q. I'm going to ask you some opinion questions. I would just ask that any opinions you give be within a reasonable degree of medical and orthopedic surgical certainty. Fair enough?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have an opinion regarding what if any injuries Mr. Dulberg suffered as a result of the incident with the chain saw back in June of 2011?

A. Yes.

Q. And what is that opinion or opinions?

A. A deep soft tissue laceration in the right forearm.

Q. And what if any treatment that you rendered was related to that particular injury?

A. The EMG test I ordered; the supervised occupational therapy before surgery; the second opinion visit by Dr. Biafora; the surgical procedure of July 9, 2012; and the postoperative therapy and the -- well, those are the treatments I believe were needed as a result of the accident.

Q. And your prognosis, at least as far as your last visit with him on August 26th of 2013, what would your prognosis be in relation to any injury that you believe he suffered as a result of the chain saw accident, the deep soft tissue laceration?

A. The prognosis would be for symptoms to remain stable, unless the patient gets treatment by another neurologist which is effective, which I don't know. So within certainty I can say that the prognosis for symptoms to remain unchanged is expected.

Q. Are you able -- do you have an opinion as to whether the cubital tunnel syndrome that you found in the surgery that you performed, is that in any way related to the incident with the chain saw?

A. I don't think so.

Q. Are you able to differentiate between symptoms that Mr. Dulberg was complaining of in relation to -- or comparing the cubital tunnel syndrome versus the deep soft tissue laceration in the right forearm?

A. Yes, to some degree.

Q. Could you tell me what those differences are? What symptoms would you attribute to which condition?

A. The forearm laceration would account for the symptoms of scar sensitivity, tenderness, pain with gripping. And the cubital tunnel syndrome would account for sensitivity at the cubital tunnel region and paresthesias in the ring and small fingers, numbness in the ring and small fingers.

Q. Was any of the treatment that you rendered to Mr. Dulberg directed specifically or in part to the cubital tunnel symptoms or syndrome?

A. Yes.

Q. What treatment was that?

A. The cubital tunnel release surgery and the therapy treatments directed at the scar related to that surgery and the elbow motion.

Q. Is there any overlap in the care that he -- or the care or the treatment that he received for the soft tissue laceration from the chain saw and the cubital tunnel -- I know that the surgery was for both conditions. But as far as the therapy, is there overlap there?

A. Yes. I presume they would have treated both areas at the same time.

MR. ACCARDO: All right. I don't think I have anything else. Thank you, Doctor.

E X A M I N A T I O N

BY MR. BARCH:

Q. Doctor, Ron Barch again on behalf of the McGuires. I think Attorney Accardo covered almost everything I wanted to, which will expedite my questions. Just a couple things, though, in follow-up.

There were some questions earlier that Mr. Accardo had about the left elbow, the tennis elbow, we were referring to that, that he developed or he saw you for in 2013. And he was asking whether overcompensating, overcompensating use of the left arm due to problems with the right arm might cause that.

And I'm just going back. When you said -- I think you answered, it would be dependent on the activities that they're doing with the left elbow?

A. Yes.

Q. What about just like adult daily living activities, like getting dressed or doing dishes, just doing normal, everyday things? Or are you talking about something more specific like work related repetitive trauma, that type of thing?

A. Well, I think in order to have a bearing on causation it would have to be beyond ordinary arm use, because we know that the degenerative process affects the tendon origin over time anyway. So normal, everyday tasks or usage wouldn't be expected to cause that condition beyond the chance it would already occur.

Q. And then with respect to the laceration of the arm, you talked in detail in response to Mr. Accardo's questions about the symptoms he had before the exploratory surgery and after. Anything about the left arm, having seen him post-op, that would render him totally disabled? The left arm meaning the laceration part of the injury.

A. The laceration was the right forearm.

Q. Excuse me. Let me start that question over.

I just need to find out whether or not you saw anything about the laceration to the right arm, the things you saw during surgery and then your observations of him and his complaints following the exploratory surgery of the forearm injury, the laceration, anything about that that you believe would have rendered him totally disabled?

A. What do you mean, totally disabled?

Q. Unable to work any job at all.

A. Well, for the time period after the surgery was performed, he was given a restriction to be off work. That was until July 30th of 2012. After that he was given restrictions to limit use of the right arm related to that injury and that surgery. But restrictions and disability don't necessarily equate. So disability would depend on what his function was and what his capability was and what his opportunities were, I suppose.

Q. And so if I understand your testimony, with respect to -- are you talking about the elbow surgery or the forearm laceration that necessitated the restriction against pushing, pulling and lifting with the right arm?

A. Well, the restriction was given after the surgery which had two parts. Are you asking which part necessitated the restriction?

Q. And that's what I'm trying to get at. I know that there's two different areas that you focused on during the surgery; the laceration of the right forearm, which I believe you said did not actually cut or scar the nerve, correct? Having gone through that exploratory surgery, it does not appear that the chain saw severed, cut or scarred that ulnar nerve in the forearm where the laceration was?

A. Correct.

Q. And then there was some -- and you described in detail how deep you believe it went, having done that exploratory surgery. And then there's obviously the left -- the right elbow surgery that you did. And I know that for a period of time there was overlapping therapy for the forearm, the right forearm, and then the right elbow. And at some point he's released from care and he stopped the physical therapy on the arm totally, correct?

A. Yes. He was allowed to continue home exercises as of October 22, 2012 and advance activities with use of his right arm as tolerated at that time.

Q. And he continued, though, if I understood your testimony in response to Mr. Accardo's question, I have the restriction on pushing, pulling and lifting with the right arm?

A. Limited gripping, lifting, pushing and pulling, yes.

Q. And what I'm trying to get at now is, is that because of the injury he had to the forearm, was it the cubital syndrome in the right elbow, is it both, if you're able to tell us, the ongoing restriction?

A. Well, from my examination at that time, his tenderness was at the forearm scar region and there was still some pain with gripping at that location. So I would attribute the need for those restrictions to the forearm injury as opposed to the cubital tunnel elbow condition.

Q. And then if I -- with respect to whether he's disabled as an ongoing basis from that point forward, it would be the -- he would be disabled only to the extent that he would have to accommodate those restrictions in any form of employment?

A. I suppose you'd have to accommodate for his function, for his -- the word I would use would be "impairment" as opposed to "restriction."

Q. You wouldn't want him to -- I guess if I'm understanding your restriction, he would want to avoid work that would require pulling, pushing and lifting on a regular basis with the right arm?

A. To the extent that that causes his symptoms to become intolerable.

Q. And then finally, is there anything you saw at that time, in October when he was let go with those limitations, that rendered him incapable of working at all?

A. No. He said he was currently unemployed at that time and planned to pursue disability, but he was allowed to use his right arm as tolerated.

Q. And that's the confusing part for me. Did you see anything that you would have endorsed in terms of acquiring disability, total and complete disability?

A. I think disability can be total or partial and can depend on one's functional abilities. So I think his function could have been impaired to some degree. I don't think it would necessitate a total disability from any job, though. Is that what you're asking?

Q. That's what I'm asking.

MR. BARCH: Thank you. That's all I have.

MR. LUMBER: Do you have anything further?

MR. ACCARDO: No.

E X A M I N A T I O N

BY MR. LUMBER:

Q. Doctor, I just have one question that I want to follow up with you. If I understood your testimony correctly, regarding the cubital tunnel procedure that was done on his elbow, you were asked whether or not in your opinion you felt that was related to the chain saw accident, and I believe your answer was that you didn't think so.

Can you just give me a little bit of basis as to why that -- why you feel that way? Mainly because, as we had stated before, there is -- trauma and whatnot can cause cubital tunnel syndrome I believe as you had testified earlier. So can you just clarify that a little bit for me as to what your basis is for why you feel that was not related to the accident?

A. I think the zone of injury for the accident was relatively distant to the area of the cubital tunnel, in the forearm as opposed to the elbow. So trauma to the area of the elbow would be suspected as a potential cause for cubital tunnel if that occurred. But I think this laceration was too distal to affect the nerve at the level of the elbow.

On the other hand, even though it's not directly injuring the cubital tunnel, the need for that surgery which included the cubital tunnel arose after the accident which brought him to see me. So I suppose there's some relationship of the injury and the surgery that included the cubital tunnel, but I don't think the specific laceration injured the nerve in the area of the cubital tunnel.

MR. LUMBER: Okay. That's all I have.

MR. ACCARDO: I don't have anything else.

FURTHER EXAMINATION

BY MR. BARCH:

Q. Would it be fair to describe it, your last comment, as being there's an overlap in terms of timing but not a direct connection in terms of the injury and the location of the elbow, in relation to the elbow?

A. Yeah. There's not a direct injury to the nerve at the level of the elbow. But the condition came to light potentially as a result of the evaluations we did for the laceration.

Q. Well, there was a period of time before you did the surgery where you were kind of struggling to figure out why he was having the paresthesia and grip weakness in the hand.

A. Yes. And I think the first time it was really brought up as a diagnosis was when he saw my partner, Dr. Biafora, who it seems suggested that that was part of the cause of his ongoing symptoms.

Q. And that was borne out during surgery?

A. Yes.

Q. Thank you.

A. I think the findings there were borne out.

FURTHER EXAMINATION

BY MR. LUMBER:

Q. Just one last follow-up. Any chance that any of the cubital tunnel dysfunction or ailment could have been any type of byproduct from the injury from the forearm, meaning from the injury of the forearm somehow caused this later injury to the cubital tunnel area?

A. I just don't think the mechanism would -- that one incident would cause cubital tunnel.

MR. LUMBER: Okay. Gotcha.

MR. ACCARDO: I don't have anything else. I think we're done. Signature? Waived or reserved?

THE WITNESS: I can waive the signature.

MR. ACCARDO: Thank you.

Precauciones básicas de seguridad

- Antes de utilizar la unidad, lea este manual atentamente hasta que comprenda por completo todas las reglas de seguridad, precauciones e instrucciones de manejo y sepa cómo seguirlas.
- La motosierra sólo la deben utilizar adultos que comprendan y puedan seguir las reglas de seguridad, precauciones e instrucciones de manejo indicadas en este manual. Los menores no deben utilizar nunca una motosierra.
- No maneje ni utilice una motosierra si está cansado, enfermo o indispuesto. Tampoco la utilice si ha tomado alcohol, drogas o medicamentos. Debe encontrarse en buen estado físico y con la mente despierta. Trabajar con una motosierra es agotador. Si se encuentra en algún estado que se pueda ver agravado por un trabajo agotador, consulte a su médico antes de utilizar una motosierra (Fig.1). Prestar atención antes de descansar y a la fin del vuestro turno de trabajo.
- Los niños, transeúntes y animales deben mantenerse a una distancia mínima de 35 pies (10 metros) del lugar de trabajo. No permita que personas o animales se acerquen a la motosierra cuando la arranque o la utilice (Fig.2).
- Los casos más importantes de accidentes con motosierras se producen cuando la cadena golpea al operador. Mientras trabaje con la motosierra, utilice siempre prendas protectoras de seguridad homologadas. El uso de prendas protectoras no elimina el riesgo de lesiones, pero reduce los efectos de las lesiones en caso de accidente. Consulte a su proveedor a la hora de elegir equipos conformes con la legislación. Las prendas deben ser las adecuadas y no ser un obstáculo. Utilice prendas adherentes a prueba de cortes. Las chaquetas a prueba de cortes (Fig.3), los pantalones de peto (Fig.3) y los leggings son prendas ideales. No lleve prendas, pañuelos, corbatas o pulseras que puedan quedar atrapados en la madera o en las ramas. Si tiene el pelo largo, recójaselo y protéjaselo (por ejemplo, con un pañuelo, gorra, casco, etc.). Utilice zapatos o botas de seguridad con suelas antideslizantes y añadidos antiperforación (Fig.4). Utilice un casco protector(Fig.5) en lugares en los que puedan caer objetos . Utilice gafas protectoras o protectores faciales. Emplee protecciones contra el ruido: por ejemplo, protectores para los oídos que reduzcan el nivel de ruido (Fig.5) o tapones para los oídos. Si se utilizan protecciones para los oídos, se deberá tener mucho más cuidado y prestar más atención, ya que la percepción de señales sonoras de peligro (gritos, alarmas, etc.) quedará limitada. Utilice guantes a prueba de cortes (Fig. 6).
- Preste la máquina únicamente a usuarios expertos que estén completamente familiarizados con su funcionamiento y uso correcto. Proporcione a los demás usuarios el manual con las instrucciones de uso, el cual deberán leer antes de utilizar la máquina.
- Compruebe la motosierra cada día para asegurarse de que todos sus dispositivos se encuentran en perfecto estado de funcionamiento.
- No utilice nunca la motosierra si está dañada, modificada o si se ha reparado o montado incorrectamente. No desmonte, dañe ni desactive ninguno de los dispositivos de seguridad. Utilice únicamente barras de la longitud indicada en la tabla (página 83). Sustituya siempre la barra, cadena, protector de manos o freno de la cadena inmediatamente si se dañan, se rompen o se extraen.
- Planifique previamente con cuidado la operación de corte. No se ponga a cortar hasta que el área de trabajo esté despejada y el suelo en el que vaya a trabajar sea seguro. Igualmente, si va a talar árboles, debe haber planificado un sendero de retirada.
- Todos los trabajos de mantenimiento de la motosierra, que no sean las operaciones mostradas en este manual, los deben realizar personal competente.
- La motosierra sólo se debe utilizar para cortar madera. No se aconseja cortar otros tipos de material.
- No se recomienda enganchar herramientas o aplicaciones a la toma de fuerza que no estén especificados por el fabricante.

Using Trouble shooting Chart

WARNING: Always stop unit and disconnect spark plug before performing all of the recommended remedies below except remedies that require operation of the unit.

When you have checked all the possible causes listed and you are still experiencing the problem, see your Servicing Dealer. If you are experiencing a problem that is not listed in this chart, see your Servicing Dealer for service.

PROBLEM	POSSIBLE CAUSE	SOLUTION
Engine will not start or will run only a few seconds after starting. (Make sure Ignition switch is in start position "I")	1. No spark 2. Flooded engine.	1. Check Spark. Remove air filter cover. Check Spark. Remove air filter cover. Remove spark plug from cylinder. Reattach the spark plug wire and lay spark plug on top of cylinder. Pull the starter rope and watch for spark at spark plug tip. If there is no spark, repeat test with a new spark plug (BPMR8Y). 2. With the ignition switch off, remove spark plug. Move choke lever to Run position (pushed in completely) and pull starter cord 15 to 20 times. This will clear excess fuel from engine. Clean and reinstall spark plug. Pull the choke lever all out and then insert it completely in order to activate the semi-acceleration device. Pull starter three times with choke lever at run. If engine does not start, move choke lever to choke and repeat normal starting procedure. If engine still fails to start, repeat procedure with a new spark plug.
Engine starts but will not accelerate properly:	Carburetor requires "L" (Low jet) adjustment.	* Contact a Servicing Dealer for carburetor adjustment.
Engine starts but will not run properly at high speed.	Carburetor requires "H" (High jet) adjustment.	* Contact a Servicing Dealer for carburetor adjustment.
Engine does not reach full speed and / or emits excessive smoke	1. Check oil fuel mixture. 2. Air filter dirty. 3. Spark arrester screen dirty. 4. Carburetor requires "H" (High jet) adjustment.	1. Use fresh fuel and the correct 2-cycle oil mix. 2. Clean per instruction in Maintenance-Air Filter Section. 3. Clean per instructions in Maintenance-Spark Arresting Muffler Section. 4. * Contact a Servicing Dealer for carburetor adjustment.
Engine starts, runs, and accelerates but will not idle.	Carburetor requires adjustment.	Turn idle speed screw "T" clockwise to increase idle speed. (If chain turns at idle, turn idle speed screw "T" counterclockwise to decrease speed); see Operation-Carburetor Adjustment.
Bar and Chain Running Hot and Smoking	1. Chain oil tank empty. 2. Chain tension too tight. 3. Oiler function.	1. Oil tank should be filled every time that fuel tank is filled. 2. Tension chain per instructions in Operation-Chain Tension section. 3. Run at full throttle 15 to 30 seconds. Stop saw and check for oil dripping from bar tip guard and guide bar. If oil is present the chain may be dull or bar may be damaged. If no oil contact a Servicing Dealer.
Engine starts and runs, but chain is not rotating WARNING: Never touch the chain while the engine is running.	1. Chain brake engaged. 2. Chain tension too tight. 3. Guide bar and chain assembly. 4. Chain and/or guide bar damaged. 5. Clutch drum and/or rim sprocket damaged.	1. Release chain brake, see Operation-Chain Brake Section. 2. Tension chain per instructions in Operation-Chain Tension section. 3. Refer to Assembly-Assembling the Bar and Chain Section. 4. Refer to Maintenance-Chain and/or Maintenance-Guide Bar Section. 5. Replace if necessary - contact a Servicing Dealer.

Note: This engine complies with EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) regulations which require exhaust emission control. As a result, the carburetor adjustment needles are equipped with plastic caps that limit the rotation from the original factory adjustment. If your unit exhibits specific performance problems that can not be corrected by the Trouble Shooting Section, the unit should be taken to a Servicing Dealer for repair.

Storing Chain Saw

WARNING: Stop engine and allow to cool, and secure the unit before storing or transporting in a vehicle. Store unit and fuel in an area where fuel vapors cannot reach sparks or open flames from water heaters, electric motors or switches, furnaces, etc. Store unit with all guards in place. Position so that any sharp object cannot accidentally cause injury to passersby. Store the unit out of reach of children and other unauthorized persons.

1. Drain and clean the fuel tank in a well ventilated area.
2. Drain all fuel from tank into a container approved for gasoline. Run engine until it stops. This will remove all fuel-oil mix which could become stale and leave varnish and gum in the fuel system.
3. Clean all foreign material from the saw. Keep away from corrosive agents such as garden chemicals and de-icing salts.
4. Abide by all Federal and local regulations for the safe storage and handling of gasoline. Excess fuel should be used in other 2-cycle engine powered equipment.

CAUTION: It is important to prevent gum deposits from forming in essential fuel system parts such as the carburetor, fuel filter, fuel hose, or fuel tank during storage. Alcohol blended fuels (called gasohol or E10 or using ethanol, methanol) can attract moisture which leads to fuel mixture separation and formation of acids during storage. Acidic gas can damage the engine.

Requisitos estatales y locales

La motosierra está equipada con un amortiguador de limitación de temperatura, una pantalla de supresión de chispas y un púa de tronzado para cumplir los requisitos de la Práctica Recomendada por SAE J335 y los Códigos de California 4442 y 4443. Para trabajar en todos los terrenos forestales nacionales y en los terrenos gestionados por los estados de California, Maine, Washington, Idaho, Minnesota, Nueva Jersey y Oregón, la ley requiere que los motores de combustión interna estén equipados con una pantalla de supresión de chispas. Otras agencias estatales y federales están promulgando regulaciones similares.

Si utiliza una motosierra en un estado o localidad en los que existan tales regulaciones, será legalmente responsable del mantenimiento del estado de funcionamiento de estos componentes. En caso contrario, estará violando la ley. El mantenimiento del supresor de chispas se describe en la sección correspondiente al mantenimiento del amortiguador de supresión de chispas.

Nota: Cuando utilice una motosierra para la tala de árboles, consulte el Código de Regulaciones Federales, Partes 1910 y 1928.

ADVERTENCIA: El sistema de encendido de la unidad genera un campo electromagnético de muy baja intensidad. Dicho campo puede afectar al funcionamiento de ciertos marcapasos. Para reducir el riesgo de lesiones graves o mortales, las personas que tengan un marcapasos deben consultar a su médico y al fabricante del marcapasos antes de utilizar esta herramienta.

ADVERTENCIA: Mantenga todos los miembros corporales alejados del amortiguador, ya que sus superficies están muy calientes durante y después de la utilización de la motosierra. Si entra en contacto con el amortiguador, pueden producirse quemaduras graves.

ADVERTENCIA: La exposición a vibraciones por el uso prolongado de herramientas manuales alimentadas con gasolina podría provocar daños en los nervios o en los vasos sanguíneos de los dedos, manos y muñecas de personas propensas a sufrir problemas de circulación o hinchazones anormales. El uso prolongado en climas fríos se ha relacionado con daños en los vasos sanguíneos de personas sanas. Si aparecen síntomas tales como pérdida de sensibilidad, dolor, pérdida de fuerza, cambio en la textura o color de la piel, o pérdida de sensibilidad en los dedos, manos o muñecas, deje de utilizar esta herramienta y acuda a un médico.

ADVERTENCIA: Los gases de escape del motor de este producto contienen sustancias químicas que, según el Estado de California, provocan cáncer, defectos en recién nacidos u otros daños reproductivos. Utilice la motosierra solamente en el exterior en un lugar bien ventilado.

Significado de las etiquetas de seguridad y simbols

Este símbolo indica Advertencia y Precaución.

Este manual contiene mensajes especiales para llamar la atención sobre cuestiones de seguridad, daños en la máquina, así como información útil relativa al funcionamiento y al mantenimiento. ADVERTENCIA: Lea y siga todas las precauciones de seguridad en el manual de instrucciones. No seguir las instrucciones podría resultar en serias lesiones personales.

Utilice protección para los ojos, oídos y cabeza cuando emplee este equipo.

Utilice guantes protectores antideslizantes y de gran resistencia cuando maneje la motosierra y la cadena.

¡ATENCIÓN! Las superficies pueden estar calientes.

Utilice zapatos o botas de seguridad resistentes con suelas antideslizantes y añadidos antiperforación.

ADVERTENCIA: Tenga cuidado con los rebotes. Sugerencia puede causar la barra de guía para moverse hacia arriba y hacia atrás de repente, lo que puede causar una lesión grave.

Dirección de contacto de la punta de la barra guía con cualquier objeto debe ser evitado.

Agarre siempre la motosierra correctamente con las dos manos.

Valor de rebote máximo medido sin freno de cadena para la combinación de barra y cadena indicado en la etiqueta.

Pour un emploi correct de la tronçonneuse et pour éviter tout accident, ne commencez pas le travail sans avoir préalablement lu ce manuel avec attention. Vous trouverez les descriptions du fonctionnement des différents composants, ainsi que les instructions relatives aux contrôles et aux procédures d'entretien requis.

Remarque: les illustrations et instructions présents dans ce manuel peuvent varier en fonction des normes de chaque pays et sont sujettes à modifications sans préavis par le fabricant.

MANUEL DE L'UTILISATEUR

Le manuel de l'utilisateur est destiné à votre propre protection. LISEZ-LE. Conservez-le dans un endroit approprié de façon à pouvoir s'y référer au besoin. Ayez pris connaissance des procédures avant de commencer le montage de l'unité. Une préparation et un entretien corrects vont de paire avec de bonnes performances de la machine et avec une sécurité optimale.

Contactez votre concessionnaire ou votre distributeur local si vous ne comprenez pas certaines des instructions délivrées par le présent manuel.

Outre les instructions relatives au fonctionnement, le présent manuel contient des paragraphes requérant une attention particulière de votre part.

Ces paragraphes sont signalés par les symboles décrits ci-dessous:

Avertissement: présent en cas de risque d'accident, de blessure corporelle, ou de dégâts matériels.

Mise en garde: présent en cas de risque d'endommagement de la machine ou de ses composants.

AVERTISSEMENT : Afin de garantir un fonctionnement correct et en toute sécurité de la tronçonneuse, il est recommandé de toujours conserver le manuel de l'utilisateur à proximité de la machine. Ne prêtez ou ne louez jamais votre tronçonneuse sans fournir le présent manuel d'utilisation et d'entretien.

AVERTISSEMENT : Seules les personnes ayant intégralement compris le présent manuel sont habilitées à utiliser votre tronçonneuse.

Comprendre les étiquettes de sécurité et symboles

Ce symbole signale un Avertissement et une Mise en garde.

Votre manuel contient des messages spéciaux attirant votre attention sur les problèmes liés à la sécurité, les dégâts éventuels de la machine, ainsi que des informations utiles sur le fonctionnement et l'entretien.
AVERTISSEMENT: Lisez et suivez toutes les précautions de sécurité dans le manuel d'instructions. Le fait de ne pas suivre les instructions pourrait entraîner des blessures graves.

Portez des lunettes de sécurité, des protège-tympans ainsi qu'un masque de protection lorsque vous utilisez cette machine.

Portez des gants de protection renforcés et antidérapants pour la manipulation de la tronçonneuse et de la chaîne.

ATTENTION: Les surfaces risquent d'être très chaudes.

Portez des chaussures ou des bottes de sécurité équipées de semelles antidérapantes et coquées.

ATTENTION ! Prenez garde à l'effet de rebond. Astuce contact mai cause le guide de se déplacer brusquement vers le haut et vers l'arrière, qui mai causer des blessures graves.

Contact de la pointe guide bar avec n'importe quel objet doit être évitée.

Tenez en permanence la tronçonneuse à deux mains.

Para utilizar correctamente la motosierra y evitar accidentes, lea primero este manual atentamente antes de trabajar con ella. Encontrará explicaciones sobre el funcionamiento de los distintos componentes, además de instrucciones para realizar las comprobaciones y el mantenimiento necesarios.
Nota: Las ilustraciones y las especificaciones proporcionadas en este manual pueden variar según los requisitos de cada país, y están sujetas a cambios sin previo aviso por parte del fabricante.

MANUAL DEL OPERADOR

El manual del operador está destinado a proporcionar protección al usuario. LÉALO. Guárdelo en un sitio seguro para consultarlo en el futuro. Conozca los procedimientos necesarios antes de comenzar a montar la unidad. La preparación y el mantenimiento adecuados juegan un papel fundamental para obtener la máxima seguridad y rendimiento del motosierra.
Póngase en contacto con el concesionario o el distribuidor local si no comprende alguna de las instrucciones de este manual.
Además de las instrucciones de uso, este manual contiene párrafos que requieren una especial atención.
Tales párrafos están marcados con los símbolos descritos a continuación:
Advertencia: si existe riesgo de accidente o lesiones personales o daños graves a la propiedad.
Precaución: si existe riesgo de producirse daños en la máquina o en sus componentes individuales.

⚠ ADVERTENCIA: Para garantizar el funcionamiento seguro y correcto de la motosierra, este manual del operador deberá conservarse siempre con la máquina o estar cerca de ella. No preste ni alquile la motosierra sin el manual de instrucciones del operador.

⚠ ADVERTENCIA: Sólo deberán utilizar la motosierra las personas que entiendan este manual.

Remisage de la tronçonneuse

AVERTISSEMENT: Coupez le moteur et laissez-le refroidir, puis arrimez la machine avant remisage ou transport dans un véhicule. Remisez la machine et le carburant dans un endroit où les vapeurs de carburant ne seront en contact avec aucune source d'étincelles ou de flammes nues, notamment à proximité de chaudières, de moteurs ou d'interrupteurs électriques, de fours, etc. Montez toutes les protections fournies avec la machine pour le remisage. Rangez la machine de telle sorte que les parties tranchantes ne puissent blesser accidentellement toute personne passant à proximité. Remisez la machine hors de portée des enfants ou de toute autre personne non habilitée à l'utiliser.

1. Vidangez et nettoyez le réservoir de carburant dans un lieu suffisamment aéré.
2. Vidangez l'intégralité du carburant dans un conteneur approprié au stockage de l'essence. Faites tourner le moteur jusqu'à ce qu'il s'arrête de lui-même. Cela permet d'évacuer le mélange susceptible de s'éventer et de laisser un dépôt de vernis et de gomme dans le circuit d'alimentation de carburant.
3. Nettoyez toutes les substances étrangères accumulées sur la tronçonneuse. Maintenez la machine à distance de tout agent corrosif tels que les engrais de jardin ou les sels de déverglaçage.
4. Respectez la réglementation locale et nationale en matière de stockage et de manipulation de l'essence. N'utilisez pas le surplus de carburant dans un autre équipement à moteur deux temps.

MISE EN GARDE: Il est important d'éviter le dépôt de gomme dans les composants du circuit d'alimentation de carburant tels que le carburateur, le filtre à carburant, la conduite d'alimentation de carburant ou le réservoir de carburant au cours du remisage. Les carburants à base d'alcool (appelés essence-alcool ou E10, ou à base d'éthanol ou de méthanol) sont hydrophiles, ce qui peut entraîner une séparation des composants du carburant et la formation d'acides au cours du remisage. Les gaz acides peuvent endommager le moteur.

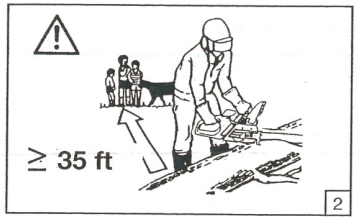
Réglementations nationales et locales

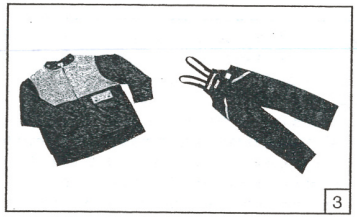
Votre tronçonneuse est équipée d'un silencieux d'échappement à limiteur de température, d'un pare-étincelles et d'un crampon de débitage conformément à la directive de pratique recommandée SAE J335 et aux Codes californiens 4442 et 4443. La réglementation régissant tous les terrains forestiers et territoires gérés par les états de Californie, Maine, Washington, Idaho, Minnesota, New Jersey et Oregon exige l'utilisation de moteurs à combustion interne équipés de pare-étincelles. Les autres états et institutions fédérales sont sur le point de promulguer une réglementation identique.

Si vous utilisez une tronçonneuse dans un état ou une région soumise à cette réglementation, vous êtes légalement responsable du maintien en état de fonctionnement de ces pièces. Le non-respect de cette réglementation constitue une violation de la loi. L'entretien du pare-étincelles est décrit dans la section Entretien-Silencieux à pare-étincelles du présent manuel.

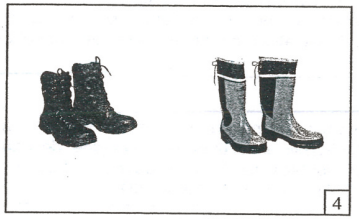
Remarque: pour ce qui concerne l'utilisation de tronçonneuses dans le cadre d'une exploitation forestière, reportez-vous au Code de réglementation fédérale, Articles 1910 et 1928.



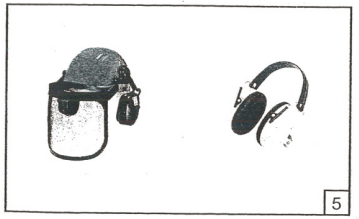
AVERTISSEMENT: Le système d'allumage de votre machine génère un champ électromagnétique de très faible intensité. Il est possible de ce champ crée des interférences sur le fonctionnement d'un stimulateur cardiaque. Afin de réduire le risque de blessures graves, voire de mort, les personnes équipées d'un stimulateur cardiaque sont vivement invitées à consulter leur médecin ainsi que le fabricant du stimulateur avant d'utiliser la machine.



AVERTISSEMENT: les surfaces du silencieux deviennent très chaudes en cours de fonctionnement et après arrêt de la tronçonneuse ; tenez-vous à distance du silencieux. Tout contact avec le silencieux peut entraîner de graves brûlures.



AVERTISSEMENT : L'exposition aux vibrations générées lors de l'utilisation d'outils à moteurs thermiques peut entraîner des lésions vasculaires ou nerveuses au niveau des doigts, des mains et des poignets chez les personnes sujettes à des troubles de la circulation ou à des phénomènes de tuméfactions anormaux. En outre, il a été démontré que l'utilisation prolongée par temps froid entraînait des lésions des vaisseaux sanguins chez les personnes saines. En cas d'apparitions de symptômes tels que des engourdissements douleurs, pertes de force, changements de la couleur ou de la texture de la peau ou pertes de sensation au niveau des doigts, des mains ou des poignets, interrompez immédiatement l'utilisation de la machine et consultez un médecin.



AVERTISSEMENT : Les vapeurs d'échappement du moteur de ce produit contiennent des substances chimiques que l'état de Californie a reconnues à l'origine de cancers, d'anomalies congénitales ou d'autres troubles de la reproduction. Utilisez votre tronçonneuse en extérieur, exclusivement dans une zone bien ventilée.

Précautions de base

- Lisez attentivement le présent manuel jusqu'à ce que vous ayez intégralement compris les règles de sécurité, les mesures de précaution et les instructions relatives au fonctionnement, et que soyez en mesure de les appliquer avant toute utilisation de la machine.
- Limitez l'utilisation de la tronçonneuse à des utilisateurs adultes capables de comprendre et d'appliquer les règles de sécurité, les mesures de précaution et les instructions relatives au fonctionnement indiquées par le présent manuel. L'utilisation de la machine par des mineurs est fortement déconseillée.
- Ne manipulez et n'utilisez pas la machine lorsque vous êtes fatigué, malade ou perturbé, ou sous l'emprise de l'alcool, de drogues ou de médicaments. Vous devez être en bonne forme physique et en pleine possession de vos capacités mentales. L'utilisation d'une tronçonneuse est relativement ardue et pénible. Si vous présentez un état susceptible d'être aggravé par une tâche physiquement exigeante, consultez préalablement votre médecin (Fig. 1). Soyez plus vigilant avant les périodes de repos et en en proximité de la fin de votre tour de travail.
- Maintenez les enfants, passants et animaux à une distance minimale de 10 mètres (35 pieds) de la zone de travail. Ne tolérez la présence d'aucune personne ou animal à proximité immédiate de la tronçonneuse lors du démarrage ou en utilisation (Fig. 2).
- La plupart des accidents liés à l'utilisation d'une tronçonneuse sont dus à une percussion de l'utilisateur par la chaîne. Portez en permanence des équipements de sécurité homologués lorsque vous utilisez la tronçonneuse. Toutefois, le port de vêtements de sécurité n'élimine pas les risques de blessures, mais il peut en réduire les effets en cas d'accident. Demandez conseil à votre distributeur habituel pour le choix des équipements conformes à la réglementation. Les vêtements utilisés ne doivent en aucun cas entraver les mouvements. Portez un vêtement anti-coupe près du corps. La veste (Fig. 3), la salopette (Fig. 3) et les jambières sont des équipements idéaux. Ne portez pas de vêtements, écharpes, cravates ou bijoux susceptibles de s'accrocher au bois ou aux buissons. Nouez les cheveux longs et protégez-les (par exemple, à l'aide d'un foulard, d'une casquette, d'un casque, etc.). Chaussure ou bottes de sécurité coquées et équipées de semelles antidérapantes (Fig. 4). Portez un casque de protection (Fig. 5) dans les zones où des objets sont susceptibles de chuter. Portez des lunettes de sécurité ou une visière de protection ! Utilisez des protections anti-bruit, notamment un casque anti-bruit (Fig. 5) ou des protège-tympans. L'utilisation de protections anti-bruit requiert une attention supplémentaire en ce sens que la perception des signaux sonores d'avertissement en cas de danger (tels que cris, alarmes, etc.) est réduite. Portez des gants anti-coupe (Fig. 6).
- Ne prêtez votre tronçonneuse qu'à des utilisateurs expérimentés rompus au fonctionnement et à l'utilisation corrects des tronçonneuses. Fournissez-leur le manuel contenant le mode d'emploi qu'ils devront lire avant d'utiliser la tronçonneuse.
- Contrôlez quotidiennement votre tronçonneuse afin de garantir que chaque dispositif de sécurité ou autre fonctionne correctement.
- Ne travaillez jamais avec une tronçonneuse endommagée, modifiée ou mal réparée ou mal montée. Ne démontez, endommagez ou neutralisez jamais l'un des dispositifs de sécurité. Utilisez exclusivement des guide-chaîne de la longueur indiquée dans le tableau (page 47). Remplacez immédiatement un guide-chaîne, une protection de main ou un frein de chaîne endommagés, cassés ou démontés pour toute autre raison.
- Élaborez toujours votre plan de découpe à l'avance. Ne débutez aucun tâche avant d'avoir une zone de travail dégagée, une assise stable, et, en cas d'abattage, un chemin de dégagement préalablement établi.
- Adressez-vous à un professionnel qualifié pour toute autre intervention ne figurant pas dans le présent manuel.
- La tronçonneuse est exclusivement destinée à la coupe de bois. Il est fortement déconseillé de couper un autre type de matériau.

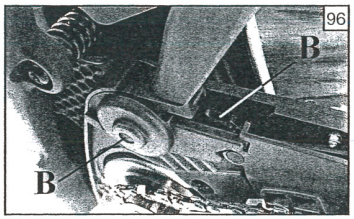
Utilisation du tableau de diagnostic des pannes

AVERTISSEMENT: Arrêtez toujours la machine et déconnectez la bougie avant de mettre en application l'un des remèdes préconisés ci-dessous, à l'exception des opérations nécessitant que la machine tourne.



Si le problème persiste après avoir vérifié toutes les causes possibles indiquées, contactez votre réparateur agréé. En cas de problème non référencé dans ce tableau, contactez votre réparateur agréé.

PROBLÈME	CAUSE POSSIBLE	REMÈDE
Le moteur ne démarre pas ou il tourne pendant quelques secondes puis s'arrête. (Vérifiez que l'interrupteur d'allumage est sur la position de démarrage "I").	1. Absence d'étincelle 2. Moteur noyé.	1. Contrôlez la bougie. Déposez le couvercle de filtre à air. Retirez la bougie du cylindre. Reconnectez le fil de bougie et placez la bougie sur le haut du cylindre. Tirez sur le lanceur et observez la formation d'étincelles à l'extrémité de la bougie. Si aucune étincelle n'est produite, répéter l'essai en utilisant une bougie neuve (BPMR8Y). 2. Passez l'interrupteur d'allumage en position d'arrêt (OFF) et retirez la bougie. Passez le levier d'étrangleur sur la position de fonctionnement (complètement enfoncé) et actionnez le lanceur 15 à 20 fois. Cela permet d'évacuer l'excès de carburant dans le moteur. Nettoyez et remontez la bougie. Tirer le levier du starter jusqu'au bout et ramener le levier complètement pour activer le dispositif de demi accélération. Actionnez le lanceur trois fois en mettant le levier d'étrangleur en position de fonctionnement. Si le moteur ne démarre pas, passez le levier d'étrangleur sur la position de démarrage et effectuez la procédure de démarrage normal. Si le moteur ne démarre toujours pas, répétez la procédure avec une bougie neuve.
Le moteur démarre mais n'accélère pas correctement:	Le carburateur nécessite un réglage de l'aiguille "L" (gicleur bas).	* Contactez un service d'entretien agréé pour le réglage du carburateur.
Le moteur démarre mais ne fonctionne pas correctement à régime élevé.	Le carburateur nécessite un réglage de l'aiguille "H" (gicleur haut).	* Contactez un service d'entretien agréé pour le réglage du carburateur.
Le moteur n'atteint pas son régime maximal / ou fume excessivement	1. Contrôlez le mélange huile/carburant. 2. Filtre à air encrassé. 3. Écran pare-étincelles encrassé. 4. Le carburateur nécessite un réglage de l'aiguille "H" (gicleur haut).	1. Utilisez du carburant récent et la proportion d'huile deux temps appropriée. 2. Procédez au nettoyage conformément aux instructions de la section Entretien-Filtre à air. 3. Procédez au nettoyage conformément aux instructions de la section Entretien-Silencieux pare-étincelles. 4. * Contactez un service d'entretien agréé pour le réglage du carburateur.
Le moteur démarre, tourne et accélère, mais ne tient pas le ralenti.	Le carburateur nécessite un réglage.	Tournez la vis de réglage du ralenti "T" dans le sens des aiguilles d'une montre pour augmenter le régime de ralenti. (Si la chaîne tourne au régime de ralenti, tournez la vis de ralenti "T" dans le sens inverse des aiguilles d'une montre pour réduire le régime de ralenti); voir la section Fonctionnement-Réglage du carburateur.
Surchauffe et dégagement de fumée au niveau du guide et de la chaîne	1. Réservoir d'huile de chaîne vide. 2. Chaîne trop tendue. 3. Fonction du dispositif de graissage.	1. Le réservoir d'huile doit être rempli à chaque plein du réservoir de carburant. 2. Tendez la chaîne conformément aux instructions de la section Fonctionnement-Tension de la chaîne. 3. Faites tourner le moteur à plein régime pendant 15 à 30 secondes. Arrêtez la tronçonneuse et vérifiez que l'huile s'écoule au niveau de la protection d'embout de guide et du guide-chaîne. Si l'huile est présente, il se peut que la chaîne soit émoussée ou que le guide-chaîne soit endommagé. En cas d'absence d'huile, contactez un service d'entretien agréé.
Le moteur démarre et tourne, mais la chaîne n'est pas entraînée AVERTISSEMENT: Ne touchez jamais la chaîne lorsque le moteur tourne.	1. Frein de chaîne engagé. 2. Chaîne trop tendue. 3. Montage du guide-chaîne et chaîne. 4. Chaîne et/ou guide-chaîne endommagés. 5. Embrayage et/ou pignon à flasques endommagés.	1. Désengagez le frein de chaîne ; voir la section Fonctionnement-Frein de chaîne. 2. Tendez la chaîne conformément aux instructions de la section Fonctionnement-Tension de la chaîne. 3. Voir la section Montage-Montage du guide-chaîne et de la chaîne. 4. Voir la section Entretien-Chaîne et/ou Entretien-Guide-chaîne. 5. Procédez au remplacement si nécessaire - Contactez un réparateur agréé.

Remarque: Ce moteur est conforme aux normes de l'EPA (Agence de protection de l'environnement) en matière de contrôle des émissions polluantes. En conséquence, les aiguilles de réglage du carburateur sont équipées de capuchons en plastique limitant la rotation par rapport au réglage d'usine initial. Si votre machine présente des problèmes spécifiques de performance ne pouvant être rectifiés en suivant les instructions de la section Diagnostic des pannes, il est recommandé la porter à un service d'entretien agréé pour réparation.

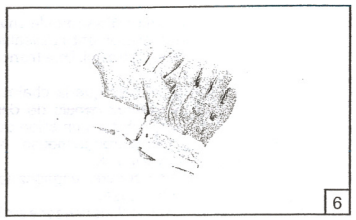
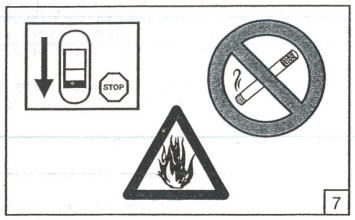
Frein de chaîne

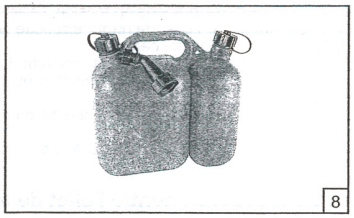


Si le frein de chaîne ne fonctionne pas correctement, déposez le couvercle d'embrayage et nettoyez les composants du frein de chaîne. Contrôlez l'état d'usure de la bande de frein (A, Fig. 95) et remplacez-la si elle est usée ou déformée.



AVERTISSEMENT: Si la bande de frein est excessivement usée, elle peut se rompre lorsque le frein de chaîne est appliqué. Si la bande de frein est cassée, le frein de chaîne ne pourra arrêter la chaîne. Le frein de chaîne doit être remplacé par un réparateur agréé si son épaisseur est inférieure à 0,6 mm (0,024" en n'importe quel point. Seul un réparateur agréé est habilité à effectuer toute réparation au niveau du frein de chaîne. Rapportez votre machine sur le lieu d'achat ou chez le réparateur agréé le plus proche.

Tenez le mécanisme du frein de chaîne propre en permanence et lubrifiez légèrement la tringlerie (B, Fig. 96).
Testez toujours le fonctionnement du frein de chaîne après entretien ou nettoyage conformément aux instructions de la section Fonctionnement - Frein de chaîne.



AVERTISSEMENT: Contrôlez et remplacez si nécessaire l'attrape-chaîne / la butée de sécurité (C, Fig. 95).

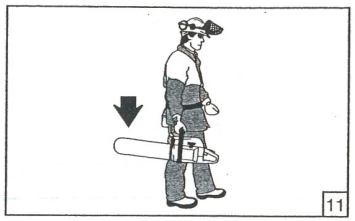
- Il est fortement déconseillé de raccorder à la prise de force de la tronçonneuse tout outil ou accessoire non spécifié par le fabricant.

Manipulation du carburant



AVERTISSEMENT : L'essence est un carburant hautement inflammable. Manipulez l'essence ou le mélange de carburant avec une extrême précaution. Ne fumez pas ou ne produisez pas de source de flamme à proximité du carburant ou de la tronçonneuse (Fig.7).

- Manipulez le carburant avec une extrême précaution afin d'éviter tout risque d'incendie ou de brûlure. Le carburant est hautement inflammable.
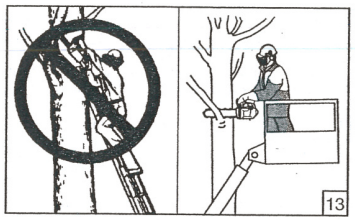
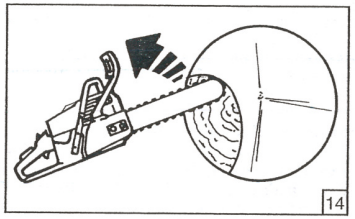
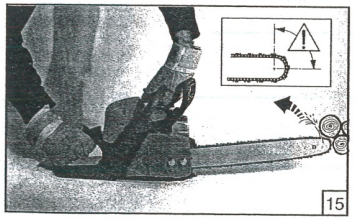
- Faites le mélange et conservez le carburant dans un conteneur approuvé pour l'entreposage d'essence (Fig. 8).
- Faites le mélange de carburant en extérieur, en l'absence de toute source d'étincelles ou de flammes.
- Choisissez une surface dégagée, coupez le moteur et laissez refroidir avant de faire le plein.
- Devissez lentement le bouchon de carburant afin de libérer la pression et d'empêcher le carburant de s'écouler par le bouchon.
- Resserrez fermement le bouchon de carburant après remplissage. Sous l'effet des vibrations de la machine, un bouchon mal refermé peut se desserrer, voire s'ouvrir, entraînant un déversement du carburant.
- Essuyez toute trace de carburant sur la tronçonneuse. Déplacez-vous à 3 mètres (10 pieds) de la zone de remplissage avant de démarrer le moteur (Fig. 9).
- Ne tentez en aucun cas de brûler le carburant déversé.
- Ne fumez pas en manipulant le carburant ou en utilisant la tronçonneuse.
- Entreposez le carburant dans un endroit sec, frais et suffisamment ventilé.
- Ne placez jamais la tronçonneuse sur un matériau facilement inflammable, notamment sur des feuilles mortes, de la paille, du papier, etc.
- Entreposez la machine et le carburant dans un endroit exempt de sources d'étincelles ou de flammes nues, de moteurs électriques, d'interrupteurs, de fours, etc., susceptibles d'enflammer les vapeurs de carburant.
- Ne retirez jamais le bouchon du réservoir de carburant lorsque le moteur tourne.
- N'utilisez jamais le carburant pour le nettoyage.
- Veillez à ne pas souiller vos vêtements de carburant.



Fonctionnement et sécurité



AVERTISSEMENT: Tenez toujours la tronçonneuse à deux mains lorsque le moteur tourne. Enserrer fermement les poignées de la tronçonneuse entre les doigts et le pouce (Fig.10).



- Tenez toutes les parties du corps à distance de la chaîne lorsque le moteur tourne.
- Transportez toujours la tronçonneuse moteur coupé et frein de chaîne engagé, en plaçant le guide-chaîne et la chaîne vers l'arrière, et le silencieux d'échappement à distance de votre corps. Transportez toujours la tronçonneuse avec son fourreau de guide-chaîne monté (Fig.11, page 44). Pour le transport à bord d'un véhicule, montez toujours le fourreau de guide et de chaîne. Fixez correctement la tronçonneuse afin d'éviter qu'elle ne se renverse, que le carburant ne s'écoule ou que la tronçonneuse ne soit endommagée.
- Engager le frein de chaîne avant de vous repositionner dans la zone de coupe.

- N'utilisez jamais la tronçonneuse d'une seule main ! Une telle manipulation peut blesser gravement l'utilisateur ou les personnes se tenant dans la zone de travail. Une tronçonneuse s'utilise à deux mains.
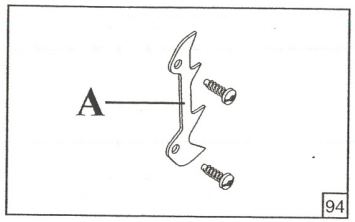
- Avant de démarrer le moteur, vérifiez que la chaîne n'est en contact avec aucun objet. Ne tentez jamais de démarrer la tronçonneuse avec le guide engagé dans un sillon de coupe.
- Coupez le moteur avant de poser la tronçonneuse. Ne laissez pas le moteur tourner sans surveillance.
- Par mesure de sécurité supplémentaire, engagez le frein de chaîne avant de poser la tronçonneuse.
- Utilisez exclusivement la tronçonneuse dans une zone suffisamment ventilée, ne l'utilisez pas dans un environnement explosif ou inflammable ou dans des zones confinées (Fig.12). Faites attention à la possibilité d'empoisonnement par monoxyde de carbone.
- N'utilisez pas la tronçonneuse sur une échelle ou directement sur un arbre. Ayez toujours une assise stable et une position appropriée.
- N'exercez pas de pression sur la tronçonneuse en fin de coupe. Le fait d'appliquer une pression peut vous faire perdre le contrôle en fin de coupe.
- N'effectuez aucune opération de coupe à proximité de câbles électriques.
- Tenez vos mains au sec, propres et exemptes d'huile ou de carburant.
- Lorsque la tronçonneuse est en marche, saisissez fermement la poignée avant de la main gauche et la poignée arrière de la main droite. (Fig.10, page 43).
- Lors de la découpe d'une branche en tension, veillez à ne pas vous faire surprendre par l'effet de retour élastique dès que la tension de la fibre du bois est libérée.
- Les petites branches ou les arbustes peuvent bloquer la chaîne puis être expulsés dans votre direction ou vous faire perdre l'équilibre.
- Ne travaillez jamais en plaçant la tronçonneuse en dessus de la hauteur d'épaules (Fig.13).
- Ne démarrez jamais la tronçonneuse si le carter de chaîne n'est pas installé.

Mesures de précaution contre l'effet de rebond



AVERTISSEMENT: Évitez tout phénomène de rebond pouvant entraîner de graves blessures. L'effet de rebond consiste en un mouvement brusque vers l'arrière, vers le haut ou vers l'avant du guide-chaîne se produisant lorsque la zone de la chaîne située à l'extrémité supérieure du guide-chaîne entre en contact avec un objet, tel qu'un rondin ou une branche, ou lorsque la bille de bois se referme et vient coincer la chaîne dans le plan de coupe. Le contact avec un corps étranger dans le bois peut également entraîner une perte de contrôle de la tronçonneuse.

- Le rebond par rotation peut se produire lorsque la chaîne en mouvement entre en contact avec un objet au niveau de l'extrémité supérieure du guide-chaîne. Ce contact peut entraîner la chaîne à s'enfoncer dans l'objet, ce qui a pour effet de stopper la chaîne pendant un instant. Cet arrêt de la chaîne génère une rétroaction extrêmement rapide ayant pour effet de relever le guide-chaîne et de le renvoyer en direction de l'opérateur (Fig.14–15 et Fig. 16).
- Le rebond par pincement peut se produire lorsque la bille de bois se referme et vient pincer la chaîne en mouvement au niveau de l'extrémité du guide-chaîne, stoppant immédiatement le mouvement de la chaîne. Cet arrêt soudain de la chaîne résulte en une inversion de la force utilisée pour couper le bois et entraîne la tronçonneuse dans le sens opposé de la rotation de la chaîne. La tronçonneuse est violemment ramenée en direction de l'opérateur.

- des conditions de fonctionnement défavorables, notamment le fonctionnement en charge partielle; peuvent entraîner une détérioration rapide de la bougie.

Silencieux pare-étincelles

Votre tronçonneuse est équipée d'un dispositif pare-étincelles Réf. 50240109 (Fig. 93) conforme aux exigences de la norme SAE J335; vous avez la possibilité de vérifier le numéro de référence du dispositif pare-étincelles apposé sur le silencieux.

AVERTISSEMENT: Un dispositif pare-étincelles défectueux ou modifié peut être à l'origine d'un incendie.

En usage normal, ce dispositif peut s'encrasser et doit être contrôlé toutes les semaines et nettoyé en fonction de son état.

Pour procéder au nettoyage:

- Laissez refroidir le silencieux.
- Retirez le vis du écranpare-étincelles (B).
- Déposez l'écran para-énticelles (A) réf. 50240155.
- Nettoyez et contrôlez l'écran pare-étincelles. Si le pare-étincelles est endommage, en mauvais état ou détériore, le remplacer.
- Remontez les composants dans l'ordre inverse de la dépose.

Le dispositif pare-étincelles nécessite un entretien et un nettoyage périodiques et précis, notamment pour ce qui concerne les points suivants:

- contrôlez périodiquement l'écran pare-étincelles et remplacez-le s'il est perforé, tordu ou déformé;
- vérifiez minutieusement si de la poussière, des débris ou toute substance organique est en contact avec les pièces du dispositif pare-étincelles; contrôlez particulièrement l'espace entre le silencieux et l'écran; nettoyez-le souvent à l'aide d'otuils ou à l'air comprimé.

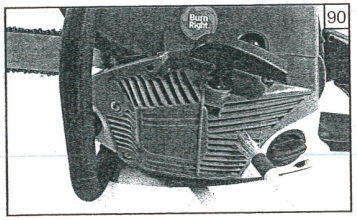
Par souci de conformité à la norme, il est nécessaire de monter an griffe d'abattage Réf. 50240110 (A, Fig. 94); celles-ci sont forunies dans l'emballage de la tronçonneuse.

Silencieux d'échappement

ATTENTION – Ce silencieux est doté d'un catalyseur ce qui assure au moteur la conformité aux conditions sur les émissions requises. Ne jamais modifier ni déposer le catalyseur : tout modification est une violation à la loi.

ATTENTION – Les silencieux dotés de catalyseur deviennent très chauds durant l'utilisation et restent ainsi longtemps après avoir éteint le moteur. Cette situation se présente même lorsque le moteur tourne au ralenti. Vous risquez de vous brûler en le touchant. Risque d'incendie!

PRÉCAUTION – Si le catalyseur est endommagé il doit être remplacé. S'il se bouche fréquemment, le rendement du silencieux catalytique s'en trouve réduit.



AVERTISSEMENT: N'utilisez jamais votre tronçonneuse si le silencieux est endommagé, déposé ou modifié. Un silencieux mal entretenu augment le risque d'incendie et de perte auditive.

comprimé à une certaine distance. Remontez le filtre à air dans le couvercle. Posez le couvercle de filtre à air sur la tronçonneuse. Resserrez fermement les vis du couvercle de filtre à air.
Un filtre à air usagé ne peut jamais être complètement nettoyé.
Il est recommandé de remplacer le filtre à air après six mois d'utilisation.

MISE EN GARDE: Ne faites jamais tourner le moteur sans le filtre à air au risque de l'endommager.
Vérifiez que le filtre à air est correctement logé dans le couvercle de filtre à air avant procéder au remontage de l'ensemble.
Remplacez toujours un filtre à air endommagé.
Ne nettoyez pas le filtre à l'aide d'une brosse.

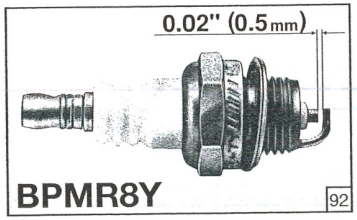
Démarreur

Éliminez les débris accumulés au niveau des ouïes d'aération du démarreur à l'aide d'une brosse (Fig. 90).

90

AVERTISSEMENT: Le ressort à enroulement est sous tension et peut "sauter" à tout moment, entraînant de graves blessures. Ne tentez jamais de le démonter ou de le modifier.

Moteur

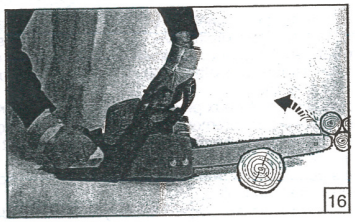


Nettoyez périodiquement les ailettes du moteur et du volant-moteur à l'air comprimé ou à l'aide d'une brosse (Fig. 91). Les impuretés incrustées sur le cylindre peuvent entraîner une surchauffe dangereuse du moteur.

91

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne faites jamais fonctionner la tronçonneuse si toutes les pièces ne sont pas correctement montées, notamment le couvercle du carter d'entraînement et le carter du démarreur.
Dans la mesure où les pièces peuvent se casser et voler en éclat, faites réparer le volant-moteur et l'embrayage à un réparateur agréé.

Bougie



Ce moteur utilise une bougie NGK BPMR8Y avec un espacement entre les électrodes de 0,5 mm (0,02 pouce) (Fig. 92). Remplacez-la par une bougie identique tous les six mois ou plus fréquemment si nécessaire.

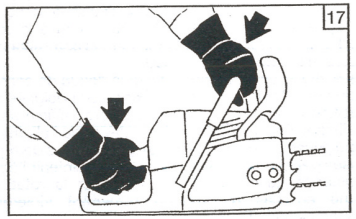
92

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne testez jamais le système d'allumage alors que le connecteur du câble d'allumage est débranché de la bougie ou si la bougie n'est pas montée dans son logement, au risque de produire un jaillissement d'étincelles non contrôlé qui peut entraîner un risque d'incendie. Une mauvaise connexion entre la borne de la bougie et le connecteur du câble d'allumage au niveau de la coiffe peut générer un arc électrique susceptible d'enflammer les vapeurs de carburant à l'origine d'un incendie.

Utilisez exclusivement des bougies antiparasites de la gamme préconisée.
Les facteurs tels que:
- un excès d'huile dans le mélange de carburant;
- un filtre à air encrassé;

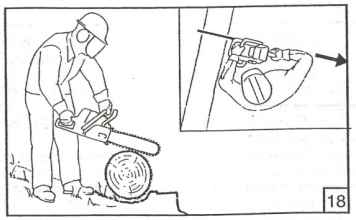
16

- Le phénomène de tirage peut se produire lorsque la chaîne en mouvement rencontre un corps étranger dans le bois au niveau de la partie inférieure du guide-chaîne, entraînant l'arrêt soudain de la chaîne. Cet arrêt soudain a pour effet de propulser la tronçonneuse dans la direction opposée à l'opérateur, qui risque alors très facilement de perdre le contrôle de la machine.



Comment éviter l'effet de rebond par pincement:
- Soyez particulièrement vigilant dans les situations où le matériau est susceptible de venir coincer l'extrémité supérieure du guide-chaîne ou venir stopper le mouvement de la chaîne.
- Ne coupez pas plus d'un rondin à la fois.
- Ne faites pas osciller la machine en retirant le guide-chaîne d'une entaille de coupe lors du débitage.

Comment éviter le phénomène de tirage:
- Entamez toujours votre coupe en mettant la pleine puissance du moteur et en plaquant le carter de la tronçonneuse contre la bille de bois.
- Utilisez des coins d'abattage en plastique ou en bois. N'utilisez jamais de coins en métal pour maintenir l'entaille ouverte.



Comment réduire le risque de rebond

Sachez toujours identifier les situations où le phénomène de rebond peut se produire. C'est par la connaissance des bases du principe du rebond que vous parviendrez à réduire l'effet de surprise souvent attribué aux accidents.

- Ne laissez jamais la chaîne en mouvement venir au contact d'un objet au niveau de l'extrémité du guide-chaîne.
- Dégagez la zone de travail de tout objet encombrant, tel que les arbres, branches, rochers, haies, souches, etc. Retirez ou évitez tout objet susceptible de venir au contact de votre machine lors du tronçonnage d'une bûche ou d'une branche.
- Maintenez votre chaîne correctement affûtée et tendue. Une chaîne détendue ou émoussée accroît le risque de rebond. Suivez les instructions d'affûtage et d'entretien fournies par le fabricant. Contrôlez la tension de chaîne à intervalles réguliers, moteur coupé et jamais en fonctionnement. Vérifiez que les écrous de frein de chaîne sont serrés correctement après chaque tension de chaîne.
- Entamez et procédez à la coupe à plein régime. Le risque de rebond est d'autant plus élevé que la vitesse de la chaîne est faible.
- Ne coupez qu'un seul rondin à la fois.
- Faites particulièrement attention lorsque vous insérez à nouveau la chaîne dans une entaille débutée préalablement.
- Ne tentez pas d'entamer une coupe avec l'extrémité du guide-chaîne (coupe en plongée).
- Prenez garde aux rondins susceptibles de riper ou à toute autre force susceptible de refermer une entaille de coupe et de venir coincer ou chuter sur la chaîne.
- Utilisez des guide-chaîne et des chaînes équipés de dispositifs permettant de réduire l'effet de rebond spécifiés pour votre tronçonneuse.

Comment garder le contrôle (Fig.17-18)
- Tenez fermement la tronçonneuse à deux mains lorsque le moteur tourne et ne la lâchez pas. En maintenant fermement la tronçonneuse, vous réduirez le risque de rebond et garderez le contrôler de la machine. Positionnez les doigts de votre main gauche sur la poignée avant et venez enserrer la poignée avec le pouce gauche par en dessous. Saisissez la poignée arrière de la main droite, que vous soyez droitier ou gaucher. Votre bras gauche doit être tendu et le coude bloqué.

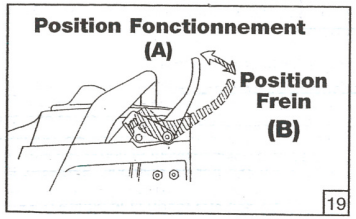
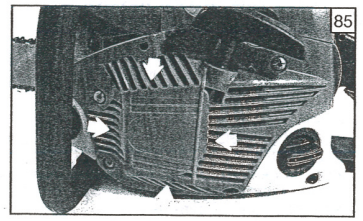
Dulberg 004069

- Enserrez la poignée avant de la main gauche de telle façon qu'elle soit en ligne droite avec la main droite saisissant la poignée arrière lorsque vous effectuez une coupe de débitage. N'inversez jamais la position des mains quel que soit le type de coupe effectué.
- Tenez-vous sur vos deux pieds, le poids également réparti.
- Positionnez-vous légèrement sur la gauche de la tronçonneuse de façon à éviter que votre corps soit directement en ligne avec la chaîne.
- Ne vous penchez pas trop, sous peine de perdre l'équilibre et le contrôle de la machine.
- Ne travaillez jamais en plaçant la tronçonneuse en dessus de la hauteur d'épaules. Il est extrêmement difficile de maintenir le contrôle d'une machine placée au-dessus de la hauteur d'épaules.

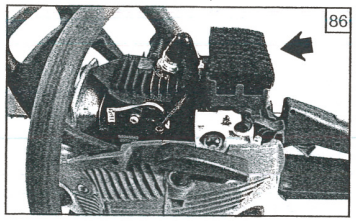


Dispositifs de sécurité contre l'effet de rebond

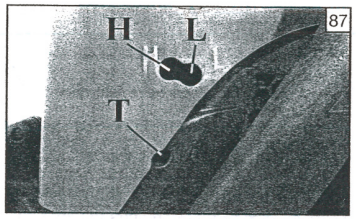
AVERTISSEMENT: les dispositifs suivants sont fournis avec votre tronçonneuse et vous permettent de réduire le risque de rebond; toutefois, ces dispositifs ne suppriment pas totalement ce phénomène dangereux. En tant qu'utilisateur, ne vous fiez pas uniquement à ces dispositifs de sécurité. Vous devez respecter toutes les précautions et recommandations relatives à la sécurité et à l'entretien fournies par le présent manuel de façon à éviter l'effet de rebond ou tout autre phénomène susceptible d'entraîner de graves blessures.



- Guide-chaîne à réduction de l'effet de rebond, équipé d'une extrémité à faible rayon permettant de réduire la zone de risque de rebond au niveau de l'extrémité du guide-chaîne. Il a été démontré que l'utilisation d'un guide-chaîne à réduction de l'effet de rebond permet de réduire façon significative le nombre et l'importance des rebonds lors d'essais effectués conformément aux exigences de sécurité relatives aux tronçonneuses thermiques définies par la norme ANSI B175.1 - 2000.
- Chaîne à effet rebond réduit, équipée d'un limiteur de profondeur profilé et d'un maillon de sécurité, déviant la force de rebond et permettant au bois de pénétrer graduellement dans le maillon-gouge. L'essai d'une chaîne à réduction de l'effet de rebond sur un échantillon significatif de tronçonneuses d'une cylindrée inférieure à 62,3 cm3 a prouvé la conformité d'un tel dispositif relativement aux normes anti-rebond définies par la norme ANSI B175.1 - 2000.
- Poignée avant, conçue pour réduire le risque de contact entre la chaîne et votre main, si celle-ci ripe de la poignée avant.
- La position des poignées avant et arrière, définie en fonction de la distance séparant l'une de l'autre et de l'alignement des deux poignées. L'écartement et l'alignement des deux poignées proposés par cette conception aident à maintenir l'équilibre et la résistance nécessaires pour contrôler la rotation de la machine en cas de rebond ramenant violemment la tronçonneuse vers l'opérateur.



Frein de chaîne



Les freins de chaîne sont conçus pour stopper rapidement la rotation de la chaîne. Lorsque le levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main est poussé vers le guide, la chaîne doit s'arrêter immédiatement. Un frein de chaîne ne permet pas d'empêcher le rebond.
La Position Fonctionnement (A) et Position Frein (B) sont illustrées sur la Fig.19.
Le frein de chaîne doit être nettoyé et testé quotidiennement. Procédez au nettoyage du frein de chaîne conformément aux instructions de la section Entretien-Frein de chaîne et procédez au test conformément aux instructions de la section Fonctionnement-Fonctionnement du frein de chaîne.

- Rails fendillés ou cassés.
- Rails étirés.

En outre, les guide-chaîne équipés d'un pignon en leur point doivent être lubrifiés périodiquement à l'aide d'une seringue à huile afin de rallonger leur durée de vie.
Retournez le guide-chaîne et vérifiez que les orifices de lubrification (T) et la gorge de chaîne (S) sont exempts d'impuretés.

Réglage du carburateur

Avant de procéder au réglage du carburateur, nettoyez les ouïes d'aération du couvercle de démarreur comme indiqué dans la Fig. 85, ainsi que le filtre à air comme indiqué dans la Fig. 86. Reportez-vous aux sections Fonctionnement-Démarrage de la machine et Entretien-Filtre à air pour de plus amples détails. Laissez chauffer le moteur avant de procéder au réglage du carburateur.
Ce moteur est conçu et fabriqué conformément aux réglementations de Phase 2 de l'EPA (Agence de protection de l'environnement). Le carburateur est réglé en usine et ne nécessite normalement aucun réglage. Ce modèle de carburateur ne permet que le réglage des aiguilles "L" (gicleur bas) et "H" (gicleur haut). Tout réglage doit être effectué par un service d'entretien agréé.
Ne forcez en aucun cas les aiguilles "L" (gicleur bas) et "H" (gicleur haut) hors de leur plage de réglage.

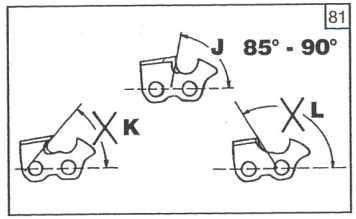
Réglage du ralenti

- Si le moteur démarre, tourne et accélère mais ne tient pas le ralenti, tournez la vis de réglage du ralenti "T" dans le sens des aiguilles d'une montre pour augmenter le ralenti (Fig. 87).
- Si la chaîne tourne au régime de ralenti, tournez la vis de réglage du ralenti "T" ans le sens inverse des aiguilles d'une montre pour réduire le régime de ralenti et stopper la rotation de la chaîne. Si la chaîne continuer à tourner au régime de ralenti, contactez un service d'entretien agréé pour procéder au réglage et n'utilisez pas la machine tant que la réparation n'a pas été effectuée.

Filtre à carburant

Contrôlez le filtre à carburant (F, Fig. 88) périodiquement. Remplacez-le s'il est contaminé ou endommagé.

Filtre à air



AVERTISSEMENT: Ne nettoyez pas le filtre à air à l'essence ou avec tout autre produit inflammable afin d'éviter tout risque d'incendie ou de générer des vapeurs nocives.

Dévissez les vis du couvercle (G, Fig. 89), déposez le couvercle du filtre à air (H) et contrôlez le filtre à air (I) quotidiennement. Nettoyer à l'aide du dégraissant, laver à l'eau et souffler de l'air

Angle des plaques supérieures
Les porte-lime sont équipés de repères permettant d'aligner correctement la lime afin d'obtenir l'ANGLE DE PLAQUE SUPÉRIEURE correct (Fig. 80).
G) CORRECT- 30°
H) INFÉRIEUR À 30° - Pour débitage.
I) SUPÉRIEUR À 30°- Bord aminci, émoussage rapide.

Angle des plaques latérales (Fig.81)
J) CORRECT- 85° - 90°
Obtenu automatiquement lors de l'utilisation d'une lime de diamètre correct dans un porte-lime.
K) "CROCHET"- "Broutage" et émoussage rapide. Augmente le risque de REBOND.
Provient de l'utilisation d'une lime de diamètre insuffisant, ou d'une lime tenue trop bas.
L) DÉCLIVITÉ VERS L'ARRIÈRE- Nécessite un effort d'avancement trop important et entraîne une usure excessive du guide et de la chaîne.
Provient de l'utilisation d'une lime de diamètre trop important, ou d'une lime tenue trop haut.

Réglage du limiteur d'épaisseur
1. La hauteur (N, Fig.82) du limiteur d'épaisseur (M) doit être comprise entre 0,5 mm (0,020 po.) et 0,6 mm (0,024 po.). Utilisez une cale d'épaisseur pour contrôler la hauteur des limiteurs d'épaisseur.
2. Contrôlez la hauteur des limiteurs d'épaisseur à chaque affûtage de la chaîne.

Utilisez une lime plate et une dégauchisseuse pour limiteur d'épaisseur pour rabaisser uniformément tous les limiteurs (Fig.83).
P) LIME PLATE
Q) DÉGAUCHISSEUSE POUR LIMITEURS D'ÉPAISSEUR
Les dégauchisseuses pour limiteurs d'épaisseur sont disponibles en dimensions 0,5 mm à 0,9 mm (0,020 à 0,035 pouce). Après avoir rabaissé la hauteur de chacun des limiteurs d'épaisseur, restituez la forme initiale en arrondissant l'avant (R). Veillez à ne pas endommager les maillons-guides adjacents avec le bord de la lime.

MISE EN GARDE: Après affûtage, nettoyez soigneusement la chaîne, éliminez les copeaux de limage ou la poussière de rectification. Lubrifiez soigneusement la chaîne.

Entretien du guide-chaîne

Après chaque journée d'utilisation, retournez le guide-chaîne sur la tronçonneuse de façon à répartir équitablement l'usure et rallonger la durée de vie du guide-chaîne (voir Fig.84). Nettoyez le guide-chaîne quotidiennement en fin de journée de travail et contrôlez son état et son niveau d'usure.
L'amincissement ou l'écrasement au niveau des rails du guide est un processus normal d'usure du guide-chaîne. De tels défauts doivent être rectifiés à la lime ou à la pierre dès qu'ils apparaissent.
Remplacez le guide-chaîne s'il présente les défauts suivants:
- Usure à l'intérieur des rails du guide-chaîne laissant passer la chaîne de chaque côté.
- Guide-chaîne tordu.

AVERTISSEMENT : Même s'il est entretenu correctement, le fonctionnement correct du frein de chaîne sur le terrain ne peut être garanti.

AVERTISSEMENT : EN AUCUN CAS, NOUS NE GARANTISSONS, ET VOUS NE DEVEZ CONSIDÉRER, QUE LE FREIN DE CHAÎNE VOUS PROTÉGERA EN CAS DE REBOND. NE VOUS FIEZ PAS EXCLUSIVEMENT AUX DISPOSITIFS ÉQUIPANT VOTRE MACHINE. IL VOUS INCOMBE D'UTILISER LA MACHINE CORRECTEMENT ET AVEC PRÉCAUTION AFIN D'ÉVITER TOUT RISQUE DE REBOND.

Guide-chaîne et chaîne à réduction de l'effet rebond
Équipements recommandés, les guide-chaîne et chaînes à réduction de l'effet rebond réduisent le risque et l'importance du rebond. Votre tronçonneuse est équipée en série de ces dispositifs. Toute réparation du frein de chaîne doit être exclusivement réalisée par un réparateur agréé. Rapportez votre machine sur le lieu d'achat ou chez le réparateur agréé le plus proche.

AVERTISSEMENT : L'angle de rebond calculé (CKA) indiqué sur votre tronçonneuse ainsi que dans le tableau d'angles de rebond calculés ci-dessous correspond à l'angle de rebond de l'ensemble guide-chaîne et chaîne testé conformément aux normes édictées par la CSA (Agence de normalisation canadienne) et les normes ANSI. Lors de l'achat d'un guide-chaîne et d'une chaîne de remplacement, les valeurs inférieures d'angles de rebond calculés indiquées ci-dessous doivent être préférées. En effet, les valeurs plus faibles d'angles de rebond calculé correspondent à des angles plus sûrs pour l'utilisateur, et les valeurs plus élevées indiquent un angle plus important et des forces de rebond plus importantes. Les angles calculés indiqués représentent l'énergie totale et l'angle associé sans actionnement du frein de chaîne en cas de rebond. L'angle activé correspond à la durée d'arrêt de la chaîne par rapport à l'angle d'activation du frein de chaîne et de l'angle résultant de la tronçonneuse. Dans tous les cas, les valeurs les plus faibles d'angle de rebond calculé correspondent à un environnement de travail plus sûr pour l'opérateur. Les combinaisons suivantes de guide-chaîne et de chaînes utilisées sur les tronçonneuses indiquées dans le présent manuel sont conformes aux normes ANSI B175.1. L'utilisation de combinaisons guide-chaîne/chaînes autres que celles indiquées n'est pas recommandée et peut ne pas être conforme aux normes en matières d'angle de rebond calculé.

AVERTISSEMENT : N'équipez pas vote tronçonneuse Efco d'un guide-chaîne arqué. Le risque de rebond est accrû avec l'utilisation d'un guide-chaîne arqué du fait de l'augmentation de la zone de contact de rebond.

Combinaisons guide-chaîne/chaînes recommandées

Modèle	Longueur Guide-chaîne	Oregon ref. Guide-chaîne	Pas Chaîne	Quantité Maillon Jonction	Oregon ref. Chaîne	CKA sans Frein de Chaîne
MT 3500	14"	140RCEA041	3/8" x .050"	52	91 P - 52 E	MAX 45°
MT 3500	16"	160RCEA041	3/8" x .050"	57	91 P - 57 E	MAX 45°

AVERTISSEMENT: Il est possible que les angles calculés par ordinateur de la section 5.11 de la norme ANSI B 175.1 – 2000 n'aient aucune relation avec les angles de rotation de rebond effectifs obtenus en situations réelles de tronçonnage.
En outre, les dispositifs conçus pour réduire les blessures liées au phénomène de rebond peuvent perdre en efficacité lorsque leur état ne correspond plus à leur état initial, particulièrement si leur entretien n'a pas été correctement effectué.
La conformité à la section 5.11 de la norme ANSI B 175.1 – 2000 ne signifie pas obligatoirement que dans les conditions réelles de rebond, le guide et la chaîne tourneront de 45°.

Mesures de précaution pour réduire les risques liés aux vibrations

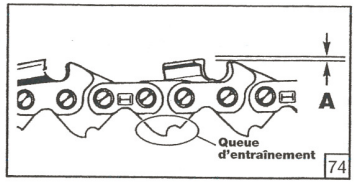
- La tronçonneuse est équipée d'un système anti-vibrations (AV) ; ne le modifiez jamais.
- Portez des gants et tenez vos mains au chaud.
- Tenez toujours la chaîne affûtée et effectuez correctement l'entretien de la tronçonneuse, notamment le système AV. Une chaîne émoussée rallonge le temps de coupe, et le fait d'introduire une chaîne émoussée dans une bille de bois augmente les vibrations transmises directement aux mains.
- Maintenez fermement la tronçonneuse sans pour cela "écraser" les poignées en continu; faites de fréquentes pauses. Toutes les mesures de précautions citées ci-dessus ne garantissent pas que vous ne souffrirez pas du syndrome des doigts morts ou canal carpien. Par conséquent, il est fortement recommandé aux utilisateurs réguliers de surveiller l'état de leurs mains et de leurs doigts. En cas d'apparition de l'un des symptômes précédemment cités, consultez immédiatement un médecin.

Précaution d'entretien

AVERTISSEMENT: n'utilisez jamais une tronçonneuse endommagée, mal réglée, ou mal/partiellement montée.

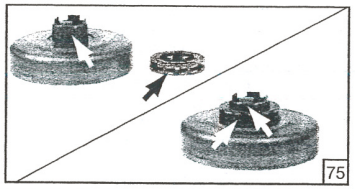
- Vérifier que la chaîne s'arrête lorsque vous relâchez la gâchette des gaz. Si la chaîne se déplace au régime de ralenti, il est peut-être nécessaire de procéder au réglage du carburateur ; Voir la section Fonctionnement-Réglage du carburateur. Si la chaîne se déplace toujours après réglage du carburateur, contactez un réparateur agréé pour effectuer les réglages et n'utilisez plus la machine tant que la réparation n'a pas été effectuée.

AVERTISSEMENT : Hormis les instructions d'entretien fournies par le Manuel de l'opérateur, toutes les autres procédures d'entretien de la tronçonneuse doivent être effectuées par un personnel de maintenance qualifié. (En cas d'utilisation d'outils non appropriés pour le démontage du volant-moteur ou de l'embrayage, ou pour le maintien du volant-moteur en vue du démontage de l'embrayage, le volant-moteur peut subir des dégâts structurels à l'origine de son éclatement pouvant causer de graves blessures).

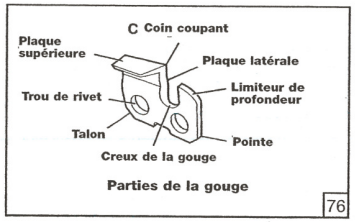


- Ne modifiez en aucune façon les caractéristiques de votre tronçonneuse.
- Tenez vos mains au sec, propres et exemptes d'huile ou de carburant.

AVERTISSEMENT: Utilisez exclusivement des accessoires et des pièces de rechange préconisés.



- Ne touchez jamais la chaîne ou n'effectuez jamais l'entretien lorsque le moteur tourne.
- N'utilisez jamais le carburant pour le nettoyage.
- Entreposez la tronçonneuse dans un endroit sec et non directement sur le sol, avec le couvre-chaîne monté et les réservoirs vides.
- Si votre tronçonneuse n'est plus utilisable, mettez-la au rebut de façon appropriée en respectant l'environnement, en la retournant notamment à votre distributeur qui se chargera de sa mise au rebut dans le respect de la réglementation.
- Remplacez immédiatement tout dispositif de sécurité endommagé ou cassé.



AVERTISSEMENT : le silencieux ainsi que d'autres pièces du moteur (notamment les ailettes du cylindre, la bougie d'allumage) atteignent des températures très élevées en fonctionnement et après arrêt de la machine. Afin de réduire les risques de brûlure, ne touchez pas le silencieux ou les autres pièces lorsqu'elles sont encore chaudes.

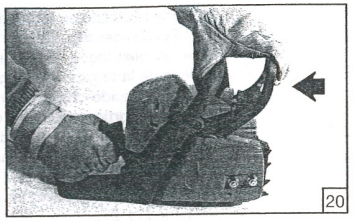
Entretien de la chaîne

Utilisez exclusivement une chaîne à double limiteur d'épaisseur et à rebond réduit sur cette tronçonneuse. Cette chaîne à coupe rapide se caractérise par une réduction de l'effet rebond lorsqu'elle est entretenue correctement.
Pour obtenir une coupe rapide et en souplesse, il est nécessaire d'entretenir correctement la chaîne à limiteur d'épaisseur. Cette chaîne nécessite un affûtage lorsque les copeaux de bois sont petits ou pulvérulents, lorsqu'il est nécessaire d'exercer une force sur la bille de bois pour enfoncer la chaîne, ou lorsque la chaîne coupe sur le côté. Prenez en compte les éléments suivants pour l'entretien de votre chaîne:

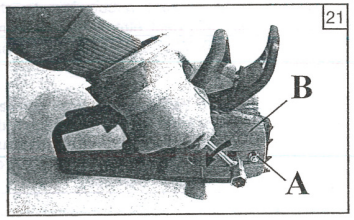
1. Un angle d'attaque frontale incorrecte de la plaque latérale peut accroître le risque d'un important effet de rebond.
2. Épaisseur du copeau (limiteur de profondeur) (A, Fig. 74): Trop importante, augmente le risque de rebond ; insuffisante, réduit la capacité de coupe.
3. Si les gouges ont heurté des objets durs tels que des clous ou des pierres, ou si elles ont été élimées par de la boue ou du sable présent dans le bois, faites affûter la chaîne par un service d'entretien agréé.
4. Dans de rares circonstances, les tenons d'entraînement peuvent s'évaser, empêchant la chaîne de tourner librement. Remplacez la chaîne si nécessaire.

REMARQUE: Inspectez l'état et le niveau d'usure du pignon à flasques lors du remplacement de la chaîne. En cas de signes d'usure ou d'endommagements au niveau des zones indiquées dans la Fig.75, faites remplacer le pignon à flasques par un réparateur agréé.

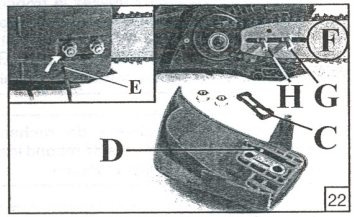
Affûtage des gouges (Fig.76)
Veillez à affûter toutes les gouges aux angles spécifiés et à la même longueur, car la caractéristique de coupe rapide ne peut être assurée que si toutes les gouges sont uniformes.



1. Portez des gants de protection. Tendez suffisamment la chaîne de sorte qu'elle n'oscille pas. Procédez à l'affûtage au niveau du centre du guide-chaîne. Voir la section Fonctionnement-Tension de la chaîne.
2. Utilisez une lime ronde de diamètre 3/16" et un porte-lime.
3. Tenez la lime de niveau avec la plaque supérieure de la dent, comme indiqué dans la Fig. 77. Ne laissez pas la lime plonger ou osciller.
4. En exerçant une pression légère mais ferme, limez en direction du coin avant de la dent, comme indiqué dans la Fig. 78. Soulevez la lime de la gouge à chaque retour de lime.
5 Mettez quelques fermes coups de limes sur toute la dent. Limez toutes les gouges dont le tranchant est situé côté gauche (E, Fig. 79) dans un seul sens. Passez ensuite aux gouges dont le tranchant se situe côté droit et limez (F) dans le sens opposé. Éliminez de temps en temps les copeaux de la lime à l'aide d'une brosse métallique.



MISE EN GARDE: Une chaîne émoussée ou mal affûtée peut entraîner un régime excessif du moteur lors de la coupe, et sévèrement endommager le moteur.



AVERTISSEMENT: Le respect des angles et des dimensions spécifiés ci-dessous et absolument essentiel. Si la chaîne est mal affûtée, et tout particulièrement si le limiteur d'épaisseur est trop profond, le risque de rebond est accrû, ainsi que le risque de blessures.
Le fait de ne pas remplacer ou réparer une chaîne endommagée peut être à l'origine de graves blessures.
La chaîne est extrêmement affûtée; portez en permanence des gants de protection lorsque vous effectuez l'entretien de la chaîne.

Montage du guide-chaîne et de la chaîne

AVERTISSEMENT: Contrôlez fréquemment la tension de la chaîne lorsque vous utilisez la tronçonneuse. Ne touchez ou ne réglez jamais la chaîne lorsque le moteur tourne. La chaîne est extrêmement affûtée, portez en permanence des gants de protection lorsque vous effectuez l'entretien de la chaîne.

1. Vérifiez que le frein de chaîne n'est pas appliqué en tirant le levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main vers la poignée avant comme indiqué dans la Fig. 20. Voir les sections Sécurité-Frein de chaîne et Fonctionnement-Frein de chaîne pour de plus amples informations.
2. Retirez les deux (2) écrous de guide-chaîne (A, Fig. 21) et le couvercle d'embrayage (B).
3. Retirez et jetez l'entretoise de transport en plastique (C, Fig. 22) montée sur les goujons du guide-chaîne en lieu et place du guide pour le transport.
4. Réglez la goupille de tension de chaîne (D) à fond vers la bande de frein en tournant la vis de tension de chaîne (E) dans le sens inverse des aiguilles d'une montre comme indiqué dans l'insert de la Fig. 22.
5. Le guide-chaîne (F) st équipé d'une fente dans laquelle se montent les goujons pour guide-chaîne (G). Il est également équipé de deux orifices pour la goupille de tension de chaîne (H) et de deux orifices de graissage, un de chaque côté. Le guide-chaîne est réversible et l'un ou l'autre orifice pour goupille de tension de chaîne peut être utilisé indifféremment.
6. Monter le guide-chaîne (F) sur les goujons (G) comme indiqué dans la Fig. 22.
7. Insérer le guide-chaîne (F) dans la boucle de chaîne (H) comme indiqué dans la Fig. 23. Les gouges sur la partie supérieure du guide-chaîne doivent être orientées vers l'extrémité avant du guide, dans le sens de rotation de la chaîne. Voir l'insert (M) de la Fig. 24.
8. Passer la chaîne (H) sur le pignon à flasques (I) puis dans la rainure du guide-chaîne.

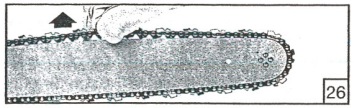
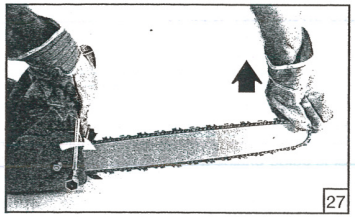
MISE EN GARDE: Le pignon à flasques, le tambour d'embrayage, le guide-chaîne et la chaîne peuvent être sérieusement endommagés sir la chaîne n'est pas correctement insérée dans le pignon à flasques.

9. Remontez le couvercle d'embrayage (B). Tournez la vis de tension de chaîne (E) dans le sens des aiguilles d'une montre (comme indiqué dans la Fig. 25, page 50) jusqu'à ce que la goupille de tension de chaîne (D) se loge dans l'orifice de goupille de tension de chaîne (H). Montez les deux écrous de guide-chaîne (A). Serrez-les à la main. Le guide-chaîne doit pouvoir se déplacer librement pour le réglage de la tension.



MISE EN GARDE: La tronçonneuse subira de graves dégâts lors du remontage du couvercle d'embrayage si la goupille de tension de chaîne n'est pas correctement logée dans l'orifice de goupille de tension de chaîne.



REMARQUE: Si le couvercle d'embrayage ne s'insère pas librement, vérifiez que le frein de chaîne n'est pas appliqué. Pour désengager le frein de chaîne alors que le couvercle d'embrayage est déposé, saisissez le couvercle d'embrayage comme indiqué dans la Fig. 20 et tirez le levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main vers l'arrière.

26

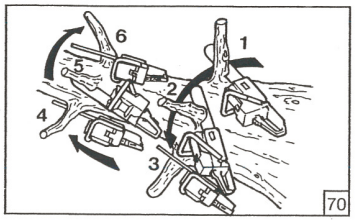
28

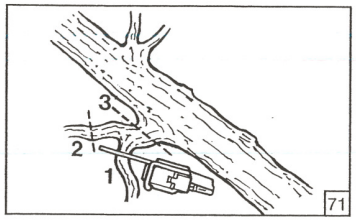
10. Éliminez tout jeu au niveau de la chaîne en tournant la vis de tension de chaîne (E) dans le sens des aiguilles d'une montre, en vérifiant que la chaîne est bien logée dans la rainure du guide-chaîne lors du réglage de la tension (Voir Fig. 25).
11. Soulevez la partie supérieure du guide-chaîne pour vérifier le jeu (Voir Fig. 26). Relâchez la partie supérieure du guide-chaîne et tourner la vis de tension de chaîne (E) d'un demi-tour dans le sens des aiguilles d'une montre. Répétez cette procédure jusqu'à suppression de tout jeu.
12. Maintenez l'extrémité du guide-chaîne et serrez les écrous de guide comme indiqué dans la Fig. 27.
13. La chaîne est tendue correctement lorsque la partie inférieure du guide-chaîne ne présent aucun jeu; la chaîne est relativement serrée mais peut être tournée à la main sans contrainte (Voir Fig. 28). Vérifiez que le frein de chaîne n'est pas appliqué.

REMARQUE: Si la chaîne est montée trop serrée, elle ne pourra tourner. Desserrez légèrement les écrous de guide-chaîne et tournez la vis de réglage d'un quart de tour dans le sens inverse des aiguilles d'une montre. Soulevez l'extrémité du guide-chaîne et resserrez les écrous.



AVERTISSEMENT: Contrôlez fréquemment la tension de la chaîne lorsque vous utilisez la tronçonneuse. Ne touchez ou ne réglez jamais la chaîne lorsque le moteur tourne. La chaîne est extrêmement affûtée; portez en permanence des gants de protection lorsque vous effectuez l'entretien de la chaîne.

AVERTISSEMENT: La chaîne de rechange doit posséder des caractéristiques de rebond identiques, voire inférieures à la chaîne d'origine.



AVERTISSEMENT: Si la tronçonneuse est utilisée avec une chaîne détendue, celle-ci peut échapper du guide-chaîne et entraîner de graves blessures.

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne démarrez jamais la tronçonneuse alors que le couvercle de pignon est desserré.

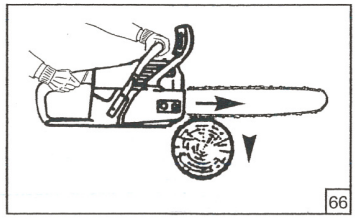
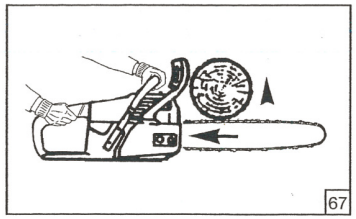
Opération d'ébranchage (Fig. 70-71)

- Procédez toujours à l'ébranchage après que l'arbre a été abattu. C'est à cette condition que l'ébranchage peut être effectué correctement et en toute sécurité.
- Laissez les plus grosses branches sous l'arbre abattu de telle sorte qu'elles supportent l'arbre pendant votre travail.
- Commencez de la base vers la cime de l'arbre abattu, en coupant les rameaux et les branches maîtresses. Coupez les petits rameaux en une seule passe.
- Gardez le tronc entre vous et la chaîne. Procédez à la coupe depuis le côté de l'arbre opposé à la branche que vous tronçonnez.
- Supprimez les branches de support les plus grosses en employant la technique de coupe décrite dans la section DÉBITAGE SANS SUPPORT.
- Coupez toujours les rameaux et les petites branches en suspens par le dessus. Une coupe par en dessous peut faire chuter les branches et coincer la tronçonneuse.

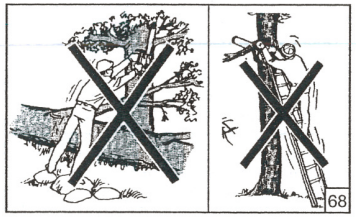
Opération d'élagage (Fig.72)



- Pour l'élagage, il est important de ne pas effectuez la coupe à ras à proximité de la branche maîtresse ou du tronc avant d'avoir coupé une partie de la branche de façon à réduire le poids. Cela permet d'éviter d'arracher l'écorce au niveau du membre principal.
- Coupez tout d'abord le premier tiers de la branche par le bas, puis le restant de la branche par le haut de façon à faire tomber la branche.
- Vous pouvez à présent passer à la finition en procédant à la coupe à ras du membre principal soigneusement et proprement, de telle sorte que l'écorce recouvrira la cicatrice.



AVERTISSEMENT: Si le branche à élaguer se trouvent au-dessus de la hauteur de poitrine, faites intervenir un professionnel pour l'opération.



"Fouets"

Un "fouet" (ou perche) (B, Fig.73) désigne un rondin, une branche, une souche racinée ou un jeune arbre pliée sous la tension d'une autre bille de bois, de telle façon que le membre en tension a un effet de retour élastique si on coupe ou retire la bille le maintenant. Sur un arbre abattu, une souche racinée a un gros potentiel de retour élastique en position verticale lors du débitage permettant de séparer le rondin de la souche. Méfiez-vous des "fouets". Ils sont potentiellement dangereux.

AVERTISSEMENT: Les "fouets" sont dangereux et peuvent venir heurter l'opérateur, entraînant une perte de contrôle de la tronçonneuse. De graves blessures, voire la mort, peuvent en découler.

67

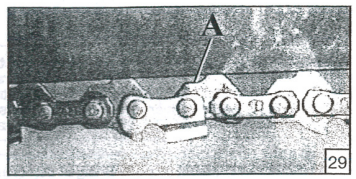
68

69

Méthodes de coupes utilisées
Débitage par le haut (Fig. 66)
Commencez par la face supérieure du rondin en plaçant la face inférieure de la tronçonneuse contre le rondin ; exercez une légère pression vers le bas.

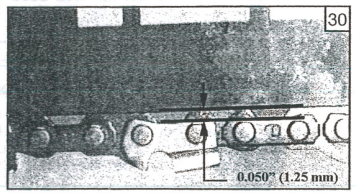
Débitage par le bas (Fig. 67)
Commencez par la face inférieure du rondin en plaçant la face supérieure de la tronçonneuse contre le rondin ; exercez une légère pression vers le haut. La tronçonneuse a tendance à revenir dans votre direction lorsque vous effectuez une coupe par le bas. Soyez préparé à cette réaction et maintenez la tronçonneuse fermement afin de garder le contrôle.

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne retournez jamais la tronçonneuse pour le débitage par le bas. Il n'est pas possible de contrôler la tronçonneuse dans une telle position. Effectuez toujours la première entaille de débitage sur le côté du rondin en compression. Le côté du rondin en compression correspond à la zone où se concentre la pression du poids du rondin.



Ébranchage et élagage

AVERTISSEMENT: Soyez vigilant et méfiez-vous de l'effet de rebond. Évitez que la chaîne en mouvement ne touche d'autres branches ou objets au niveau de la pointe du guide-chaîne lors des opérations d'ébranchage ou d'élagage. Tout contact peut entraîner de graves blessures.



- Travaillez sans précipitation, en maintenant fermement et correctement vos deux mains sur la tronçonneuse. Gardez une bonne assise et un bon équilibre (Fig. 68).
- Pour l'ébranchage, le tronc doit se trouver entre vous et la chaîne (A, Fig. 69). Procédez à la coupe depuis le côté de l'arbre opposé à la branche que vous tronçonnez.
- N'utilisez pas la tronçonneuse sur une échelle ; cela est extrêmement dangereux (Fig. 68). Laissez agir des professionnels dans de pareilles situations.
- Ne coupez pas au-dessus dans la hauteur de poitrine, car il est toujours plus difficile de contrôler une tronçonneuse placée en hauteur en cas de rebond.
- Méfiez-vous de l'effet de retour élastique. Prenez garde aux branches pliées ou sous pression. Évitez d'être heurté par la branche ou la tronçonneuse au moment où la tension des fibres du bois est relâchée.
- Maintenez la zone de travail dégagée. Évacuez fréquemment les branches afin d'éviter de trébucher contre elles.

AVERTISSEMENT : Ne grimpez jamais sur un arbre pour effectuer l'ébranchage ou l'élagage. Ne vous tenez pas sur une échelle, ou un rondin, ou dans toute position susceptible de vous faire perdre l'équilibre et le contrôle de la tronçonneuse.

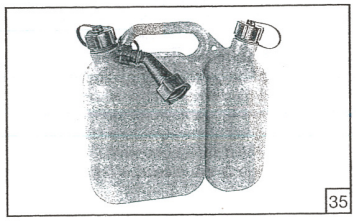
Tension de la chaîne

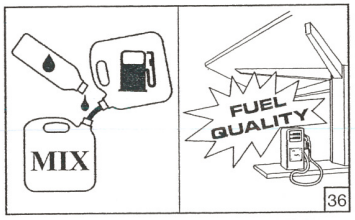
AVERTISSEMENT: Ne touchez ou ne réglez jamais la chaîne alors que le moteur tourne. La chaîne est extrêmement affûtée ; portez en permanence des gants de protection lorsque vous effectuez l'entretien de la chaîne.

1. Coupez le moteur avant de procéder au réglage de la tension de chaîne. Desserrez légèrement les écrous de guide-chaîne, tournez la vis de tension de chaîne dans le sens des aiguilles d'une montre pour tendre la chaîne. Voir la section Montage-Montage du guide-chaîne et de la chaîne. Resserrez les écrous de guide-chaîne. Une chaîne à froid est tendue correctement lorsque la partie inférieure du guide-chaîne ne présent aucun jeu; la chaîne est relativement serrée mais peut être tournée à la main sans contrainte.
   Reportez-vous au paragraphe 3 pour ce qui concerne une chaîne chaude.
2. La chaîne doit être tendue lorsque les méplats (A) sur les tenons des maillons-guides sortent de la rainure du guide-chaîne. Voir Fig. 29.
3. En fonctionnement normal, la température de la chaîne augmente. Les tenons des maillons-guides d'une chaîne tendue correctement doivent dépasser d'environ 1,25 mm de la rainure du guide-chaîne. Voir Fig. 30. Afin de déterminer la tension correcte d'une chaîne chaude, il est possible d'utiliser l'extrémité d'une clé mixte (Fig. 31) comme indicateur.

MISE EN GARDE: Une chaîne tendue alors qu'elle est chaude peut être trop serrée lorsqu'elle refroidit. Contrôlez la "tension à froid" avant une utilisation ultérieure.



MISE EN GARDE: Une chaîne neuve doit être retendue plus fréquemment qu'une chaîne déjà utilisée à plusieurs reprises.



Rodage de la chaîne

Les chaînes neuves ont tendance à s'étirer et doivent être tendues fréquemment. Soulevez la chaîne hors de la rainure du guide-chaîne et lubrifiez la rainure (Voir Fig. 32). Placez la tronçonneuse sur un morceau de carton ou de contreplaqué. Démarrez la tronçonneuse (Voir la section Fonctionnement-Démarrage du moteur) et laissez-le tourner à régime modéré pendant une (1) minute environ. Coupez le moteur. Contrôlez le bon fonctionnement de la pompe à huile. Le morceau de carton doit recueillir l'excès d'huile de la chaîne en rotation si la pompe à huile fonctionne correctement (Voir Fig. 33). Réglez la tension de chaîne (Voir la section Fonctionnement-Tension de chaîne). Redémarrez la tronçonneuse et effectuez quelques coupes sur un rondin de façon à chauffer la chaîne. Coupez le moteur et réglez à nouveau la chaîne. Répétez cette procédure jusqu'à ce que la chaîne conserve un réglage de tension à chaud correct, comme indiqué dans la Fig. 30 de la section Fonctionnement-Tension de la chaîne. Ne touchez jamais le sol avec la chaîne.

Crampon de débitage

AVERTISSEMENT: Votre tronçonneuse est équipée d'un crampon de débitage (A, Fig.34). Ce crampon de débitage est extrêmement affûté et peut entraîner des blessures. Soyez extrêmement vigilant lorsque vous intervenez à proximité du crampon de débitage.

AVERTISSEMENT: Le démontage du crampon de débitage entraîne une non-conformité de la tronçonneuse avec la norme SAE J335 ainsi que d'autres normes. Voir la section Sécurité-Réglementations nationales et locales.

Alimentation en carburant (Interdiction de fumer!) (Fig. 37)

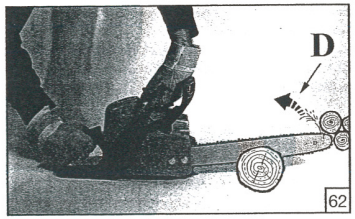
Ce produit est équipé d'un moteur deux temps et nécessite un mélange préalable d'essence et d'huile pour moteurs deux temps. Effectuez le mélange d'essence sans plomb et d'huile pour moteur deux temps dans un conteneur propre et adapté pour l'essence (Fig. 35).

CARBURANT RECOMMANDÉ: CE MOTEUR EST CERTIFIÉ POUR FONCTIONNER AVEC DE L'ESSENCE SANS PLOMB POUR USAGE AUTOMOBILE PRÉSENTANT UN INDICE D'OCTANE DE 89 ([R + M] / 2) OU SUPÉRIEUR (Fig. 36).

Mélangez l'huile pour moteur deux temps à l'essence conformément aux instructions fournies sur l'étiquette. Il est vivement recommandé d'utiliser 2% (1:50) d'huile Efco pour moteurs deux temps, car cette huile est spécialement formulée pour tous les moteurs Efco à deux temps à refroidissement par air. Les proportions d'huile / de carburant indiquées dans le tableau ci-dessous conviennent en cas d'utilisation de l'huile Efco pour moteurs deux temps ou d'une autre huile moteur de haute qualité équivalente (JASO FD ou ISO L-EGD). Si l'huile utilisée présente des spécifications NON équivalentes ou inconnues, la proportion du mélange huile / carburant doit être de 4% (1:25).

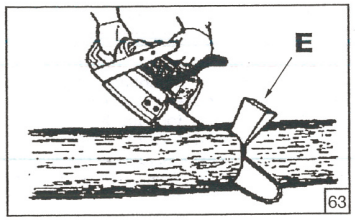
MISE EN GARDE: N'UTILISEZ PAS D'HUILE POUR AUTOMOBILE OU D'HUILE POUR MOTEUR DEUX TEMPS DE HORS-BORD.

MISE EN GARDE: N'utilisez jamais de carburant dont le taux d'alcool est supérieur à 10 % ; l'essence-alcool jusqu'à 10 % ou le carburant E10 sont acceptables.



Une bonne pratique de la gestion des carburants est nécessaire lors de l'utilisation d'essence oxygénée.

L'essence oxygénée avec de l'alcool retire facilement l'eau lorsqu'elle est présente; cette eau peut se condenser dans l'air humide et contaminer le circuit d'alimentation de carburant, réservoir inclus.



MISE EN GARDE:
- Adaptez vos achats de carburant à votre consommation; n'en achetez pas plus que vous en consommerez en un ou deux mois;
- Entreposez l'essence dans un conteneur hermétique et dans un endroit se et frais.

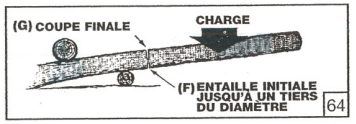
L'utilisation d'essence oxygénée peut faciliter le phénomène de formation de tampon de vapeur.



REMARQUE: L'huile pour moteurs deux temps contient un stabilisateur de carburant et peut être conservée pendant 30 jours. NE MÉLANGEZ PAS plus de carburant que vous pourrez en utiliser sur une période de 30 jours. L'utilisation d'une huile deux temps contenant un stabilisateur de carburant est recommandée.

Débitage

Le débitage consiste à couper un arbre abattu en rondins de longueur désirée.

- Ne coupez qu'un seul rondin à la fois.

AVERTISSEMENT: Supportez les petits rondins sur un chevalet de sciage ou sur un autre rondin lors du débitage. Ne laissez personne tenir le rondin pendant la coupe et ne maintenez jamais le rondin à l'aide de votre jambe ou de votre pied.

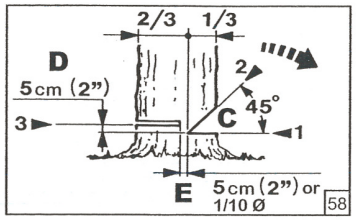
AVERTISSEMENT: Tenez la zone de coupe dégagée. Vérifiez qu'aucun objet ne peut venir au contact du nez de guide et de la chaîne lors de l'opération de débitage, au risque d'amplifier le phénomène de rebond (D, Fig. 62).

AVERTISSEMENT: Au cours des opérations de débitage, tenez-vous toujours en amont de façon à ce que la section découpée du rondin ne puisse pas rouler en votre direction.

AVERTISSEMENT: Si la tronçonneuse se coince dans un rondin, ne tentez pas de la retirer de force. Ceci peut entraîner une perte de contrôle voire des blessures et/ou des dégâts au niveau de la machine. Arrêtez la tronçonneuse, insérez un coin en bois ou en plastique dans l'entaille de coupe jusqu'à ce que vous puissiez retirer la tronçonneuse sans forcer (E, Fig.63). Redémarrez la tronçonneuse et réinsérez-la dans l'entaille avec précaution. Ne tentez pas de redémarrer votre tronçonneuse lorsque celle-ci est coincée ou prise dans un rondin.

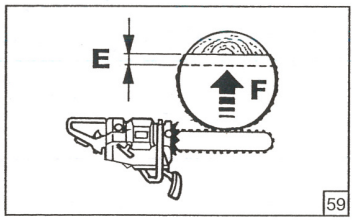
AVERTISSEMENT : Ne vous tenez pas sur le rondin en cours de découpe. Celui-ci peut riper et entraîner une perte d'assise et de contrôle. Ne coupez pas une zone où rondins, branches et racines sont enchevêtrés. Déplacez les rondins dans une zone dégagée avant de les débiter en commençant par les pièces apparentes et dégagées.

Débitage avec un coin d'abattage



Si le diamètre de la bille de bois permet d'insérer un coin de débitage (E, Fig. 63) sans que celui-ci touche la chaîne, il est alors recommandé de l'utiliser afin de tenir l'entaille de coupe ouverte et éviter le pincement.

Rondins soumis à contraintes (Fig. 64-65)



Effectuez la première entaille de débitage (F) sur le premier tiers du rondin et finissez les deux tiers restants (G) par le côté opposé. Le rondin a tendance à se plier lors de la coupe. La tronçonneuse peut ainsi se coincer ou se prendre dans le rondin si la première entaille de débitage excède le tiers du diamètre du rondin.

Soyez particulièrement vigilant pour les rondins soumis à contrainte afin d'éviter de coincer le guide et la chaîne.

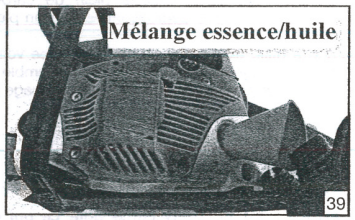
2. Prenez en compte la force et le sens du vent, l'angle d'inclinaison et le point d'équilibre de l'arbre, ainsi que l'emplacement des grosses branches. Ces éléments agissent sur le sens dans lequel l'arbre va tomber. Ne tentez pas d'abattre un arbre sur une ligne différente de sa ligne de chute naturelle.
3. Effectuez une entaille d'abattage (C, Fig. 58) d'une profondeur d'un tiers du diamètre du tronc sur le flanc de l'arbre. Les découpes pour former cette entaille doivent être effectuées à angle droit avec la ligne de chute de l'arbre. Cette entaille doit être nettoyée de façon à laisser une ligne droite. Afin d'éviter que le poids du bois vienne coincer la tronçonneuse, effectuez toujours la coupe inférieure de l'entaille avant la coupe supérieure.
4. Le trait d'abattage s'effectue toujours de niveau et à l'horizontale, à 5 cm (2 pouces) minimum au-dessus de l'entaille d'abattage (D).
5. Ne coupez jamais jusqu'à l'entaille d'abattage. Laissez toujours une bande de bois entre l'entaille et le trait d'abattage, de 5 cm (2 pouces) environ ou d'une épaisseur correspondant à 1/10 du diamètre de l'arbre. Cette épaisseur est appelée "charnière" (E) ou "pivot". Elle contrôle la chute de l'arbre et empêche le glissement, la torsion ou l'échappement de l'arbre au niveau de la souche.
6. Sur les arbres de gros diamètre, interrompez le trait d'abattage (F, Fig. 59) avant qu'elle ne soit assez profonde pour permettre à l'arbre de chuter ou de s'appuyer sur la souche. Insérez ensuite des coins en bois ou en plastique (G, Fig. 60) dans la coupe de sorte qu'ils ne touchent pas la chaîne. Il est possible d'insérer les coins petit à petit pour aider l'arbre à basculer.
7. Lorsque l'arbre commence à chuter, coupez le moteur et posez la tronçonneuse immédiatement. Éloignez-vous par la voie dégagée, tout en observant la scène pour voir si quelque chose chute sur votre chemin.

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne prolongez jamais l'entaille jusqu'au trait d'abattage. La charnière contrôle la chute de l'arbre; il s'agit de la section laissée entre l'entaille et le trait d'abattage.



NE DÉBITEZ PAS un arbre ayant chuté partiellement.
Soyez extrêmement vigilant avec les arbres ayant chuté partiellement qui sont peut-être en équilibre précaire. Si un arbre ne chute pas entièrement, posez la tronçonneuse à distance et ramenez l'arbre au sol à l'aide d'un treuil à câble, d'un palan à moufles ou d'un tracteur.

Contreforts
Un contrefort désigne une large racine émergeant au-dessus du niveau du sol. Il est nécessaire d'éliminer les plus gros contreforts avant l'abattage. Effectuez une coupe horizontale (A, Fig.61) dans le contrefort, puis une coupe verticale (B). Retirez la section ainsi débitée (C) de la zone de travail. Suivez ensuite les directives de la section Fonctionnement-Abattage du présent manuel après retrait des gros contreforts.

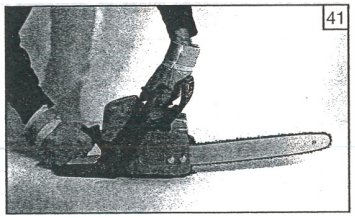
Remplissage du réservoir (Fig. 39)

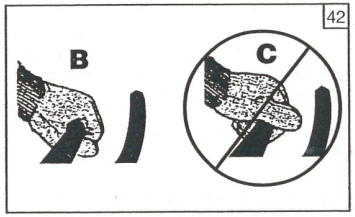
AVERTISSEMENT: Respectez les mesures de sécurité pour la manipulation du carburant. Coupez toujours le moteur avant d'approvisionner la machine en carburant. Ne faites jamais l'appoint de carburant alors que le moteur tourne ou s'il est encore chaud. Déplacez-vous à au moins 3 mètres (10 pieds) de la zone de remplissage avant de démarrer le moteur (Fig. 38). NE FUMEZ PAS !

1. Nettoyez la surface autour du bouchon de carburant afin d'éviter toute contamination.
2. Dévissez lentement le bouchon de carburant.
3. Versez le mélange de carburant dans le réservoir avec précaution. Évitez de renverser du carburant.
4. Avant de remonter le bouchon de carburant, nettoyez et inspectez le joint d'étanchéité.
5. Remontez et serrez immédiatement le bouchon de carburant. Essuyez tout déversement de carburant.

REMARQUE: Lors de sa première utilisation, un moteur émet une certaine quantité de fumée. Cela est normal.

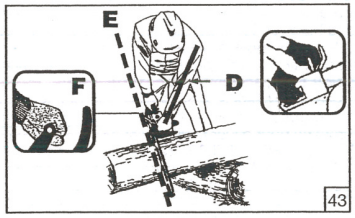


AVERTISSEMENT: Contrôlez la présence éventuelle de fuites de carburant, et rectifiez le cas échéant. Contactez un réparateur agréé si nécessaire.



Durant l'utilisation de la tronçonneuse un extincteur devrait être disponible.

Système de lubrification de la chaîne (Fig. 40)



Le guide-chaîne et la chaîne doivent être lubrifiés en permanence. Cette lubrification s'effectue par le biais d'un dispositif de graissage automatique lorsque le réservoir d'huile est plein. Un manque d'huile endommagera très rapidement le guide et la chaîne. Une trop faible quantité d'huile entraîne une surchauffe matérialisée par un échappement de fumée au niveau de la chaîne et/ou une décoloration du guide-chaîne. Par temps très froid, l'huile a tendance à s'épaissir, ce qui rend nécessaire l'utilisation d'une petite proportion (5 à 10 %) de carburant diesel ou de kérosène pour diluer l'huile du guide et de la chaîne. L'huile de guide et de chaîne doit être non-agglomérante de façon à ce que le circuit d'huile puisse pomper une quantité suffisante d'huile pour garantir une lubrification adéquate.

MISE EN GARDE: N'utilisez jamais d'huile usagée ! Utilisez toujours un lubrifiant biodégradable spécifique pour guide-chaîne et chaîne, qui respecte davantage l'environnement et protège les pièces de la tronçonneuse.

43

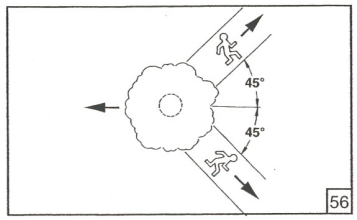
AVERTISSEMENT: N'utilisez pas d'huiles sales, usagées ou contaminées. Cela pourrait endommager la pompe à huile, le guide ou la chaîne.

AVERTISSEMENT: N'utilisez pas d'huile usagée! Des essais médicaux ont démontré qu'un contact répété avec de l'huile usagée peut être à l'origine de cancers de la peau.

1. Faites le plein d'huile à chaque plein de carburant. La tronçonneuse consomme approximativement un plein d'huile par plein de carburant.
2. La pompe à huile automatique est une pompe volumétrique actionnée par pignons entraînés par l'ensemble tambour d'embrayage. La pompe ne fournit aucun graissage lorsque le moteur est au ralenti.

Préparation à la coupe

Prise correcte des poignées.
Reportez-vous à la section Sécurité pour ce qui concerne d'équipement de sécurité approprié.



1. Portez des gants antidérapants pour une adhérence et une protection optimales.

AVERTISSEMENT: Tenez fermement la tronçonneuse à deux mains. Tenez toujours la poignée avant de la MAIN GAUCHE et la poignée arrière (accélérateur) de la MAIN DROITE, comme indiqué dans la Fig.41, de telle façon à placer votre corps sur la gauche du plan de rotation de la chaîne. Ne croisez jamais les mains, ou n'adoptez aucune position qui placerait votre corps ou vos bras dans le plan de rotation de la chaîne. Ces directives s'appliquent également aux gauchers.

2. Gardez une bonne prise en main (B, Fig. 42) de la machine lorsque le moteur tourne. Les doigts doivent venir enserrer la poignée et le pouce s'enrouler sous la poignée. C'est dans cette position que le risque de lâcher prise est le plus minime (notamment par un effet de rebond ou par une brusque réaction de la tronçonneuse). Toute position de la main qui placerait les doigts et le pouce du même côté de la poignée (C) est dangereuse dans la mesure où un léger a-coup de la tronçonneuse peut entraîner une perte de contrôle.

AVERTISSEMENT:
Position correcte de coupe (Fig. 43)
- Le poids doit être équitablement réparti sur les deux pieds reposant sur un sol stable.
- Votre bras doit être tendu et le coude bloqué (D) de façon à pouvoir compenser toute force de rebond.
- Le corps doit toujours se tenir à gauche du plan de rotation de la chaîne (E).
- Le pouce doit venir enserrer la poignée par en dessous (F).

Abattage

Conditions d'abattage dangereuses particulières

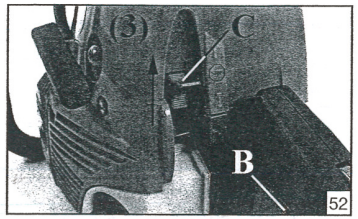
AVERTISSEMENT: Ne procédez pas à l'abattage par grand vent ou par fortes précipitations.

AVERTISSEMENT: N'effectuez jamais à un travail de coupe par faible visibilité ou par températures extrêmement élevées ou basses, ou par grandes gelées.

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne coupez pas les arbres donc le tronc est extrêmement penché ou creux, ou dont les branches sont pourries ou l'écorce se détache. Il n'est pas possible d'obtenir un égobelage et un trait d'abattage corrects sur les arbres dont les troncs sont extrêmement penchés ou creux. Faites plutôt abattre ces arbres par arrachage en utilisant les équipements lourds appropriés.

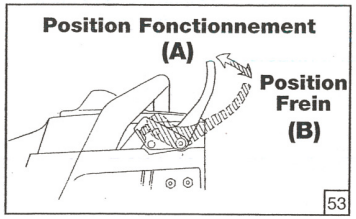
AVERTISSEMENT: N'abattez pas d'arbres à proximité de lignes électriques ou de constructions. Avisez immédiatement le fournisseur d'électricité en cas de contact entre un arbre et la ligne de service public.

AVERTISSEMENT: Vérifiez la présence éventuelle de branches mortes ou endommagées susceptibles de chuter et de vous heurter au cours de l'abattage.



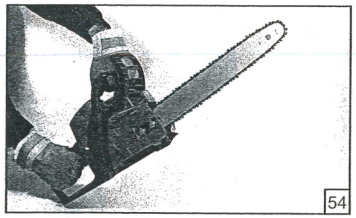
AVERTISSEMENT: Observez fréquemment la cime de l'arbre lorsque vous effectuez le trait d'abattage afin de vous assurer que l'arbre va chuter dans la direction souhaitée.

AVERTISSEMENT: Si l'arbre se met à chuter dans la mauvaise direction, ou si la tronçonneuse reste coincée ou prise lors de la chute, ABANDONNEZ LA TRONÇONNEUSE ET FUYEZ !



- Élaborez toujours votre plan de découpe à l'avance.
- Dégagez la zone de travail. Une zone dégagée est nécessaire tout autour de l'arbre de façon à ce que vous ayez une bonne assise.
- L'opérateur doit se tenir en amont de l'arbre étant donné que celui-ci est susceptible de dévaler la pente en roulant ou en glissant après abattage.
- Étudiez attentivement les éléments naturels environnementaux qui pourrait entraîner la chute de l'arbre dans une direction particulière.

Recherchez toute trace de pourriture. Si le tronc est pourri, il peut casser net et chuter en direction de l'opérateur.
Assurez-vous de disposer de l'espace nécessaire pour la chute de l'arbre. Tenez toute autre personne ou objet à une distance de deux fois la hauteur de l'arbre. Le bruit du moteur peut couvrir un cri d'alerte. Retirez les obstacles, pierres, écorce décrochée, clous, agrafes et fils métalliques de l'arbre à l'endroit de la coupe.



1. Choisissez votre voie de retraite (ou vos voies de retraite si l'une d'entre elle est bloquée). Dégagez la zone à proximité immédiate de l'arbre et vérifiez qu'il n'y a aucun obstacle entravant votre voie de retraite. Dégagez une voie de retraite sûre (Fig. 56) à 45° par rapport à la ligne de chute prévue (Fig. 57).

Arrêt du moteur

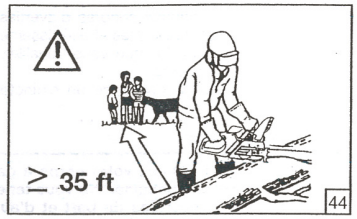
Relâchez la gâchette des gaz (B, Fig. 52) et laissez le moteur tourner au ralenti. Éteindre le moteur en amenant le levier du starter (C) en fin de course vers le haut (3). Ne reposez pas la tronçonneuse tant que la chaîne est encore en mouvement. Par mesure de sécurité supplémentaire, engagez le frein de chaîne lorsque vous n'utilisez pas la tronçonneuse.
Au cas où la position "STOP" de l'interrupteur ne fonctionnerait pas, coupez le moteur en tirant complètement le levier d'étrangleur (⍾) / Full Choke - étranglement maximal, voir Fig. 52).

MISE EN GARDE: La chaîne se rétracte en refroidissant. Si elle n'est pas détendue, elle peut endommager le vilebrequin et les roulements.

Contrôle avant utilisation

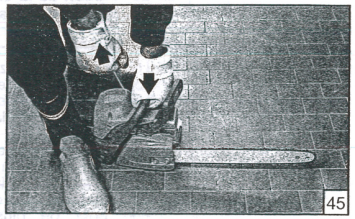
AVERTISSEMENT: LA CHAÎNE NE DOIT JAMAIS TOURNER LORSQUE LE MOTEUR EST AU RÉGIME DE RALENTI. Tournez la vis de réglage du ralenti "T" dans le sens inverse des aiguilles d'une montre pour réduire le régime de ralenti et arrêter la rotation de la chaîne, ou contactez un réparateur agréé pour procéder au réglage; n'utilisez pas la machine avant que la réparation n'ait été effectuée.
Le fait que la chaîne tourne au régime de ralenti peut être à l'origine de graves blessures.

Fonctionnement du frein de chaîne

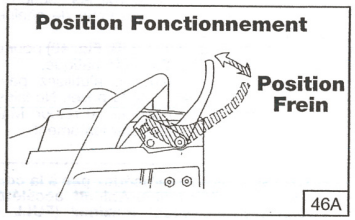


Voir la section Sécurité-Frein de chaîne avant utilisation.
La Position de fonctionnement (A, Fig. 53) et la Position de freinage (B) du frein de chaîne sont illustrées ci-dessous.
Il est recommandé de contrôler l'état du frein de chaîne avant chaque utilisation, comme suit:

1. Démarrez le moteur et saisissez fermement les poignées avant et arrière à deux mains.
2. Actionnez la gâchette des gaz pour amener la tronçonneuse à plein régime. Avec la partie arrière de votre main gauche, engagez le frein de chaîne en poussant le levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main en direction du guide-chaîne alors que la chaîne tourne rapidement; voir Fig. 54.
3. Le frein de chaîne doit s'engager et arrêter la chaîne immédiatement; dans le cas contraire, portez votre contrôleur chez un réparateur agréé et ne l'utilisez pas tant que la réparation n'est pas effectuée.
4. Replacez le frein de chaîne en position de fonctionnement en saisissant levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main côté guide-chaîne (côté droit par rapport à la position de l'opérateur) et en le ramenant vers la poignée avant jusqu'à ce qu'un déclic soit émis. Voir Fig. 55.



AVERTISSEMENT: Si le frein de chaîne n'arrêt pas la chaîne immédiatement, portez la tronçonneuse chez un réparateur agréé avant de l'utiliser.



AVERTISSEMENT: Un frein de chaîne mal entretenu peut augmenter la durée nécessaire pour arrêter la chaîne après engagement, ou peut ne pas s'engager.

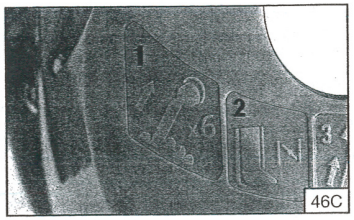
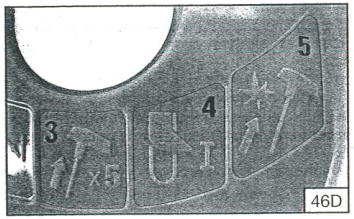
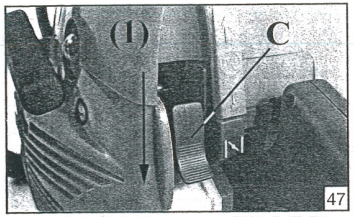
Méthode de coupe de base



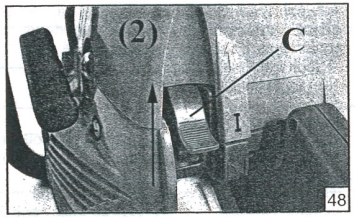
Exercez-vous sur quelques rondins de faible diamètre en utilisant la technique suivante afin de vous "familiariser" avec la prise en main de votre tronçonneuse avant de débuter des travaux de coupe plus conséquents.



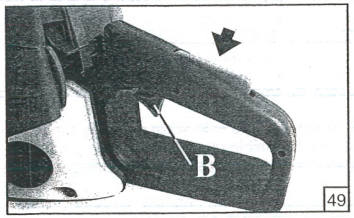
1. Adoptez la position appropriée face à la bille de bois avec la tronçonneuse tournant au ralenti.
2. Accélérez jusqu'au régime moteur maximal en appuyant sur la gâchette des gaz avant d'enfoncer la chaîne dans la bille de bois.
3. Commencez la coupe en plaquant la tronçonneuse contre la bille de bois.
4. Maintenez le régime moteur maximal pendant toute la durée de la coupe.
5. Laissez la chaîne agir; n'exercez qu'une faible pression vers le bas. Le fait de forcer la coupe peut endommager le guide, la chaîne ou le moteur.
6. Relâcher la gâchette des gaz dès que la coupe est terminée, et laissez tourner le moteur au ralenti. Le guide, la chaîne ou le moteur peuvent subir une usure inutile voire des dégâts si vous faites tourner le moteur à plein régime sans aucune charge de coupe.
7. N'appliquez aucun pression sur la tronçonneuse en fin de coupe.



Précautions relatives à la zone de travail



AVERTISSEMENT: Ne coupez que du bois ou des matériaux dérivés du bois. Ne coupez ni métaux, ni plastiques, ni pièces de maçonnerie ou tout autre matériau qui ne serait pas dérivé du bois.



- Ne laissez jamais un enfant utiliser la tronçonneuse. Toute autre personne susceptible d'utiliser la tronçonneuse doit avoir préalablement lu le présent Manuel de l'opérateur ou avoir pris connaissance des instructions appropriées à une utilisation correcte et en toute sécurité de cette tronçonneuse.
- Maintenez toute personne - assistant, entourage, enfants et animaux - à une distance de sécurité de la zone de coupe (Fig. 44). Pour les opérations d'abattage, la distance de sécurité doit être au moins deux fois supérieure à la hauteur des plus grands arbres situés dans la zone d'abattage. Pour les opérations de débitage, maintenez une distance d'au moins 10 m (35 pieds) entre les travailleurs.
- Gardez en permanence les deux pieds sur une assise stable de façon à éviter toute perte d'équilibre.
- Ne coupez pas en dessus dans la hauteur de poitrine, car il est toujours plus difficile de contrôler une tronçonneuse placée en hauteur en cas de rebond.
- N'abattez aucun arbre à proximité de lignes électriques ou de constructions. Laissez agir des professionnels dans de pareilles situations.
- Ne procédez à des travaux de coupe que si la visibilité et la luminosité vous permettent d'y voir clairement.
- N'utilisez pas la tronçonneuse sur une échelle. Laissez agir des professionnels dans de pareilles situations.
- Arrêtez la tronçonneuse si la chaîne heurte un corps étranger. Inspectez la tronçonneuse et effectuez les réparations si nécessaire.
- Éliminez la poussière et le sable déposés sur la tronçonneuse. Même une très faible quantité de crasse peut très rapidement émousser une chaîne et augmenter le risque de rebond.
- Coupez le moteur avant de reposer la tronçonneuse.
- Soyez particulièrement vigilant lorsque vous portez des protections anti-bruit car de tels équipements réduisent la capacité d'entendre les signaux sonores d'avertissement en cas de danger (tels que cris, alarmes et avertissements, etc.).

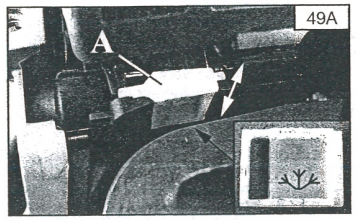
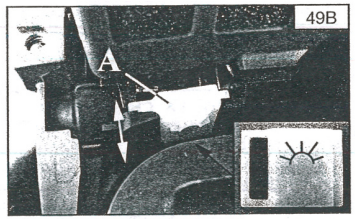
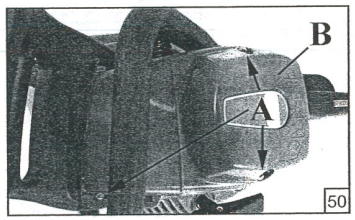
- Soyez extrêmement vigilant lorsque vous travaillez en pente ou sur des surfaces irrégulières.
- Durant l'utilisation de la tronçonneuse un extincteur devrait être disponible.



Démarrage du moteur



AVERTISSEMENT: Placez votre corps à gauche du plan de rotation de la chaîne. Ne vous tenez jamais les deux jambes écartées de part et d'autre de la tronçonneuse ou de la chaîne, ou ne vous penchez jamais au-delà du plan de rotation de la chaîne. Le frein de chaîne doit être appliqué au démarrage de la tronçonneuse.



- Posez la tronçonneuse sur un sol de niveau et vérifiez qu'aucun objet ou obstacle n'est en contact immédiat avec le guide ou la chaîne. Saisissez fermement la poignée avant de la main gauche et posez votre pied droit sur la base de la poignée arrière; voir Fig. 45, Pag. 55.
- Enclenchez le frein de chaîne en poussant le levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main vers l'avant (en direction du guide-chaîne) en position de freinage, comme indiqué dans la Fig. 46A, pag. 55. Voir les sections Sécurité-Frein de chaîne et Fonctionnement-Frein de chaîne pour de plus amples informations.
- Actionnez lentement la poire d'amorçage 6 fois (A, Fig. 46B, pag. 55) - (1, Fig. 46C).
- Pousser le levier du starter (C, Fig. 47) - (2, Fig. 46C) à fond vers le bas (1).
- Tirer plusieurs fois sur la corde de démarrage (3, Fig. 46D) jusqu'à obtenir la première explosion (pas plus de cinq (5) tractions sur le lanceur). Il est possible qu'une machine neuve nécessite des tentatives de lancement supplémentaires.
- Amener le levier du starter (C, Fig. 48) - (4, Fig. 46D) sur la position intermédiaire (2).
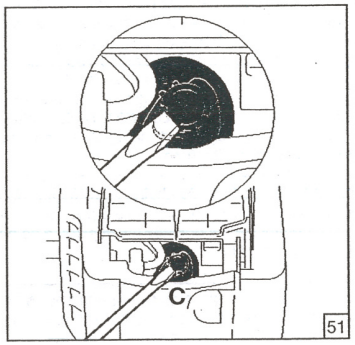
- Procéder au démarrage en tirant sur la corde (5, Fig. 46D).
- Une fois le moteur démarré, désactiver le frein de la chaîne et attendre quelques secondes. Placez le levier de frein de chaîne / protecteur de main dans la position de fonctionnement, comme indiqué dans la Fig. 46A. Voir les sections Sécurité-Frein de chaîne et Fonctionnement-Frein de chaîne pour de plus amples informations.
- Actionner le levier de l'accélérateur (B, Fig. 49) pour débloquer le dispositif de semi-accélération automatique.
- Lorsque vous tirez sur le lanceur, n'utilisez pas toute la longueur de la corde au risque de la briser. Ne laissez pas le lanceur claquer sans l'accompagner au retour. Maintenez la poignée et laissez la corde s'enrouler lentement.



AVERTISSEMENT: Ne procédez pas à la coupe alors que le levier d'étrangleur/ralenti accéléré est en position d'étranglement maximal (FULL CHOKE). N'utilisez pas votre tronçonneuse alors que le blocage d'accélérateur appliqué. Le fait de travailler avec le blocage d'accélérateur de démarrage engagé ne permet pas à l'utilisateur de contrôler correctement le régime de la tronçonneuse ou la vitesse de la chaîne.

REMARQUE - DÉMARRAGE D'UN MOTEUR CHAUD:
Suivez les instructions pour le démarrage mais n'utilisez pas la position d'étranglement maximal pour redémarrer un moteur. Pour régler passer la machine au ralenti accéléré pour le démarrage d'un moteur chaud, tirez complètement le levier d'étrangleur et ramenez-le en position initiale de fonctionnement.

AVERTISSEMENT: Les conditions climatiques et l'altitude peuvent affecter la carburation. Tenez les tierces personnes à distance de la tronçonneuse lors du réglage du carburateur.

AVERTISSEMENT: Ne tentez jamais de démarrer votre tronçonneuse lorsque le guide-chaîne est engagé dans une entaille de coupe ou un trait d'abattage.

ATTENTION – Ne jamais mettre la tronçonneuse en marche si la barre, la chaîne et le carter d'embrayage (frein chaîne) ne sont pas montés – l'embrayage pourrait se détendre ce qui pourrait mettre l'opérateur en danger (risque de blessures).

Systeme antigivre

Avec une température inférieure à 0°C, placer le curseur (A, Fig.49A) sur la position hiver. De cette façon, l'air froid tout comme l'air chaud provenant du cylindre sont aspirés. Il n'y a donc pas de formation de glace à l'intérieur du carburateur.
Avec une température supérieure à +10°C, remettre le curseur (A, Fig.49B) en position été. Dans le cas contraire, le moteur pourrait présenter des dysfonctionnements dus à une surchauffe.

Rodage du moteur

Le moteur atteint sa puissance maximale après 5 à 8 heures de fonctionnement.
Au cours de cette période de rodage, ne laissez pas tourner la machine à vide à plein régime de façon à éviter toute contrainte inutile.

MISE EN GARDE ! – Au cours de la période de rodage, ne modifiez pas la carburation sous prétexte d'obtenir une augmentation de la puissance; vous risquez uniquement d'endommager le moteur.

Démarrage difficile (ou démarrage d'un moteur noyé)
Vous pouvez noyer le moteur par une alimentation en carburant trop importante si le moteur ne démarre pas après avoir actionné 10 fois le lanceur. Il est possible d'éliminer l'excès de carburant d'un moteur noyé en suivant la procédure de démarrage d'un moteur chaud décrite ci-dessus. Vérifiez que 'interrupteur de marche/arrêt est en position de marche (ON). Le démarrage peut nécessiter un grand nombre d'actionnements du lanceur en fonction de l'importance du noyage du moteur. Si vous ne parvenez pas à démarrer le moteur, reportez-vous au TABLEAU DE DIAGNOSTIC DES PANNES (page 71).

Moteur noyé
Si vous n'avez pas passé le levier d'étrangleur en position de démarrage à chaud assez rapidement après le début d'allumage du moteur, la chambre de combustion est noyée.
- Basculez l'interrupteur de marche/arrêt sur la position STOP.
- Dévissez les vis sur le capot (A, Fig. 50).
- Déposez le couvercle de filtre (B).
- Insérez un outil adapté dans la coiffe de bougie (C, Fig. 51).
- Faites levier sur la coiffe de bougie et retirez-la.
- Dévissez et séchez la bougie.
- Ouvrez l'accélérateur à fond.
- Actionnez le lanceur à plusieurs reprises de façon à vider la chambre de combustion.
- Remontez la bougie et connectez la coiffe en l'enfonçant fermement – Remontez les autres pièces.
- Basculer l'interrupteur de marche/arrêt sur I, la position de démarrage.
- Passez le levier d'étrangleur sur la position de démarrage à chaud – même si le moteur est froid.
- Démarrez à présent le moteur.

To correctly use the chain saw and prevent accidents, do not start work without having first carefully read this manual. You will find explanations concerning the operation of the various parts plus instructions for necessary checks and relative maintenance.
Note: Illustrations and specifications in this manual may vary according to Country requirements and are subject to change without notice by the manufacturer.

THE OPERATOR'S MANUAL

Your operator's manual is for your protection. READ IT. Keep it in a safe place for reference. Know what you are doing before you begin assembly of the unit. Proper preparation and upkeep go hand-in-hand with satisfactory performance of the saw and safety.
Contact your dealer or the distributor for your area if you do not understand any of the instructions in this manual.
In addition to the operating instructions, this manual contain paragraphs that require your special attention.
Such paragraphs are marked with the symbols described below:
Warning: where there is a risk of an accident or personal injury or serious damage to property.
Caution: where there is a risk of damaging the machine or its individual components.

⚠ WARNING - To ensure safe and correct operation of the chainsaw, this operator's manual should always be kept with or near the machine. Do not lend or rent your chainsaw without the operator's instruction manual.

⚠ WARNING: Allow only persons who understand this manual to operate your chainsaw.

Almacenamiento de la motosierra

ADVERTENCIA: Pare el motor y deje que se enfríe, y asegure la unidad antes de guardarla o de transportarla en un vehículo. Guarde la unidad y el combustible en un lugar donde los vapores del combustible no puedan ponerse en contacto con chispas o llamas de calentadores de agua, motores o interruptores eléctricos, hornos, etc. Guarde la unidad con todas las protecciones en su sitio. Colóquela de forma que ningún objeto afilado pueda causar lesiones de forma accidental a los transeúntes. Guarde la unidad fuera del alcance de los niños y de otras personas no autorizadas.

1. Vacíe y limpie el depósito de combustible en un sitio bien ventilado.
2. Vacíe todo el combustible del depósito en un contenedor homologado para gasolina. Ponga el motor en marcha hasta que se pare. De esta forma, se eliminará toda la mezcla de combustible y aceite que podría deteriorarse y dejar barniz y goma en el sistema de combustible.
3. Limpie todo el material extraño de la sierra. Manténgala alejada de agentes corrosivos tales como productos químicos de jardinería y sales antihielo.
4. Cumpla todas las regulaciones estatales y locales relativas al almacenamiento y manejo seguros de gasolina. El exceso de combustible se debe utilizar en otros equipos accionados por motores de 2 ciclos.

PRECAUCIÓN: Es importante evitar que durante el almacenamiento se formen depósitos de goma en los componentes fundamentales del sistema de combustible tales como el carburador, el filtro, el manguito o el depósito de combustible. Los combustibles mezclados con alcohol (denominados gasohol o E10 o que utilizan etanol, metanol) pueden atraer humedad, lo cual provoca la separación de la mezcla de combustible y la formación de ácidos durante el almacenamiento. El gas ácido puede dañar el motor.

Understanding Safety Labels Simbols

This symbol indicates Warning, and Caution.

Your manual contains special messages to bring attention to potential safety concerns, machine damage as well as helpful operating and servicing information.
WARNING: Read and follow all safety precautions in the instruction manual. Failure to follow instructions could result in serious personal injury.

Wear eye, hearing and head protection when operating this equipment.

Wear non-slip, heavy-duty protective gloves when handling the chain saw and saw chain.

WARNING! The surface can be hot!

Wear safety strong shoes or boots having skid-proof sole and anti-piercing insert.

WARNING! Beware of Kickback. Tip contact may cause the guide bar to move suddenly upward and backward, which may cause serious injury.

Contact of the guide bar tip with any object should be avoided. Tip contact may cause the guide bar to move suddenly upward and backward, which may cause serious injury.

Always hold saw properly with both hands.

State and Local Requirements

Your saw is equipped with a temperature limiting muffler, a spark arresting screen and a bucking spike in order to comply with the requirements of SAE Recommended Practice J335 and California Codes 4442 and 4443. All national forest land and land managed by the states of California, Maine, Washington, Idaho, Minnesota, New Jersey and Oregon require internal combustion engines to be equipped with a spark arrester screen by law. Other states and federal agencies are enacting similar regulations.

If you operate a chain saw in a state or locale where such regulations exist, you are legally responsible for maintaining the operating condition of these parts. Failure to do so is a violation of a law. Spark arrester maintenance is described in the Maintenance-Spark Arresting Muffler Section of the manual.

Note: When using a chainsaw for logging purposes, refer to Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 1910 and 1928.

WARNING: The ignition system of your unit produces an electromagnetic field of a very low intensity. This field may interfere with some pacemakers. To reduce the risk of serious or fatal injury, persons with pacemaker should consult their physician and the pacemaker manufacturer before operating this tool.

WARNING: Muffler surfaces are very hot during and after operation of the chain saw, keep all body parts away from the muffler. Serious burns may occur if contact is made with the muffler.

WARNING: Exposure to vibrations through prolonged use of gasoline powered hand tools could cause blood vessel or nerve damage in the fingers, hands, and wrists of people prone to circulation disorders or abnormal swellings. Prolonged use in cold weather has been linked to blood vessel damage in otherwise healthy people. If symptoms occur such as numbness, pain, loss of strength, change in skin color or texture, or loss of feeling in the fingers, hands, or wrists, discontinue the use of this tool and seek medical attention.

WARNING: The engine exhaust from this product contains chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive harm. Operate your chainsaw outdoors only in a well ventilated area.

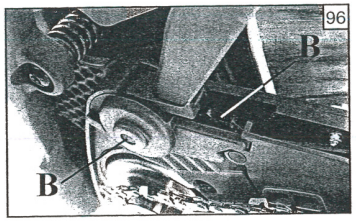
Utilización de la tabla de solución de problemas



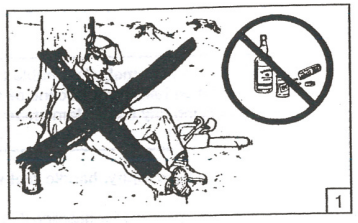
ADVERTENCIA: Pare siempre la unidad y desconecte la bujía antes de aplicar las siguientes soluciones recomendadas, excepto para las soluciones que requieran poner la unidad en funcionamiento.

Si el problema persiste tras comprobar todas las causas posibles indicadas, póngase en contacto con el concesionario de servicio. Si surge un problema que no aparece en esta tabla, póngase en contacto con el concesionario de servicio para obtener asistencia.

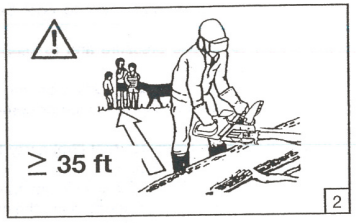
PROBLEMA	CAUSA POSIBLE	SOLUCIÓN
El motor no arranca o funciona sólo durante unos segundos tras arrancarlo. (Compruebe que el interruptor de masa se encuentra en la posición de arranque "I")	1. No hay chispa. 2. El motor está ahogado.	1. Compruebe la chispa. Extraiga la cubierta del filtro de aire. Extraiga la bujía del cilindro. Vuelva a conectar el cable de la bujía y ponga la bujía en la parte superior del cilindro. Tire de la cuerda del motor de arranque y compruebe si se ve la chispa en la punta de la bujía. Si no hay chispa, repita la prueba con una bujía nueva (BPMR8Y). 2. Con el interruptor de masa en la posición de apagado, extraiga la bujía. Ponga la palanca cebador en la posición de funcionamiento (empujada por completo hacia adentro), y tire de la cuerda del motor de arranque 15 a 20 veces. De esta forma, se eliminará el exceso de combustible del motor. Limpie la bujía y vuelva a instalarla. Tire la palanca del arrancador, luego la empuse toda para activar el dispositivo de semi aceleración. Tire de la cuerda del motor de arranque tres veces con la palanca cebador en la posición de funcionamiento. Si el motor no arranca, ponga la palanca cebador en la posición de estrangulación, y repita el procedimiento de arranque normal. Si el motor sigue sin arrancar, repita el procedimiento con una bujía nueva.
El motor arranca pero no acelera correctamente:	Es necesario ajustar el chorro bajo "L" del carburador.	* Póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio para que ajusten el carburador.
El motor arranca pero no funciona adecuadamente a alta velocidad.	Es necesario ajustar el chorro alto "H" del carburador.	* Póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio para que ajusten el carburador.
El motor no alcanza la velocidad máxima o echa demasiado humo.	1. Compruebe la mezcla de aceite y combustible. 2. El filtro de aire está sucio. 3. La pantalla de supresión de chispas está sucia. 4. Es necesario ajustar el chorro alto "H" del carburador.	1. Utilice combustible nuevo y la mezcla correcta de aceite de 2 ciclos. 2. Límpielo según las instrucciones indicadas en la sección de mantenimiento correspondiente al filtro de aire. 3. Límpiela según las instrucciones indicadas en la sección de mantenimiento correspondiente al amortiguador de supresión de chispas. 4. * Póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio para que ajusten el carburador.
El motor arranca, se pone en marcha y acelera pero no se pone a ralentí.	Es necesario ajustar el carburador.	Gire el tornillo de velocidad de ralentí "T" en el sentido de las agujas del reloj para aumentar la velocidad de ralentí. (Si la cadena gira al ralentí, gire el tornillo de velocidad de ralentí "T" en el sentido contrario a las agujas del reloj para disminuir la velocidad); consulte la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente al ajuste del carburador.
La barra y la cadena se calientan y echan humo.	1. El depósito de aceite de la cadena está vacío. 2. La cadena está demasiado tensa. 3. Funcionamiento del sistema de lubricación.	1. El depósito de aceite se debe llenar cada vez que se llene el depósito de combustible. 2. Tense la cadena según las instrucciones indicadas en la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente a la tensión de la cadena. 3. Póngalo a aceleración máxima entre 15 y 30 segundos. Pare la motosierra y compruebe si gotea aceite del protector de la punta de la barra y de la barra guía. Si hay aceite, es posible que la cadena haya perdido brillo o que la barra esté dañada. Si no hay aceite, póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio.
El motor arranca y se pone en marcha, pero la cadena no gira. ADVERTENCIA: No toque nunca la cadena mientras el motor esté en funcionamiento.	1. El freno de la cadena está accionado. 2. La cadena está demasiado tensa. 3. Conjunto de cadena y barra guía. 4. La cadena o la barra guía están dañadas. 5. El tambor del embrague o la rueda dentada están dañados.	1. Libere el freno de la cadena; consulte la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente al freno de la cadena. 2. Tense la cadena según las instrucciones indicadas en la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente a la tensión de la cadena. 3. Consulte la sección correspondiente al montaje de la barra y la cadena. 4. Consulte la sección de mantenimiento correspondiente a la cadena o a la barra guía. 5. Sustitúyalos si es necesario; póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio.

Nota: Este motor cumple las regulaciones de la EPA (Agencia de protección del medio ambiente de EE.UU.) que tratan el control de las emisiones de gases de escape. Como resultado, las agujas de ajuste del carburador cuentan con tapas de plástico que limitan el giro con respecto al ajuste original de fábrica. Si la unidad presenta problemas de rendimiento específicos que no se puedan solucionar con las instrucciones indicadas en la sección de solución de problemas, llévela a un concesionario de servicio para su reparación.

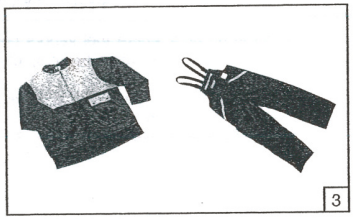
Freno de la cadena



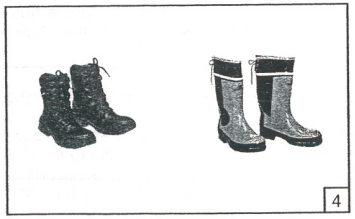
Si el freno de la cadena no funciona correctamente, extraiga la cubierta del embrague y limpie los componentes del freno. Compruebe la existencia de desgaste en la banda del freno (A, Fig. 95) y sustitúyala si está desgastada o deformada.



ADVERTENCIA: Si la banda del freno es demasiado fina por el desgaste, puede romperse al accionar el freno de la cadena. Si la banda del freno está rota, el freno no detendrá la cadena. El freno de la cadena se deberá sustituir en un concesionario de servicio autorizado si el grosor de alguna parte es inferior a 0.024" (0.6 mm). Las reparaciones del freno de la cadena las deberá realizar un concesionario de servicio autorizado. Lleve la unidad al establecimiento de compra si la adquirió mediante un concesionario de servicio, o al concesionario de servicio autorizado más próximo.



Mantenga siempre limpio el mecanismo del freno de la cadena y lubrique ligeramente la articulación (B, Fig. 96).
Tras realizar tareas de revisión o limpieza, compruebe siempre el rendimiento del freno de la cadena según se describe en la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente al freno de la cadena.



ADVERTENCIA: Compruebe el sujetador de la cadena/tope de seguridad (C, Fig. 95) y sustitúyalos si están dañados.

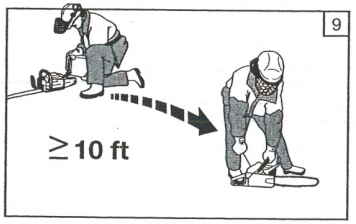
Basic Safety Precautions



- Read this manual carefully until you completely understand and can follow all safety rules, precautions, and operating instructions before attempting to use the unit.
- Restrict the use of your saw to adult users who understand and can follow safety rules, precautions, and operating instructions found in this manual. Minors should never be allowed to use a chainsaw.
- Do not handle or operate a chain saw when you are fatigued, ill, or upset, or if you have taken alcohol, drugs, or medication. You must be in good physical condition and mentally alert. Chain saw work is strenuous. If you have any condition that might be aggravated by strenuous work, check with your doctor before operating a chain saw (Fig. 1). Be more cautious before rest periods and towards the end of your shift.
- Keep children, bystanders, and animals a minimum of 35 feet (10 meters) away from the work area. Do not allow other people or animals to be near the chain saw when starting or operating the chain saw (Fig. 2).
- Major cases of chainsaw accidents happen when the chain hits the operator. While working with the chainsaw, always use safety protective approved clothing. The use of protective clothing does not eliminate injury risks, but reduces the injury effects in case of accident. Consult your trusted supplier to choose equipment in compliance with legislation. The clothing must be proper and not an obstacle. Wear adherent anti-cut clothing. Anti-cut jackets (Fig.3), dungarees (Fig.3) and leggings are ideal. Do not wear clothes, scarves, ties or bracelets that may get stuck in wood or twigs. Tie up and protect long hair (example with foulards, cap, helmets, etc.). Safety shoes or boots having skid-proof sole and anti-piercing insert (Fig.4). Wear protective helmet (Fig.5) in places where there can be falling objects. Wear protective goggles or face screens! Use protections against noises: for example noise reduction ear guards (Fig.5) or earplugs. The use of protections for the ear requests much more attention and caution, because the perception of danger audio signals (screaming, alarms, etc.) is limited. Wear anti-cut gloves (Fig.6, page 8).
- Only loan your saw to expert users who are completely familiar with saw operation and correct use. Give other users the manual with operating instructions, which they have to read before using the saw.
- Check the chain saw each day to ensure that each device, whether for safety or otherwise, is functional.
- Never use a damaged, modified, or improperly repaired or assembled chain saw. Do not remove, damage or deactivate any of the safety devices. Only use bars of the length indicated in the table (page 12). Always replace bar, chain, hand guard, or chain brake immediately if it becomes damaged, broken or is otherwise removed.
- Carefully plan your sawing operation in advance. Do not start cutting until you have a clear work area, secure footing, and, if you are felling trees, a planned retreat path.
- All saw service, other than the operations shown in the present manual, have to be performed by competent personnel.
- The chain saw must only be used for cutting wood. It is unadvisable to cut other types of material.
- It is unadvisable to hitch tools or applications to the P.t.o. that are not specified by the manufacturer.

Fuel Handling

WARNING: Gasoline is an extremely flammable fuel. Use extreme caution when handling gasoline or fuel mix. Do not smoke or bring any fire or flame near the fuel or the chainsaw (Fig. 7).

- To reduce the risk of fire and burn injury, handle fuel with care. It is highly flammable.
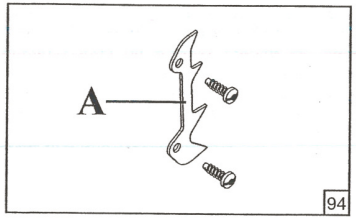
- Mix and store fuel in a container approved for gasoline (Fig. 8).
- Mix fuel outdoors where there are no sparks or flames.
- Select bare ground, stop engine, and allow to cool before refueling.
- Loosen fuel cap slowly to release pressure and to keep fuel from escaping around the cap.
- Tighten fuel cap securely after refueling. Unit vibration can cause an improperly tightened fuel cap to loosen or come off and spill quantities of fuel.
- Wipe spilled fuel from the unit. Move 10 feet (3m) away from refueling site before starting engine (Fig. 9).
- Never attempt to burn off spilled fuel under any circumstances.
- Do not smoke while handling fuel or while operating the saw.
- Store fuel in a cool, dry, well ventilated place.
- Never place the saw in a combustible area such as dry leaves, straw, paper, etc.
- Store the unit and fuel in an area where fuel vapors cannot reach sparks or open flames from water heaters, electric motors or switches, furnaces, etc.
- Never take the cap off the tank when the engine is running.
- Never use fuel for cleaning operations.
- Take care not to get fuel on your clothing.

Operation and Safety



WARNING: Always hold the chain saw with both hands when the engine is running. Use a firm grip with thumbs and fingers encircling the chain saw handles (Fig. 10).

- Keep all parts of your body away from the saw chain when the engine is running.
- Always carry the chain saw with the engine stopped and chain brake engaged, the guide bar and saw chain to the rear, and the muffler away from your body. When transporting your chain saw, use the appropriate guide bar scabbard (Fig. 11). When transporting in a vehicle, keep chain and bar covered with the chain guard. Properly secure your saw to prevent turnover, fuel spillage and damage to the saw.
- Apply chain brake prior to any repositioning of the operator in the cutting area.
- Do not operate a chain saw with one hand! Serious injury to the operator, helpers, bystanders, or any combination of these persons may result from one-handed operation. A chain saw is intended for two-handed use.
- Before you start the engine, make sure the saw chain is not contacting any object. Never try to start the saw when the guide bar is in a cut.
- Shut off the engine before setting down the saw. Do not leave the engine running unattended.

Silenciador de supresión de chispas

La motosierra dispone de un sistema de supresión de chispas, nº de referencia 50240109, (Fig. 93) que cumple los requisitos de la norma SAE J335; puede comprobar el nº de referencia del sistema de supresión de chispas en el propio silenciador.

ADVERTENCIA: Si la pantalla del sistema de supresión de chispas es defectuosa o se ha modificado, puede existir el riesgo de incendios como resultado.

Por el uso normal, la pantalla puede ensuciarse y se deberá inspeccionar semanalmente y limpiarse según sea necesario.
Para limpiarla:

- Deje que el silenciador se enfríe.
- Quite et tornillo de la pantalla de supresión de chispas (B).
- Extraiga la pantalla de supresión de chispas (A) de referencia 50240155.
- Limpie e inspeccione la pantalla de supresión de chispas. Si la pantalla del apagachispas está dañada, no funciona adecuadamente o se encuentra deteriorada, reemplace la pantalla.
- Vuelva a montar los componentes en el orden inverso al de desmontaje.

El sistema de supresión de chispas necesita un mantenimiento periódico y preciso y limpieza, en particular:

- Compruebe periódicamente la pantalla de supresión de chispas y sustitúyala si aparecen orificios, partes dobladas o deformaciones;
- Compruebe cuidadosamente si el polvo, residuos o material orgánico entran en contacto con piezas del sistema de supresión de chispas; compruebe especialmente el espacio entre el silenciador y el protector; límpielo a menudo con herramientas o aire de taller.

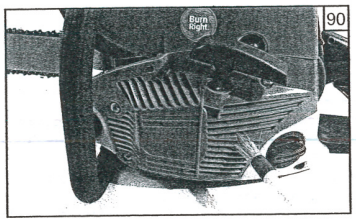
Para cumplir la norma, se deben montar un tope con puntas, nº de referencia 50240110 (A, Fig. 94), como se proporcionan en la caja de la motosierra.

Silenciador

ATENCIÓN – Este silenciador está dotado de catalizador, elemento necesario para que el motor cumpla con los niveles de emisión permitidos. No modifique ni quite el catalizador: si lo hace, viola la ley.

ATENCIÓN - Los silenciadores dotados de catalizador se calientan mucho durante el uso y permanecen calientes durante mucho tiempo después de la parada del motor. Esto ocurre incluso si el motor funciona al régimen mínimo. El contacto puede causar quemaduras de piel. ¡Recuerde el riesgo de incendio!

PRECAUCIÓN – Si el catalizador está dañado, hay que sustituirlo. Si el catalizador se obstruye con frecuencia, esto puede ser indicio de que el rendimiento del silenciador catalítico es limitado.



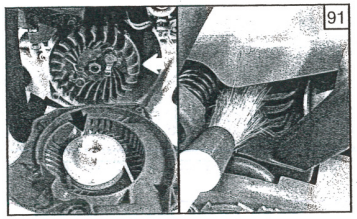
ADVERTENCIA: No utilice la motosierra si el silenciador está dañado, si falta o si se ha modificado. Si el silenciador no recibe un mantenimiento adecuado, aumentará el riesgo de incendios y de pérdida de la capacidad de audición.

Ponga la cubierta del filtro de aire en la motosierra. Apriete firmemente el mando de la cubierta.
Un filtro de aire utilizado nunca se puede limpiar por completo. Se recomienda sustituir el filtro de aire por otro nuevo tras seis meses de funcionamiento.

PRECAUCIÓN: No ponga nunca el motor en marcha sin el filtro de aire, ya que se pueden producir daños importantes.
Compruebe que el filtro de aire está correctamente colocado en su cubierta antes de volver a montarlo.
Sustituya siempre el filtro si está dañado.
No limpie el filtro con un cepillo.

Unidad de motor de arranque

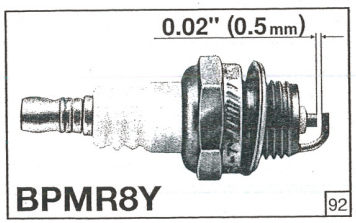
Utilice un cepillo para eliminar los residuos que haya en las salidas de refrigeración del conjunto de motor de arranque (Fig. 90).



90

ADVERTENCIA: El resorte de la bobina está bajo tensión y podría salir despedido provocando lesiones graves. No intente nunca desmontarlo ni modificarlo.

Motor



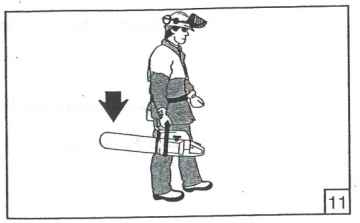
Limpie periódicamente las aletas del volante y del cilindro con aire comprimido o con un cepillo (Fig. 91). Si hay impurezas en el cilindro, es posible que el motor se sobrecaliente de forma peligrosa.

91

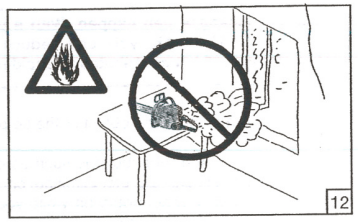
ADVERTENCIA: No ponga nunca la motosierra en marcha sin estar todas las piezas correctamente colocadas en su sitio, incluyendo la cubierta de la carcasa de transmisión y el alojamiento de arranque. Puesto que las piezas se pueden romper y salir despedidas, los trabajos de reparación del volante y el embrague los debe realizar personal de un concesionario de servicio con la formación adecuada.

Bujía

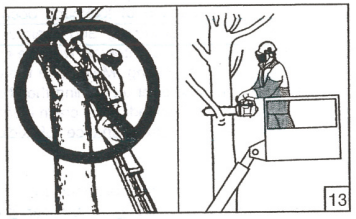
Este motor utiliza una bujía NGK BPMR8Y con una separación de las puntas del electrodo de .02" (0.5 mm) (Fig. 92). Utilice una bujía de repuesto exactamente igual a la original y sustitúyala cada seis meses o con mayor frecuencia, si es necesario.



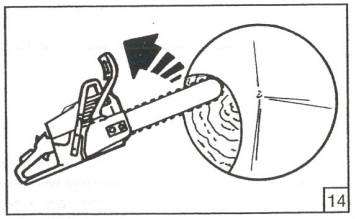
92



ADVERTENCIA: No someta nunca el sistema de encendido a pruebas con el conector del cable de encendido desconectado de la bujía o sin estar correctamente puesta la bujía, ya que las chispas no contenidas pueden provocar un incendio. Una conexión floja entre el terminal de la bujía y el conector del cable de encendido en la funda puede generar formación de arco, que puede inflamar los gases combustibles y provocar un incendio.



Utilice solamente bujías de tipo resistor de gama homologada. Factores tales como:
- Demasiado aceite en la mezcla de combustible;
- Filtro de aire sucio;
- Condiciones de funcionamiento desfavorables (por ejemplo, funcionamiento con carga parcial);



Pueden provocar que la bujía se deteriore rápidamente.

13

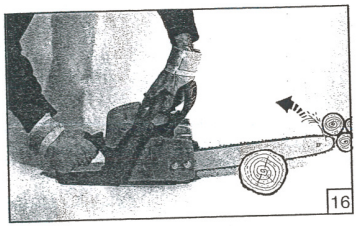
15



- As an additional safety precaution, apply the chain brake prior to setting down the saw.
- Only use the chain saw in well-ventilated places, do not operate the chain saw in explosive or flammable atmospheres or in closed environments (Fig. 12). Beware of carbon monoxide poisoning.
- Do not operate saw from a ladder or in a tree. Always cut from a firm-footed and safe position.
- Do not put pressure on the saw at the end of the cut. Applying pressure can cause you to lose control when the cut is completed.
- Do not cut near electric cables.
- Keep the handles dry, clean, and free of oil or fuel mixture.
- When the chain saw is running, grip the front handle firmly with your left hand and the back handle with your right hand (Fig. 10).
- When cutting a limb that is under tension, be alert for springback so you will not be struck when the tension in the wood fibre is released.
- Take great care when cutting small branches or shrubs which can block the chain, be thrown back towards you or cause you to lose your balance.
- Never cut with the chain saw above shoulder height (Fig. 13).
- Never start up the chain saw without the chain cover fitted.

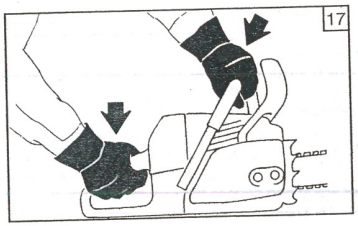
Precautions Against Kickback

WARNING: Avoid kickback which can result in serious injury. Kickback is the backward, upward or sudden forward motion of the guide bar occurring when the saw chain near the upper tip of the guide bar contacts any object such as a log or branch, or when the wood closes in and pinches the saw chain in the cut. Contacting a foreign object in the wood can also result in loss of chain saw control.

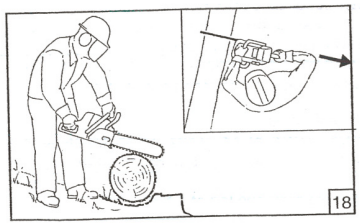
- Rotational Kickback can occur when the moving chain contacts an object at the upper tip of the guide bar. This contact can cause the chain to dig into the object, which stops the chain for an instant. The result is an extremely fast, reverse reaction which kicks the guide bar up and back toward the operator (Fig. 14-15 and Fig. 16 page 10).
- Pinch-Kickback can occur when the wood closes in and pinches the moving saw chain in the cut along the top of the guide bar and the saw chain is suddenly stopped. This sudden stopping of the chain results in a reversal of the chain force used to cut wood and causes the saw to move in the opposite direction of the chain rotation. The saw is driven straight back toward the operator.
- Pull-In can occur when the moving chain contacts a foreign object in the wood in the cut along the bottom of the guide bar and the saw chain is suddenly stopped. This sudden stopping pulls the saw forward and away from the operator and could easily cause the operator to lose control of the saw.

Avoid Pinch-Kickback:
- Be extremely aware of situations or obstructions that can cause material to pinch the top of or otherwise stop the chain.
- Do not cut more than one log at a time.

16



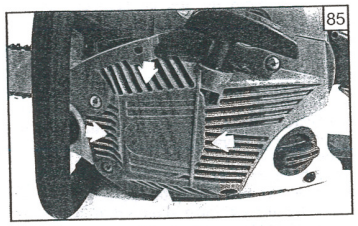
- Do not twist the saw as the bar is withdrawn from an undercut when bucking.



Avoid Pull-In:
- Always begin cutting with the engine at full speed and the saw housing against wood.
- Use wedges made of plastic or wood. Never use metal to hold the cut open.

Reduce the Risk of Kickback

⚠ Recognize that kickback can happen. With a basic understanding of kickback, you can reduce the element of surprise which contributes to accidents.



- Never let the moving chain contact any object at the tip of the guide bar.
- Keep the working area free from obstructions such as other trees, branches, rocks, fences, stumps, etc. Eliminate or avoid any obstruction that your saw chain could hit while you are cutting through a particular log or branch.
- Keep your saw chain sharp and properly tensioned. A loose or dull chain can increase the chance of kickback occurring. Follow manufacturer's chain sharpening and maintenance instructions. Check tension at regular intervals with the engine stopped, never with the engine running. Make sure the chain brake nuts are securely tightened after tensioning the chain.
- Begin and continue cutting at full speed. If the chain is moving at a slower speed, there is greater chance of kickback occurring.
- Cut one log at a time.
- Use extreme caution when re-entering a previous cut.
- Do not attempt cuts starting with the tip of the bar (plunge cuts).
- Watch for shifting logs or other forces that could close a cut and pinch or fall into chain.
- Use the Reduced-Kickback Guide Bar and Low-Kickback Chain specified for your saw.

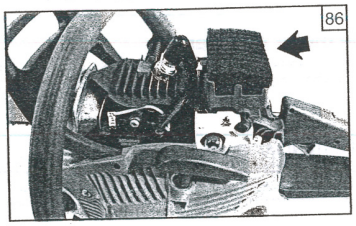
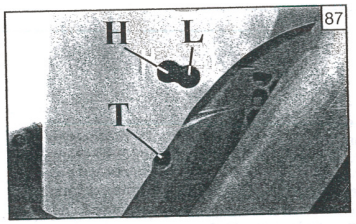
Maintain Control (Fig.17-18)

- Keep a good, firm grip on the saw with both hands when the engine is running and don't let go. A firm grip will help you reduce kickback and maintain control of the saw. Keep the fingers of your left hand encircling and your left thumb under the front handlebar. Keep your right hand completely around the rear handle whether you are right handed or left handed. Keep your left arm straight with the elbow locked.
- Position your left hand on the front handlebar so it is in a straight line with your right hand on the rear handle when making bucking cuts. Never reverse right and left hand positions for any type of cutting.
- Stand with your weight evenly balanced on both feet.
- Stand slightly to the left side of the saw to keep your body from being in a direct line with the cutting chain.
- Do not overreach. You could be drawn or thrown off balance and lose control of the saw.



85

- Barra guía doblada.
- Raíles agrietados o rotos.
- Raíles abiertos.



Además, las barras guía que tengan una rueda dentada en la punta se deben lubricar periódicamente con una jeringa de engrase para aumentar su vida útil.
Gire la barra guía y compruebe que los orificios de lubricación (T) y la ranura de la cadena (S) no tienen impurezas.

Ajuste del carburador

Antes de ajustar el carburador, limpie las salidas de ventilación de la cubierta del motor de arranque como se muestra en la Fig. 85 y el filtro de aire como se indica en la Fig. 86. Para obtener más información, consulte las secciones de funcionamiento (unidad de arranque) y de mantenimiento (filtro de aire). Deje que el motor se caliente antes de ajustar el carburador.
Este motor está diseñado y fabricado para cumplir las regulaciones de Fase 2 de la EPA (Agencia de protección del medio ambiente de EE.UU.). El carburador se ha ajustado en fábrica y no debe requerir ningún ajuste. El carburador sólo permitirá realizar un ajuste limitado de las agujas "L" (chorro bajo) y "H" (chorro alto). Los ajustes se deberán realizar en un concesionario de servicio. Las agujas "L" (chorro bajo) y "H" (chorro alto) no se deberán forzar para fijarlas fuera del rango de ajuste bajo ninguna circunstancia.

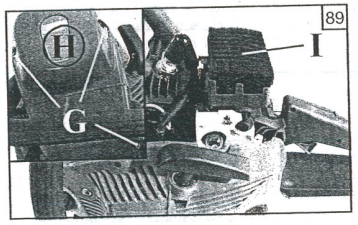
⚠ ADVERTENCIA: El motor puede sufrir daños importantes si se realizan ajustes inadecuados en las agujas "L" y "H". No fuerce las agujas "L" y "H" para fijarlas fuera del rango de ajuste; en tal caso, el motor no funcionará en conformidad con las regulaciones sobre emisiones.

87



Ajuste de la velocidad de ralentí
- Si el motor arranca, se pone en marcha y acelera pero no se pone a ralentí, gire el tornillo de velocidad de ralentí "T" en el sentido de las agujas del reloj para aumentar la velocidad de ralentí (Fig. 87).
- Si la cadena gira al ralentí, gire el tornillo de velocidad de ralentí "T" en el sentido contrario a las agujas del reloj para reducir las RPM de ralentí y parar la cadena. Si la cadena sigue moviéndose a velocidad de ralentí, póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio para su ajuste, y no utilice la unidad hasta que se haya realizado la reparación.

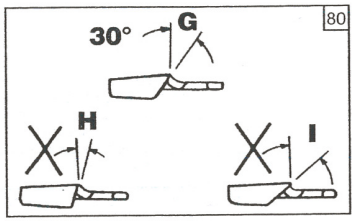
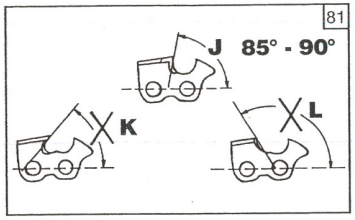
Filtro de combustible

Compruebe periódicamente el filtro de combustible (F, Fig. 88). Sustitúyalo si está contaminado o dañado.



89

Filtro de aire



⚠ ADVERTENCIA: No limpie el filtro con gasolina u otros disolventes inflamables a fin de evitar que se cree el peligro de incendio o que se generen emisiones de evaporación perjudiciales.

Desenroscar los tornillos de la cubierta (G, Fig. 89), retire la cubierta (H) y compruebe el filtro de aire (I) cada día. Limpiar con desengrasante, lavar con agua y soplar a distancia con aire comprimido. Vuelva a instalar el filtro de aire en la cubierta.

Ángulo de la placa superior
Los soportes de lima se marcan con marcas guía para alinear la lima correctamente a fin de obtener el ángulo correcto de la placa superior (Fig. 80).
G) CORRECTO: 30°
H) INFERIOR A 30° : Para corte transversal
I) SUPERIOR A 30° : El borde en bisel pierde brillo rápidamente.

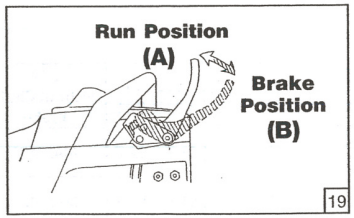
Ángulo de la placa lateral (Fig. 81)
J) CORRECTO: 85° - 90°
Se obtiene automáticamente si en el soporte de lima se utiliza una lima con el diámetro correcto.
K) GANCHO": Se "agarra" y pierde brillo rápidamente. Aumenta la posibilidad de que se produzca REBOTE.
Ocurre cuando se utiliza una lima con un diámetro demasiado pequeño, o si la lima se pone demasiado baja.
L) INCLINACIÓN HACIA ATRÁS: Requiere demasiada presión de alimentación; provoca un desgaste excesivo en la barra y la cadena.
Ocurre cuando se utiliza una lima con un diámetro demasiado grande, o si la lima se pone demasiado alta.

Holgura del calibre de profundidades
1. El calibre de profundidades (M, Fig. 82) se debe mantener con una holgura (N) comprendida entre .020 (0.5 mm) y .024" (0,6 mm). Utilice una herramienta para calibres de profundidades a fin de comprobar las holguras del calibre de profundidades.
2. Cada vez que lime la cadena, compruebe la holgura del calibre de profundidades.

Utilice una lima plana y una ensambladora para calibres de profundidades a fin de bajar todos los calibres uniformemente (Fig. 83).
P) LIMA PLANA
Q) ENSAMBLADORA PARA CALIBRES DE PROFUNDIDADES
Ensambladoras para calibres de profundidades disponibles en .020" a .035" (0.5 mm a 0.9 mm). Tras bajar cada uno de los calibres de profundidades, recupere la forma original redondeando la parte delantera (R). Tenga cuidado para no dañar los eslabones de transmisión adyacentes con el borde de la lima.

PRECAUCIÓN: Tras afilar la cadena, límpiela a fondo, elimine las limaduras o el polvo de rectificación, y lubrique la cadena a conciencia.

Mantenimiento de la barra guía



Cada día que utilice la unidad, invierta la barra guía de la sierra para distribuir el desgaste a fin de prolongar el máximo posible la vida útil de la barra (consulte la Fig. 84). Limpie la barra todos los días que la utilice, y compruébela para ver si está desgastada o dañada.
El biselado o rebabado de los raíles de la barra forma parte del proceso normal de desgaste. Tales defectos se deben eliminar con una lima o una piedra en cuanto aparezcan.
Sustituya la barra si presenta cualquiera de los siguientes defectos:
- Desgaste dentro de los raíles de la barra que permite que la cadena se coloque en perpendicular.

- Do not cut above shoulder height. It is difficult to maintain control of saw above shoulder height.

Kickback Safety Features

WARNING: The following features are included on your saw to help reduce the hazard of kickback; however, such features will not totally eliminate this dangerous reaction. As a chain saw user, do not rely only on safety devices. You must follow all safety precautions, instructions, and maintenance in this manual to help avoid kickback and other forces which can result in serious injury.

- Reduced-Kickback Guide Bar, designed with a small radius tip which reduces the size of the kickback danger zone on the bar tip. A Reduced-Kickback Guide Bar has been demonstrated to significantly reduce the number and seriousness of kick-backs when tested in accordance with safety requirements for gasoline powered chain saws as set by ANSI B175.1- 2000.
- Low-Kickback Chain, designed with a contoured depth gauge and guard link that deflect kickback force and allow wood to gradually ride into the cutter. Low-Kickback Chain has met kickback performance requirements when tested on a representative sample of chain saws below 3.8 cubic inch displacement specified in ANSI B175.1 - 2000.
- Front Hand Guard, designed to reduce the chance of your hand contacting the chain as your hand slips off the front handlebar.
- Position of front and rear handlebars, designed with distance between handles and "in-line" with each other. The spread and "in-line" position of the hands provided by this design work together to give balance and resistance in controlling the pivot of the saw back toward the operator if kick-back occurs.

Chain Brake

Chain brakes are designed to rapidly stop the chain from rotating. When the chain brake lever / hand guard is pushed toward the bar, the chain should stop immediately. A chain brake does not prevent kickback.
The chain brake Run Position (A) and Brake Position (B) are illustrated on Fig. 19.
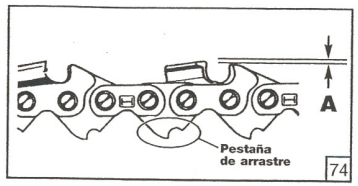
Chain brake should be cleaned and tested daily. Clean the chain brake per the Maintenance-Chain Brake Section and test per the Operation-Chain Brake Operation Section.

WARNING: Even with proper maintenance, the correct operation at the chain brake under field conditions can not be certified.

WARNING: WE DO NOT REPRESENT AND YOU SHOULD NOT ASSUME THAT THE CHAIN BRAKE WILL PROTECT YOU IN THE EVENT OF A KICKBACK. DO NOT RELY UPON ANY OF THE DEVICES BUILT INTO YOUR SAW. YOU SHOULD USE THE SAW PROPERLY AND CAREFULLY TO AVOID KICKBACK.

Reduced-Kickback Guide Bar and Low-Kickback Chain

Reduced-kickback guide bars and low-kickback saw chains reduce the chance and magnitude of kickback and are recommended. Your saw has a low kickback chain and bar as original equipment. Repairs on a chain brake should be made by an authorized servicing dealer. Take your unit to the place of purchase if purchased from a servicing dealer, or to the nearest authorized service dealer.



WARNING: Computed kickback angle (CKA) listed on your saw and listed in the CKA table below represents angle of kickback your bar and chain combinations will have when tested in accordance with CSA (Canadian Standards Association) and ANSI standards. When purchasing replacement bar and chain, considerations should be given to the lower CKA values. Lower CKA values represent safer angles to the user, higher values indicate more angle and higher kick energies. Computed angles represented indicate total energy and angle associated without activation of the chain brake during kickback. Activated angle represents chain stopping time relative to activation angle of chain break and resulting kick angle of saw. In all cases lower CKA values represent a safer operating environment for the user. The following guide bar and chain combinations meet kickback requirements of ANSI B175.1 when used on saws listed in this manual. Use of bar and chain combinations other than those listed is not recommended and may not meet the CKA requirements per standard.

WARNING: Do not mount a bow guide on any Efco chainsaw. The risk of kickback is increased with a bow guide because of the increased kickback contact area.

Mantenimiento de la cadena

Utilice solamente cadenas de bajo rebote de diente doble en esta sierra. Esta cadena de corte rápido ofrece reducción de rebote cuando recibe un mantenimiento adecuado.
Para obtener un corte rápido y uniforme, la cadena de dientes debe recibir un mantenimiento adecuado. La cadena se debe afilar cuando las partículas de madera son pequeñas y pulverulentas. Dicha cadena se debe forzar para atravesar la madera durante el corte, o cuando corta a un lado. Cuando realice el mantenimiento de la cadena, tenga en cuenta lo siguiente:

1. Si el ángulo de corte de la placa lateral es inadecuado, la probabilidad de que se produzcan rebotes importantes puede aumentar.
2. Holgura del diente (calibre de profundidades) (A, Fig. 74): si es excesiva, la probabilidad de que se produzcan rebotes aumenta; si es insuficiente, la capacidad de corte disminuye.
3. Si los dientes del cortador han golpeado objetos duros como clavos y piedras, o si se han erosionado al haber barro o arena en la madera, lleve la unidad a un concesionario de servicio para que afilen la cadena.
4. En casos poco comunes, las lengüetas de transmisión podrían deteriorarse, por lo que la cadena no giraría libremente. Sustituya la cadena si es necesario.

NOTA: Cuando sustituya la cadena, inspeccione la rueda dentada para ver si está desgastada o dañada. Si hay señales de desgaste o daños en las partes indicadas en la Fig. 75, lleve la unidad a un concesionario de servicio para que sustituyan la rueda dentada.

Cómo afilar los cortadores (Fig. 76)

Tenga cuidado para limar todos los cortadores según los ángulos especificados y a la misma longitud, ya que para que los cortes se realicen con rapidez es necesario que todos los cortadores sean uniformes.

1. Utilice guantes de protección. Tense la cadena lo suficiente para que no baile. Realice toda la operación de limado en el punto medio de la barra. Consulte la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente a la tensión de la cadena.
2. Utilice un soporte y una lima redonda con un diámetro de 3/16".
3. Mantenga la lima nivelada con la placa superior del diente como se muestra en la Fig. 77. No permita que la lima se baje o balancee.
4. Con una presión ligera pero firme, pase la lima hacia la esquina delantera del diente como se muestra en la Fig. 78. Levante la lima y retírela del acero en cada pasada de retorno.
5 Pase la lima con firmeza varias veces en cada diente. Lime todos los cortadores izquierdos (E, Fig. 79) en un sentido. A continuación, pase al otro lado y lime los cortadores derechos (F) en el sentido contrario. Ocasionalmente, retire las limaduras de la lima con un cepillo metálico.

PRECAUCIÓN: Si la cadena no está correctamente afilada o ha perdido brillo, puede provocar que la velocidad del motor sea excesiva durante el corte, lo cual podría dañar gravemente el motor.

ADVERTENCIA: Es fundamental ajustarse a los ángulos y dimensiones que se especifican a continuación. Si la cadena está incorrectamente afilada y, en particular, si el calibre de profundidades se ajusta demasiado bajo, la probabilidad de que se produzcan rebotes puede aumentar, con el riesgo de lesiones resultante.
Si la cadena se daña y no se sustituye o se repara, se pueden producir lesiones graves.
Puesto que la cadena está muy afilada, utilice siempre guantes protectores cuando realice trabajos de mantenimiento en ella.

Tabla de mantenimiento

Tenga en cuenta que los siguientes intervalos de mantenimiento se aplican solamente en condiciones de funcionamiento normales. Si para su trabajo diario es necesario utilizar la motosierra durante más tiempo del normal, o si las condiciones de corte son duras, los intervalos sugeridos se deberán ajustar en consecuencia. WARNING: The computer derived angles of par. 5.11 of ANSI B 175.1 – 2000 may bear no relationship to actual kickback bar rotation angles that may occur in real life cutting situations.
In addition, features designed to reduce kickback injuries may lose some of their effectiveness when they are no longer in their original condition, especially if they have been improperly maintained.
Compliance with par. 5.11 of ANSI B 175.1 – 2000 does not automatically mean that in a real life kickback the bar and chain will rotate at most 45°.

Precautions to Reduce Vibration Risk

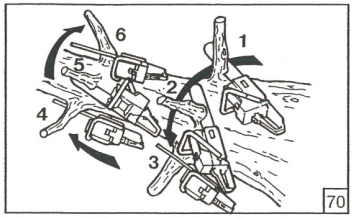
- The chain saw is provided with anti-vibration (AV) system; never alter or modify it.
- Wear gloves and keep your hands warm.
- Keep the saw chain sharp and the saw, including the AV system, well maintained. A dull chain will increase cutting time, and pressing a dull chain through wood will increase the vibrations transmitted to your hands.
- Maintain a firm grip at all times, but do not squeeze the handles with constant, excessive pressures, take frequent breaks. All the above mentioned precautions do not guarantee that you will not sustain whitefinger disease or carpal tunnel syndrome. Therefore, continual and regular users should monitor closely the condition of their hands and fingers. If any of the above symptoms appear, seek medical advice immediately.

Maintenance Precaution

WARNING: Never operate a chain saw that is damaged, improperly adjusted, or is not completely and securely assembled.

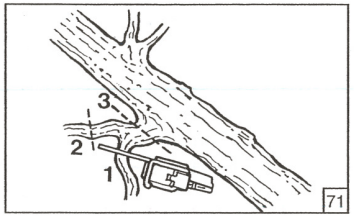
- Be sure that the saw chain stops moving when the throttle control trigger is released. If the saw chain moves at idle speed, the carburetor may need adjusting, see Operation-Carburetor Adjusting Section. If the saw chain still moves at idle speed after adjustment has been made, contact a Servicing Dealer for adjustment and discontinue use until the repair is made.

WARNING: All chain saw service, other than items in the Operator's Manual maintenance instructions, have to be performed by competent chain saw service personnel. (If improper tools are used to remove the flywheel or clutch, or if an improper tool is used to hold the flywheel in order to remove the clutch, structural damage to the flywheel could occur which could subsequently cause the flywheel to burst and serious injury could result.)



- Never modify your saw in any way.
- Keep the handles dry, clean, and free of oil or fuel mixture.

WARNING: Use only accessories and replacement parts recommended.



- Never touch the chain or attempt to service the saw while the engine is running.
- Never use fuel for cleaning operations.
- Keep the chain saw in a dry place, off the ground with the chain guard on and the tanks empty.
- If your chain saw is no longer usable, dispose of it properly without damaging the environment by handing it in to your local Dealer who will arrange for its correct disposal.
- Replace immediately any safety device when damaged or broken.

WARNING: The muffler and other parts of the engine (e.g. fins of the cylinder, spark plug) become hot during operation and remain hot for a while after stopping the engine. To reduce risk of burns do not touch the muffler and other parts while they are hot.

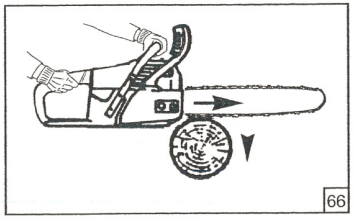
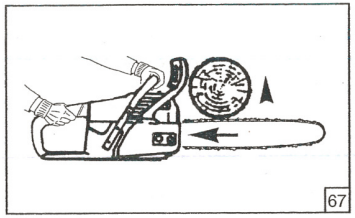
Operación de corte de ramas (Fig. 70-71)

- Corte siempre las ramas tras cortar y derribar el árbol. Sólo entonces se podrán cortar las ramas de forma segura y adecuada.
- Deje las ramas más grandes debajo del árbol talado para apoyar el árbol mientras trabaja.
- Comience en la base del árbol talado y vaya subiendo hacia la parte superior, cortando ramas y brazos. Quite las ramas pequeñas con un corte.
- Mantenga el árbol entre usted y la cadena. Corte desde el lado del árbol contrario a la rama que esté cortando.
- Quite las ramas de apoyo más grandes según las técnicas de corte descritas en el apartado correspondiente a la operación de tronzado sin apoyo.
- Realice siempre el corte por arriba para cortar ramas pequeñas y que cuelguen libremente. Si realiza el corte por abajo, las ramas podrían caer y aprisionar la sierra.

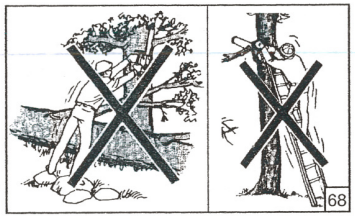
Operación de poda (Fig. 72)



- Al podar árboles, es importante no realizar el corte alineado junto al tronco o rama principal hasta que haya cortado la rama situada más al exterior para reducir el peso. De esta forma se evita quitar la corteza del miembro principal.
- En el primer corte, tronce la rama por abajo 1/3; en el segundo corte, tronce por arriba para que la rama caiga.
- Ahora, haga el corte final suavemente y con cuidado contra el miembro principal de forma que la corteza vuelva a crecer para cerrar la herida.



ADVERTENCIA: Si las ramas que debe podar están por encima de la altura del pecho, póngase en contacto con un profesional para que realice la tarea.



Pértigas

Una pértiga (B, Fig. 73) es cualquier tronco, rama, tocón con raíz o árbol joven doblados bajo tensión por otra madera, por lo que saltarán si la madera que los sujeta se corta o se quita. En un árbol caído, es muy probable que un tocón con raíz salte y se ponga en posición vertical mientras se realiza el corte de tronzado para separar el tronco del tocón. Tenga cuidado con las pértigas, ya que son potencialmente peligrosas.

ADVERTENCIA: Las pértigas son peligrosas y pueden golpear al operador, provocando que pierda el control de la motosierra. Ello podría causar al operador lesiones graves o mortales.

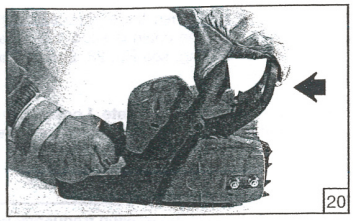
68

69

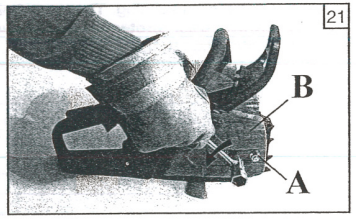
Tipos de corte utilizados
Tronzado superior (Fig. 66)
Comience en el lado superior del tronco con la parte inferior de la sierra contra el tronco; ejerza una ligera presión hacia abajo.

Tronzado inferior (Fig. 67)
Comience en el lado inferior del tronco con la parte superior de la sierra contra el tronco; ejerza una ligera presión hacia arriba. Durante la operación de tronzado inferior, la sierra tenderá a empujar hacia usted. Esté preparado para esta reacción y agarre la motosierra firmemente para mantener el control.

ADVERTENCIA: No ponga nunca la motosierra boca abajo para hacer cortes sesgados. La máquina no se puede controlar en esta posición. Haga siempre el primer corte en el lado de compresión del tronco. El lado de compresión es donde se concentra la presión del peso del tronco.

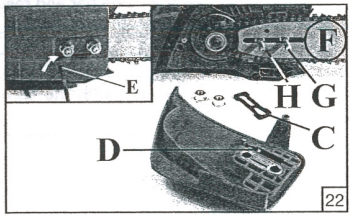


Corte de ramas y poda



ADVERTENCIA: Esté alerta y protegido contra los rebotes. Cuando realice trabajos de corte de ramas y de poda, no permita que la cadena en movimiento entre en contacto con otras ramas u objetos en la parte delantera de la barra guía. Si se produce tal contacto, se pueden sufrir lesiones graves.

- Trabaje lentamente, manteniendo agarrada la motosierra con ambas manos de manera firme y correcta. Mantenga un buen equilibrio (Fig. 68).
- Mantenga el árbol entre usted y la cadena mientras corta ramas (A, Fig. 69). Corte desde el lado del árbol contrario a la rama que esté cortando.
- No corte subido a una escalera, ya que es muy peligroso (Fig. 68). Deje esta operación a los profesionales.
- No corte con la motosierra por encima de la altura del pecho, puesto que si está en una posición más alta resultará difícil controlarla cuando se produzca un rebote.
- Esté alerta ante recuperaciones elásticas. Tenga cuidado con las ramas que estén dobladas o bajo presión. Evite que la rama o la motosierra le golpee al liberarse la tensión existente en las fibras de madera.
- Mantenga el área de trabajo despejada. Para evitar tropezar y caerse, retire con frecuencia las ramas que haya en el suelo.



ADVERTENCIA: No se suba nunca a un árbol para cortar ramas o podar. No se suba a una escalera, o tronco; tampoco se ponga en ninguna posición que pueda hacer que pierda el equilibrio o el control de la motosierra.

Assembling the Bar and Chain

WARNING: Check the chain tension frequently when operating the chain saw. Never touch or adjust the chain while the engine is running. The saw chain is very sharp, always wear protective gloves when performing maintenance to the chain.

1. Ensure that the chain brake is not set by pulling the chain brake lever / hand guard towards the front handle as shown in Fig. 20. Refer to Safety-Chain Brake and Operation-Chain Brake Sections for additional information.
2. Remove the two (2) bar nuts (A, Fig. 21) and the clutch cover (B).
3. Remove and discard the plastic shipping spacer (C, Fig. 22) that has been installed on the bar studs in place of the bar for shipping purposes.
4. Adjust the chain tensioning pin (D) fully towards the brake band by turning the chain tensioning screw (E) counterclockwise as shown in inset (Fig. 22).
5. The guide bar (F) contains a bar stud slot that fits over the bar studs (G). The guide bar also contains two chain tensioning pin holes (H) and two lubrication holes, one per side. The bar is reversible and either tensioning pin hole may be utilized with the chain tensioning pin.
6. Place the guide bar (F) onto the bar studs (G) as shown in Fig. 22.
7. Position the guide bar (F) tip through the chain (H) loop as shown in Fig. 23. The cutters on the top of the guide bar should face toward the bar nose, in the direction of the chain rotation. See insert (M) in Fig. 24.
8. Fit the chain (H) over the rim sprocket (I) and into bar groove.

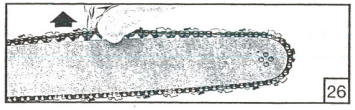
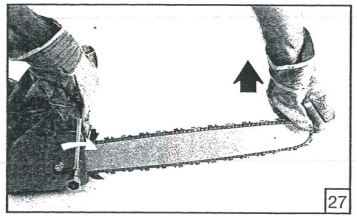
CAUTION: Severe damage can occur to the rim sprocket, clutch drum, guide bar and chain, if the chain is not correctly seated into the rim sprocket.

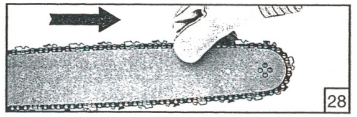
9. Replace the clutch cover (B). Turn the chain tensioning screw (E) clockwise (as shown in Fig. 25, pag. 16) until the chain tensioning pin (D) fits into the chain tensioning pin hole (H). Install the two bar nuts (A). Tighten the bar nuts finger tight only. The bar must be free to move for tension adjustment.



CAUTION: Failure to ensure that the chain tensioning pin is in the chain tensioning pin hole will result in severe damage to the chain saw during reassembly of the clutch cover.



NOTE: If the clutch cover does not slide on freely, check that the chain brake is not engaged. To disengage chain brake with clutch cover removed, grasp clutch cover as shown in Fig. 20 and pull back on chain brake lever / hand guard.



10. Remove all slack from chain by turning the chain tensioning screw (E) clockwise, assuring that the chain seats into the bar groove during tensioning (Fig. 25, pag. 16).
11. Lift the tip of the guide bar up to check for sag, see Fig. 26, pag. 16. Release the tip of the guide bar, and turn the chain tensioning screw (E) 1/2 turn clockwise. Repeat this process until sag does not exist.
12. Hold the tip of the guide bar up and tighten the bar nuts securely as shown in Fig. 27.

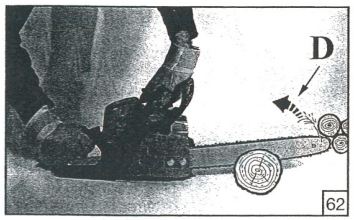
27

28

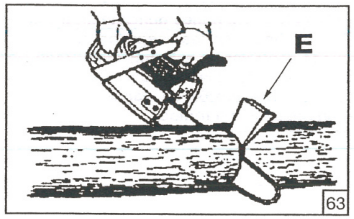
13. Chain is correctly tensioned when there is no slack on the underside of the guide bar, the chain is snug, but it can be turned by hand without binding, see Fig. 28. Ensure that the chain brake is not set.

NOTE: If chain is too tight, it will not rotate. Loosen bar nuts slightly and turn adjusting screw 1/4 turn counterclockwise. Lift the tip of the guide bar up and retighten bar nuts.



WARNING: Check the chain tension frequently when operating the chain saw. Never touch or adjust the chain while the motor is running. The saw chain is very sharp, always wear protective gloves when performing maintenance to the chain.

WARNING: The replacement chain must have the same or lower kickback characteristics as that originally supplied.



WARNING: If the saw is operated with a loose chain, the chain could jump off the guide bar and result in serious injury.

WARNING: Never start the saw with the sprocket cover loose.

Tronzado

Tronzado es el término utilizado para referirse a cortar un árbol caído a la longitud deseada.

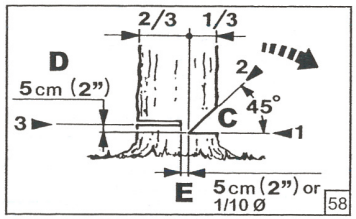
- Corte sólo un tronco cada vez.

ADVERTENCIA: Apoye los troncos pequeños en un caballete de aserrar o en otro tronco mientras tronza. No permita nunca que otra persona sostenga el tronco mientras corta, y no sostenga nunca el tronco con la pierna o el pie.

ADVERTENCIA: Mantenga despejada el área de corte. Compruebe que no hay ningún objeto que pueda entrar en contacto con la parte delantera de la barra guía y la cadena mientras corta, ya que esta situación puede provocar rebotes (D, Fig. 62).

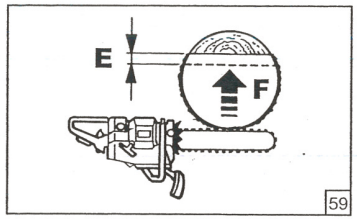
ADVERTENCIA: Mientras realiza operaciones de tronzado, sitúese siempre en el lado de subida del terreno para que la sección cortada del tronco no le atropelle.

ADVERTENCIA: Si la sierra queda atrapada o bloqueada en un tronco, no la fuerce para sacarla. Puede perder el control de la motosierra, por lo que puede lesionarse o dañar la unidad. Pare la motosierra e introduzca una cuña de plástico o de madera en el corte hasta que la sierra se pueda sacar con facilidad (E, Fig. 63). Vuelva a arrancar la motosierra y, con cuidado, entre de nuevo en el corte. No intente arrancar la motosierra si está atrapada o bloqueada en un tronco.



ADVERTENCIA: No se suba al tronco que esté cortando. Es posible que un trozo salga rodando, por lo que podría perder la estabilidad y el control. No corte en una parte en que estén enredados troncos, ramas y raíces. Arrastre los troncos a un área despejada antes de cortar sacando primero los troncos que estén sueltos.

Tronzado con una cuña



Si el diámetro de la madera es suficientemente grande para introducir una cuña blanda de tronzado (E, Fig. 63) sin tocar la cadena, deberá utilizar la cuña para mantener el corte abierto a fin de evitar aprisionamientos.

Troncos bajo tensión (Fig. 64-65)

Haga un primer corte de tronzado (F) de 1/3 a través del tronco y finalice con un corte de 2/3 (G) en el lado contrario. El tronco tenderá a doblarse según se corta. La sierra puede quedar aprisionada o bloqueada en el tronco si hace el primer corte con una profundidad superior a 1/3 del diámetro del tronco.
Preste especial atención a los troncos que estén bajo tensión para evitar que la barra y la cadena se aprisionen.

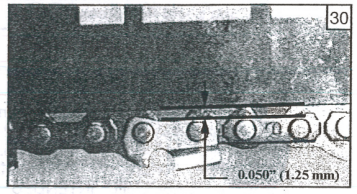
61

3. Corte una muesca (C, Fig. 58) de aproximadamente 1/3 del diámetro del tronco en el lateral del árbol. Haga los cortes de la muesca de forma que se crucen en ángulo recto con la línea de caída. Esta muesca se debe limpiar para obtener una línea recta. Para mantener el peso de la madera fuera de la motosierra, haga siempre el corte inferior de la muesca antes que el corte superior.
4. El corte por el lado opuesto al de caída siempre se hace nivelado y horizontal, y a un mínimo de 2 pulgadas (5 cm) sobre el corte horizontal de la muesca (D).
5. No corte nunca hasta la muesca. Deje siempre una banda de madera entre la muesca y el corte por el lado opuesto al de caída (aproximadamente 2 pulgadas (5 cm) o 1/10 el diámetro del árbol). Esto se denomina "articulación" (E) o "madera con articulación". Controla la caída del árbol y evita que se deslice, gire o caiga del tocón hacia atrás.
6. En árboles de diámetro grande, deje de cortar (F, Fig. 59) antes de que el corte sea lo suficientemente profundo como para que el árbol caiga o se recline en el tocón. A continuación, introduzca cuñas blandas de plástico o de madera (G, Fig. 60) en el corte para que no toquen la cadena. Las cuñas se pueden introducir poco a poco como ayuda para que el árbol suba.
7. Cuando el árbol comience a caer, pare el motor y deje la motosierra en el suelo inmediatamente. Diríjase a la ruta de retirada, pero observe la acción por si algo cae en su camino.

ADVERTENCIA: No corte nunca hasta la muesca cuando realice un corte por el lado opuesto al de caída. La articulación controla la caída del árbol; se trata de la sección de madera entre la muesca y el corte por el lado opuesto al de caída.



NO corte con la motosierra un árbol parcialmente caído.
Tenga mucho cuidado con los árboles parcialmente caídos que no cuenten con un apoyo firme. Si el árbol no cae por completo, deje la motosierra y derríbelo con un torno de cable, un bloque y un aparejo, o con un tractor.

Raíces fulcreas
Una raíz fulcrea es una raíz grande que se extiende desde el tronco del árbol sobre el terreno. Las raíces fulcreas grandes se deben extraer antes de realizar la tala. Haga el corte horizontal (A, Fig. 61) en la raíz fulcrea primero y, a continuación, el corte vertical (B). Extraiga la sección suelta resultante (C) del área de trabajo. Utilice las instrucciones adecuadas de la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente a la tala de árboles tras extraer las raíces fulcreas grandes.

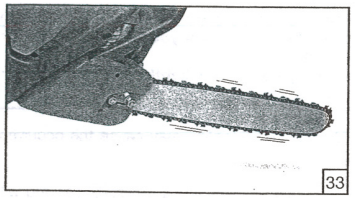
Chain Tension



WARNING: Never touch or adjust the chain while the motor is running. The saw chain is very sharp, always wear protective gloves when performing maintenance to the chain.

1. Stop the engine before setting the chain tension. Loosen the guide bar nuts slightly, turn the chain tensioning screw clockwise to tension the chain. Refer to Assembly-Assembling the Bar and Chain Section. Retighten guide bar nuts. A cold chain is correctly tensioned when there is no slack on the underside of the guide bar, the chain is snug, but it can be turned by hand without binding.
   For warm chain, see Item 3.
2. Chain must be retensioned whenever the flats (A) on the drive link tangs hang out of the bar groove. See Fig. 29.
3. During normal saw operation, the temperature of the chain will increase. The drive link tangs of a correctly tensioned warm chain will hang approximately .050" (1.25 mm) out of the bar groove. See Fig. 30. To help determine the correct warm chain tension, the tip of the combination wrench (Fig. 31) can be used as a guide.

CAUTION: Chain tensioned while warm, may be too tight upon cooling. Check the "cold tension" before next use.

CAUTION: A new chain has to be retensioned more often than one that has been in use for some time.

32

Breaking-in the Chain

New chains will stretch and must be tightened frequently. Lift the chain out of the bar groove and lubricate the bar groove with additional oil, see Fig. 32. Place the chain saw on a piece of cardboard or scrap plywood. Start the chain saw (refer to the Operation-Starting Engine Section) and allow it to run at moderate speed for approximately one (1) minute. Stop the engine. Check that the oil pump is working properly. The cardboard should have excess oil from the chain rotation if the oil pump is working properly, see Fig. 33. Adjust the chain tension (refer to Operation-Chain Tension Section). Start the saw again and make a few cuts in a log to heat up the chain. Stop the engine and re-adjust chain again. Repeat this process until the chain retains proper warm tension adjustment as shown in Fig. 30 in Operation-Chain Tensioning Section. Never touch the ground with the chain.

Bucking Spike

WARNING: Your chain saw is fitted with a bucking spike (A, Fig. 34). The bucking spike is very sharp and can cause injury. Be extremely careful when working near the bucking spike.

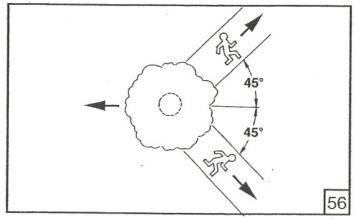
WARNING: Removal of the bucking spike will violate the saws compliance of SAE J335 and other standards. See Safety-State and Local Requirements.

Fueling (Do Not Smoke!) (Fig. 37)

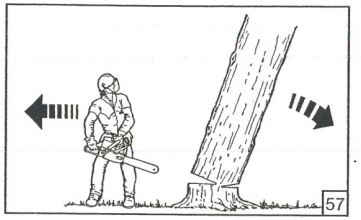
This product is powered by a 2-cycle engine and requires pre-mixing gasoline and 2-cycle oil. Pre-mix unleaded gasoline and 2-cycle engine oil in a clean container approved for gasoline (Fig. 35).
RECOMMENDED FUEL: THIS ENGINE IS CERTIFIED TO OPERATE ON UNLEADED GASOLINE INTENDED FOR AUTOMOTIVE USE WITH AN OCTANE RATING OF 89 ([R + M] / 2) OR HIGHER (Fig. 36).
Mix 2-Cycle Engine Oil with gasoline according to the instructions on the package. We strongly recommend the use of 2% (1:50) Efco Two Cycle Engine Oil, which is specifically formulated for all Efco air-cooled two-stroke engines.
The correct oil / fuel proportions shown in the table below are suitable when using the Efco Two Cycle Engine Oil or an equivalent high-quality engine oil (JASO specification FD or ISO specification L-EGD). When oil specifications are NOT equivalent or unknown use 4% (1:25) oil / fuel mixing ratio.

CAUTION: DO NOT USE AUTOMOTIVE OIL OR 2-CYCLE OUTBOARD OIL.

CAUTION: Never use a fuel with an alcohol percentage higher than 10%; gasohol up to 10% alcohol or E10 fuel are acceptable.



When using an Oxygenated Gasoline a good practice of Fuel Management is necessary.
Gasoline Oxygenated with alcohol readily takes/up water when it is present; the water may be condensed out of humid air or be a contaminant in the fuel system, including tank.



CAUTION:
- Match your fuel purchases to your consumption; don't buy more than you will use in one or two months;
- Store gasoline in a tightly-closed container in a cool, dry place.

The use of Oxygenated Gasoline may cause the occurrence of vapor-lock easier.

NOTE: 2-Cycle Engine Oil contains a fuel stabilizer and will stay fresh up to 30 days. DO NOT mix quantities larger than usable in a 30 day period. A 2-cycle oil containing a fuel stabilizer is recommended.

Tala de árboles

Condiciones inusuales peligrosas en la tala de árboles

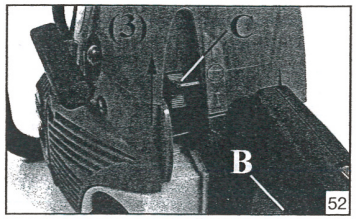
ADVERTENCIA: No tale árboles si hay vientos o precipitaciones intensas.

ADVERTENCIA: No corte nunca si la visibilidad no es buena, si las temperaturas son muy altas o bajas ni con temperaturas bajo cero.

ADVERTENCIA: No corte árboles que tengan troncos demasiado finos o huecos, ramas podridas o corteza suelta. Los árboles con troncos demasiado finos o huecos no se pueden cortar adecuadamente por el lado opuesto al de caída. Arrastre este tipo de árboles con un equipo pesado para derribarlos.

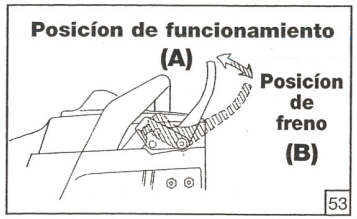
ADVERTENCIA: No corte árboles cerca de cables eléctricos o edificios. Si el árbol entra en contacto con alguna línea eléctrica, informe inmediatamente a la empresa de electricidad.

ADVERTENCIA: Compruebe el árbol para ver si tiene ramas dañadas o muertas que puedan caer y golpearle mientras realiza la tala.



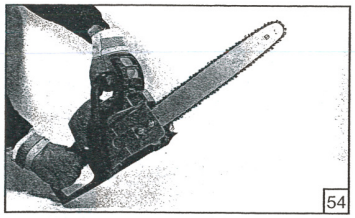
ADVERTENCIA: Eche un vistazo periódicamente a la parte superior del árbol mientras lo corta para asegurarse de que va a caer en la dirección deseada.

ADVERTENCIA: Si el árbol comienza a caer en la dirección incorrecta, o si la motosierra queda atrapada o se bloquea durante la caída, DEJE LA MOTOSIERRA Y SÁLVESE.



- Planifique previamente con cuidado la operación de corte.
- Despeje el área de trabajo. El área alrededor del árbol debe estar despejada para que el terreno sea seguro.
- El operador de la motosierra debe permanecer en el lado de subida del terreno, puesto que es probable que el árbol ruede o se deslice cuesta abajo tras talarlo.
- Estudie las condiciones naturales que puedan provocar que el árbol caiga en una determinada dirección.

Compruebe la existencia de descomposición y putrefacción. Si el tronco está podrido, puede partirse y caer hacia el operador.
Compruebe que hay suficiente espacio para que el árbol caiga. Mantenga una longitud de 2 árboles de distancia con respecto a la persona más cercana o a otros objetos. El ruido del motor puede ahogar una llamada de advertencia. Elimine suciedad, piedras, cortezas sueltas, clavos, grapas y cables del árbol en el que vaya a cortar.



1. Fije una ruta de escape (o rutas por si la ruta fijada queda bloqueada). Despeje el área inmediata alrededor del árbol, y compruebe que no hay obstáculos en la ruta de retirada planificada. Despeje la ruta de retirada segura (Fig. 56) 45° desde la línea planificada de caída (Fig. 57).
2. Tenga en cuenta la fuerza y dirección del viento, la inclinación y equilibrio del árbol, y la ubicación de las ramas grandes. Estos puntos influyen en la dirección de caída del árbol. No intente talar un árbol a lo largo de una línea distinta a su línea natural de caída.

Parada del motor

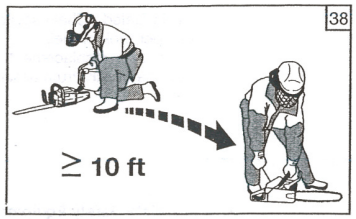
Suelte el activador (B, Fig. 52) y deje que el motor vuelva al estado de ralentí. Apague el motor situando la palanca del arrancador (C) en la posición más alta (3). No deje la motosierra en el suelo si la cadena está aún en movimiento. Como medida de seguridad adicional, ponga el freno de la cadena cuando no utilice la motosierra.
Si la posición " STOP " del interruptor no funciona, tire de la palanca cebador hasta la posición totalmente extendida (M/ difusión completa) (consulte la Fig. 52) para parar el motor.

PRECAUCIÓN: La cadena se contrae según se enfría. Si no se afloja, podría dañar el cigüeñal y los cojinetes.

Comprobación previa al funcionamiento

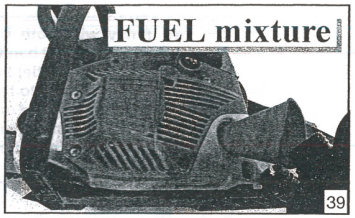
ADVERTENCIA: LA CADENA NO DEBE GIRAR NUNCA AL RALENTÍ. Gire el tornillo de velocidad de ralentí "T" en el sentido contrario a las agujas del reloj para reducir las RPM de ralentí y pare la cadena. O bien, póngase en contacto con el concesionario de servicio para su ajuste y no utilice la unidad hasta que se haya realizado la reparación.
Se pueden producir daños personales graves si la cadena gira al ralentí.

Funcionamiento del freno de la cadena



Consulte la sección de seguridad correspondiente al freno de la cadena antes del uso.
La posición de funcionamiento (A, Fig. 53) y la posición de freno (B) del freno de la cadena se ilustran a continuación.
El estado de funcionamiento del freno de la cadena se debe comprobar antes de cada uso de la unidad como se indica a continuación:

1. Arranque el motor y agarre firmemente las empuñaduras delantera y trasera con ambas manos.
2. Tire del activador para poner la motosierra a velocidad máxima. Utilizando el dorso de la mano izquierda, accione el freno de la cadena empujando la palanca del freno de la cadena/protector de manos hacia la barra mientras la cadena gira rápidamente (consulte la Fig. 54).
3. El freno se debe accionar y parar la cadena inmediatamente. En caso contrario, lleve la motosierra a un concesionario de servicio para repararla y no la utilice hasta que se haya realizado la reparación.
4. Vuelva a poner el freno de la cadena en la posición de funcionamiento agarrando el lateral (lado derecho desde la posición del operador) de la palanca del freno de la cadena/ protector de manos, y tire hacia la empuñadura delantera hasta que oiga un "clic". Consulte la Fig. 55.



ADVERTENCIA: Si el freno no para la cadena inmediatamente, lleve la motosierra a un concesionario de servicio para su reparación antes de utilizarla.

ADVERTENCIA: Si el freno no ha recibido el mantenimiento correcto, es posible que se incremente el tiempo necesario para parar la cadena tras activarse, o puede no activarse en absoluto.

Filling the Tank (Fig. 39)

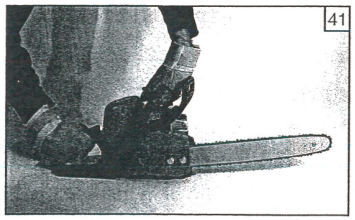
WARNING: Follow safety instruction for fuel handling. Always shut off engine before fueling. Never add fuel to a machine with a running or hot engine. Move at least 10 feet (3 m) from refueling site before starting engine (Fig. 38). DO NOT SMOKE!

1. Clean surface around fuel cap to prevent contamination.
2. Loosen fuel cap slowly.
3. Carefully pour fuel mixture into the tank. Avoid spillage.
4. Prior to replacing the fuel cap, clean and inspect the gasket.
5. Immediately replace fuel cap and hand tighten. Wipe up any fuel spillage.

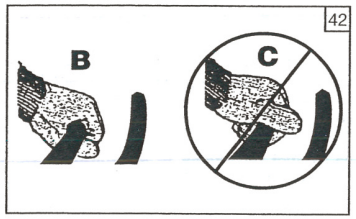
NOTE: It is normal for smoke to be emitted from a new engine during and after first use.

WARNING: Check for fuel leaks, if any are found, correct before use. Contact a Servicing Dealer if necessary.

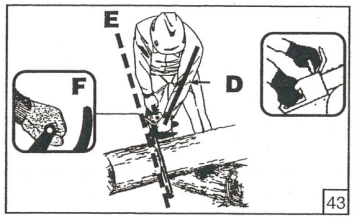
When a chain saw is being used, a fire extinguisher should be available.



Chain Oil System (Fig. 40)



The bar and chain require continuous lubrication. Lubrication is provided by the automatic oiler system when the oil tank is kept filled. Lack of oil will quickly ruin the bar and chain. Too little oil will cause overheating shown by smoke coming from the chain and/or discoloration of the bar. In freezing weather oil will thicken, making it necessary to thin bar and chain oil with a small amount (5 to 10%) of Diesel Fuel or kerosene. Bar and chain oil must be free flowing for the oil system to pump enough oil for adequate lubrication.



CAUTION: Never use waste oil. Always use biodegradable lubrificant that is specific for bar and chain and that is better for the environment and chainsaw's parts.

CAUTION: Do not use dirty, used or otherwise contaminated oils. Damage may occur to the oil pump, bar, or chain.

WARNING: Do not use waste oil! Medical studies have shown that renewed contact with waste oil can cause skin cancer.

1. Fill the oil tank every time engine is fueled. Chain saw should use approximately one tank of oil per tank of fuel.
2. The automatic oil pump is a positive displacement pump operated through gears driven off the clutch drum assembly. The pump will not oil at idle speed.

Preparation for Cutting

Proper Grip on Handles.
Refer to Safety Section for appropriate Safety Equipment.

1. Wear non-slip gloves for maximum grip and protection.

> ⚠ WARNING: Hold the saw firmly with both hands. Always keep your LEFT HAND on the front handlebar and your RIGHT HAND on the rear (throttle) handle as shown in Fig. 41, so that your body is to the left of the chain line. Never use a cross-handed grip, or any stance which would place your body or arm across the chain line. Left-handers should follow these instructions too.

2. Maintain a proper grip (B, Fig. 42) on the saw whenever the engine is running. The fingers should encircle the handlebar and the thumb is wrapped under the handlebar. This grip is least likely to be broken (by a kickback or other sudden reaction of the saw). Any grip in which the thumb and fingers are on the same side of the handle (C), is dangerous because a slight kick of the saw can cause loss of control.

> ⚠ WARNING:
> Proper Cutting Stance (Fig. 43)
> - Weight should be balanced on both feet - feet on solid ground.
> - Keep arm with elbow locked in a "straight arm" position (D) to withstand any kickback force.
> - Your body should always be to the left of the chain line (E).
> - Thumb on underside of handlebar (F).

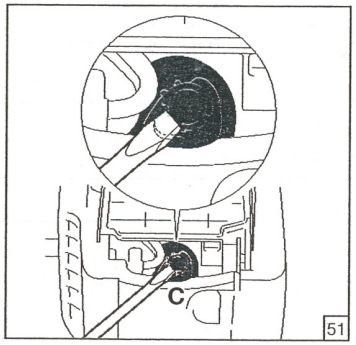
Basic Cutting Procedure



Practice cutting a few small logs using the following technique to get the "feel" of using your saw before you begin a major sawing operation.

1. Take the proper stance in front of the wood with the saw idling.
2. Accelerate the engine to full throttle just before entering the cut by squeezing the throttle trigger.
3. Begin cutting with the saw against the log.
4. Keep the engine at full throttle the entire time you are cutting.
5. Allow the chain to cut for you; exert only light downward pressure. If you force the cut, damage to the bar, chain, or engine can result.
6. Release the throttle trigger as soon as the cut is completed, allowing the engine to idle. If you run the saw at full throttle without a cutting load, unnecessary wear or damage can occur to the chain, bar, and engine.
7. Do not put pressure on the saw at the end of the cut.

> ⚠ ADVERTENCIA: No intente nunca arrancar la motosierra cuando la barra guía esté en un corte.

> ⚠ ATENCIÓN – No arrancar la motosierra si la barra, la cadena y el cárter de embrague (freno de cadena) no están montados; el embrague podría aflojarse y provocar lesiones.

Sistema antihielo

Con temperaturas inferiores a 0°C, situar el cursor (A, Fig. 49A) en la posición invernal. De este modo, además del aire frío se aspira también aire caliente procedente del cilindro, que evita la formación de hielo dentro del carburador.
Con temperaturas superiores a +10°C, situar nuevamente el cursor (A, Fig. 49B) en la posición de verano. De lo contrario, el motor podría recalentarse y no funcionar correctamente.

Rodaje del motor

El motor alcanza su potencia máxima tras un período de actividad de 5 a 8 horas.
Durante este período de rodaje, no ponga la máquina a aceleración máxima si no está cortando, a fin de evitar tensiones de funcionamiento excesivas.

> ⚠ PRECAUCIÓN: Durante el período de rodaje, no varíe la carburación para obtener un incremento de potencia; el motor puede dañarse.

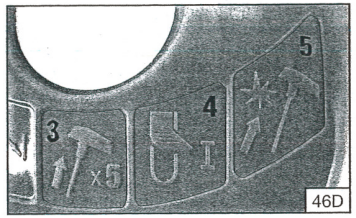
Arranque difícil (o arranque de un motor ahogado)
El motor puede estar ahogado con demasiado combustible si no arranca tras 10 tirones. El exceso de combustible de los motores ahogados se puede eliminar siguiendo el procedimiento de arranque del motor en caliente indicado anteriormente. Asegúrese de que el interruptor ON/STOP se encuentra en la posición ON. Para el arranque, es posible que sea necesario tirar varias veces de la empuñadura de la cuerda del motor de arranque en función del grado de ahogamiento de la unidad. Si el motor no arranca, consulte la TABLA DE SOLUCIÓN DE PROBLEMAS (página 107).



El motor está ahogado
Si no ajusta la palanca cebador en la posición de arranque en caliente, con la suficiente rapidez una vez que el motor comienza a encenderse, la cámara de combustión se ahoga.

- Ajuste el interruptor de masa en la posición STOP.
- Suelte los tornillos de la tapa de la bujía (A, Fig. 50).
- Extraiga la cubierta del filtro (B).
- Acople una herramienta adecuada en la funda de la bujía (C, Fig. 51).
- Haga palanca para sacar la funda de la bujía.
- Desenrosque la bujía y séquela.
- Abra el acelerador por completo.
- Tire de la cuerda del motor de arranque varias veces para desahogar la cámara de combustión.
- Vuelva a poner la bujía y conecte su funda; presiónela firmemente y monte de nuevo las demás piezas.
- Ajuste el interruptor de masa en I (posición del acelerador de arranque).
- Ajuste la palanca cebador en la posición de arranque en caliente aunque el motor esté frío.
- Ahora, arranque el motor.

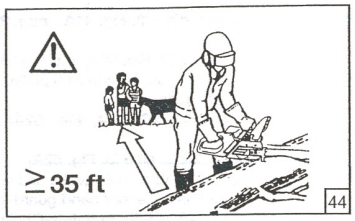
Arranque del motor

ADVERTENCIA: Mantenga el cuerpo a la izquierda de la línea de la cadena. No separe nunca la sierra ni la cadena; tampoco se debe inclinar más allá de la línea de la cadena. El freno de la cadena debe estar accionado al arrancar la motosierra.



- Sitúe la motosierra sobre un terreno nivelado y compruebe que no hay objetos ni obstrucciones cerca que puedan entrar en contacto con la barra y la cadena. Agarre firmemente la empuñadura delantera con la mano izquierda y ponga el pie derecho en la base de la empuñadura trasera; consulte la Fig. 45, pag. 91.
- Ponga el freno de la cadena empujando la palanca del freno de la cadena/protector de manos hacia adelante (hacia la barra), hasta la posición de freno como se muestra en la Fig. 46A, pag. 91. Para obtener más información, consulte las secciones de seguridad y funcionamiento del freno de la cadena.
- Presione lentamente la pera de purga entre 6 veces (A, Fig. 46B, pag. 91) - (1, Fig. 46C)
- Ponga la palanca del arrancador (C, Fig.47) - (2, Fig. 46C) en la posición más baja (1).
- Tirar de la cuerda de arranque varias veces (3, Fig. 46D), hasta conseguir el primer estallido (no más de cinco (5) tirones). Es posible que una unidad nueva requiera más tirones.
- Ponga la palanca del arrancador (C, Fig. 48) - (4, Fig. 46D) en la posición intermedia (2).
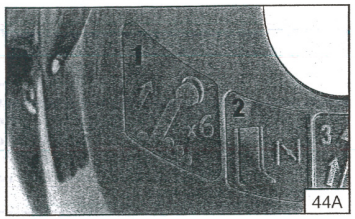
- Poner en marcha tirando de la cuerda de arranque (5, Fig. 46D).
- Una vez puesto en marcha el motor, desactivar el freno de cadena y esperar algunos segundos. Ajuste la palanca del freno de la cadena/protector de manos en la posición de funcionamiento como se muestra en la Fig. 46A. Para obtener más información, consulte las secciones de seguridad y funcionamiento del freno de la cadena.
- Antes de accionar la palanca del acelerador (B, Fig. 49) para desbloquear el dispositivo de semi-aceleración automática.
- Cuando tire de la cuerda del motor de arranque, no utilice la longitud total de la cuerda, ya que se puede romper. No deje que la cuerda del motor de arranque se enrolle rápidamente. Agarre la empuñadura y deje que la cuerda vuelva a enrollarse lentamente.

ADVERTENCIA: No corte material con la palanca de ralentí rápido/estrangulación en la posición de la difusión completa (FULL CHOKE). No ponga la motosierra en marcha con el bloqueo del acelerador de arranque accionado. Al cortar con el bloqueo del acelerador de arranque accionado, el operador no puede controlar correctamente la velocidad de la cadena o la sierra.



NOTA - ARRANQUE DEL MOTOR EN CALIENTE:
Siga las instrucciones de arranque indicadas anteriormente, pero no utilice la posición de difusión completa para volver a arrancar la unidad. A fin de fijar el ralentí rápido para arrancar el motor en caliente, saque por completo el estrangulador y empújelo para ajustarlo en la posición de funcionamiento original.

ADVERTENCIA: Las condiciones meteorológicas y la altitud pueden afectar a la carburación. No permita que nadie se acerque a la motosierra mientras ajusta el carburador.

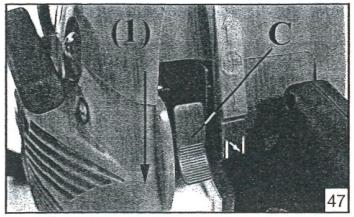
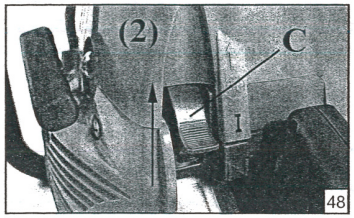
Work Area Precautions



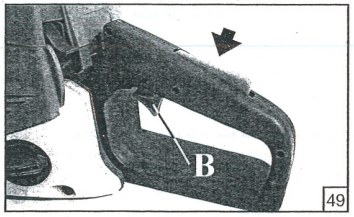
WARNING: Cut only wood or materials made from wood. Do not cut metal, plastics, masonry, or non-wood building materials.

- Never allow children to operate your saw. Only allow others to use this chainsaw who have read this Operator's Manual or received adequate instructions for the safe and proper use of this chain saw.
- Keep everyone - helpers, bystanders, children, and animals a safe distance from the cutting area (Fig. 44). During felling operations, the safe distance should be a least twice the height of the largest trees in the felling area. During bucking operations, keep a minimum distance of 35 feet (10 m) between workers.
- Always cut with both feet on solid ground to prevent being pulled off balance.
- Do not cut above chest height, as a saw held higher is difficult to control against kickback forces.
- Do not fell trees near electrical wires or buildings. Leave this operation for professionals.
- Cut only when visibility and light are adequate for you to see clearly.
- Do not cut from a ladder, this is extremely dangerous. Leave this operation for professionals.
- Stop the saw if the chain strikes a foreign object. Inspect the saw and repair parts as necessary.
- Keep the chain out of dirt and sand. Even a small amount of dirt will quickly dull a chain and increase the possibility of kickback.
- Stop the engine before setting the saw down.
- Be particularly cautious and alert while wearing hearing protection because such equipment may restrict your ability to hear sounds indicating danger (calls, signals, warnings, etc).
- Be extremely cautious when working on slopes or uneven ground.
- When a chain saw is being used, a fire extinguisher should be available.



Starting The Engine

WARNING: Keep body to the left of the chain line. Never straddle the saw or chain, or lean over past the chain line. The chain brake must be engaged when starting the saw.



- Place the chain saw on level ground and ensure that no objects or obstructions are in immediate vicinity which could come in contact with the bar and chain. Hold the front handle firmly with the left hand and put your right foot onto the base of the rear handle, see Fig. 45.
- Set the chain brake by pushing the chain brake lever / hand guard forward (towards the bar), to the Brake Position as shown in Fig. 46A. Refer to Safety-Chain Brake and Operation-Chain Brake Sections for additional information.
- Slowly push the purge bulb 6 times (A, Fig. 46B) - (1, Fig. 44A).

48

49

49A

49B

- Push the choke lever, (C, Fig. 47) - (2, Fig. 44A - pag. 21) fully down (1).
- Pull the starter rope a few times (3, Fig. 52A) until the first kick over of the engine is heard (no more than five (5) pulls). A new unit may require additional pulls.
- Move the choke lever, (C, Fig. 48) - (4, Fig. 52A) to the intermediate position (2).
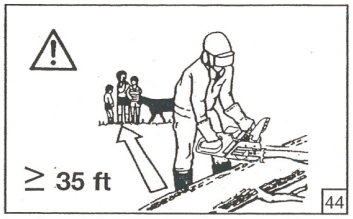
- Pull the starter rope to start the engine (5, Fig. 52A).
- Once the engine is going release the chain brake and wait for a few seconds. Place chain brake lever / hand guard into the run position as shown in Fig. 46A. Refer to Safety-Chain Brake and Operation-Chain Brake Sections for additional information.
- Then accelerate with the throttle (B, Fig. 49) to fire the half throttle-blocking device.

WARNING: Do not cut material with the choke/fast idle lever at the FULL CHOKE position. Do not operate your chainsaw with the starting throttle lock engaged. Cutting with the starting throttle lock engaged does not permit the operator proper control of the saw or chain speed.

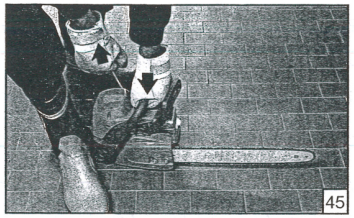
NOTE - STARTING WARM ENGINE:
Follow above starting instructions, but do not use the Full Choke position for start up again. To set fast idle for warm engine starting, pull choke out completely and push back in to the original Run Position.

WARNING: Weather conditions and altitude may affect carburetion. Do not allow bystanders close to the chain saw while adjusting the carburetor.



WARNING: Never attempt to start the chainsaw when the guide bar is in a cut or kerf.

WARNING: Never start the saw engine without the bar, chain and clutch cover (chain brake) assembled - or else the clutch can come loose and cause personal injuries.



Ice Device System

In the event of temperatures below 0°C, move the cursor (A, Fig. 49A) to the winter position. In this way heated air from the cylinder is also taken in, preventing thus the formation of ice inside the carburettor.
When the temperature rises above +10°C, move the cursor (A, Fig. 49 B) to the summer position. Failure to reset this parameter could impair motor performance due to overheating.

Procedimiento de corte básico

Practique cortando algunos troncos pequeños utilizando la siguiente técnica para familiarizarse con el uso de la motosierra antes de iniciar una operación de corte importante.

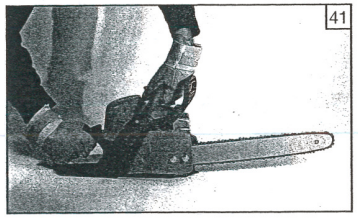
1. Adopte la postura adecuada delante de la madera con la motosierra a ralentí.
2. Ponga el motor a aceleración máxima justo antes de entrar en el corte apretando para ello el activador.
3. Comience a cortar con la motosierra contra el tronco.
4. Mantenga el motor a aceleración máxima mientras realiza el corte.
5. Deje que la cadena corte por usted; ejerza únicamente una ligera presión hacia abajo. Si fuerza el corte, se pueden producir daños en la barra, cadena o motor.
6. Suelte el activador en cuanto finalice el corte, y deje que el motor se ponga a ralentí. Si pone la motosierra a aceleración máxima sin haber una carga de corte, se pueden producir daños o desgaste innecesarios en la cadena, barra y motor.
7. No aplique presión en la motosierra al final del corte.

Precauciones sobre el lugar de trabajo

ADVERTENCIA: Corte solamente madera o materiales de madera. No corte metal, plástico, mampostería ni materiales de construcción que no sean de madera.

- No permita nunca que un niño utilice la motosierra. Permita únicamente utilizar esta motosierra a aquellas personas que hayan leído este manual del operador o que hayan recibido las instrucciones adecuadas para el uso seguro y correcto de esta motosierra.
- Haga que los ayudantes, transeúntes, niños y animales se mantengan a una distancia segura del lugar donde realiza el corte (Fig. 44). Durante operaciones de tala, la distancia segura debe ser de al menos dos veces la altura de los árboles más altos del lugar de tala. Durante operaciones de tronzado, mantenga una distancia mínima de 35 pies (10 m) entre los trabajadores.
- Corte siempre con los dos pies sobre un terreno firme para no perder el equilibrio.
- No corte con la motosierra por encima de la altura del pecho, puesto que si está en una posición más alta resultará difícil controlarla frente a fuerzas de rebote.
- No tale árboles próximos a cables eléctricos o edificios. Deje esta operación a los profesionales.
- Corte solamente cuando la visibilidad y la iluminación sean las adecuadas para ver con claridad.
- No corte subido a una escalera, ya que es muy peligroso. Deje esta operación a los profesionales.
- Pare la motosierra si la cadena golpea algún objeto extraño. Inspeccione la motosierra y repare las piezas según sea necesario.
- Mantenga la cadena limpia y sin arena. Incluso una pequeña cantidad de suciedad hará que la cadena pierda brillo rápidamente y aumentará la posibilidad de que se produzcan rebotes.
- Pare el motor antes de soltar la motosierra.
- Esté especialmente atento cuando utilice protección para los oídos, puesto que tal equipo puede limitar su capacidad para oír sonidos que indiquen peligro (gritos, señales, advertencias, etc.).
- Tenga mucho cuidado cuando trabaje en pendientes o en terrenos desnivelados.
- Durante la utilizacion de la motosierra tiene que ser diponible un extintor de incendios.

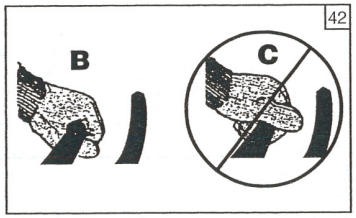
es



PRECAUCIÓN: No utilice aceites sucios, utilizados ni contaminados. Si lo hace, se pueden producir daños en la bomba de aceite, en la barra o en la cadena.

ADVERTENCIA: No utilice aceite de desecho. Los estudios médicos realizados han demostrado que el contacto prolongado con aceite de desecho puede provocar cáncer de piel.

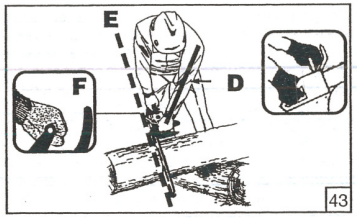
1. Llene el depósito de aceite cada vez que añada combustible al motor. La motosierra debe utilizar aproximadamente un depósito de aceite por cada depósito de combustible.
2. La bomba de lubricación automática es una bomba de desplazamiento y funciona mediante engranajes accionados desde el conjunto de tambor del embrague. La bomba no lubricará a velocidades de ralentí.



Preparación para cortar

Agarre correctamente las empuñaduras.
Consulte la sección de seguridad con respecto al equipo de seguridad adecuado.

41



1. Utilice guantes antideslizantes para obtener el máximo agarre y protección.

ADVERTENCIA: Agarre firmemente la motosierra con las dos manos. Mantenga siempre la MANO IZQUIERDA en la empuñadura delantera y la MANO DERECHA en la empuñadura trasera (acelerador) como se muestra en la Fig. 41, de forma que el cuerpo quede a la izquierda de la línea de la cadena. No cruce nunca las manos al agarrar la unidad; tampoco adopte una postura que haga que el cuerpo o el brazo queden en la línea de la cadena. Los zurdos deben seguir también estas instrucciones.

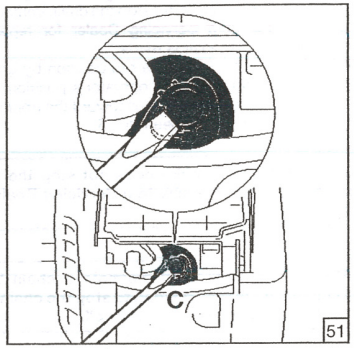
2. Mantenga la motosierra correctamente agarrada (B, Fig.42) cuando el motor esté en marcha. Los dedos deben rodear la empuñadura y el pulgar debe quedar debajo de ella. Esta forma de agarrar es la más firme ante rebotes u otras reacciones repentinas de la motosierra. Resultará peligroso si agarra la unidad de forma que el pulgar y los dedos queden en el mismo lado de la empuñadura (C), ya que un ligero rebote de la motosierra puede hacer que pierda el control.



43

ADVERTENCIA:
Postura adecuada para cortar (Fig. 43)
- El peso debe estar equilibrado sobre ambos pies y éstos deben estar sobre un terreno firme.
- Mantenga el brazo con el codo fijo en posición de "brazo recto" (D) para resistir cualquier fuerza de rebote.
- El cuerpo debe estar siempre a la izquierda de la línea de la cadena (E).
- El pulgar debe estar en la parte inferior de la empuñadura (F).

Breaking-in the Engine

The engine reaches the maximum power after 5-8 hours of activity. During this period of breaking-in do not make the machine function idly at full throttle, to avoid excessive functioning stress.

CAUTION! – During the braking-in period do not vary the carburetion to obtain a presumed power increment; the engine can be damaged.

Difficult Starting (or starting a flooded engine)
The engine may be flooded with too much fuel if it has not started after 10 pulls. Flooded engines can be cleared of excess fuel by following the warm engine starting procedure listed above. Ensure the ON/STOP switch is in the ON position. Starting could require pulling the starter rope handle many times depending on how badly the unit is flooded. If engine fails to start refer to the TROUBLESHOOTING TABLE (page 35).

Engine is Flooded

If you did not move the choke lever to warm start, quickly enough after the engine began to fire, the combustion chamber is flooded.
- Set the on/off swich to STOP.
- Unscrew the screws on the cover (A, Fig. 50).
- Remove the filter cover (B).
- Engage a suitable tool in the spark plug boot (C, Fig. 51).
- Pry off the spark plug boot.
- Unscrew and dry off the spark plug.
- Open the throttle wide.
- Pull the starter rope several times to clear the combustion chamber.
- Refit the spark plug and connect the spark plug boot, press it down firmly – reassemble the other parts.
- Set the on/off swich to I, the starting position.
- Set the choke lever to warm start – even if engine is cold.
- Now start the engine.

Stopping The Engine

Release the throttle trigger (B, Fig. 52) and let the engine return to idle.
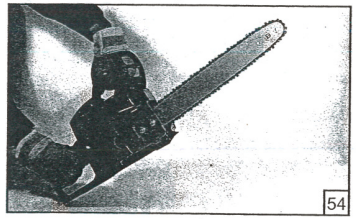
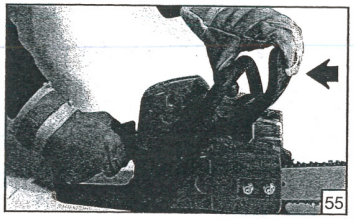
Switch off the engine, returning the choke lever (C) to the fully up position (3). Do not put the chain saw on the ground when the chain is still moving. For additional safety, set the chain brake when the saw is not in use.
In the event that the "STOP" position of the switch will not function, pull the choke lever out to the fully extended position ⍾ / Full Choke, refer to Fig. 52 to stop the engine.

CAUTION: The chain contracts as it cools down. If it is not slackened, it could damage the crankshaft and bearings.



Pre-operation checking



WARNING: THE SAW CHAIN SHOULD NEVER TURN AT IDLE. Turn the idle speed screw "T" counterclockwise to reduce the idle RPM and stop the chain, or contact a Servicing Dealer for adjustment and discontinue use until the repair is made.
Serious personal injury may result from the saw chain turning at idle.

Chain Brake Operation

Refer to Safety-Chain Brake Section before use.
The chain brake Run Position (A, Fig. 53) and Brake Position (B) are illustrated below.
The chain brake operating condition should be checked prior to each use as follows:

1. Start the engine and grasp front and rear handles securely with both hands.
2. Pull the throttle trigger to bring the chain saw up to full speed. Using the back of your left hand, engage the chain brake by pushing the chain brake lever / hand guard toward the bar while the chain is rotating rapidly, see Fig, 54.
3. The chain brake should engage and stop the chain immediately, if not, take the saw to a Servicing Dealer for repair and discontinue use until the repair is made.
4. Reset the chain brake back into the run position by grasping the guide bar side (right side from operator's position) of the chain brake lever / hand guard and pull toward the front handle until an audible click is heard. See Fig, 55.

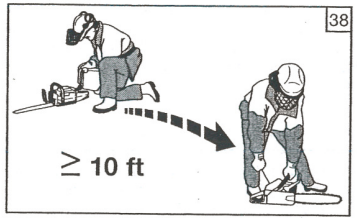
WARNING: If chain brake does not stop the chain immediately, take the saw to a Servicing Dealer for repair prior to use.

WARNING: An improperly maintained chain brake may increase the time needed to stop the chain after activation, or may not activate at all.

Tree Felling

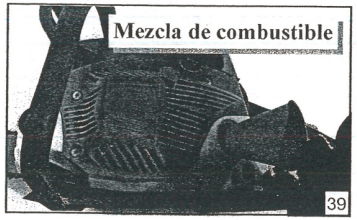
Unusual Hazardous Tree Felling Conditions

WARNING: Do not fell trees during periods of high wind or heavy precipitation.



WARNING: Never cut, when visibility is poor or in very high or low temperatures or in freezing weather.

WARNING: Do not cut trees that have an extreme lean or hollow trunks rotten limbs or loose bark. Proper notching and back cutting cannot be performed on trees with extreme lean or hollow trunks. Have these trees dragged down with heavy equipment.



WARNING: Do not cut trees near electrical wires or buildings. If the tree makes contact with any utility line, the utility company should be notified immediately.

WARNING: Check the tree for damaged or dead branches that could fall and hit you during felling.

Alta Calidad aceite de motor de 2 ciclos (50:1) 2%
Essence	Huile
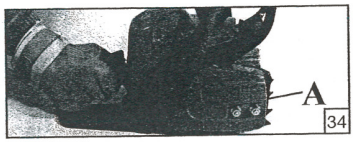
1 galón (US)	2.6 oz.
1 litro	20 cc (20 ml)

Llenado del depósito (Fig. 39)

ADVERTENCIA: Siga las instrucciones de seguridad correspondientes al manejo de combustible. Apague siempre el motor antes de repostar. No añada nunca combustible a una máquina cuando el motor esté en marcha o caliente. Aléjese al menos 10 pies (3 m) del lugar de recarga de combustible antes de arrancar el motor (Fig. 38). ¡NO FUME!

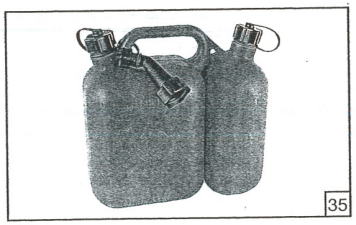
1. Limpie la superficie alrededor del tapón del depósito de combustible para evitar la contaminación.
2. Afloje lentamente el tapón del depósito de combustible.
3. Vierta con cuidado la mezcla de combustible en el depósito. Evite derramamientos.
4. Antes de volver a poner el tapón del depósito, limpie e inspeccione la junta.
5. Vuelva a poner inmediatamente el tapón del depósito y apriételo con la mano. Limpie el combustible que se haya derramado.

NOTA: Es normal que un motor nuevo emita humo durante y después del primer uso.

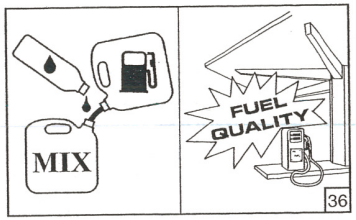


ADVERTENCIA: Compruebe la existencia de fugas de combustible; si detecta alguna, corríjala antes de utilizar la unidad. Póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio si es necesario.

Durante la utilizacion de la motosierra tiene que ser diponible un extintor de incendios.



Sistema de lubricación de la cadena (Fig. 40)



La barra y la cadena se deben lubricar de forma continua. La lubricación la proporciona el sistema lubricador automático cuando el depósito de aceite se mantiene lleno. Si no hay aceite, la barra y la cadena se deteriorarán rápidamente. Si la cantidad de aceite es demasiado pequeña, se producirá sobrecalentamiento que será obvio por el humo que desprenderá la cadena o por la decoloración de la barra. Con temperaturas bajo cero, el aceite se espesa, por lo que será necesario diluir el aceite de la barra y la cadena con una pequeña cantidad (entre 5 y 10%) de combustible diesel o queroseno. El aceite de la barra y la cadena debe fluir libremente al sistema de lubricación para bombear suficiente aceite a fin de obtener una lubricación adecuada.

PRECAUCIÓN: No utilice nunca aceite de desecho. Utilice siempre lubricante biodegradable específico para la barra y la cadena y que no perjudique el medioambiente ni las piezas de la motosierra.

Púa de tronzado

ADVERTENCIA: La motosierra está equipada con una púa de tronzado (A, Fig.34). La púa de tronzado está muy afilada y puede producir lesiones. Tenga mucho cuidado cuando trabaje cerca de la púa de tronzado.

ADVERTENCIA: Si extrae la púa de tronzado, la motosierra dejará de cumplir la norma SAE J335 y otras. Consulte la sección de seguridad correspondiente a los requisitos estatales y locales.

Alimentación de combustible (¡No fume!) (Fig. 37)

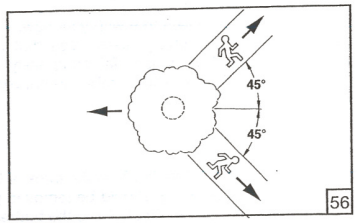
Este producto se alimenta mediante un motor de 2 ciclos y requiere que se mezcle previamente gasolina y aceite de 2 ciclos. Mezcle previamente gasolina sin plomo y aceite de motor de 2 ciclos en un contenedor limpio homologado para gasolina (Fig.35).

COMBUSTIBLE RECOMENDADO: ESTE MOTOR CUENTA CON LA CERTIFICACIÓN PARA FUNCIONAR CON GASOLINA SIN PLOMO DESTINADA A SU USO EN AUTOMOCIÓN CON UN ÍNDICE DE OCTANO DE 89 ([R + M] / 2) O MÁS (Fig. 36).

Mezcle aceite de motor de 2 ciclos con gasolina según las instrucciones indicadas en el envase. Recomendamos encarecidamente el uso de aceite de motor Efco de dos ciclos al 2% (1:50) formulado especialmente para todos los motores Efco de dos tiempos refrigerados por aire.

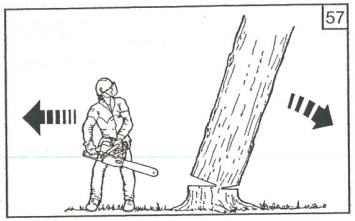
Las proporciones correctas de combustible y aceite de la tabla (pág. 89) siguiente son v·lidas para cuando se usa un aceite de motor Efco de dos ciclos o un aceite de calidad equivalente (con especificación JASO FD o con especificación ISO L-EGD). Si las especificaciones del aceite NO son equivalentes o son desconocidas, utilice una mezcla de aceite y combustible al 4% (1:25).

PRECAUCIÓN: NO UTILICE ACEITE DE AUTOMOCIÓN NI ACEITE FUERA BORDA DE 2 CICLOS.



PRECAUCIÓN: No utilice nunca combustible con un porcentaje de alcohol superior al 10%; se puede utilizar gasohol con un máximo de 10% de alcohol o combustible E10.

Al utilizar gasolina oxigenada, se deberá aplicar una buena práctica de tratamiento del combustible. La gasolina oxigenada con alcohol absorbe agua fácilmente cuando está presente; el agua se puede condensar a partir del aire húmedo o ser un contaminante en el sistema de combustible, incluido el depósito.



PRECAUCIÓN:
- Compre el combustible según la cantidad que vaya a consumir; no compre más del que vaya a utilizar en uno o dos meses;
- Guarde la gasolina en un contenedor hermético en un lugar fresco y seco.

El uso de gasolina oxigenada puede provocar la aparición de bolsas de vapor con mayor facilidad.

NOTA: El aceite de motor de 2 ciclos contiene un estabilizador de combustible y se conservará en perfecto estado durante un máximo de 30 días. NO mezcle cantidades mayores de las que se puedan utilizar en un período de 30 días. Se recomienda utilizar un aceite de 2 ciclos que contenga estabilizador de combustible.

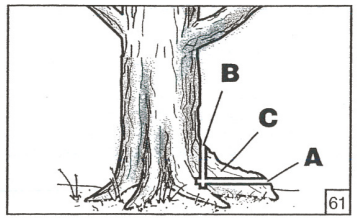
WARNING: Periodically glance at the top of the tree during the backcut to assure the tree is going to fall in the desired direction.

WARNING: If the tree starts to fall in the wrong direction, or if the saw gets caught or hung up during the fall, LEAVE THE SAW AND SAVE YOURSELF!

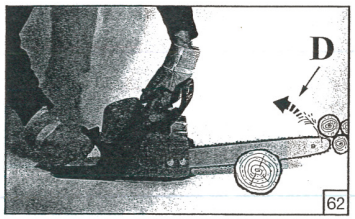
- Carefully plan your sawing operation in advance.
- Clear the work area. You need a clear area all around the tree so you can have secure footing.
- The chain saw operator should keep on the uphill side of the terrain as the tree is likely to roll or slide downhill after it is felled.
- Study the natural conditions that can cause the tree to fall in a particular direction.



Look for decay and rot. If the trunk is rotted, it can snap and fall toward the operator.

Make sure there is enough room for the tree to fall. Maintain a distance of 2 tree lengths from the nearest person or other objects. Engine noise can drown out a warning call. Remove dirt, stones, loose bark, nails, staples, and wire from the tree where cuts are to be made.

1. Pick your escape route (or routes in case the intended route is blocked). Clear the immediate area around the tree, and make sure there are no obstructions in your planned path of retreat. Clear path of safe retreat (Fig. 56) 45° from planned line of fall (Fig. 57).
2. Consider the force and direction of the wind, the lean and balance of the tree, and the location of large limbs. These things influence the direction in which the tree will fall. Do not try to fell a tree along a line different from its natural line of fall.
3. Cut a notch (C, Fig. 58) about 1/3 the diameter of the trunk in the side of the tree. Make the cuts of the notch so they intersect at a right angle to the line of fall. This notch should be cleaned out to leave a straight line. To keep the weight of the wood off the saw, always make the lower cut of the notch before the upper cut.
4. The backcut is always made level and horizontal, and at a minimum of 2 inches (5 cm) above the horizontal cut of the notch (D).
5. Never cut through to the notch. Always leave a band of wood between the notch and back cut (approximately 2 inches (5 cm) or 1/10 the diameter of the tree). This is called "hinge" (E) or "hingewood". It controls the fall of the tree and prevents slipping or twisting or shoot-back of the tree off the stump.
6. On large diameter trees, stop the back cut (F, Fig. 59) before it is deep enough for the tree to either fall or settle back on the stump. Then insert soft wooden or plastic wedges (G, Fig. 60) into the cut so they do not touch the chain. The wedges can be driven in, little by little, to help jack the tree over.
7. As tree starts to fall, stop the engine and put saw down immediately. Retreat along cleared path, but watch the action in case something falls your way.

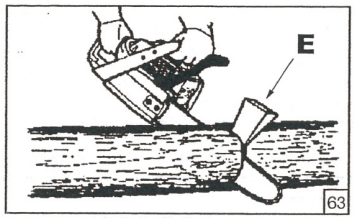


WARNING: Never cut through to the notch when making a backcut. The hinge controls the fall of the tree, this is the section of wood between the notch and backcut.

Dulberg 004105

DO NOT cut down a partially fallen tree with your saw.
Be extremely cautious with partially fallen trees that may be poorly supported. When a tree doesn't fall completely, set the saw aside and pull down the tree with a cable winch, block and tackle, or tractor.

Buttress Roots
A buttress root is a large root extending from the trunk of the tree above ground. Large buttress roots should be removed prior to felling. Make the horizontal cut (A, Fig. 61) into the buttress first, followed by the vertical cut (B). Remove the resulting loose section (C) from the work area. Utilize the proper instructions from the Operation-Tree Felling section of the manual after the large buttress roots have been removed.



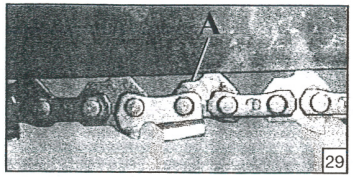
Bucking

Bucking is the term used for cutting a fallen tree to the desired log length.

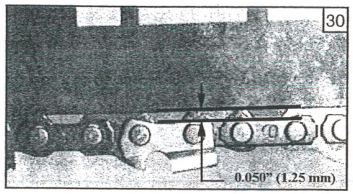
- Cut only one log at a time.

WARNING: Support small logs on a saw horse or another log while bucking. Never allow another person to hold the log while cutting and never hold the log with your leg or foot.

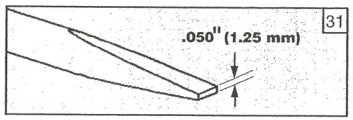
WARNING: Keep a clear cutting area. Make sure that no objects can contact the guide bar nose and chain during cutting, this can cause kickback (D, Fig. 62).



WARNING: During bucking operations always stand on the uphill side so that the cut-off section of the log can not roll over you.



WARNING: If saw becomes pinched or hung in a log, don't try to force it out. You can lose control of the saw resulting in injury and/or damage to the saw. Stop the saw, drive a wedge of plastic or wood into the cut until the saw can be removed easily (E, Fig. 63). Restart the saw and carefully reenter the cut. Do not attempt to restart your saw when it is pinched or hung in a log.



WARNING: Do not stand on the log being cut. Any portion can roll causing loss of footing and control. Do not cut in an area where logs, limbs, and roots are tangled. Drag the logs into a clear area before cutting by pulling out exposed and cleared logs first.

Bucking with a Wedge
If the wood diameter is large enough for you to insert a soft bucking wedge (E, Fig. 63) without touching the chain, you should use the wedge to hold the cut open to prevent pinching.

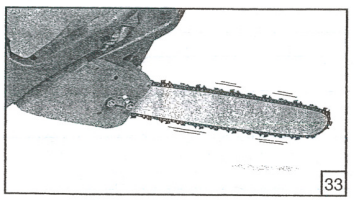
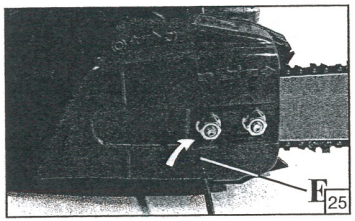
Tensión de la cadena



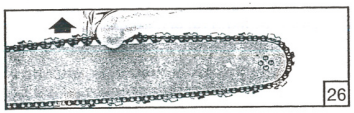
ADVERTENCIA: No toque nunca ni ajuste la cadena con el motor en marcha. Puesto que la cadena está muy afilada, utilice siempre guantes protectores cuando realice trabajos de mantenimiento en ella.

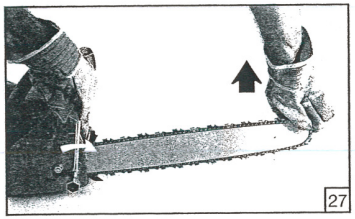
1. Pare el motor antes de ajustar la tensión de la cadena. Afloje ligeramente las tuercas de la barra guía, y gire el tornillo de tensión de la cadena en el sentido de las agujas del reloj para tensar la cadena. Consulte la sección correspondiente al montaje de la barra y la cadena. Vuelva a apretar las tuercas de la barra guía. La cadena en frío estará correctamente tensada cuando no esté floja en el lado inferior de la barra guía; la cadena estará ajustada, pero se podrá girar de forma manual sin agarrotarse.
   Con respecto a la cadena en caliente, consulte el elemento 3.
2. La cadena se deberá tensar de nuevo cuando las partes planas (A) de las lengüetas del eslabón de transmisión cuelguen más allá de la ranura de la barra. Consulte la Fig. 29.
3. Durante el funcionamiento normal de la motosierra, la temperatura de la cadena aumentará. Las lengüetas del eslabón de transmisión de una cadena en caliente correctamente tensada colgarán aproximadamente .050" (1.25 mm) más allá de la ranura de la barra. Consulte la Fig. 30. Como ayuda para determinar si la tensión de la cadena en caliente es correcta, se puede utilizar la punta de la llave de combinación (Fig. 31) como guía.

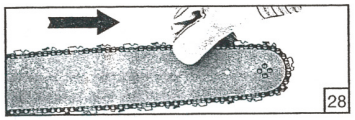
PRECAUCIÓN: Si la cadena se tensa en caliente, es posible que esté demasiado tensa al enfriarse. Compruebe la "tensión en frío" antes del siguiente uso.



PRECAUCIÓN: Si la cadena es nueva, se deberá volver a tensar con mayor frecuencia que una que se haya utilizado durante algún tiempo.



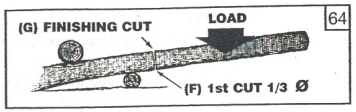




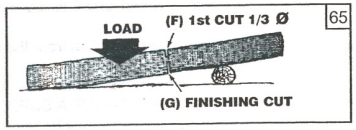
Rodaje de la cadena

Las cadenas nuevas se estiran, por lo que se deben tensar con frecuencia. Levante la cadena para sacarla de la ranura de la barra y lubrique dicha ranura con aceite adicional (consulte la Fig. 32). Coloque la motosierra sobre un trozo de cartón o madera contrachapada. Arranque la motosierra (consulte la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente al arranque del motor) y déjela en funcionamiento a una velocidad moderada durante un (1) minuto aproximadamente. Pare el motor. Compruebe que la bomba de aceite funciona correctamente. Si la bomba de aceite funciona correctamente, en el cartón debe haber un exceso de aceite procedente del giro de la cadena (consulte la Fig. 33). Ajuste la tensión de la cadena (consulte la sección de funcionamiento correspondiente a la tensión de la cadena). Arranque la motosierra de nuevo y haga unos cuantos cortes en un tronco para calentar la cadena. Pare el motor y ajuste de nuevo la cadena. Repita este proceso hasta que la cadena conserve el ajuste adecuado de tensión en caliente como se muestra en la Fig. 30 de la sección correspondiente a la tensión de la cadena. No toque nunca el suelo con la cadena.

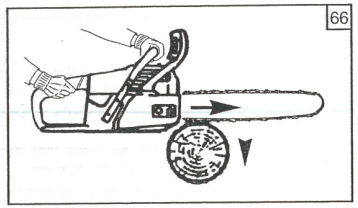
10. Tense la cadena girando el tornillo de tensión (E) en el sentido de las agujas del reloj, asegurándose de que la cadena se asienta en la ranura de la barra mientras se tensa (consulte la Fig. 25).
11. Levante la punta de la barra guía para comprobar si hay combadura (consulte la Fig. 26). Suelte la punta de la barra guía y gire el tornillo de tensión de la cadena (E) 1/2 vuelta en el sentido de las agujas del reloj. Repita este proceso hasta que la combadura desaparezca.
12. Mantenga levantada la punta de la barra guía y apriete las tuercas de la barra firmemente como se muestra en la Fig. 27.
13. La cadena estará correctamente tensada cuando no esté floja en el lado inferior de la barra guía; la cadena estará ajustada, pero se podrá girar de forma manual sin agarrotarse (consulte la Fig. 28). Asegúrese de que el freno de la cadena no está puesto.



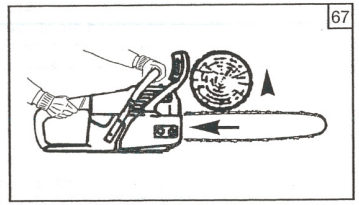
NOTA: La cadena no girará si está demasiado tensa. Afloje ligeramente las tuercas de la barra y gire el tornillo de ajuste 1/4 de vuelta en el sentido contrario a las agujas del reloj. Levante la punta de la barra guía y vuelva a apretar las tuercas de la barra.



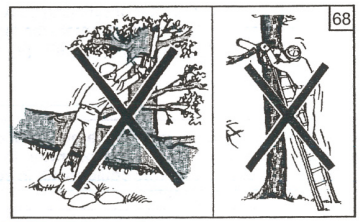
ADVERTENCIA: Compruebe la tensión de la cadena con frecuencia cuando utilice la motosierra. No toque nunca ni ajuste la cadena con el motor en marcha. Puesto que la cadena está muy afilada, utilice siempre guantes protectores cuando realice trabajos de mantenimiento en ella.



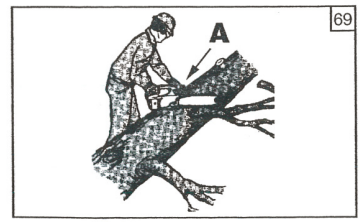
ADVERTENCIA: La cadena de repuesto debe contar con las mismas características de rebote o de menor rebote que la suministrada originalmente.



ADVERTENCIA: Si la motosierra se utiliza estando la cadena floja, ésta podría saltar de la barra guía y podrían producirse lesiones graves como resultado.



ADVERTENCIA: No ponga nunca la motosierra en marcha con la cubierta de la rueda dentada suelta.

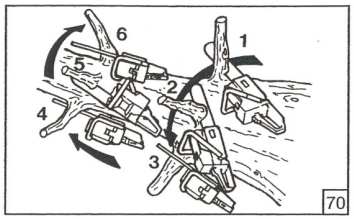


Logs Under Stress (Fig. 64-65)
Make the first bucking cut (F) 1/3 of the way through the log and finish with a 2/3 cut (G) on the opposite side. As the log is being cut, it will tend to bend. The saw can become pinched or hung in the log if you make the first cut deeper than 1/3 of the diameter of the log.
Give special attention to logs under stress to prevent the bar and chain from pinching.

Types of Cutting Used
Overbucking (Fig. 66)
Begin on the top side of the log with the bottom of the saw against the log; exert light pressure downward.

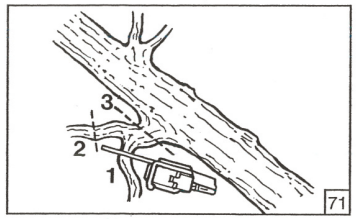
Underbucking (Fig. 67)
Begin on the under side of the log with the top of the saw against the log; exert light pressure upward. During underbucking, the saw will tend to push back at you. Be prepared for this reaction and hold the saw firmly to maintain control.

WARNING: Never turn saw upside down to undercut. The saw cannot be controlled in this position. Always make your first cut on the compression side of the log. The compression side of the log is where the pressure of the log's weight is concentrated.



Limbing and Pruning

WARNING: Be alert for and guard against kickback. Do not allow the moving chain to contact any other branches or objects at the nose of the guide bar when limbing or pruning. Allowing such contact can result in serious injury.



- Work slowly, keeping both hands on the saw with a firm and proper grip. Maintain secure footing and balance (Fig. 68).
- Keep the tree between you and the chain while limbing (A, Fig. 69). Cut from the side of the tree opposite the branch you are cutting.
- Do not cut from a ladder, this is extremely dangerous (Fig. 68). Leave this operation for professionals.
- Do not cut above chest height as a saw held higher is difficult to control against kickback.
- Be alert for springback. Watch out for branches that are bent or under pressure. Avoid being struck by the branch or the saw when the tension in the wood fibers is released.
- Keep a clear work area. Frequently clear branches out of the way to avoid tripping over them.

WARNING: Never climb into a tree to limb or prune. Do not stand on ladders, a log or in any position which can cause you to lose your balance or control of the saw.

71

72

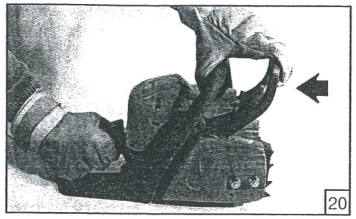
73

Limbing Operation (Fig. 70-71)

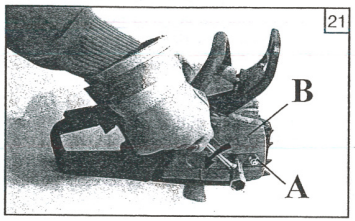
- Always limb a tree after it is cut down. Only then can limbing be done safely and properly.
- Leave the larger limbs underneath the felled tree to support the tree as you work.
- Start at the base of the felled tree and work toward the top, cutting branches and limbs. Remove small limbs with one cut.
- Keep the tree between you and the chain. Cut from the side of the tree opposite the branch you are cutting.
- Remove larger, supporting branches with the cutting techniques described in BUCKING WITHOUT A SUPPORT.
- Always use an overcut to cut small and freely hanging limbs. Undercutting could cause limbs to fall and pinch the saw.

Pruning Operation (Fig. 72)

- When pruning trees it is important not to make the flush cut next to the main limb or trunk until you have cut off the limb further out to reduce the weight. This prevents stripping the bark from the main member.
- Underbuck the branch 1/3 through for your first cut, your second cut should overbuck to drop the branch off.
- Now make your finishing cut smoothly and neatly against the main member so the bark will grow back to seal the wound.

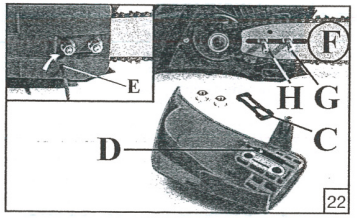


WARNING: If the limbs to be pruned are above chest height, hire a professional to perform the pruning.



Springpoles

A springpole (B, Fig. 73) is any log, branch, rooted stump, or sapling which is bent under tension by other wood so that it springs back if the wood holding it is cut or removed. On a fallen tree, a rooted stump has a high potential of springing back to the upright position during the bucking cut to separate the log from the stump. Watch out for springpoles. They are potentially dangerous.



WARNING: Springpoles are dangerous and could strike the operator, causing the operator to lose control of the chain saw. This could result in severe or fatal injury to the operator.

Montaje de la barra y la cadena

ADVERTENCIA: Compruebe la tensión de la cadena con frecuencia cuando utilice la motosierra. No toque nunca ni ajuste la cadena con el motor en marcha. Puesto que la cadena está muy afilada, utilice siempre guantes protectores cuando realice trabajos de mantenimiento en ella.

1 Compruebe que el freno de la cadena no está puesto tirando de la palanca del freno de la cadena/protector de manos hacia la empuñadura delantera como se muestra en la Fig. 20. Para obtener más información, consulte las secciones de seguridad y funcionamiento del freno de la cadena.
2. Extraiga las dos (2) tuercas de la barra (A, Fig. 21) y la cubierta del embrague (B).
3. Quite y deseche el separador de embalaje de plástico (C, Fig. 22) instalado en los espárragos en el lugar de la barra con fines de envío.
4. Ajuste el pasador de tensión de la cadena (D) por completo hacia la banda del freno girando el tornillo de tensión de la cadena (E) en el sentido contrario a las agujas del reloj, como se muestra en el recuadro Fig. 22.
5. La barra guía (F) contiene una ranura que se encaja sobre los espárragos de la barra (G). La barra guía contiene también dos orificios para pasador de tensión de la cadena (H) y dos orificios de lubricación, uno en cada lado. La barra es reversible y cualquiera de los orificios para pasador de tensión se puede utilizar con el pasador de tensión de la cadena.
6. Coloque la barra guía (F) en los espárragos (G) como se muestra en la Fig. 22.
7. Introduzca la punta de la barra guía (F) por el bucle de la cadena (H) como se muestra en la Fig. 23. Los cortadores de la parte superior de la barra guía deben quedar orientados hacia la parte delantera de la barra, en el sentido de giro de la cadena. Consulte el recuadro (M) de la Fig. 24.
8. Encaje la cadena (H) sobre la rueda dentada (I) y dentro de la ranura de la barra.

PRECAUCIÓN: Se pueden producir daños importantes en la rueda dentada, tambor del embrague, barra guía y cadena si la cadena no se asienta correctamente en la rueda dentada.

9. Vuelva a poner la cubierta del embrague (B). Gire el tornillo de tensión de la cadena (E) en el sentido de las agujas del reloj (como se muestra en la Fig. 25, página 86) hasta que el pasador de tensión de la cadena (D) encaje en su orificio (H). Instale las dos tuercas de la barra (A). Apriete las tuercas de forma manual únicamente. La barra se debe mover libremente para ajustar la tensión.

PRECAUCIÓN: Si no se asegura de que el pasador de tensión de la cadena está en su orificio, se producirán daños importantes en la motosierra al volver a montar la cubierta del embrague.

NOTA: Si la cubierta del embrague no se desliza libremente, compruebe que el freno de la cadena no está accionado. Para desacoplar el freno de la cadena con la cubierta del embrague extraída, agarre la cubierta del embrague como se muestra en la Fig. 20 y tire hacia atrás de la palanca del freno de la cadena/protector de manos.

ADVERTENCIA: Los ángulos derivados del cálculo de la parte 5.11 de ANSI B 175.1 – 2000 pueden no tener ninguna relación con el ángulo de giro de la barra de rebote real que se puede producir en situaciones de corte reales.
Además, las características diseñadas para reducir lesiones por rebote pueden perder algo de su efectividad si pierden su estado original, especialmente si no se han mantenido correctamente.
La conformidad con la parte 5.11 de ANSI B 175.1 – 2000 no significa automáticamente que en un rebote real la barra y la cadena vayan a girar un máximo de 45°.

Precauciones para reducir el riesgo de vibraciones

- La motosierra dispone de un sistema antivibración (AV); no lo modifique nunca.
- Utilice guantes y mantenga las manos calientes.
- Mantenga la cadena afilada y la sierra, incluido el sistema AV, bien mantenida. Si la cadena ha perdido brillo, el tiempo de corte aumentará, y las vibraciones que reciben las manos aumentarán al ejercer presión en ella para que entre en la madera.
- Agarre firmemente la unidad en todo momento, pero no apriete las empuñaduras con una presión constante y excesiva. Haga pausas con frecuencia. Todas las precauciones indicadas anteriormente no garantizan que no vaya a sufrir alguna dolencia por vibraciones en las manos o el síndrome de canal carpiano. Por tanto, los usuarios que utilicen la unidad de forma continua y regular deberán supervisar atentamente el estado de sus manos y dedos. Si aparece alguno de los síntomas indicados anteriormente, acuda inmediatamente a un médico.

Precauciones de mantenimiento

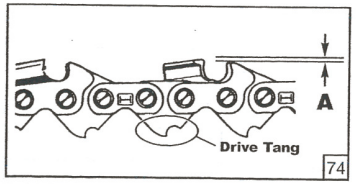
ADVERTENCIA: No utilice nunca una motosierra que esté dañada, ajustada incorrectamente o que no esté montada por completo y de forma segura.

- Asegúrese de que la cadena deja de moverse al soltar el activador de control de la aceleración. Si la cadena se mueve a velocidad de ralentí, es posible que sea necesario ajustar el carburador; consulte la sección de funcionamiento y ajuste del carburador. Si la cadena sigue moviéndose a velocidad de ralentí tras realizar el ajuste, póngase en contacto con un concesionario de servicio para que efectúe el ajuste y deje de utilizar la unidad hasta que se haya realizado la reparación correspondiente.

ADVERTENCIA: Todos los trabajos de revisión de la motosierra, que no sean los elementos especificados en las instrucciones de mantenimiento del manual del operador, los deberá realizar personal de servicio competente. (Si se utilizan herramientas inadecuadas para extraer el volante o el embrague, o si se utiliza una herramienta incorrecta para sostener el volante a fin de extraer el embrague, se podrían producir daños estructurales en el volante, lo cual podría provocar posteriormente que dicho volante reviente, dando como resultado lesiones graves.)

- No modifique nunca la motosierra de ninguna manera.
- Mantenga las empuñaduras secas, limpias y sin mezclas de combustible o aceite.

ADVERTENCIA: Utilice solamente los accesorios y las piezas de repuesto recomendadas.



- No toque nunca la cadena ni intente revisar la motosierra con el motor en marcha.
- No utilice nunca combustible para operaciones de limpieza.
- Guarde la motosierra en un lugar seco, sin tocar el suelo con la protección de la cadena puesta y los depósitos vacíos.
- Cuando finalice la vida útil de la motosierra, deséchela adecuadamente sin dañar el medioambiente; con esta finalidad, llévela al concesionario de su localidad para que la desechen de forma correcta.
- Sustituya inmediatamente los dispositivos de seguridad que estén rotos o dañados.

ADVERTENCIA: El amortiguador y otras piezas del motor (por ejemplo, las aletas del cilindro y la bujía) se calientan durante el funcionamiento y permanecen calientes algún tiempo después de parar el motor. Para reducir el riesgo de quemaduras, no toque el amortiguador ni otras piezas mientras estén calientes.

Chain Maintenance

Use only Dual Raker low-kickback chain on this saw. This fast-cutting chain will provide kickback reduction when properly maintained.

For smooth and fast cutting, raker chain needs to be maintained properly. The chain requires sharpening when the wood chips are small and powdery, the chain must be forced through the wood during cutting, or the chain cuts to one side. During maintenance of your chain, consider the following:

1. Improper filing angle of the side plate can increase the risk of a severe kickback.
2. Raker (depth gauge) clearance (A, Fig. 74): Too much increases the potential for kickback; not enough decreases cutting ability.
3. If cutter teeth have hit hard objects such as nails and stones, or have been abraded by mud or sand on the wood, have Servicing Dealer sharpen chain.
4. In rare instances drive tangs could flare resulting in chain not rotating freely. Replace chain if necessary.

NOTE: Inspect the rim sprocket for wear or damage when replacing the chain. If signs of wear or damage are present in the areas indicated in Fig. 75, have the rim sprocket replaced by a Servicing Dealer.

How to Sharpen the Cutters (Fig. 76)

Be careful to file all cutters to the specified angles and to the same length, as fast cutting can be obtained only when all cutters are uniform.

1. Wear gloves for protection. Tighten the chain tension enough that the chain does not wobble. Do all of your filing at the mid-point of the bar. See Operation-Chain Tension.
2. Use a 3/16" diameter round file and holder.
3. Keep the file level with the top plate of the tooth as shown in Fig. 77. Do not let the file dip or rock.
4. Using light but firm pressure, stroke towards the front corner of the tooth as shown in Fig. 78. Lift file away from the steel on each return stroke.
5 Put a few firm strokes on every tooth. File all left hand cutters (E, Fig. 79) in one direction. Then move to the other side and file the right hand cutters (F) in the opposite direction. Occasionally remove filings from the file with a wire brush.

CAUTION: Dull or improperly sharpened chain can cause excessive engine speed during cutting which may result in severe engine damage.

WARNING: It is absolutely essential to comply with the angles and dimensions specified below. If the saw chain is incorrectly sharpened – and in particular if the depth gauge is set too low – there is a risk of increased kickback of the chainsaw, with resulting risk of injury.
Failure to replace or repair damaged chain can cause serious injury.
The saw chain is very sharp, always wear protective gloves when performing maintenance to the chain.

ADVERTENCIA: NO GARANTIZAMOS QUE EL FRENO DE LA CADENA LE VAYA A PROTEGER EN EL CASO DE PRODUCIRSE UN REBOTE. TAMPOCO USTED DEBE ASUMIR QUE LE VAYA A PROTEGER. NO SE CONFÍE EN NINGUNO DE LOS DISPOSITIVOS INCORPORADOS EN LA MOTOSIERRA. DEBE UTILIZARLA CORRECTAMENTE Y CON CUIDADO PARA EVITAR REBOTES.

Barra guía de reducción de rebotes y cadena de bajo rebote

Las barras guía de reducción de rebotes y las cadenas de bajo rebote reducen la posibilidad de que se produzcan rebotes y su magnitud, y se recomienda utilizarlas. La motosierra dispone de una barra y cadena de bajo rebote de serie. Las reparaciones del freno de la cadena se deben realizar en un concesionario de servicio autorizado. Lleve la unidad al establecimiento de compra si la adquirió mediante un concesionario de servicio, o al concesionario de servicio autorizado más próximo.

ADVERTENCIA: El ángulo de rebote calculado (CKA) que se indica en la motosierra y en la siguiente tabla de CKA representa el ángulo de rebote que tendrán las combinaciones de barra y cadena según las pruebas realizadas de acuerdo con las normas CSA (Canadian Standards Association) y ANSI. Al adquirir una barra y cadena de repuesto, se deberán tener en cuenta los valores CKA más bajos. Los valores CKA más bajos representan ángulos más seguros para el usuario, mientras que los valores más altos indican un ángulo mayor y energías de rebote más altas. Los ángulos calculados que se representan indican el ángulo y la energía totales asociados sin activarse el freno de la cadena durante el rebote. El ángulo activado representa el momento de parada de la cadena en relación con el ángulo de activación del freno de la cadena y el ángulo de rebote resultante de la motosierra. En todos los casos, los valores CKA más bajos representan un entorno de funcionamiento más seguro para el usuario. Las siguientes combinaciones de cadena y barra guía cumplen los requisitos de rebote de las normas ANSI B175.1 al utilizarse en las motosierras indicadas en este manual. No se recomienda utilizar combinaciones de cadena y barra distintas de las indicadas y pueden no cumplir los requisitos de CKA según la norma.

ADVERTENCIA: No monte una guía curvada en ninguna motosierra Efco. El riesgo de rebote aumenta con una guía curvada al incrementarse el área de contacto de rebote.

Combinación recomendada de cadena y barra

Modelo	Longitud Barra	Oregon N° de pieza barra	Paso Cadena	Candidad Eslabón Unión	Oregon N° de pieza Cadena	CKA sin Freno de Cadena
MT 3500	14"	140RCEA041	3/8" x .050"	52	91 P - 52 E	MAX 45°
MT 3500	16"	160RCEA041	3/8" x .050"	57	91 P - 57 E	MAX 45°

- Sitúese ligeramente hacia el lado izquierdo de la motosierra para que su cuerpo no esté en línea directa con la cadena de corte.
- No eleve la motosierra. Podría perder el equilibrio y el control de la motosierra.
- No corte por encima de la altura de los hombros. Es difícil mantener el control de la motosierra por encima de la altura de los hombros.

Características de seguridad ante rebotes

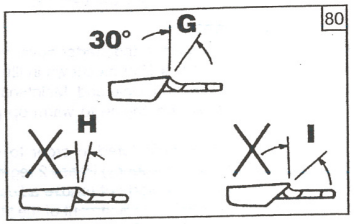
- La barra guía de reducción de rebotes se ha diseñado con una punta de radio pequeño que reduce la dimensión de la zona de peligro de rebote en la punta de la barra. Se ha demostrado que la barra guía de reducción de rebotes reduce significativamente el número y gravedad de los rebotes al someterla a pruebas de acuerdo con los requisitos de seguridad para motosierras de gasolina según lo establece la norma ANSI B175.1-2000.
- La cadena de bajo rebote se ha diseñado con un calibre de profundidades con contorno y un eslabón de protección que desvían la fuerza de rebote y permiten que la madera entre gradualmente en el cortador. La cadena de bajo rebote ha cumplido los requisitos de rendimiento ante rebotes al someterla a pruebas en una muestra representativa de motosierras con una cilindrada inferior a 3,8 pulgadas cúbicas según se especifica en la norma ANSI B175.1 - 2000.
- El protector delantero de manos se ha diseñado para reducir la posibilidad de que la mano entre en contacto con la cadena al deslizarse la mano por la empuñadura delantera.
- La posición de las empuñaduras delantera y trasera se ha diseñado con una distancia entre ellas y "en línea" la una con la otra. La posición desplegada y "en línea" de las manos que proporciona este diseño ofrece equilibrio y resistencia para controlar el giro de la motosierra hacia el operador en el caso de producirse rebote.

Freno de la cadena



Los frenos de la cadena están diseñados para detener rápidamente el giro de la cadena. Cuando la palanca del freno de la cadena/protector de manos se empuja hacia la barra, la cadena debe detenerse inmediatamente. El freno de la cadena no evita que se produzcan rebotes.
La posición de funcionamiento (A) y la posición de freno (B) del freno de la cadena se ilustran en la Fig. 19.
El freno de la cadena se debe limpiar y comprobar diariamente. Limpie el freno de la cadena según se indica en la sección de mantenimiento del freno de la cadena y compruébela como se especifica en la sección de funcionamiento de dicho freno.

> ⚠ ADVERTENCIA: Incluso con un mantenimiento adecuado, el funcionamiento correcto del freno de la cadena en el campo no se puede certificar.

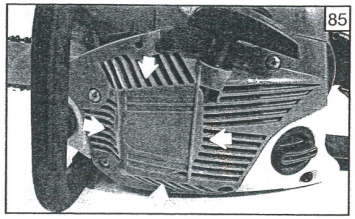
Top Plate Angle
File holders are marked with guide marks to align file properly to produce correct TOP PLATE ANGLE (Fig. 80).
G) CORRECT- 30°
H) LESS THAN 30° - For Cross Cutting.
I) MORE THAN 30°- Feathered Edge Dulls Quickly.

Side Plate Angle (Fig. 81)
J) CORRECT- 85° - 90°
Produced automatically if correct diameter file is used in file holder.
K) "HOOK"- "Grabs" and dulls quickly. Increases potential of KICKBACK.
Results from using a file with diameter too small, or file held too low.
L) BACKWARD SLOPE- Needs too much feed pressure, causes excessive wear to bar and chain. .
Results from using a file with diameter too large, or file held too high.

Depth Gauge Clearance
1. The depth gauge (M, Fig. 82) should be maintained at a clearance (N) between .020 (0.5 mm) and .024" (0.6 mm). Use a depth gauge tool for checking the depth gauge clearances.
2. Every time the chain is filed, check the depth gauge clearance.



Use a Flat File and a Depth Gauge Jointer to lower all gauges uniformly (Fig. 83).
P) FLAT FILE
Q) DEPTH GAUGE JOINTER
Depth gauge jointers available in .020" to .035" (0.5 mm to 0.9mm). After lowering each depth gauge, restore original shape by rounding the front (R). Be careful not to damage adjoining drive links with the edge of the file.

> ⚠ CAUTION: After sharpening, clean the chain thoroughly, remove filings or grinding dust – lubricate the chain thoroughly.

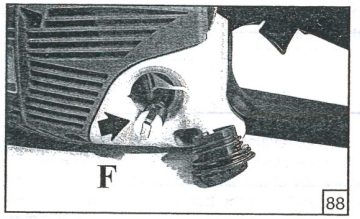
Guide Bar Maintenance

Every day of use, reverse the guide bar on the saw to distribute the wear for maximum bar life (see Fig. 84). The bar should be cleaned every day of use and checked for wear and damage. Feathering or burring of the bar rails is a normal process of bar wear. Such faults should be smoothed with a file or stone as soon as they occur.
A bar with any of the following faults should be replaced:
- Wear inside the bar rails which permits the chain to lay over sideways.
- Bent guide bar.
- Cracked or broken rails.
- Spread rails.



In addition, guide bars with a sprocket at their tip must be lubricated periodically with a grease syringe to extend the guide bar life.
Turn the guide bar and check that the lubrication holes (T) and chain groove (S) are free from impurities.

Carburetor Adjustment

Before adjusting the carburetor, clean the starter cover vents as shown in Illustration Fig. 85, and air filter as shown in Illustration Fig. 86, refer to Operation-Starting Unit and Maintenance-Air Filter Sections for details. Allow the engine to warm up prior to carburetor adjustment.

This engine is designed and manufactured in order to comply with EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) Phase 2 regulations. The carburetor is factory set and should not require adjusting.

The carburetor will permit only limited adjustment of the "L" (Low Jet) and "H" (High Jet) needles (Fig. 87). Any adjustment should be done by a Servicing Dealer.

Under no circumstances should the "L" (Low Jet) and "H" (High Jet) needles be forced outside the range of adjustment.

WARNING: Serious damage can occur to the engine if improper adjustments are made to the "L" and "H" needles. Do not force the "L" and "H" needles outside the adjustment range in such case the engine will not run in compliance with emissions regulations.

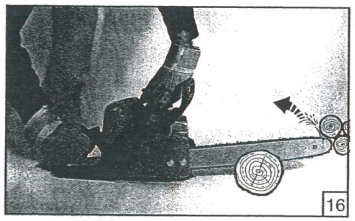
Idle Speed Adjustment

- If the engine starts, runs, and accelerates but will not idle; turn the idle speed screw "T" clockwise to increase idle speed (Fig. 87).
- If the chain turns at idle, turn the idle speed screw "T" counterclockwise to reduce the idle RPM and stop the chain movement. If the saw chain still moves at idle speed, contact a Servicing Dealer for adjustment and discontinue use until the repair is made.

Fuel Filter

Check the fuel filter (F, Fig. 88) periodically. Replace it if contaminated or damaged.

Air Filter



WARNING: Do not clean filter in gasoline or other flammable solvent to avoid creating a fire hazard or producing harmful evaporative emissions.

Unscrew the screws on the cover (G, Fig. 89), remove air filter cover (H) and check the air filter (I) each day. Clean with degreaser, wash with water and blow from a distance with compressed air. Reinstall the air filter. Place the air filter cover onto the chain saw. Tighten the air filter cover screws securely.

A used air filter can never be completely cleaned. It is advisable to replace your air filter with a new one after six month of operation.

CAUTION: Never run the engine without the air filter, serious damage could result.
Make sure the air filter is correctly placed in the air filter cover before reassembly.
Always replace damaged filters.
Do not clean a filter with a brush.

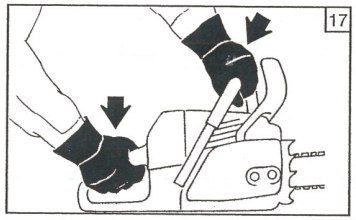
16

Evite el rebote por aprisionamiento:

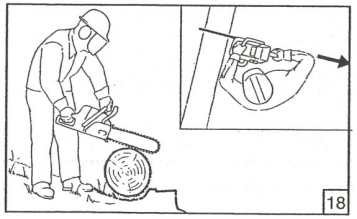
- Esté muy alerta ante situaciones u obstrucciones que puedan provocar que el material aprisione la parte superior de la cadena o que la pare.
- No corte más de un tronco cada vez.
- No tuerza la motosierra mientras retira la barra de un corte sesgado al tronzar.



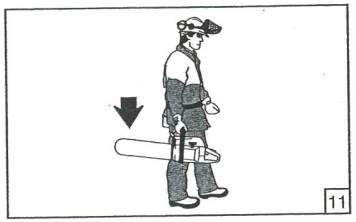
Evite los tirones:

- Comience siempre a cortar con el motor a velocidad máxima y el alojamiento de la sierra contra la madera.
- Utilice cuñas de plástico o de madera. No utilice nunca metal para mantener el corte abierto.

Reduzca el riesgo de rebotes



Reconozca que se pueden producir rebotes. Entendiendo básicamente el concepto de rebote, puede reducir el elemento sorpresa que contribuye a que se produzcan accidentes.



- No permita nunca que la cadena en movimiento entre en contacto con algún objeto en el extremo de la barra guía.
- Mantenga el lugar de trabajo libre de obstrucciones tales como otros árboles, ramas, rocas, vallas, tocones, etc. Elimine o evite las obstrucciones que la cadena pueda golpear mientras corta un determinado tronco o rama.
- Mantenga la cadena afilada y con la tensión adecuada. Si la cadena está floja o ha perdido brillo, la probabilidad de que se produzcan rebotes puede aumentar. Siga las instrucciones del fabricante relativas al mantenimiento y afilado de la cadena. Compruebe la tensión a intervalos regulares con el motor parado, nunca con el motor en marcha. Compruebe que las tuercas del freno de la cadena están firmemente apretadas tras tensar la cadena.
- Continúe con el proceso de corte a velocidad máxima. Si la cadena se mueve a una velocidad menor, existe un mayor riesgo de que se produzcan rebotes.
- Corte un tronco cada vez.
- Extreme la precaución cuando entre de nuevo en un corte anterior.
- No intente cortar comenzando con la punta de la barra (cortes por la punta).
- Tenga cuidado con los troncos que se mueven u otras fuerzas que puedan cerrar el corte y aprisionar la cadena o caer en ella.
- Utilice la barra guía de reducción de rebotes y la cadena de bajo rebote que se especifican para la motosierra.

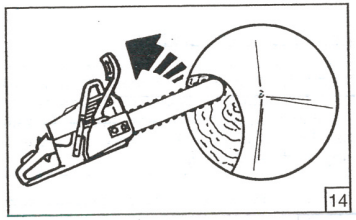
Mantenga el control (Fig.17-18)



- Mantenga la motosierra firmemente agarrada con ambas manos cuando el motor esté en marcha y no la suelte. Al agarrar la unidad firmemente, se reduce la posibilidad de que se produzcan rebotes y se mantiene el control de la motosierra. Mantenga los dedos de la mano izquierda alrededor de la empuñadura y el pulgar izquierdo debajo de la empuñadura delantera. Mantenga la mano derecha por completo alrededor de la empuñadura trasera ya sea diestro o zurdo. Mantenga el brazo izquierdo recto con el codo fijo.
- Ponga la mano izquierda en la empuñadura delantera de forma que quede en línea recta con la mano derecha en la empuñadura trasera cuando haga cortes de tronzado. No invierta nunca las posiciones de la mano derecha e izquierda para ningún tipo de corte.
- Mantenga su peso equitativamente equilibrado sobre ambos pies.

12

13

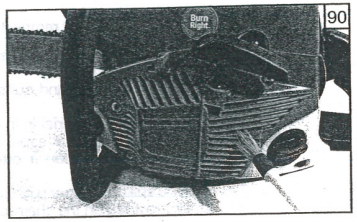
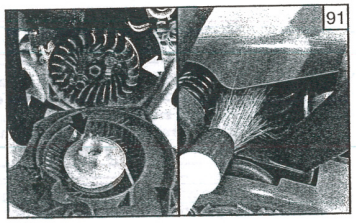
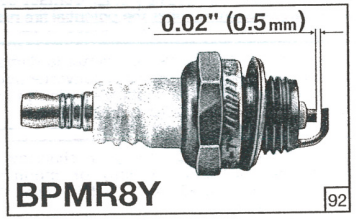
15



- Antes de arrancar el motor, compruebe que la cadena no toca ningún objeto. No arranque nunca la motosierra cuando la barra guía se encuentre en un corte.
- Apague el motor antes de dejar la motosierra en el suelo. No deje el motor en marcha desatendido.
- Como precaución de seguridad adicional, accione el freno de la cadena antes de dejar la motosierra en el suelo.
- Utilice la motosierra únicamente en lugares bien ventilados, y no la emplee en atmósferas explosivas o inflamables ni en entornos cerrados (Fig.12). Prestar atencion a la posibilidad de envelenamento de monoxido de carbono.
- No utilice la motosierra subido a una escalera o a un árbol. Corte siempre desde una posición segura y firme sobre el suelo.
- No ejerza presión sobre la motosierra al final del corte. Si ejerce presión, puede perder el control al finalizar el corte.
- No corte cerca de cables eléctricos.
- Mantenga las empuñaduras secas, limpias y sin mezclas de combustible o aceite.
- Cuando la motosierra esté en funcionamiento, agarre firmemente la empuñadura delantera con la mano izquierda y la empuñadura trasera con la mano derecha (Fig.10, página 79).
- Cuando corte una rama que esté bajo tensión, tenga cuidado con la recuperación elástica para no resultar golpeado cuando se libere la tensión existente en la fibra de madera.
- Tenga mucho cuidado cuando corte ramas pequeñas o arbustos que puedan bloquear la cadena, salir despedidos hacia usted o hacer que pierda el equilibrio.
- No corte nunca con la motosierra situada por encima de los hombros (Fig.13).
- No arranque nunca la motosierra sin estar puesta la funda de la cadena.



Precauciones contra el rebote



ADVERTENCIA: Evite los rebotes, que pueden producir lesiones graves. El rebote es el movimiento repentino hacia atrás, hacia arriba o hacia adelante de la barra guía que se produce cuando la cadena próxima al extremo superior de la barra guía entra en contacto con algún objeto, tal como una rama o un tronco, o cuando la madera se cierra y aprisiona la cadena en el corte. Si entra en contacto con un objeto extraño existente en la madera, es posible también que pierda el control de la motosierra.

- Se puede producir rebote giratorio cuando la cadena en movimiento entra en contacto con un objeto en el extremo superior de la barra guía. Este contacto puede provocar que la cadena se clave en el objeto, lo cual hace que la cadena se pare durante un instante. El resultado es una reacción de inversión muy rápida que hace que la barra guía se desplace bruscamente hacia arriba y atrás hacia el operador (Fig.14–15 y Fig. 16, página 81).
- Se puede producir rebote por aprisionamiento cuando la madera se cierra y aprisiona la cadena en movimiento en el corte a lo largo de la parte superior de la barra guía, y la cadena se para repentinamente. Esta parada repentina de la cadena hace que se invierta la fuerza utilizada para cortar madera y provoca que la motosierra se mueva en el sentido contrario al giro de la cadena. La motosierra se mueve directamente hacia atrás hacia el operador.
- Se pueden producir tirones si la cadena en movimiento entra en contacto con un objeto extraño de la madera en el corte a lo largo de la parte inferior de la barra guía, y la cadena se para repentinamente. Esta parada repentina tira de la motosierra hacia adelante, por lo que ésta se aleja del operador y éste puede perder fácilmente el control de la motosierra.

Starter Unit

Use a brush to keep the cooling vents of the starter assembly free and clean of debris (Fig. 90).

WARNING: The coil spring is under tension and could fly apart causing serious injuries. Never try to disassembly or modify it.

Engine

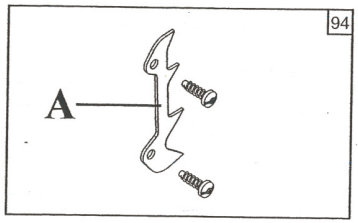
Clean the cylinder & flywheel fins with compressed air or a brush periodically (Fig. 91). Dangerous overheating of engine may occur due to impurities on the cylinder.

WARNING: Never run the saw without all the parts, including the drivecase cover and starting housing, securely in place. Because parts can fracture and pose a danger of thrown objects, leave repairs to the flywheel and clutch to trained Servicing Dealers.

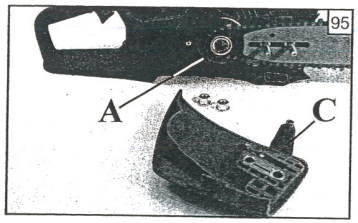
Spark Plug

This engine uses a NGK BPMR8Y with .02" (0.5 mm) electrode gap (Fig. 92). Use an exact replacement and replace every six months or more frequently, if necessary.

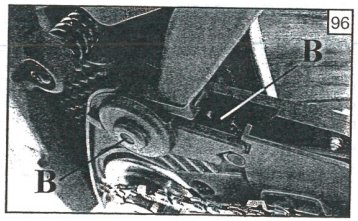
WARNING: Never test the ignition system with ignition wire connector removed from spark plug or with unseated spark plug, since uncontained sparking may cause a fire. A loose connection between spark plug terminal and ignition wire connector in the boot may create arcing that could ignite combustible fumes and cause a fire.



Use only resistor type spark plugs of the approved range.
Factors such as:
- too much oil in fuel mix;
- dirty air filter;
- unfavourable running conditions, e.g. operating at part load; may result in rapid deterioration of the spark plug.



Spark Arresting Muffler



The chainsaw is provided with a Spark Arrester System p.n. 50240109 (Fig. 93) complying with the requirements of SAE J335 standard; you can check the p.n. of the Spark Arrester System on the muffler itself.

WARNING: A faulty or altered spark arrester system screen can create a fire hazard.

Through normal use the screen can become dirty and should be inspected weekly and cleaned as required.
To clean:
- Allow the muffler to cool.
- Remove the spark arrester screen screw (B).
- Remove the spark arrester screen (A) p.n. 50240155.
- Clean and inspect the spark arrester screen. If the spark arrester screen is damaged, faulty or deteriorated, replace the screen.

- Reassemble components in reversed order of removal.

The Spark Arrester System needs a periodic and accurate maintenance and cleaning, in particular:
- check periodically the spark arrester screen and substitute it when holes, bends or deformations appear;
- check carefully if dust, debris or organic material is in contact with parts of the Spark Arrester System; check especially the gap between the muffler and the shield; clean it often with tools or shop air.

For compliance with the standard, one spiked bumper p.n. 50240110 (A, Fig. 94) have to be mounted, as provided on the chainsaw.

Muffler

WARNING – This muffler incorporates a catalytic converter, needed in order to ensure the engine complies with current emissions standards. Never attempt to modify or remove the catalytic converter: in doing so, you will be breaking the law.

WARNING – Mufflers with catalytic converters become very hot during operation, and retain heat for a long time after the engine has been stopped. This is the case even with the engine idling. Contact can burn the skin. Always remember the potential fire risk!

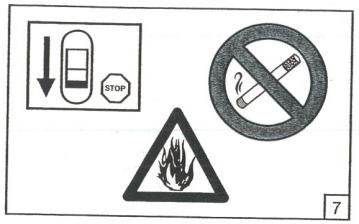
CAUTION – If the catalytic converter is damaged, it must be replaced. If the catalytic converter frequently becomes blocked, this could be an indication that the efficiency of the muffler is limited.

WARNING: Do not operate your chainsaw if the muffler is damaged, missing or modified. An improperly maintained muffler will increase the risk of fire and hearing loss.

Chain Brake

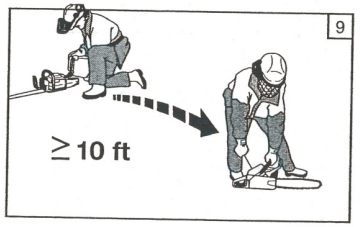
If the chain brake does not work properly, remove the clutch cover and clean the chain brake components. Check for wear on the brake band (A, Fig. 95) and replace if worn or deformed.

WARNING: If the brake band is worn too thin it may break when the chain brake is triggered. With a broken brake band, the chain brake will not stop the chain. The chain brake should be replaced by an authorized service dealer if any part is worn to less than 0.02" (0.6 mm) thick. Repairs on a chain brake should be made by an authorized service dealer. Take your unit to the place of purchase if purchased from a servicing dealer, or to the nearest authorized service dealer.

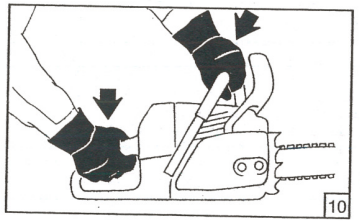


Always keep the chain brake mechanism clean and lightly lubricate the linkage (B, Fig. 96).

Always test the chain brake performance after servicing or cleaning per the Operation - Chain Brake Section.



WARNING: Check and, if damaged, replace the chain catcher / safety stop (C, Fig. 95).



Dulberg 004114

Manejo del combustible

ADVERTENCIA: La gasolina es un combustible muy inflamable. Tenga mucho cuidado cuando maneje mezclas de gasolina o combustible. No fume ni acerque llamas o fuego al combustible ni a la motosierra (Fig.7).

- Para reducir el riesgo de incendios y quemaduras, maneje el combustible con cuidado. Es altamente inflamable.
- Mezcle y guarde el combustible en un contenedor homologado para gasolina (Fig.8).
- Mezcle el combustible en el exterior donde no haya chispas ni llamas.
- Seleccione un terreno desnudo, pare el motor y deje que se enfríe antes de recargar combustible.
- Afloje lentamente el tapón del depósito de combustible para liberar la presión y para evitar que el combustible se escape alrededor del tapón.
- Apriete firmemente el tapón del depósito de combustible tras recargar combustible. Si el tapón del depósito no está correctamente apretado, las vibraciones de la unidad pueden provocar que el tapón se afloje o se salga y se derrame combustible.
- Elimine de la unidad el combustible que se haya derramado. Aléjese 10 pies (3 m) del lugar de recarga de combustible antes de arrancar el motor (Fig.9).
- No queme nunca el combustible que se haya derramado.
- No fume mientras maneje combustible ni mientras utilice la motosierra.
- Guarde el combustible en un lugar fresco, seco y bien ventilado.
- No sitúe nunca la motosierra en un lugar donde haya elementos combustibles, tales como hojas secas, paja, papel, etc.
- Guarde la unidad y el combustible en un lugar donde los vapores del combustible no puedan ponerse en contacto con chispas o llamas de calentadores de agua, motores o interruptores eléctricos, hornos, etc.
- No quite nunca el tapón del depósito con el motor en funcionamiento.
- No utilice nunca combustible para operaciones de limpieza.
- Tenga cuidado para que el combustible no entre en contacto con su ropa.

Funcionamiento y seguridad

ADVERTENCIA: Agarre siempre la motosierra con las dos manos cuando el motor esté en funcionamiento. Sujete firmemente la motosierra con los pulgares y los dedos alrededor de las empuñaduras (Fig.10).

- Mantenga todas las partes del cuerpo alejadas de la cadena cuando el motor esté en marcha.
- Transporte siempre la motosierra con el motor parado y el freno de la cadena accionado, la barra guía y la cadena hacia la parte trasera y el amortiguador alejado del cuerpo. Cuando transporte la motosierra, ponga la funda adecuada en la barra guía (Fig.11, página 80). Cuando la transporte en un vehículo, mantenga la cadena y la barra cubiertas con la protección para la cadena. Asegure correctamente la motosierra para evitar vuelcos, derramamiento de combustible y daños en dicha motosierra.
- Accione el freno de la cadena antes de cambiar de ubicación en la zona de corte.
- No utilice la motosierra con una mano. Si lo hace, usted, los ayudantes y los transeúntes pueden sufrir lesiones graves. La motosierra está diseñada para utilizarse con las dos manos.

MEMORANDUM

TO: File

FROM: Hans

DATE: April 13, 2012

SUBJECT: PAUL DULBERG - RECORDED PHONE STATEMENT FROM DEFENDANT, DAVID GAGNON

Recorded statement saved under "Dulberg file - starts 9:16 to 6:03.

I was turning _____ so that the back was going to cut and an easier go at it. Therefore, the branches that came down, I guess I can say "we" without saying "me" opted to stand the branches up and proceeded to cut. We done this many times, basically scalding off the small branches to make in size of 2 or 3 inch diameter pine needles left, nothing of real value to something to clean up. So, in doing so we had cut probably, I don't know, have a cord of little tiny pieces and had some left and we got to one where I didn't change position, and just so you it was the way that I was operating the saw and it checked, in other words, I wasn't free wheeling it out in front of me, always in position and we got to a branch that maybe we shouldn't have tried to cut, it was a little flimsy, so when I hit the crotch it flexed. At that time, yes I was handling the saw, but Paul at the same time and just because we know each other so well, I assumed it would be ok to support it. In doing so, I was already into the cut and the crotch just _____ and I just nicked his arm. So I am wondering at this point, I was there in the operating room I looked into his flesh I was there weeping with him not accepting negligence or responsibility in full but certainly feeling my friend's pain, calling my mother of course she is concerned, she provided for all of the information and such for his medical bills and whatever to be paid and paid for his medication that day for pain and actually gave him some money for, you know, doing the work. I think _____ and he worked and he probably had intentions of getting something and actually I am wondering what is the premise that he is suing on and to what extent if you can answer those questions for me because I have known Paul for a long time, ok, I am going to tell you something else, he helped me roof my roof this summer, he did renovation work for a guy over here in Twins Lakes and ironically we talked and you know and I'm like yeah I know that guy, his name is Mike Thomas and, I mean, what is the premise that is he suing on?

Hans - I would be happy to tell ya, I mean, I don't know if you know this, our lines are recorded, but I don't have to keep it if you don't want me to.

No, I don't care, everything I am saying is the truth and that's the way that I operate and I'm glad that it is recorded and that we are both verified and so continue.

Hans - I don't expect you to tell me anything but the truth anyway, so as long as that is a good deal then fine.

What he said, you know, is that, we can make a lot of money in this, and I said we? I said Paul, I'm still thinking about your arm and getting home and getting your meds and he say ah, we'll talk about it later. So, once again, per law I understand that he is entitled to something but there should be need why it should be hyped, pumped, exaggerated it and what I just told you was the truth, ok, as far as his injury my face was right in there, I mean he was all... and got pain medication and their____ filing away at his flesh, but when it came down to it, I'm not a doctor, but I can tell ya the facia is a white membrane underneath your, separates your muscle from your fatty tissue of your epidermis, that is how deep it went. Now, we are not to judge or to say how bad it is, but as far as I'm concerned and anyone there, he had 7 stitches I think, 2 inside and then 6 outside, it was a deep superficial gouge and cutting the nerves, tendons, muscle.

RE: Bankruptcy Estate of Paul Dulberg, Case No. 14-82297

Dear Ms. Heeg:

I received your recent correspondence. I am currently representing Paul Dulberg for injuries he suffered when his arm was struck by a chainsaw on June 28, 2011. We are in the midst of discovery. There is no scheduled trial date. At this point, the defense is taking a "no liability" position and therefore, the chance of recovery is uncertain. I believe liability will be extremely difficult. We have calculated Paul's medical expense related to the occurrence as exceeding $60,000. To my knowledge, most of the medical expense is outstanding. However, my belief is that any eventual recovery will be much less.

I will be pursuing settlement negotiations. I am not sure at this time how this case will end up. Happy to speak with you at your convenience.

Very truly yours,

HANS A. MAST

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on the "Name" line to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Note. If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and
3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below).

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 4.

Sign Here Signature of U.S. person ▶ Thomas J. Popovich Date ▶ 2-4-14

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

Re: Your File: Paul Dulberg v. David Gagnon, et al
My File: Bankruptcy Estate of Paul Dulberg; Case No. 14-82297

Dear Attorney Mast:

Thank you for the information you sent on January 23rd. At this point in time, I am unable to determine if my bankruptcy case may be an asset case. (If it might be an asset case, my Estate needs to retain you to continue the pending pi case -- assuming you can be and want to be retained.)

I received from you a list of medical bills (which bills total over $58,000.) In addition, I just received from Debtor's counsel a copy of a letter from US Phy, by which this creditor claims a medical lien.

Can you please advise:

1) What is the total amount of medical liens filed against the pending pi case? (I received a copy of a document, listing medical bills totaling $58,387.33, but I don't know if any of these bills are unpaid and, if so, if the unpaid providers timely filed a medical lien).

2) As to the medical lien apparently claimed by US Phy (via its letter of January 8, 2015 - a copy of which is attached for your ready reference) is this letter the first lien claim it made against the personal injury cause of action? If so, based upon the little research I've done, to date, I don't think this letter is sufficient to claim a lien -- post-bankruptcy filing -- on Debtor's right to recover in his pi case. (It may be that I need to file something in the bankruptcy case to cause this lien to be removed. Investigation continues.)

3) Once I know the above facts, I will need to know the potential range of recovery, and, assuming the potential recovery is large enough, if you want to be retained by the Bankruptcy Estate to continue to represent the Debtor/Estate in the pending personal injury cause of action.

I look forward to hearing from you again soon.

Very truly yours,

Findings

Mr. Dulberg was cut on the forearm (bottom) by a chainsaw while helping Mr. Gagnon limb a pine tree on the property of Mr. Gagnon's parents – Bill and Carol McGuire. While power tools such as this chainsaw make work more efficient, they carry hazards such as experienced in this incidence. Manufacturers and retailers of power equipment go to great lengths to reduce the dangers associated with such equipment through training and warnings listed in owners manuals. The chainsaw in this incident appears from a photograph to be a EFCO MT3500 purchased by the McGuires close to the date of the incident and probably was a new saw and probably equipped with an owners manual. Depositions from both Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg indicated that they received no chainsaw training. Therefore, the owners manual and their experience were the primary sources of instructions for the safe use of the saw.

Mr. Gagnon was the only operator of the saw and, therefore, was responsible for its use. While the saw was appropriate for the tasks involved, there are safe and unsafe activities that could have taken place. The owners manual shows 2 bar lengths for this saw – 14 and 16 inches. It appears that the McGuires chose the 16 inch bar. For the work involved, the shorter bars would have been safer. It appears that Mr. Gagnon performed some unsafe acts which lead to Mr. Dulberg being cut. Mr. and Mrs. McGuire who owned the saw apparently did not heed the warnings posted on page 2 of the owners manual which states "Allow persons only who understand this manual to operate your chainsaw."

Cuts with chainsaws cause more damage than those caused by power or hand tools having a thinner blade such as that of a table saw. Chainsaws are designed to take out a "kerf" of about ¼ -inch, so if someone is cut, the sides of the cut are separated by this gap (or kerf) removing a chunk of meat.

From the depositions, there is no mention of safety apparel – hard hat with ear and eye protection, safety chaps or pants nor safety gloves. (See page 7 of the owners manual for proper safety apparel.)

Mr. Gagnon and the McGuire's goal was to remove a tall pine tree (40 – 50 feet in height) in their yard without damaging their buildings. From depositions, Mr. Gagnon chose to delimb this tree as it stood in a vertical position. According to Mr. Dulberg, Mr. Gagnon did this by climbing and cutting off limbs as he climbed the tree using limb stubs as a ladder where he placed his feet. In the owners manual on page 9, it tells to never cut limbs from a ladder or a tree and always cut from a firm foundation or platform. Not having seen the exact circumstances, it cannot be stated unequivocally, but my recommendations would have been to fell the tree first before trying to remove any limbs higher than could be reached safely from the ground. Once the tree has been felled on the ground the secondary limbs could have been removed while the primary limbs were still attached to the main bole. Bucking the primary limbs into firewood lengths could also be done in a safer fashion with them attached to the bole. Doing the work in this fashion would have eliminated the conditions of where Mr. Dulberg was cut. From Mr. Gagnon's deposition, there was room to fell the pine tree with its described height.

The EFCO MT3500 has a number of features designed to operate it safely. The handle where the accelerator trigger is located has a throttle trigger lockout device that must be depressed before the engine can accelerate which means that Mr. Gagnon had a tight control on the trigger handle when the saw accelerated before cutting Mr. Dulberg.

Next, there was no mention of the chain brake being used. The MT3500 has a lever mounted just forward of the front handle. This lever serves to stop and lock the cutting chain movement when pushed forward; when in the rear position, the chain travels freely on the bar. On page 8 of the owners manual, it is recommended that the chain brake be set whenever the operator moves and the bar should be facing to the rear of the direction of travel. This applies directly to this incident. If Mr. Gagnon had set his chain brake and put the bar in a rearward position as he finished cutting the last secondary limb, Mr. Dulberg would not have been cut.

Next, the MT3500 comes with a saw chain designed to reduce kickback. Kickback is a violent upward action of a chainsaw bar when the chain on the upper quadrant of the bar's tip comes in contact with an object. While this chain does not completely eliminate kickback, it helps. It is assume here that the chain supplied by the manufacturer had not been replaced.

Page 7 of the owners manual recommends that other people be kept at least 35 feet from someone operating a chainsaw. This is because the chainsaw operator should be focusing his attention on his task, not bystanders. Chainsaws are noisy and anyone around them should be wearing ear protection. It is recommended that bright clothing be worn by all bystanders to help operators see people who might inadvertently move into the danger zones. The operator is the person in control of his saw and responsible for whatever results from his cutting. When trees are being felled bystanders should be 2 tree heights away from the chainsaw operator. If this rule had been followed, Mr. Dulberg would not have been cut.

Page 7 of the owners manual has some additional recommendations that might apply to this incident. Cutting with chainsaws is fatiguing even for professional sawyers who use their saws everyday. For the occasional operator, chainsaw work can be very exhaustive. In this incident, Mr. Gagnon not only used a chainsaw which he was not accustomed to using one, but he also climbed a tree and delimbed it as he climbed. By the time Mr. Gagnon stop limbing and started removing secondary limbs from the primary limbs, he must have been very fatigued even with frequent breaks as described by Mr. Dulberg. The warning of the owners manual not to cut when fatigued is very important in that fatigue impairs judgment, reduces response time and probably impairs reflexive actions. Simply put, we make mistakes when we are tired.

Another occurrence of this incident may have been a loose chain. New saw chains stretch when first used. This saw was probably new; this may have been its first application. The owners manual discussed how to tension the chain on page 17 and describes proper break-in of the chain. The chain should have been tightened after the engine had become warm and later after some use. A loose chain might jump off the bar. Pertinent to this incident was that a loose chain will not decelerate as fast as a properly tightened one. Without the chain brake engaged, the chain continues to travel along the bar until it naturally comes to a stop. Mr. Dulberg said he tried to move away from the saw chain put could not escape its travel path. With a properly tensioned chain, it may have stopped before contacting his arm.

RE:	DULBERG, PAUL
DOB:	03/19/1970
Case/File No.:	0245281968.1 SKO
Location:	Illinois Bone and Joint Institute, LLC
Patient ID:	P1510776

Dear Mr. Accardo:

I was asked to perform an independent medical evaluation on Mr. Dulberg on October 4, 2016. This examination took place in my office in Glenview, Illinois.

As part of this independent medical evaluation, Mr. Dulberg's identifying documentation was obtained, xeroxed, and placed into the medical records. The information from these documents appeared to corroborate with his appropriate information.

I explained to Mr. Dulberg, with his mother Barbara as well as his attorney Randy present, the purpose of the independent medical evaluation as well as the fact that no patient-physician relationship was established with him during today's visit. Additionally, I explained to them that no treatment, outcomes or diagnoses would be discussed with him during this evaluation.

All opinions expressed in this report are made to a reasonable degree of medical and surgical certainty as a board certified orthopedic surgeon with a certificate of added qualification in hand and upper extremity surgery.

I spent 65 minutes with Mr. Dulberg in face-to-face time today obtaining a history and performing a physical examination.

HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg is a 46-year-old right-hand dominant gentleman who previously worked in graphic design who is here for evaluation of his right upper extremity. He states that he had no symptoms referable to his right upper extremity prior to an injury that occurred in June 2011. He states he is not sure of the exact date, but on the date in question he was holding a tree branch at his neighbor's house to help David, his neighbor's son, cut the tree branch with a chainsaw. He stated he was holding a pine tree branch, which was a few inches thick, still attached to the tree and while David was cutting the branch, he inadvertently cut Mr. Dulberg's right forearm. Mr. Dulberg went to NIMC ER where the wound was irrigated and sutured. He had radiographs there which showed no fractures. He followed-up with his primary care physician, Dr. Sek, who removed the sutures two weeks later. Mr. Dulberg noticed significant pain in his forearm after the injury. Due to persistent symptoms, Dr. Sek referred him to see Dr. Levin, who Mr. Dulberg states is a neurologist, who performed a nerve conduction study and Mr. Dulberg was told the study was normal he had no nerve injury, but was told that the superficial branches of the nerves were severed. Due to ongoing significant pain, he was referred to a hand specialist. He initially saw a hand specialist, although he is not sure of the name but per the medical records that I reviewed was Dr. Talerico, who referred him for occupational therapy. He states that he performed occupational therapy for multiple months which provided him with no benefit. He states that he was still having significant problems with his right forearm and hand and so he returned to see Dr. Levin. Dr. Levin referred him for a second opinion to see Dr. Sagerman in 2012, although he is not sure of the date. Dr. Sagerman prescribed more occupational therapy, which he states was "somewhat helpful". Dr. Sagerman also repeated the nerve studies as he stated the initial nerve study was not complete. Mr. Dulberg does not remember the date of the repeat nerve studies. Subsequently, he followed-up with. Sagerman but is not sure of the results of this nerve study, but thereafter Dr. Sagerman suggested exploring the nerve. He wanted to think about this and returned a month later after discussing this with Dr. Sek and elected to undergo surgery. He underwent surgery by Dr. Sagerman in June or July 2012 whereby he states he underwent a cubital tunnel release, and was told that the "nerve was okay." He also underwent exploration of the ulnar nerve in the forearm and tells me that Dr. Sagerman told him "this was the most scarred tissue, I have ever seen." (This is interesting as the MRI was normal and the operative report states that no scar was noted around the nerve and the muscle belly that covers the nerve was pristine only with sutures in the fascia covering the muscle). He was then enrolled in more occupational therapy, which he did for another two months. He states that this helped his forearm temporarily. He followed up with Dr. Sagerman and ultimately plateaued. His complaint at that point as well as prior to the surgery was numbness and tingling in his fourth and fifth finger as well as pain and spasms in his left forearm. Due to a plateau in his improvement after surgery, Dr. Sagerman referred him to Dr. Kujawa. Mr. Dulberg states that he was referred for "cramping" and "spasms of the muscles in the forearm." Dr. Kujawa has treated him from after this surgery until the present time. Mr. Dulberg states that Dr. Kujawa tied injecting Botox in the muscles of the forearm twice. The first time he states it provided him with no benefit and the second time he states that the muscles in his forearm got significantly weaker, which he states Dr. Kujawa confirmed that the Botox was in the correct area; however, besides having temporary weakness in the arm, did not change the cramps and spasms that he was complaining of at that time. He states that both Botox injections were performed within a year of his surgery. He has continued to follow up with Dr. Kujawa who started him on Gabapentin. He states that the Gabapentin has helped the smaller and minor cramps, spasms and pain in his forearm; however, the larger and more significant cramps and spasms in the forearm have not been affected by the Gabapentin. He sees Dr. Kujawa every six months. He did follow up to see Dr. Sagerman for left lateral epicondylitis in 2012, who performed a cortisone injection into the elbow, which cured this problem. Of note, Mr. Dulberg had previously seen Dr. Sagerman in early 2000 for "pain in the left elbow" as well as "numbness and tingling in the fingers." He underwent a cubital tunnel release on the left at that time, which helped tremendously. He currently has no similar symptoms in the left upper extremity

I asked Mr. Dulberg about a motor vehicle accident in early 2000 in which he was involved. He states he sustained a whiplash injury and he hit his left elbow against the inside of the car and developed pain in the left elbow and numbness in the fingers. He was diagnosed with left cubital tunnel syndrome. He had nerve studies and a year later underwent a cubital tunnel release. He was also diagnosed with degenerative disk disease in his cervical spine after the motor vehicle accident affecting him from C3 to C7. He takes occasional Naproxen for his neck, which he states helps somewhat. He is not sure whether the Naproxen really helps his right arm.

Mr. Dulberg states that he is currently able to drive, although he has to drive with his right hand at the 6 o'clock position as when he holds the steering wheel at the 10 or 12 o'clock position, he develops spasms in his forearm. He states any vibration causes spasming in his right forearm.

CURRENT COMPLAINTS WITH REGARDS TO THE RIGHT UPPER EXTREMITY:

I asked Mr. Dulberg to list all complaints referable to his right arm:

Mr. Dulberg's primary complaint is that he describes "cramps" in the forearm. He states the cramps happen at least 12 times a day. He states they frequently happen with no activities. He states the cramps last a few seconds to a few minutes. Thereafter, he notices that the fingers are weak and he frequently drops objects due to the cramps. He does not describe any finger spasms. He states that activities exacerbate the frequency and severity of the cramps "a lot." He occasionally wakes up with these symptoms at night, which he states is maybe once a week. He states the cramping is his biggest problem subsequent to the injury. He states the cramps began within six months of the injury. He states he had "a lot going on at that time" and he had to figure out what was causing his problem. When asked specifically, Mr. Dulberg states that the acute pain that he had in the forearm immediately after the injury is gone.

Mr. Dulberg's second complaint with the right arm is that he has occasional tingling in the fifth finger. It bothers him once or hen he develops these symptoms they last for a few seconds. It does not wake hir

He also describes burning in and is unpredictable, similar to the tingling in the small finger. Wh the palm begins to burn. The duration of the palmar symptoms are t. g.

He rates his pain currently as 0/10, bu urt, and rates the cramping as a 7-10/10. The pain from the cramps lasts a few secon tes.

OCCUPATION HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg states that he has worked as a graphic designer since he was 16 years old. Subsequent to his right forearm injury, he states that he was unable to work. He tried returning to graphic design 2 months after the injury, but states that he could not type because he would develop the forearm cramps. He states any activity whether it be typing or mousing for any period of time whether it be minutes or hours, would increase his symptoms. He has no symptoms when he drives as he has modified where he grasps the steering column.

HOBBIES:
Mr. Dulberg states that he previously would fish, drive motorcycles and ATVs, canoe, camp and bicycle. He states he cannot do any of these activities as his right forearm cramps. He tried bicycling after the surgery, but he could not hold onto the handlebars without cramping. His new hobby includes maintaining a home fish aquarium. He states he is able to change the water without difficulty but his friend Mike helps him with the maintenance.

PAST MEDICAL AND SURGICAL HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg states that he has no medical problems. He states he has no history of diabetes or thyroid disorder. He has no history of arthritis or inflammatory arthropathy; specifically, no history of rheumatoid arthritis, gout, pseudogout, psoriasis, or colitis. He has no history of fibromyalgia. He states that he was diagnosed with anxiety and depression a year after the accident, but takes no medication for this. He does not see a psychologist.

Mr. Dulberg's only medication is Gabapentin.

Mr. Dulberg's surgeries include the right forearm wound closure in the emergency room after his right forearm chainsaw injury as well as the subsequent cubital tunnel release and ulnar nerve exploration in the right forearm. He also had a left cubital tunnel release with anterior transposition of the nerve in early 2000s.

Mr. Dulberg denies drug allergies. He has never had a bone density study and he does not have sleep apnea.

SOCIAL HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg smokes currently 10 cigarettes a day, but previously a pack a day, since he was 18 years old. He does not consume alcohol.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION:
On examination today, Mr. Dulberg is noted to be 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds. He is in no distress today and has normal affect. He is alert and oriented. He is afebrile. He demonstrates no suspicious pain behavioral characteristics.

With regards to his right upper extremity, he is able to remove his sweater, albeit mostly using his left arm. After the examination when he put his sweater on, he was able to pull out the sleeves using his right hand, manipulating the sweeter and sleeves using his right hand normally. He holds the hand in a normal position, although the small finger is in a constantly abducted position. On inspecting of his right forearm and hand, he does have a transverse laceration in the mid forearm measuring 6 cm. The incision is healed and is stable and supple. He also has a longitudinal incision, from his surgery, over the ulnar forearm, which measures 6 cm long. This incision is healed, stable, supple and asymptomatic. He also has an incision posterior to the medial epicondyle measuring 5.5 cm, which is healed, stable, supple and asymptomatic.

With regards to his right hand, as mentioned, he holds the small finger in an abducted position. I can passively adduct the finger to sit adjacent to the fourth finger, but he cannot actively maintain this position of the small finger. He flexes the thumb normally and extends it normally. He actively flexes the index, middle and ring finger to the palm, but with active composite flexion, he lacks about 3 cm of tip to palm distance of the small finger. His hand shakes when he flexes the fingers. Am able to passively flex his small finger to his palm, which he is then able to maintain in this position, which is concerning for symptom magnification as this implies subjective voluntary manipulation. He expresses that pain does not limit his inability to flex the small finger. After performing repetitive active and passive flexion and extension motions of all fingers, he was then able to flex his small finger to his palm with 5/5 strength with no pain. He extends all fingers to neutral with robust extensor tone in the MP, PIP, and DIP joints of all digits including the thumb. He has no evidence of flexor or extensor tenosynovitis of his fingers. He has no triggering or locking of the digits. He has no trophic changes. His hair and nail growth is normal in all digits. Subjectively, he states that he is numb in the small finger and half the ring finger to touch.

With regards to his right wrist, he extends his wrist normally to 60 degrees with 5/5 strength and flexes to 55 degrees with 5/5 strength, but complains of some forearm discomfort diffusely but not localized to any specific aspect of his forearm. His wrist motion parameters are symmetric. He has no pain with radial and ulnar deviation of the wrist. His passive forearm rotation is to 90 degrees of pronation and supination respectively without pain or crepitus and he actively pronates to 90 degrees with 5/5 strength without pain and actively supinates to 90 degrees with 5/5 strength with pain around the laceration over the mid medial forearm; again concerning for non-organic pathology as his supinator muscle is on the radial side (opposite to where he has pain) of his proximal forearm and he had no pain with passive pronation or supination. He has no intercarpal laxity on stress testing. He has no pain over the basilar joint of his thumb, with a negative grind and distraction test. He has a negative Finkelstein test. He has no instability of the first CMC joint. His ulna is stable and reduced. He has no ulnar-sided wrist pain. He is not tender over the radiocarpal or ulnocarpal joint.

With regards to his forearm, as mentioned, he has 2 incisions over the mid forearm, one transverse and one longitudinal as described above. The incisions are all healed and asymptomatic. He has no induration or tethering of the skin over the muscles at the site of the laceration or incision. His muscle bulk appears to be intact and appropriate. He is not tender to palpation around the muscles of the medial forearm. He is not tender to palpation over the tendons in the distal forearm or the muscles in the distal, middle, or proximal forearm ulnarly, or radially, volarly or dorsally. He is able to make a full fist, now recruiting all fingers, with good strength. His profundus tendons function normally to each finger when tested individually. His sublimis function, when tested independently, activate normally including to the small finger albeit with some discomfort in his forearm. He has no gross atrophy of the muscles in his forearm.

With regards to his elbow, he has 5.5cm incision posterior to the medial epicondyle, which is healed, stable, supple and asymptomatic. He has full elbow flexion and extension, which is symmetric and asymptomatic without crepitus. He has full forearm rotation as mentioned. He has no evidence of medial or lateral epicondylitis to palpation or with provocative testing. He has no instability of the elbow to varus or valgus stress at 30 and 60 degrees of flexion. He demonstrates no posterolateral rotatory insufficiency of the elbow to stress.

With regards to the peripheral nervous system of his right upper extremity, as mentioned, he states he has subjectively numbness in the small in ulnar half of the ring finger. His active motion was as mentioned limited in the small finger at times, but at times he had full active flexion of all fingers. With regards to the median nerve, he palmarly abducts his thumb with normal strength. Sensation was normal in the digits innervated by the median nerve. He has a negative Tinel over the carpal tunnel, and a negative wrist compression test. With regards to the ulnar nerve, he notes the aforementioned numbness. He has normal sensation over the dorsal radial and dorsal ulnar aspect of the wrist. He has normal sensation over the forearm radially and ulnarly. He was able to activate his first dorsal interosseous normally, and he abducts and adducts the fingers albeit with shaking of the hand and fingers and variable strength with abduction and adduction. At times he could abduct normally and at times he was extremely weak and this waxed and waned throughout the examination. He does hold the small finger in an abducted position, which can passively be placed back at the side of the ring finger, but then automatically assumes an abducted position. His extensor tendon functions normally and does not subluxate over the MP joint with active or passive flexion of the MP joint. He has no triggering in the small finger. He has a negative Tinel over the Guyon's canal. He has normal pulses. He has no splinter hemorrhages. He has no masses palpable around the ulnar artery at Guyon's canal. He has a positive Tinel from 2 inches proximal to the medial epicondyle to 4 inches distal to the medial epicondyle radiating into the fourth and fifth fingers. Tinel over the forearm laceration elicit only local tingling that did not extend into the fourth and fifth fingers. Elbow flexion test elicits increased numbness and tingling in the fourth and fifth fingers. He has no instability of the ulnar nerve with elbow flexion and extension. His flexor pronator muscle bulk is asymptomatic with normal strength and without pain when stressed or with gentle and deep palpation.

Cross sectional area was measured at the level of his wrist, his mid forearm, and his proximal forearm. The values obtained at all levels were symmetric to within 1mm.

Grip strength using a Jamar dynamometer in position three on the right dominant side elicited 98 pounds of strength without pain and 80 pounds of strength without pain. On the left side, he was able to elicit 115 and 122 pounds of strength without pain. Performing rapid exchange grip strength testing, 4 times in each upper extremity, elicited up to 85 pounds of strength on the right side and 109 pounds of strength on the left side. He denied any pain or symptoms of cramping or spasming during grip despite performing the aforementioned gripping 6 times on each side.

Two-point discrimination measured with a discriminator on the right side elicited 5 mm two-point discrimination on the radial and ulnar aspect of the thumb, index, middle, and ring finger. In the small finger, he had 5 mm 2-point discrimination on the radial aspect and 6 mm on the ulnar aspect.

With regards to the left side, he has 6 cm incision over the medial elbow posterior to the medial epicondyle, which is healed and is stable and asymptomatic. He has full elbow flexion, extension, full forearm rotation. He has normal sensation in all digits. His median, and ulnar nerve motor and sensory function in his hand is normal. He has negative Tinel's over the ulnar nerve at the cubital tunnel or over the transposed ulnar nerve. He has a negative elbow flexion test.

QuickDASH score completed by Mr. Dulberg today elicited a score of 38. He completed all 11 items. Given his physical examination, I was quite surprised by high QuickDASH score. I therefore asked him about each of the items. He states he cannot open a jar with his right hand because he develops cramping and he has weakness when he twists the lid of a jar. He states that he develops cramping within seconds of twisting the jar. He states he cannot do household chores or carry a shopping bag for the same reason. He stated that he had severe difficulty washing his back, scored at 4/5, and when I asked him about this, he states that he had made an error and in fact he had no difficulty with this activity. He also stated severe difficulty when using a knife to cut food or perform any recreational activities. He notices severe difficulty with most activities throughout the week and noted that tingling in his arm was a moderate problem. He stated he had mild difficulty in the last week sleeping at night.

MEDICAL RECORD REVIEW:
As part of this independent medical evaluation, I was forwarded about 8 inches of medical records to review. The medical records that were forwarded to me for review included the following:

1. Medical records from Centegra Northern Illinois Medical Center.
2. Medical records from Moraine Emergency Physicians.
3. Medical records from Open Advanced MRI of Round Lake.
4. Medical records from Associates of Neurology.
5. Medical records from McHenry Radiologists imaging.
6. Medical records from Neuroscience Institute.

7. Medical records from Hand Surgery Associates.
8. Medical records from Alexian Brothers.
9. Medical records from MidAmerica Hand to Shoulder Clinic.
10. Deposition transcript of Mr. Dulberg, Dr. Talerico, Dr. Levin, Dr. Ford, Dr. Sagerman and Dr. Kujawa as well as the plaintiff's answers to all the questions.

NIMC:
According to the medical records from Centegra Northern Illinois Medical Center, Mr. Dulberg was seen in the emergency room on June 28, 2011. According to the emergency room admission assessment he was seen stating that he had a chain saw injury to the right arm 15 minutes ago and he was feeling lightheaded. He is noted to smoke a pack a day. He is alert and oriented x3. He was accompanied by a coworker with the laceration by chainsaw to the right forearm. He had radiographs, which showed no bony abnormalities other than a soft tissue injury. The wound was irrigated and cleaned and sutured. He had 3 subcutaneous stitches placed of 4-0 Vicryl and 11 4-0 Prolene sutures placed in the skin. He was given discharge instructions for follow-up. He was discharged home.

According to the radiologist's report of radiographs performed of the right forearm dated June 28, 2011. The findings were dictated as two views of the right forearm, which demonstrated a deep laceration on the ventral aspect of the mid forearm, best visualized on the lateral view. No fractures or radiopaque foreign body is identified.

According to the Moraine emergency room physician records, Mr. Dulberg was seen on November 11, 2005 for right foot injury. He states he was fighting with home invaders at that time.

He was seen again on June 28, 2011 for the aforementioned chainsaw injury, which has previously been described above.

Dr. Talerico:
According to the medical records from MidAmerica Hand to Shoulder, Mr. Dulberg was seen by Dr. Talerico on December 2, 2011. His history is a 41-year-old male, right hand dominant, referred by Dr. Levin, MD, neurologist, for evaluation of an injury sustained to the right medial forearm in June 2011. He was using a chainsaw when he accidentally struck the volar medial aspect of his right forearm in roughly the mid forearm range with a chain saw. He had a large open wound down to muscle. He was seen in the emergency department where the wound and muscle were sewn together and the skin was closed. He followed up with his PCP and was noted to have persistent pain, which he describes as intermittent and shooting in character radiating from the laceration site. He occasionally has intermittent numbness and tingling in the ring and small finger. He reports grip weakness and no endurance with wrist flexion and gripping. He has not had therapy. He had nerve studies performed by Dr. Levin in August 2011, which per the patient, were normal. Did not have the study available. He is not working, but he is a graphic designer by training. He uses a computer mouse for 20 minutes causing significant forearm pain. He previously had an ulnar nerve transposition on the left side. He is single. Smokes everyday. He has a family history of diabetes. ROS negative. Examination showed him in no distress. Examination of the right upper extremity reveals his elbow has normal, painless range of motion. He has no focal tenderness to palpation. His collateral ligaments are intact. Forearm compartments are soft. He has a well-healed transverse laceration at the volar medial forearm level. There is no erythema, drainage, or fluctuance at the level of the laceration. He has no tenderness to palpation. He has some apparent muscle incongruity. Distally, his hand demonstrates no atrophy. He has 5/5 intrinsic strength, 5/5 APB strength. He can make a full fist with full extension of all digits. He does not demonstrate a clawed position. He has a negative Froment's sign. He has a positive Wartenberg's sign. Wrist flexion and extension 5/5 strength. He has a palpable FCU and ECU tendon at the level of the wrist. He has appropriate tension. No radiographs performed. Dr. Talerico wanted to get the nerve studies. His complaints appear to be "likely muscular origin." He may have some "superficial sensory complaints as well." Dr. Talerico did not feel that he required surgical intervention. He was recommended occupational therapy to work on strengthening and conditioning of his forearm muscles. They can also perform pain modalities and he was told to follow up in four to six weeks and the nerve studies would be obtained.

He was seen back on January 6, 2012 for right forearm pain. He does not feel the occupational therapy is helping. He complains of pain/soreness and loss of strength. His history is reiterated. He has attended one or two sessions of therapy thus far. Nerve studies were obtained. He feels he is getting weaker. He feels a burning in the forearm. He asked about disability paperwork. Examination is unchanged. Of note, at this visit that he had no intrinsic or thenar atrophy with 5/5 intrinsic strength. His FDP to the small finger had 5/5 strength. He had light touch, which was intact to all digits. Nerve studies were reviewed, which were normal. No evidence of ulnar nerve injury. Given the location of the injury, this is the only significant problem that Dr. Talerico could imagine from this wound. He has no evidence of nerve or tendon injury. "He may have some residual soreness and some superficial sensory abnormalities, but this should improve over time." Dr. Talerico suggested he continued therapy with no need for surgical intervention. He felt he did not have anything further to offer.

Dr. Sek:
According to the medical records from Dr. Frank Sek, Mr. Dulberg had been seen since 1978. These are handwritten notes and difficult to decipher, but he was seen multiple times in 1984 and 1985 for lower extremity injuries. In 1984 and 1985, he injured his right thumb playing football. His x-rays were negative. He was seen again in 1998 for a fever and in 2002 for low back pain as well as pain in the trapezius after an auto accident 6 days prior. He went to NIMC ER. X-rays of the neck reported as a fracture and he went back for a CT scan, which was negative. He is taking Tylenol and Skelaxin. He has tenderness in the left trapezius and the left lower chest and lumbar area. He was seen again in March 2002, for pain in his back, and later in March 2002 for pain in his lumbar spine.

He was seen again on March 19, 2002 for the same problems in the lumbar spine and then on March 25, 2002 with pain in his buttock and leg with numbness and tingling in his left foot. He was seen back on March 30, 2002 for similar symptoms. He was seen back on April 6, 2002 for pain in his upper trapezius and his lumbar area. He was seen back on April 13, 2002 for spasms in his neck 3 days ago. He was seen back on April 20, 2002 for spasms in his left upper trapezius. On April 27, 2002, he was feeling better with "minor spasms here and there." On May 4, 2002, seen for spasms in the low back and left trapezius. On May 11, 2002, he was seen for muscle spasm again. On May 25, 2002, he was seen for pain in his buttock and leg. He was seen back on June 8, 2002 for similar symptoms. On June 13, 2002, he was released for office work. On June 22, 2002, he was seen for a "pinching sensation in the left upper trapezius and soreness in the lumbosacral area and buttock." On July 6, 2002, he was seen again for similar symptoms and then on April 27, 2007 for headache.

On July 1, 2011, he was seen after his forearm chainsaw injury that occurred on June 28, 2011. He was on Cefadroxil and Norco. His right forearm was slightly swollen and tender. On July 8, 2011, he was seen for suture removal. On January 14, 2012, he was seen because he was feeling depressed as his right hand is weak. On February 13, 2012, he was seen after an MRI of his right forearm was negative. He was seen on April 24, 2012 for non-arm issues. On August 6, 2012, he was seen after surgery on his right arm.

Mr. Dulberg had an MRI of his low back, ordered by Dr. Sek on April 12, 2002. This is documented as a normal MRI of his lumbar spine.

Nerve studies performed on May 29, 2002 were performed of the left upper extremity. These nerve studies revealed cubital tunnel syndrome without denervation in the ulnar innervated muscles. Of note, the EMG component of the study was completely normal.

Nerve studies performed on December 23, 2002 by Dr. Grobman for persistent left hand symptoms with the previous study of May 29, 2016 showing ulnar neuropathy. The results of this study revealed left ulnar neuropathy at the elbow. .

MRI of the cervical spine was performed on September 5, 2012. Per the radiologist, showed multilevel degenerative disk disease, and a possible atypical hemangioma.

He had radiographs of his right foot performed on November 11, 2005.

Medical records from Michael Grobman are present within Dr. Sek's notes. Dr. Grobman saw Mr. Dulberg on May 8, 2002, for pain and sensory disturbances since a motor vehicle accident. He is noted to be a 32-year-old right-hand dominant gentleman with no significant medical history. He was involved in an MVA on March 1, 2002. He states he stopped to make a turn and another car tried to pass him and then turned back quickly into his lane. The other car's front passenger side impacted into his rear driver's side. He states he had turned all the way towards the left to find the car that was passing him. He states his left arm was between his seat and the door frame. His neurological examination did not show any weakness in his upper extremity with normal reflexes. He was diagnosed with musculoskeletal pain due to a flexion/extension injury and sensory disturbance in the left arm consistent with ulnar neuropathy described as due to the position of the arm at the time of accident, and is likely to be directly related to the accident. He also has sensory disturbances in his left leg consistent with an L5 radiculopathy.

Hand Associates:
According to the medical records from Hand Associates, Mr. Dulberg was seen by Dr. Sagerman on February 27, 2012. He was seen for consultation with regards to his right arm. He sustained a laceration to his forearm from a chainsaw accident on June 28, 2011. He developed symptoms of numbness in the small finger with weakness. He has treated with therapy. He had an EMG and MRI scan. Past medical history remarkable for arthritis and cervical disk disease. He is taking naproxen, Tramadol, Cyclobenzaprine, and Fluoxetine. Examination shows a 7 cm transverse scar at the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm. He has local tenderness and sensitivity to percussion with positive Tinel's sign and paresthesia radiating into the small finger. He has sensitivity at the cubital tunnel. Wrist and elbow motion are unrestricted. No atrophy. He is unable to adduct the small finger. Flexion strength is normal. Sensation is decreased to light touch in the small finger only with inconsistent two-point discrimination. Radiographs of the right forearm performed on June 20, 2011 were reviewed with no fractures or foreign body. MRI form of the right forearm performed on February 3, 2012 was reviewed with no abnormality seen. Nerve studies performed by Dr. Levin on August 10, 2011 showed no evidence of neuropathy. He was diagnosed with a right forearm laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury. He was referred for additional nerve study testing. He was told that he may need surgery.

He was seen back on April 2, 2012 after the nerve study was repeated on March 13, 2012. The records state that this shows no evidence of neuropathy. The EMG portion showed no denervation and the ulnar nerve conduction was within normal limits. Examination was unchanged. Treatment options were discussed with him and he does not wish to pursue with surgery. He was therefore prescribed physical therapy, told to follow up in six weeks or p.r.n.

He was seen back Dr. Sagerman on May 14, 2012. He has persistent pain with use of his arm, especially with gripping activities. He had additional therapy, which has been beneficial. He has no change in his symptoms of numbness, which is bothersome. His function is limited due to his pain. Examination unchanged. He has full finger composite flexion with no triggering or locking and no clawing. Wartenberg sign positive. Intrinsic strength is slightly weak. His possible surgical options were discussed and he was suggested to see Dr. Biafora for a second opinion.

Mr. Dulberg saw Dr. Biafora for a second opinion on May 17, 2012. His history is outlined. His examination is similar to that described by Dr. Sagerman. It was noted that he has good strength in the first dorsal interosseous with negative Froment's test, positive Wartenberg's sign. He has full digital motion. He has pain at the scar in his most distal and ulnar border with resisted DIP flexion of the small finger. FCU function is intact, however, with pain at the scar. Nerve studies have been reviewed. He has a positive Tinel around the scar. He has tenderness at the scar to deep palpation on his most ulnar and distal border near the ulna. He is assessed as being almost a year after forearm laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury with ulnar neuritis. Surgery was discussed with him.

He was seen back by Dr. Sagerman on June 6, 2012. He has no change in his symptoms. His medication interferes with his functioning. He wanted to proceed with surgery. It was noticed that his scar is stable with tenderness and sensitivity to percussion. He has pain with gripping localized to the forearm region with increased numbness in the ring and small finger with weakness of his grip. His prognosis was noted to be guarded in terms of symptom improvement. He was told to discuss his side effects from the Neurontin with his neurologist. He was scheduled for surgery.

He was seen back on July 11, 2012. He has had surgery. His wounds were healing. Operative findings were reviewed. He was given a prescription for therapy for motion.

He was seen back on July 23, 2012, recovering appropriately after surgery.

He was seen back on July 30, 2012. He is noted to be doing well. His arm feels better. His hand function is increased and he feels his symptoms improved. Examination showed mild diffuse swelling from the scar, but no evidence of infection. Wrist, elbow, and finger motion is satisfactory. Sensation is intact in all distributions. He has improved independent finger flexion compared to his preoperative function. He was told to continue therapy and follow up in a month.

He was seen back on August 27, 2012. He is described as doing well, but his elbow is sore. He is doing therapy. His grip strength is increased. His hand function has improved. Examination shows mild tenderness around the incisions. Elbow and wrist motion unrestricted. He has no ulnar nerve subluxation. Intrinsic strength is increased. Sensation is intact in all distributions. He was continued in therapy for scar management and strengthening. He was told to advance activities. He was limited in work in terms of limited forceful gripping and no lifting, pushing or pulling.

He was seen back on October 22, 2012. His function improved. He is doing therapy. Sensation has improved. He grasps objects better than before surgery. Examination is essentially unchanged. He could maximally grip 112 pounds according to the most recent therapy report. He has less pain with gripping, but tenderness at the dorsal aspect of the forearm scar. He was told to continue home exercises. He is currently unemployed and wanted to pursue with disability. He was told to follow up in six weeks.

Dr. Kujawa:
According to the medical records from Alexian Brothers Neurosciences Institute, Mr. Dulberg was seen on September 25, 2013 documented as being a 43-year-old male with a history of depression as well as an MVA over 10 years ago with resultant cervical DJD and left ulnar nerve transposition, BPH, and migraines. He was seen for evaluation of his right arm dystonia. He had significant trauma to his right forearm after a chainsaw accident two years ago after he was holding a branch when the arm was nearly severed by his neighbor using a chainsaw. Fortunately, the bone was not damaged. He has complaints of burning pain in his right forearm that is worse when he tried to stop Gabapentin. Second complaint is "curling" on his right hand with activity, which started approximately 18 months ago, lasts several minutes, and can occur independent of forearm pain, but usually follows pain episodes. Curling occurs many times a day and can awaken him at night. He also complains of numbness in the medial aspect of the forearm and intermittent tingling. Examination showed he has 5/5 motor in all extremities except right hand grip is 4/5. He has sustained (several minutes) involuntary flexion of the right wrist and three to five fingers at the PIP joint after voluntarily clenching of the fist. Sensation not tested. Diagnosed with posttraumatic dystonia of the right upper extremity and chronic pain syndrome that may be related to intermittent right hand dystonia. He was managed with Gabapentin and was suggested to have Botox injections. There are multiple handwritten notes as well, which are difficult to decipher.

Mr. Dulberg was seen on February 6, 2014 by Dr. Kujawa. The chief complaint is that he has "organic writer's cramp." He is here for follow-up from his initial intake on September 25, 2013. He wants to proceed with Botox injections. He has right forearm pain only with activity, not worse since he stopped Neurontin. He ran out. He drops objects (dinner plates), occasionally has difficulty using utensils. He has migraines much improved after Zomig nasal spray. His problem is that he has organic writer's camp and acquired torsion dystonia. He is also diagnosed as having chronic pain syndrome that may be related to intermittent right hand dystonia. He was given Botox.

Neurology:
I reviewed the medical records from Associates in Neurology. This includes the multiple nerve studies as well as cervical spine MRI. He had a brachial plexus MRI performed on August 26, which was normal. Nerve studies from 2002 are present. MRI of his forearm from January 3, 2012 is present, which was documented as normal. Nerve studies from March 13, 2012, which are documented as normal are present.

He was seen by Dr. Grobman on May 8, 2002 after his motor vehicle accident not pertaining to the right side. He has multiple handwritten notes, prior to this, which are hard to decipher.

It would appear Mr. Dulberg was seen by Dr. Grobman on February 4, 2003. He was diagnosed with ulnar neuropathy at the elbow. It was felt that he could return to work with lifting restrictions.

He was seen back on July 28, 2011 by Dr. Levin. His history of left cubital tunnel syndrome in 2002 was outlined. He states he became asymptomatic by 2007 and he never had difficulty in the right arm.

He states a month prior he was involved in a chainsaw injury as mentioned above. He went to NIMC ER where he had stitches. He had "very significant pain, but as the pain was getting better, he started noticing that he had numbness in the fifth digit and in the inner aspect of his forearm. He has not been dropping things. It was mostly just a tingling and numb feeling. He denies previous symptoms. Examination showed a healed scar in his right forearm with decreased light touch, pinprick, and temperature in the ulnar distribution of the right arm. Strength is normal. It was felt that he had a branch neuropathy of the sensory nerves. He was suggested to undergo nerve studies and see a hand surgeon.

Rehab:
I reviewed the medical records from Fox Lake dynamic hand therapy, which are extensive.

Diagnostic tests relevant to the right arm:
MRI performed at Open Advanced MRI on February 3, 2012 of the right forearm with and without intravenous contrast showed no forearm abnormality appreciated. The radiologist states that this does not exclude the possibility of ulnar nerve impingement, but there is no gross mass or abnormal infiltration along the expected course of the ulnar nerve. No obvious tendon or muscle abnormality appreciated at this time.

Nerve conduction studies performed on August 10, 2011 by Associates in Neurology were reviewed. The conclusion is that there is no evidence of nerve dysfunction

Nerve conduction studies performed on March 13, 2012 by Associates in Neurology were reviewed. This is both a nerve conduction study and an EMG. Both components are noted to be normal with no evidence of ulnar nerve dysfunction.

Operative report:
An operative report was authored by Dr. Sagerman with a preoperative diagnosis of right cubital tunnel syndrome and right ulnar nerve injury at the forearm. Dr. Biafora assisted with the procedure. The procedure was a right cubital tunnel release and right ulnar neurolysis of the forearm. The patient underwent a standard cubital tunnel release with no documented gross abnormalities noted except "the nerve was mobilized from adhesions". A longitudinal incision was made over the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm. He was noted to have some retained suture material that was removed (interesting as per the ER note, he had Vicryl placed which usually dissolves over 3 months). The muscle fibers were found to be in continuity. The ulnar nerve was exposed in its normal position. The nerve was dissected proximally and distally and was completely intact with no visible scarring or adhesions.

Depositions:
I reviewed the discovery deposition of Marcus Talerico taken on October 16, 2013. It should be noted that on page #10, when asked about the physical examination, Dr. Talerico states it was basically a normal exam except for the fact that he has a well-healed laceration in the area of the forearm where the chainsaw hit him. He had some apparent muscle incongruity meaning some scarring of the muscle belly level deep to the skin. He had no tenderness to palpation in the forearm. He has intact strength with normal wrist flexion and extension strength with normal grip strength and normal intrinsic strength. He had a negative Froment's sign. He has a positive Wartenberg's sign documented on page 12. Dr. Talerico states that a Wartenberg's sign is an objective test. On page #13, Dr. Talerico states that he had a healed laceration in the forearm with no appreciable nerve, tendon or artery injury. He had some scarring and he suggested he do therapy. He felt that he might have had a superficial sensory complaint given the history. On page 17, Dr. Talerico did not feel he was suffering from any type of disability. He felt he had some scarring in the forearm and he had a lot of complaints, but Dr. Talerico did not feel he had any real objective findings that he could come up with a diagnosis that he could treat. Dr. Talerico states on page #19 that he felt that he had a laceration to the muscle belly of his forearm that healed and he did not have any objective weakness or real abnormalities other than his subjective complaints of shooting, burning pain in the forearm area.

Dr. Karen Levin's, deposition taken on October 1, 2013 was reviewed. It would appear that she is a neurologist. On page 12, Dr. Levin outlines the subjective numbness that he had to touch. On page 24, Dr. Levin states that cutting the nerve can cause permanent numbness. On page 32, Dr. Levin states that the MRI of the forearm was negative. She states "I don't know why the patient has continued symptoms, not sure why he bends his little finger. Things get worse with pain in the entire arm. I suggested he get a third opinion with Dr. Scott Sagerman." On page 46. Dr. Levin states that she was confused on August 14, 2013. She did not know why he was still having these dystonia symptoms. He was placed back on Gabapentin and sent back to the hand surgeon.

The deposition of Dr. Ford taken on November 20, 2013 was reviewed. Dr. Ford is an emergency department physician.

I reviewed the deposition of Dr. Scott Sagerman taken on October 15, 2013. Dr. Sagerman states on page 39 that Mr. Dahlberg has some scarring of the ulnar nerve to the floor of the cubital tunnel and local constriction at the flexor pronator aponeurosis. This relates to his cubital tunnel syndrome. On page 41, Dr. Sagerman states that the laceration from the chain saw was "relatively deep - below the skin, below the fat, and into the muscle covering "but the muscle fibers were intact. There was suture material, presumably from where the laceration was originally repaired at the time of the injury. The nerve was not cut or visibly scarred in that area". Dr. Sagerman opined on page 41 that the scarring from the laceration would account for his symptoms, but fortunately the nerve itself was not cut.

I reviewed the deposition of Dr. Kathy Kujawa performed on July 23, 2014. She is a neurologist with an apparent specialty in movement disorders. Dr. Kujawa states on page 18 that after the injury she felt the brain is trying to rewire itself. Not only is the brain trying to rewire itself, the nerves are trying to regrow. Any nerves can regrow, but very slowly. Unfortunately, a lot of times the connections made are incorrect to the wrong muscle and to the wrong place. "So the man may say voluntary I want to squeeze my hand and the wrong muscle contracts, if they can contract at all." She felt these were permanent deficits.

I reviewed the deposition of Mr. Dulberg performed on January 24, 2013.

DISCUSSION: Mr. Dulberg is a 46-year-old right-hand dominant unemployed, graphic designer who on June 28, 2011 sustained a laceration to the ulnar aspect of his right midforearm. He was seen in the emergency room where the laceration was cleaned and sutured. He had 3-0 Vicryl sutures and 11 Prolene sutures in the skin. After the injury, he saw his primary care physician, followed by multiple hand surgeons. He initially saw Dr. Talerico who felt that his symptoms were not substantiated by his physical examination. He had two sets of nerve conduction studies with the second set including an EMG component, which were negative for any ulnar nerve injury. Dr. Talerico did not feel any surgery would be helpful. He had an MRI with and without IV contrast of his right forearm, which showed no gross abnormalities. Ultimately he saw Dr. Sagerman for another opinion who, after no benefit with further occupational therapy, performed a cubital tunnel release and explored his ulnar nerve in his mid forearm. He did find some adhesions in the cubital tunnel, which Dr. Sagerman opined is what one sees in cubital tunnel syndrome. As to the area of the forearm laceration, the muscle belly was noted to be intact and there was noted to be no injury, nor scar around the ulnar nerve. Mr. Dulberg had previously had his contralateral cubital tunnel release performed multiple years prior after a MVA. Mr. Dulberg currently has multiple symptoms that I cannot substantiate based on his physical examination or the medical records. His primary problem is that he describes cramps in his forearm. He states these occur at rest and with activities multiple times a day and are significantly exacerbated by activities. Despite seeing him and personally interacting with him for over an hour in the office today and having him perform multiple activities including squeezing a Jamar dynamometer at least six times on either side, I could not elicit any cramping or spasms in his forearm. Additionally, he had multiple red flags for symptom magnification, including shaking and weakness with abduction and adduction of his fingers, which waxed and waned. He could only actively flex his small finger to his palm; however, passively I could flex his small finger easily and pain-free to his palm, which he could then maintain, as well as after multiple flexion and extension movements of his fingers, he was able to flex his small finger to his palm actively. He describes weakness in his hand and states that he can't type or perform most activities. His examination showed that his grip strength on the right was between 80, 85, and 98 pounds, with no pain in his forearm and no spasming or cramps. His scar was not sensitive or tender and he demonstrated no irregularity in the area. The cross sectional area of his wrist, his mid forearm, and his proximal forearm were symmetric, which would not be the case had he injured the muscle, or nerve and if he was not using his arm normally.

I do feel that Mr. Dulberg sustained a laceration to the right forearm, which did not involve the muscle belly or the ulnar nerve, as proven on MRI, nerve studies and operative exploration. I do not feel that his current symptoms are supported by his physical examination. A laceration as described would not cause focal dystonic signs based on the fact that it did not involve any motor nerve fibers or muscle fibers.

Summary:
I believe that Mr. Dulberg sustained a forearm laceration involving the right mid forearm in the injury on June 28, 2011. This required emergency room care with irrigation and suture. Thereafter, he has developed multiple symptoms, which I cannot base on local anatomy or structural pathology in his right forearm. He has focal dystonic symptoms, which I disagree with Dr. Kujawa, as are not related to any structural abnormalities in his arm. As documented on his nerve studies his motor and sensory nerves were intact in the entire forearm. His muscle belly was intact as proven on MRI as well as seen at the time of surgery. Multiple physicians had stated that the muscle belly and/or sensory nerve branches has caused his problems, but in fact his muscle belly was never violated at the time of the injury as proven by the MRI and found at the surgery performed by Dr. Sagerman. Additionally, his ulnar nerve was found not to be injured by the chainsaw, also based on 2 sets of nerve studies and operative exploration. I believe the reason the providers made the statements above is because there was no structural cause for his symptoms. Obviously, Mr. Dulberg did have a peripheral superficial sensory nerve laceration, based on the fact that he had a laceration just as any laceration or surgery would violate the superficial sensory nerves to the skin. These would heal and stabilize, which they have based on his examination today. On his current examination, he demonstrates no evidence or muscle or nerve dysfunction around the laceration area and no evidence of any residual sensory dysfunction.

I believe that medical treatment that he received was necessitated by the accident. Subsequent treatment has been based on the temporal relationship between his symptoms and the injury, yet he currently has obvious nonorganic findings. He relates the focal dystonia to the accident; however, from a structural standpoint his focal dystonic symptoms have nothing to do with his structure in his forearm. Nothing in his forearm could account for his symptoms.

As to any preexisting medical problems, Mr. Dulberg's has a history of prior left cubital tunnel syndrome, which has been attributed to a motor vehicle accident. He developed cubital tunnel syndrome on the right side after a forearm laceration, distant to the cubital tunnel. He does have a strong smoking history. Chronic smoking has been associated with nerve pathology, diminished capacity for nerves to heal and increased risk of nerve irritation.

1. What if any disability relates to the accident?

   I feel Mr. Dulberg was debilitated for four to six weeks after the accident. After the laceration had healed, his symptoms began to be nonorganic, as described by Dr. Talerico in his deposition

2. What if any permanency is related to the accident?

   At the present time from a structural standpoint, Mr. Dulberg has no structural deficit in his right upper extremity. He has no structural cause in his right arm that is causing him any dysfunction. The described focal dystonic symptoms are not due to any structural pathology within his upper extremity.

Dear Mr. Accardo:

I was asked to perform an independent medical evaluation on Mr. Dulberg on October 4, 2016. This examination took place in my office in Glenview, Illinois.

As part of this independent medical evaluation, Mr. Dulberg's identifying documentation was obtained, xeroxed, and placed into the medical records. The information from these documents appeared to corroborate with his appropriate information.

I explained to Mr. Dulberg, with his mother Barbara as well as his attorney Randy present, the purpose of the independent medical evaluation as well as the fact that no patient-physician relationship was established with him during today's visit. Additionally, I explained to them that no treatment, outcomes or diagnoses would be discussed with him during this evaluation.

All opinions expressed in this report are made to a reasonable degree of medical and surgical certainty as a board certified orthopedic surgeon with a certificate of added qualification in hand and upper extremity surgery.

I spent 65 minutes with Mr. Dulberg in face-to-face time today obtaining a history and performing a physical examination.

HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg is a 46-year-old right-hand dominant gentleman who previously worked in graphic design who is here for evaluation of his right upper extremity. He states that he had no symptoms referable to his right upper extremity prior to an injury that occurred in June 2011. He states he is not sure of the exact date, but on the date in question he was holding a tree branch at his neighbor's house to help David, his neighbor's son, cut the tree branch with a chainsaw. He stated he was holding a pine tree branch, which was a few inches thick, still attached to the tree and while David was cutting the branch, he inadvertently cut Mr. Dulberg's right forearm. Mr. Dulberg went to NIMC ER where the wound was irrigated and sutured. He had radiographs there which showed no fractures. He followed-up with his primary care physician, Dr. Sek, who removed the sutures two weeks later. Mr. Dulberg noticed significant pain in his forearm after the injury. Due to persistent symptoms, Dr. Sek referred him to see Dr. Levin, who Mr. Dulberg states is a neurologist, who performed a nerve conduction study and Mr. Dulberg was told the study was normal he had no nerve injury, but was told that the superficial branches of the nerves were severed. Due to ongoing significant pain, he was referred to a hand specialist. He initially saw a hand specialist, although he is not sure of the name but per the medical records that I reviewed was Dr. Talerico, who referred him for occupational therapy. He states that he performed occupational therapy for multiple months which provided him with no benefit. He states that he was still having significant problems with his right forearm and hand and so he returned to see Dr. Levin. Dr. Levin referred him for a second opinion to see Dr. Sagerman in 2012, although he is not sure of the date. Dr. Sagerman prescribed more occupational therapy, which he states was "somewhat helpful". Dr. Sagerman also repeated the nerve studies as he stated the initial nerve study was not complete. Mr. Dulberg does not remember the date of the repeat nerve studies. Subsequently, he followed-up with. Sagerman but is not sure of the results of this nerve study, but thereafter Dr. Sagerman suggested exploring the nerve. He wanted to think about this and returned a month later after discussing this with Dr. Sek and elected to undergo surgery. He underwent surgery by Dr. Sagerman in June or July 2012 whereby he states he underwent a cubital tunnel release, and was told that the "nerve was okay." He also underwent exploration of the ulnar nerve in the forearm and tells me that Dr. Sagerman told him "this was the most scarred tissue, I have ever seen." (This is interesting as the MRI was normal and the operative report states that no scar was noted around the nerve and the muscle belly that covers the nerve was pristine only with sutures in the fascia covering the muscle). He was then enrolled in more occupational therapy, which he did for another two months. He states that this helped his forearm temporarily. He followed up with Dr. Sagerman and ultimately plateaued. His complaint at that point as well as prior to the surgery was numbness and tingling in his fourth and fifth finger as well as pain and spasms in his left forearm. Due to a plateau in his improvement after surgery, Dr. Sagerman referred him to Dr. Kujawa. Mr. Dulberg states that he was referred for "cramping" and "spasms of the muscles in the forearm." Dr. Kujawa has treated him from after this surgery until the present time. Mr. Dulberg states that Dr. Kujawa tied injecting Botox in the muscles of the forearm twice. The first time he states it provided him with no benefit and the second time he states that the muscles in his forearm got significantly weaker, which he states Dr. Kujawa confirmed that the Botox was in the correct area; however, besides having temporary weakness in the arm, did not change the cramps and spasms that he was complaining of at that time. He states that both Botox injections were performed within a year of his surgery. He has continued to follow up with Dr. Kujawa who started him on Gabapentin. He states that the Gabapentin has helped the smaller and minor cramps, spasms and pain in his forearm; however, the larger and more significant cramps and spasms in the forearm have not been affected by the Gabapentin. He sees Dr. Kujawa every six months. He did follow up to see Dr. Sagerman for left lateral epicondylitis in 2012, who performed a cortisone injection into the elbow, which cured this problem. Of note, Mr. Dulberg had previously seen Dr. Sagerman in early 2000 for "pain in the left elbow" as well as "numbness and tingling in the fingers." He underwent a cubital tunnel release on the left at that time, which helped tremendously. He currently has no similar symptoms in the left upper extremity

I asked Mr. Dulberg about a motor vehicle accident in early 2000 in which he was involved. He states he sustained a whiplash injury and he hit his left elbow against the inside of the car and developed pain in the left elbow and numbness in the fingers. He was diagnosed with left cubital tunnel syndrome. He had nerve studies and a year later underwent a cubital tunnel release. He was also diagnosed with degenerative disk disease in his cervical spine after the motor vehicle accident affecting him from C3 to C7. He takes occasional Naproxen for his neck, which he states helps somewhat. He is not sure whether the Naproxen really helps his right arm.

Mr. Dulberg states that he is currently able to drive, although he has to drive with his right hand at the 6 o'clock position as when he holds the steering wheel at the 10 or 12 o'clock position, he develops spasms in his forearm. He states any vibration causes spasming in his right forearm.

CURRENT COMPLAINTS WITH REGARDS TO THE RIGHT UPPER EXTREMITY:

I asked Mr. Dulberg to list all complaints referable to his right arm:

Mr. Dulberg's primary complaint is that he describes "cramps" in the forearm. He states the cramps happen at least 12 times a day. He states they frequently happen with no activities. He states the cramps last a few seconds to a few minutes. Thereafter, he notices that the fingers are weak and he frequently drops objects due to the cramps. He does not describe any finger spasms. He states that activities exacerbate the frequency and severity of the cramps "a lot." He occasionally wakes up with these symptoms at night, which he states is maybe once a week. He states the cramping is his biggest problem subsequent to the injury. He states the cramps began within six months of the injury. He states he had "a lot going on at that time" and he had to figure out what was causing his problem. When asked specifically, Mr. Dulberg states that the acute pain that he had in the forearm immediately after the injury is gone.

Mr. Dulberg's second complaint with regards to the right arm is that he has occasional tingling in the fifth finger. It bothers him once or twice a day and when he develops these symptoms they last for a few seconds. It does not wake him up at night.

He also describes burning in his palm, which comes and goes and is unpredictable, similar to the tingling in the small finger. When he develops the finger tingling, the palm begins to burn. The duration of the palmar symptoms are the same as the small finger tingling.

He rates his pain currently as 0/10, but states the cramps hurt, and rates the cramping as a 7-10/10. The pain from the cramps lasts a few seconds to a few minutes.

OCCUPATION HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg states that he has worked as a graphic designer since he was 16 years old. Subsequent to his right forearm injury, he states that he was unable to work. He tried returning to graphic design 2 months after the injury, but states that he could not type because he would develop the forearm cramps. He states any activity whether it be typing or mousing for any period of time whether it be minutes or hours, would increase his symptoms. He has no symptoms when he drives as he has modified where he grasps the steering column.

HOBBIES:
Mr. Dulberg states that he previously would fish, drive motorcycles and ATVs, canoe, camp and bicycle. He states he cannot do any of these activities as his right forearm cramps. He tried bicycling after the surgery, but he could not hold onto the handlebars without cramping. His new hobby includes maintaining a home fish aquarium. He states he is able to change the water without difficulty but his friend Mike helps him with the maintenance.

PAST MEDICAL AND SURGICAL HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg states that he has no medical problems. He states he has no history of diabetes or thyroid disorder. He has no history of arthritis or inflammatory arthropathy; specifically, no history of rheumatoid arthritis, gout, pseudogout, psoriasis, or colitis. He has no history of fibromyalgia. He states that he was diagnosed with anxiety and depression a year after the accident, but takes no medication for this. He does not see a psychologist.

Mr. Dulberg's only medication is Gabapentin.

Mr. Dulberg's surgeries include the right forearm wound closure in the emergency room after his right forearm chainsaw injury as well as the subsequent cubital tunnel release and ulnar nerve exploration in the right forearm. He also had a left cubital tunnel release with anterior transposition of the nerve in early 2000s.

Mr. Dulberg denies drug allergies. He has never had a bone density study and he does not have sleep apnea.

SOCIAL HISTORY:
Mr. Dulberg smokes currently 10 cigarettes a day, but previously a pack a day, since he was 18 years old. He does not consume alcohol.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION:
On examination today, Mr. Dulberg is noted to be 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds. He is in no distress today and has normal affect. He is alert and oriented. He is afebrile. He demonstrates no suspicious pain behavioral characteristics.

With regards to his right upper extremity, he is able to remove his sweater, albeit mostly using his left arm. After the examination when he put his sweater on, he was able to pull out the sleeves using his right hand, manipulating the sweeter and sleeves using his right hand normally. He holds the hand in a normal position, although the small finger is in a constantly abducted position. On inspecting of his right forearm and hand, he does have a transverse laceration in the mid forearm measuring 6 cm. The incision is healed and is stable and supple. He also has a longitudinal incision, from his surgery, over the ulnar forearm, which measures 6 cm long. This incision is healed, stable, supple and asymptomatic. He also has an incision posterior to the medial epicondyle measuring 5.5 cm, which is healed, stable, supple and asymptomatic.

With regards to his right hand, as mentioned, he holds the small finger in an abducted position. I can passively adduct the finger to sit adjacent to the fourth finger, but he cannot actively maintain this position of the small finger. He flexes the thumb normally and extends it normally. He actively flexes the index, middle and ring finger to the palm, but with active composite flexion, he lacks about 3 cm of tip to palm distance of the small finger. His hand shakes when he flexes the fingers. Am able to passively flex his small finger to his palm, which he is then able to maintain in this position, which is concerning for symptom magnification as this implies subjective voluntary manipulation. He expresses that pain does not limit his inability to flex the small finger. After performing repetitive active and passive flexion and extension motions of all fingers, he was then able to flex his small finger to his palm with 5/5 strength with no pain. He extends all fingers to neutral with robust extensor tone in the MP, PIP, and DIP joints of all digits including the thumb. He has no evidence of flexor or extensor tenosynovitis of his fingers. He has no triggering or locking of the digits. He has no trophic changes. His hair and nail growth is normal in all digits. Subjectively, he states that he is numb in the small finger and half the ring finger to touch.

With regards to his right wrist, he extends his wrist normally to 60 degrees with 5/5 strength and flexes to 55 degrees with 5/5 strength, but complains of some forearm discomfort diffusely but not localized to any specific aspect of his forearm. His wrist motion parameters are symmetric. He has no pain with radial and ulnar deviation of the wrist. His passive forearm rotation is to 90 degrees of pronation and supination respectively without pain or crepitus and he actively pronates to 90 degrees with 5/5 strength without pain and actively supinates to 90 degrees with 5/5 strength with pain around the laceration over the mid medial forearm; again concerning for non-organic pathology as his supinator muscle is on the radial side (opposite to where he has pain) of his proximal forearm and he had no pain with passive pronation or supination. He has no intercarpal laxity on stress testing. He has no pain over the basilar joint of his thumb, with a negative grind and distraction test. He has a negative Finkelstein test. He has no instability of the first CMC joint. His ulna is stable and reduced. He has no ulnar-sided wrist pain. He is not tender over the radiocarpal or ulnocarpal joint.

With regards to his forearm, as mentioned, he has 2 incisions over the mid forearm, one transverse and one longitudinal as described above. The incisions are all healed and asymptomatic. He has no induration or tethering of the skin over the muscles at the site of the laceration or incision. His muscle bulk appears to be intact and appropriate. He is not tender to palpation around the muscles of the medial forearm. He is not tender to palpation over the tendons in the distal forearm or the muscles in the distal, middle, or proximal forearm ulnarly, or radially, volarly or dorsally. He is able to make a full fist, now recruiting all fingers, with good strength. His profundus tendons function normally to each finger when tested individually. His sublimis function, when tested independently, activate normally including to the small finger albeit with some discomfort in his forearm. He has no gross atrophy of the muscles in his forearm.

With regards to his elbow, he has 5.5cm incision posterior to the medial epicondyle, which is healed, stable, supple and asymptomatic. He has full elbow flexion and extension, which is symmetric and asymptomatic without crepitus. He has full forearm rotation as mentioned. He has no evidence of medial or lateral epicondylitis to palpation or with provocative testing. He has no instability of the elbow to varus or valgus stress at 30 and 60 degrees of flexion. He demonstrates no posterolateral rotatory insufficiency of the elbow to stress.

With regards to the peripheral nervous system of his right upper extremity, as mentioned, he states he has subjectively numbness in the small in ulnar half of the ring finger. His active motion was as mentioned limited in the small finger at times, but at times he had full active flexion of all fingers. With regards to the median nerve, he palmarly abducts his thumb with normal strength. Sensation was normal in the digits innervated by the median nerve. He has a negative Tinel over the carpal tunnel, and a negative wrist compression test. With regards to the ulnar nerve, he notes the aforementioned numbness. He has normal sensation over the dorsal radial and dorsal ulnar aspect of the wrist. He has normal sensation over the forearm radially and ulnarly. He was able to activate his first dorsal interosseous normally, and he abducts and adducts the fingers albeit with shaking of the hand and fingers and variable strength with abduction and adduction. At times he could abduct normally and at times he was extremely weak and this waxed and waned throughout the examination. He does hold the small finger in an abducted position, which can passively be placed back at the side of the ring finger, but then automatically assumes an abducted position. His extensor tendon functions normally and does not subluxate over the MP joint with active or passive flexion of the MP joint. He has no triggering in the small finger. He has a negative Tinel over the Guyon's canal. He has normal pulses. He has no splinter hemorrhages. He has no masses palpable around the ulnar artery at Guyon's canal. He has a positive Tinel from 2 inches proximal to the medial epicondyle to 4 inches distal to the medial epicondyle radiating into the fourth and fifth fingers. Tinel over the forearm laceration elicit only local tingling that did not extend into the fourth and fifth fingers. Elbow flexion test elicits increased numbness and tingling in the fourth and fifth fingers. He has no instability of the ulnar nerve with elbow flexion and extension. His flexor pronator muscle bulk is asymptomatic with normal strength and without pain when stressed or with gentle and deep palpation.

Cross sectional area was measured at the level of his wrist, his mid forearm, and his proximal forearm. The values obtained at all levels were symmetric to within 1mm.

Grip strength using a Jamar dynamometer in position three on the right dominant side elicited 98 pounds of strength without pain and 80 pounds of strength without pain. On the left side, he was able to elicit 115 and 122 pounds of strength without pain. Performing rapid exchange grip strength testing, 4 times in each upper extremity, elicited up to 85 pounds of strength on the right side and 109 pounds of strength on the left side. He denied any pain or symptoms of cramping or spasming during grip despite performing the aforementioned gripping 6 times on each side.

Two-point discrimination measured with a discriminator on the right side elicited 5 mm two-point discrimination on the radial and ulnar aspect of the thumb, index, middle, and ring finger. In the small finger, he had 5 mm 2-point discrimination on the radial aspect and 6 mm on the ulnar aspect.

With regards to the left side, he has 6 cm incision over the medial elbow posterior to the medial epicondyle, which is healed and is stable and asymptomatic. He has full elbow flexion, extension, full forearm rotation. He has normal sensation in all digits. His median, and ulnar nerve motor and sensory function in his hand is normal. He has negative Tinel's over the ulnar nerve at the cubital tunnel or over the transposed ulnar nerve. He has a negative elbow flexion test.

QuickDASH score completed by Mr. Dulberg today elicited a score of 38. He completed all 11 items. Given his physical examination, I was quite surprised by high QuickDASH score. I therefore asked him about each of the items. He states he cannot open a jar with his right hand because he develops cramping and he has weakness when he twists the lid of a jar. He states that he develops cramping within seconds of twisting the jar. He states he cannot do household chores or carry a shopping bag for the same reason. He stated that he had severe difficulty washing his back, scored at 4/5, and when I asked him about this, he states that he had made an error and in fact he had no difficulty with this activity. He also stated severe difficulty when using a knife to cut food or perform any recreational activities. He notices severe difficulty with most activities throughout the week and noted that tingling in his arm was a moderate problem. He stated he had mild difficulty in the last week sleeping at night.

MEDICAL RECORD REVIEW:
As part of this independent medical evaluation, I was forwarded about 8 inches of medical records to review. The medical records that were forwarded to me for review included the following:

1. Medical records from Centegra Northern Illinois Medical Center.
2. Medical records from Moraine Emergency Physicians.
3. Medical records from Open Advanced MRI of Round Lake.
4. Medical records from Associates of Neurology.
5. Medical records from McHenry Radiologists imaging.
6. Medical records from Neuroscience Institute.

7. Medical records from Hand Surgery Associates.
8. Medical records from Alexian Brothers.
9. Medical records from MidAmerica Hand to Shoulder Clinic.
10. Deposition transcript of Mr. Dulberg, Dr. Talerico, Dr. Levin, Dr. Ford, Dr. Sagerman and Dr. Kujawa as well as the plaintiff's answers to all the questions.

NIMC:
According to the medical records from Centegra Northern Illinois Medical Center, Mr. Dulberg was seen in the emergency room on June 28, 2011. According to the emergency room admission assessment he was seen stating that he had a chain saw injury to the right arm 15 minutes ago and he was feeling lightheaded. He is noted to smoke a pack a day. He is alert and oriented x3. He was accompanied by a coworker with the laceration by chainsaw to the right forearm. He had radiographs, which showed no bony abnormalities other than a soft tissue injury. The wound was irrigated and cleaned and sutured. He had 3 subcutaneous stitches placed of 4-0 Vicryl and 11 4-0 Prolene sutures placed in the skin. He was given discharge instructions for follow-up. He was discharged home.

According to the radiologist's report of radiographs performed of the right forearm dated June 28, 2011. The findings were dictated as two views of the right forearm, which demonstrated a deep laceration on the ventral aspect of the mid forearm, best visualized on the lateral view. No fractures or radiopaque foreign body is identified.

According to the Moraine emergency room physician records, Mr. Dulberg was seen on November 11, 2005 for right foot injury. He states he was fighting with home invaders at that time.

He was seen again on June 28, 2011 for the aforementioned chainsaw injury, which has previously been described above.

Dr. Talerico:
According to the medical records from MidAmerica Hand to Shoulder, Mr. Dulberg was seen by Dr. Talerico on December 2, 2011. His history is a 41-year-old male, right hand dominant, referred by Dr. Levin, MD, neurologist, for evaluation of an injury sustained to the right medial forearm in June 2011. He was using a chainsaw when he accidentally struck the volar medial aspect of his right forearm in roughly the mid forearm range with a chain saw. He had a large open wound down to muscle. He was seen in the emergency department where the wound and muscle were sewn together and the skin was closed. He followed up with his PCP and was noted to have persistent pain, which he describes as intermittent and shooting in character radiating from the laceration site. He occasionally has intermittent numbness and tingling in the ring and small finger. He reports grip weakness and no endurance with wrist flexion and gripping. He has not had therapy. He had nerve studies performed by Dr. Levin in August 2011, which per the patient, were normal. Did not have the study available. He is not working, but he is a graphic designer by training. He uses a computer mouse for 20 minutes causing significant forearm pain. He previously had an ulnar nerve transposition on the left side. He is single. Smokes everyday. He has a family history of diabetes. ROS negative. Examination showed him in no distress. Examination of the right upper extremity reveals his elbow has normal, painless range of motion. He has no focal tenderness to palpation. His collateral ligaments are intact. Forearm compartments are soft. He has a well-healed transverse laceration at the volar medial forearm level. There is no erythema, drainage, or fluctuance at the level of the laceration. He has no tenderness to palpation. He has some apparent muscle incongruity. Distally, his hand demonstrates no atrophy. He has 5/5 intrinsic strength, 5/5 APB strength. He can make a full fist with full extension of all digits. He does not demonstrate a clawed position. He has a negative Froment's sign. He has a positive Wartenberg's sign. Wrist flexion and extension 5/5 strength. He has a palpable FCU and ECU tendon at the level of the wrist. He has appropriate tension. No radiographs performed. Dr. Talerico wanted to get the nerve studies. His complaints appear to be "likely muscular origin." He may have some "superficial sensory complaints as well." Dr. Talerico did not feel that he required surgical intervention. He was recommended occupational therapy to work on strengthening and conditioning of his forearm muscles. They can also perform pain modalities and he was told to follow up in four to six weeks and the nerve studies would be obtained.

He was seen back on January 6, 2012 for right forearm pain. He does not feel the occupational therapy is helping. He complains of pain/soreness and loss of strength. His history is reiterated. He has attended one or two sessions of therapy thus far. Nerve studies were obtained. He feels he is getting weaker. He feels a burning in the forearm. He asked about disability paperwork. Examination is unchanged. Of note, at this visit that he had no intrinsic or thenar atrophy with 5/5 intrinsic strength. His FDP to the small finger had 5/5 strength. He had light touch, which was intact to all digits. Nerve studies were reviewed, which were normal. No evidence of ulnar nerve injury. Given the location of the injury, this is the only significant problem that Dr. Talerico could imagine from this wound. He has no evidence of nerve or tendon injury. "He may have some residual soreness and some superficial sensory abnormalities, but this should improve over time." Dr. Talerico suggested he continued therapy with no need for surgical intervention. He felt he did not have anything further to offer.

Dr. Sek:
According to the medical records from Dr. Frank Sek, Mr. Dulberg had been seen since 1978. These are handwritten notes and difficult to decipher, but he was seen multiple times in 1984 and 1985 for lower extremity injuries. In 1984 and 1985, he injured his right thumb playing football. His x-rays were negative. He was seen again in 1998 for a fever and in 2002 for low back pain as well as pain in the trapezius after an auto accident 6 days prior. He went to NIMC ER. X-rays of the neck reported as a fracture and he went back for a CT scan, which was negative. He is taking Tylenol and Skelaxin. He has tenderness in the left trapezius and the left lower chest and lumbar area. He was seen again in March 2002, for pain in his back, and later in March 2002 for pain in his lumbar spine.

He was seen again on March 19, 2002 for the same problems in the lumbar spine and then on March 25, 2002 with pain in his buttock and leg with numbness and tingling in his left foot. He was seen back on March 30, 2002 for similar symptoms. He was seen back on April 6, 2002 for pain in his upper trapezius and his lumbar area. He was seen back on April 13, 2002 for spasms in his neck 3 days ago. He was seen back on April 20, 2002 for spasms in his left upper trapezius. On April 27, 2002, he was feeling better with "minor spasms here and there." On May 4, 2002, seen for spasms in the low back and left trapezius. On May 11, 2002, he was seen for muscle spasm again. On May 25, 2002, he was seen for pain in his buttock and leg. He was seen back on June 8, 2002 for similar symptoms. On June 13, 2002, he was released for office work. On June 22, 2002, he was seen for a "pinching sensation in the left upper trapezius and soreness in the lumbosacral area and buttock." On July 6, 2002, he was seen again for similar symptoms and then on April 27, 2007 for headache.

On July 1, 2011, he was seen after his forearm chainsaw injury that occurred on June 28, 2011. He was on Cefadroxil and Norco. His right forearm was slightly swollen and tender. On July 8, 2011, he was seen for suture removal. On January 14, 2012, he was seen because he was feeling depressed as his right hand is weak. On February 13, 2012, he was seen after an MRI of his right forearm was negative. He was seen on April 24, 2012 for non-arm issues. On August 6, 2012, he was seen after surgery on his right arm.

Mr. Dulberg had an MRI of his low back, ordered by Dr. Sek on April 12, 2002. This is documented as a normal MRI of his lumbar spine.

Nerve studies performed on May 29, 2002 were performed of the left upper extremity. These nerve studies revealed cubital tunnel syndrome without denervation in the ulnar innervated muscles. Of note, the EMG component of the study was completely normal.

Nerve studies performed on December 23, 2002 by Dr. Grobman for persistent left hand symptoms with the previous study of May 29, 2016 showing ulnar neuropathy. The results of this study revealed left ulnar neuropathy at the elbow. .

MRI of the cervical spine was performed on September 5, 2012. Per the radiologist, showed multilevel degenerative disk disease, and a possible atypical hemangioma.

He had radiographs of his right foot performed on November 11, 2005.

Medical records from Michael Grobman are present within Dr. Sek's notes. Dr. Grobman saw Mr. Dulberg on May 8, 2002, for pain and sensory disturbances since a motor vehicle accident. He is noted to be a 32-year-old right-hand dominant gentleman with no significant medical history. He was involved in an MVA on March 1, 2002. He states he stopped to make a turn and another car tried to pass him and then turned back quickly into his lane. The other car's front passenger side impacted into his rear driver's side. He states he had turned all the way towards the left to find the car that was passing him. He states his left arm was between his seat and the door frame. His neurological examination did not show any weakness in his upper extremity with normal reflexes. He was diagnosed with musculoskeletal pain due to a flexion/extension injury and sensory disturbance in the left arm consistent with ulnar neuropathy described as due to the position of the arm at the time of accident, and is likely to be directly related to the accident. He also has sensory disturbances in his left leg consistent with an L5 radiculopathy.

Hand Associates:
According to the medical records from Hand Associates, Mr. Dulberg was seen by Dr. Sagerman on February 27, 2012. He was seen for consultation with regards to his right arm. He sustained a laceration to his forearm from a chainsaw accident on June 28, 2011. He developed symptoms of numbness in the small finger with weakness. He has treated with therapy. He had an EMG and MRI scan. Past medical history remarkable for arthritis and cervical disk disease. He is taking naproxen, Tramadol, Cyclobenzaprine, and Fluoxetine. Examination shows a 7 cm transverse scar at the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm. He has local tenderness and sensitivity to percussion with positive Tinel's sign and paresthesia radiating into the small finger. He has sensitivity at the cubital tunnel. Wrist and elbow motion are unrestricted. No atrophy. He is unable to adduct the small finger. Flexion strength is normal. Sensation is decreased to light touch in the small finger only with inconsistent two-point discrimination. Radiographs of the right forearm performed on June 20, 2011 were reviewed with no fractures or foreign body. MRI form of the right forearm performed on February 3, 2012 was reviewed with no abnormality seen. Nerve studies performed by Dr. Levin on August 10, 2011 showed no evidence of neuropathy. He was diagnosed with a right forearm laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury. He was referred for additional nerve study testing. He was told that he may need surgery.

He was seen back on April 2, 2012 after the nerve study was repeated on March 13, 2012. The records state that this shows no evidence of neuropathy. The EMG portion showed no denervation and the ulnar nerve conduction was within normal limits. Examination was unchanged. Treatment options were discussed with him and he does not wish to pursue with surgery. He was therefore prescribed physical therapy, told to follow up in six weeks or p.r.n.

He was seen back Dr. Sagerman on May 14, 2012. He has persistent pain with use of his arm, especially with gripping activities. He had additional therapy, which has been beneficial. He has no change in his symptoms of numbness, which is bothersome. His function is limited due to his pain. Examination unchanged. He has full finger composite flexion with no triggering or locking and no clawing. Wartenberg sign positive. Intrinsic strength is slightly weak. His possible surgical options were discussed and he was suggested to see Dr. Biafora for a second opinion.

Mr. Dulberg saw Dr. Biafora for a second opinion on May 17, 2012. His history is outlined. His examination is similar to that described by Dr. Sagerman. It was noted that he has good strength in the first dorsal interosseous with negative Froment's test, positive Wartenberg's sign. He has full digital motion. He has pain at the scar in his most distal and ulnar border with resisted DIP flexion of the small finger. FCU function is intact, however, with pain at the scar. Nerve studies have been reviewed. He has a positive Tinel around the scar. He has tenderness at the scar to deep palpation on his most ulnar and distal border near the ulna. He is assessed as being almost a year after forearm laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury with ulnar neuritis. Surgery was discussed with him.

He was seen back by Dr. Sagerman on June 6, 2012. He has no change in his symptoms. His medication interferes with his functioning. He wanted to proceed with surgery. It was noticed that his scar is stable with tenderness and sensitivity to percussion. He has pain with gripping localized to the forearm region with increased numbness in the ring and small finger with weakness of his grip. His prognosis was noted to be guarded in terms of symptom improvement. He was told to discuss his side effects from the Neurontin with his neurologist. He was scheduled for surgery.

He was seen back on July 11, 2012. He has had surgery. His wounds were healing. Operative findings were reviewed. He was given a prescription for therapy for motion.

He was seen back on July 23, 2012, recovering appropriately after surgery.

He was seen back on July 30, 2012. He is noted to be doing well. His arm feels better. His hand function is increased and he feels his symptoms improved. Examination showed mild diffuse swelling from the scar, but no evidence of infection. Wrist, elbow, and finger motion is satisfactory. Sensation is intact in all distributions. He has improved independent finger flexion compared to his preoperative function. He was told to continue therapy and follow up in a month.

He was seen back on August 27, 2012. He is described as doing well, but his elbow is sore. He is doing therapy. His grip strength is increased. His hand function has improved. Examination shows mild tenderness around the incisions. Elbow and wrist motion unrestricted. He has no ulnar nerve subluxation. Intrinsic strength is increased. Sensation is intact in all distributions. He was continued in therapy for scar management and strengthening. He was told to advance activities. He was limited in work in terms of limited forceful gripping and no lifting, pushing or pulling.

He was seen back on October 22, 2012. His function improved. He is doing therapy. Sensation has improved. He grasps objects better than before surgery. Examination is essentially unchanged. He could maximally grip 112 pounds according to the most recent therapy report. He has less pain with gripping, but tenderness at the dorsal aspect of the forearm scar. He was told to continue home exercises. He is currently unemployed and wanted to pursue with disability. He was told to follow up in six weeks.

Dr. Kujawa:
According to the medical records from Alexian Brothers Neurosciences Institute, Mr. Dulberg was seen on September 25, 2013 documented as being a 43-year-old male with a history of depression as well as an MVA over 10 years ago with resultant cervical DJD and left ulnar nerve transposition, BPH, and migraines. He was seen for evaluation of his right arm dystonia. He had significant trauma to his right forearm after a chainsaw accident two years ago after he was holding a branch when the arm was nearly severed by his neighbor using a chainsaw. Fortunately, the bone was not damaged. He has complaints of burning pain in his right forearm that is worse when he tried to stop Gabapentin. Second complaint is "curling" on his right hand with activity, which started approximately 18 months ago, lasts several minutes, and can occur independent of forearm pain, but usually follows pain episodes. Curling occurs many times a day and can awaken him at night. He also complains of numbness in the medial aspect of the forearm and intermittent tingling. Examination showed he has 5/5 motor in all extremities except right hand grip is 4/5. He has sustained (several minutes) involuntary flexion of the right wrist and three to five fingers at the PIP joint after voluntarily clenching of the fist. Sensation not tested. Diagnosed with posttraumatic dystonia of the right upper extremity and chronic pain syndrome that may be related to intermittent right hand dystonia. He was managed with Gabapentin and was suggested to have Botox injections. There are multiple handwritten notes as well, which are difficult to decipher.

Mr. Dulberg was seen on February 6, 2014 by Dr. Kujawa. The chief complaint is that he has "organic writer's cramp." He is here for follow-up from his initial intake on September 25, 2013. He wants to proceed with Botox injections. He has right forearm pain only with activity, not worse since he stopped Neurontin. He ran out. He drops objects (dinner plates), occasionally has difficulty using utensils. He has migraines much improved after Zomig nasal spray. His problem is that he has organic writer's camp and acquired torsion dystonia. He is also diagnosed as having chronic pain syndrome that may be related to intermittent right hand dystonia. He was given Botox.

Neurology:
I reviewed the medical records from Associates in Neurology. This includes the multiple nerve studies as well as cervical spine MRI. He had a brachial plexus MRI performed on August 26, which was normal. Nerve studies from 2002 are present. MRI of his forearm from January 3, 2012 is present, which was documented as normal. Nerve studies from March 13, 2012, which are documented as normal are present.

He was seen by Dr. Grobman on May 8, 2002 after his motor vehicle accident not pertaining to the right side. He has multiple handwritten notes, prior to this, which are hard to decipher.

It would appear Mr. Dulberg was seen by Dr. Grobman on February 4, 2003. He was diagnosed with ulnar neuropathy at the elbow. It was felt that he could return to work with lifting restrictions.

He was seen back on July 28, 2011 by Dr. Levin. His history of left cubital tunnel syndrome in 2002 was outlined. He states he became asymptomatic by 2007 and he never had difficulty in the right arm.

He states a month prior he was involved in a chainsaw injury as mentioned above. He went to NIMC ER where he had stitches. He had "very significant pain, but as the pain was getting better, he started noticing that he had numbness in the fifth digit and in the inner aspect of his forearm. He has not been dropping things. It was mostly just a tingling and numb feeling. He denies previous symptoms. Examination showed a healed scar in his right forearm with decreased light touch, pinprick, and temperature in the ulnar distribution of the right arm. Strength is normal. It was felt that he had a branch neuropathy of the sensory nerves. He was suggested to undergo nerve studies and see a hand surgeon.

Rehab:
I reviewed the medical records from Fox Lake dynamic hand therapy, which are extensive.

Diagnostic tests relevant to the right arm:
MRI performed at Open Advanced MRI on February 3, 2012 of the right forearm with and without intravenous contrast showed no forearm abnormality appreciated. The radiologist states that this does not exclude the possibility of ulnar nerve impingement, but there is no gross mass or abnormal infiltration along the expected course of the ulnar nerve. No obvious tendon or muscle abnormality appreciated at this time.

Nerve conduction studies performed on August 10, 2011 by Associates in Neurology were reviewed. The conclusion is that there is no evidence of nerve dysfunction

Nerve conduction studies performed on March 13, 2012 by Associates in Neurology were reviewed. This is both a nerve conduction study and an EMG. Both components are noted to be normal with no evidence of ulnar nerve dysfunction.

Operative report:
An operative report was authored by Dr. Sagerman with a preoperative diagnosis of right cubital tunnel syndrome and right ulnar nerve injury at the forearm. Dr. Biafora assisted with the procedure. The procedure was a right cubital tunnel release and right ulnar neurolysis of the forearm. The patient underwent a standard cubital tunnel release with no documented gross abnormalities noted except "the nerve was mobilized from adhesions". A longitudinal incision was made over the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm. He was noted to have some retained suture material that was removed (interesting as per the ER note, he had Vicryl placed which usually dissolves over 3 months). The muscle fibers were found to be in continuity. The ulnar nerve was exposed in its normal position. The nerve was dissected proximally and distally and was completely intact with no visible scarring or adhesions.

Depositions:
I reviewed the discovery deposition of Marcus Talerico taken on October 16, 2013. It should be noted that on page #10, when asked about the physical examination, Dr. Talerico states it was basically a normal exam except for the fact that he has a well-healed laceration in the area of the forearm where the chainsaw hit him. He had some apparent muscle incongruity meaning some scarring of the muscle belly level deep to the skin. He had no tenderness to palpation in the forearm. He has intact strength with normal wrist flexion and extension strength with normal grip strength and normal intrinsic strength. He had a negative Froment's sign. He has a positive Wartenberg's sign documented on page 12. Dr. Talerico states that a Wartenberg's sign is an objective test. On page #13, Dr. Talerico states that he had a healed laceration in the forearm with no appreciable nerve, tendon or artery injury. He had some scarring and he suggested he do therapy. He felt that he might have had a superficial sensory complaint given the history. On page 17, Dr. Talerico did not feel he was suffering from any type of disability. He felt he had some scarring in the forearm and he had a lot of complaints, but Dr. Talerico did not feel he had any real objective findings that he could come up with a diagnosis that he could treat. Dr. Talerico states on page #19 that he felt that he had a laceration to the muscle belly of his forearm that healed and he did not have any objective weakness or real abnormalities other than his subjective complaints of shooting, burning pain in the forearm area.

Dr. Karen Levin's, deposition taken on October 1, 2013 was reviewed. It would appear that she is a neurologist. On page 12, Dr. Levin outlines the subjective numbness that he had to touch. On page 24, Dr. Levin states that cutting the nerve can cause permanent numbness. On page 32, Dr. Levin states that the MRI of the forearm was negative. She states "I don't know why the patient has continued symptoms, not sure why he bends his little finger. Things get worse with pain in the entire arm. I suggested he get a third opinion with Dr. Scott Sagerman." On page 46. Dr. Levin states that she was confused on August 14, 2013. She did not know why he was still having these dystonia symptoms. He was placed back on Gabapentin and sent back to the hand surgeon.

The deposition of Dr. Ford taken on November 20, 2013 was reviewed. Dr. Ford is an emergency department physician.

I reviewed the deposition of Dr. Scott Sagerman taken on October 15, 2013. Dr. Sagerman states on page 39 that Mr. Dahlberg has some scarring of the ulnar nerve to the floor of the cubital tunnel and local constriction at the flexor pronator aponeurosis. This relates to his cubital tunnel syndrome. On page 41, Dr. Sagerman states that the laceration from the chain saw was "relatively deep - below the skin, below the fat, and into the muscle covering "but the muscle fibers were intact. There was suture material, presumably from where the laceration was originally repaired at the time of the injury. The nerve was not cut or visibly scarred in that area". Dr. Sagerman opined on page 41 that the scarring from the laceration would account for his symptoms, but fortunately the nerve itself was not cut.

I reviewed the deposition of Dr. Kathy Kujawa performed on July 23, 2014. She is a neurologist with an apparent specialty in movement disorders. Dr. Kujawa states on page 18 that after the injury she felt the brain is trying to rewire itself. Not only is the brain trying to rewire itself, the nerves are trying to regrow. Any nerves can regrow, but very slowly. Unfortunately, a lot of times the connections made are incorrect to the wrong muscle and to the wrong place. "So the man may say voluntary I want to squeeze my hand and the wrong muscle contracts, if they can contract at all." She felt these were permanent deficits.

I reviewed the deposition of Mr. Dulberg performed on January 24, 2013.

DISCUSSION: Mr. Dulberg is a 46-year-old right-hand dominant unemployed, graphic designer who on June 28, 2011 sustained a laceration to the ulnar aspect of his right midforearm. He was seen in the emergency room where the laceration was cleaned and sutured. He had 3-0 Vicryl sutures and 11 Prolene sutures in the skin. After the injury, he saw his primary care physician, followed by multiple hand surgeons. He initially saw Dr. Talerico who felt that his symptoms were not substantiated by his physical examination. He had two sets of nerve conduction studies with the second set including an EMG component, which were negative for any ulnar nerve injury. Dr. Talerico did not feel any surgery would be helpful. He had an MRI with and without IV contrast of his right forearm, which showed no gross abnormalities. Ultimately he saw Dr. Sagerman for another opinion who, after no benefit with further occupational therapy, performed a cubital tunnel release and explored his ulnar nerve in his mid forearm. He did find some adhesions in the cubital tunnel, which Dr. Sagerman opined is what one sees in cubital tunnel syndrome. As to the area of the forearm laceration, the muscle belly was noted to be intact and there was noted to be no injury, nor scar around the ulnar nerve. Mr. Dulberg had previously had his contralateral cubital tunnel release performed multiple years prior after a MVA. Mr. Dulberg currently has multiple symptoms that I cannot substantiate based on his physical examination or the medical records. His primary problem is that he describes cramps in his forearm. He states these occur at rest and with activities multiple times a day and are significantly exacerbated by activities. Despite seeing him and personally interacting with him for over an hour in the office today and having him perform multiple activities including squeezing a Jamar dynamometer at least six times on either side, I could not elicit any cramping or spasms in his forearm. Additionally, he had multiple red flags for symptom magnification, including shaking and weakness with abduction and adduction of his fingers, which waxed and waned. He could only actively flex his small finger to his palm; however, passively I could flex his small finger easily and pain-free to his palm, which he could then maintain, as well as after multiple flexion and extension movements of his fingers, he was able to flex his small finger to his palm actively. He describes weakness in his hand and states that he can't type or perform most activities. His examination showed that his grip strength on the right was between 80, 85, and 98 pounds, with no pain in his forearm and no spasming or cramps. His scar was not sensitive or tender and he demonstrated no irregularity in the area. The cross sectional area of his wrist, his mid forearm, and his proximal forearm were symmetric, which would not be the case had he injured the muscle, or nerve and if he was not using his arm normally.

I do feel that Mr. Dulberg sustained a laceration to the right forearm, which did not involve the muscle belly or the ulnar nerve, as proven on MRI, nerve studies and operative exploration. I do not feel that his current symptoms are supported by his physical examination. A laceration as described would not cause focal dystonic signs based on the fact that it did not involve any motor nerve fibers or muscle fibers.

Summary:
I believe that Mr. Dulberg sustained a forearm laceration involving the right mid forearm in the injury on June 28, 2011. This required emergency room care with irrigation and suture. Thereafter, he has developed multiple symptoms, which I cannot base on local anatomy or structural pathology in his right forearm. He has focal dystonic symptoms, which I disagree with Dr. Kujawa, as are not related to any structural abnormalities in his arm. As documented on his nerve studies his motor and sensory nerves were intact in the entire forearm. His muscle belly was intact as proven on MRI as well as seen at the time of surgery. Multiple physicians had stated that the muscle belly and/or sensory nerve branches has caused his problems, but in fact his muscle belly was never violated at the time of the injury as proven by the MRI and found at the surgery performed by Dr. Sagerman. Additionally, his ulnar nerve was found not to be injured by the chainsaw, also based on 2 sets of nerve studies and operative exploration. I believe the reason the providers made the statements above is because there was no structural cause for his symptoms. Obviously, Mr. Dulberg did have a peripheral superficial sensory nerve laceration, based on the fact that he had a laceration just as any laceration or surgery would violate the superficial sensory nerves to the skin. These would heal and stabilize, which they have based on his examination today. On his current examination, he demonstrates no evidence or muscle or nerve dysfunction around the laceration area and no evidence of any residual sensory dysfunction.

I believe that medical treatment that he received was necessitated by the accident. Subsequent treatment has been based on the temporal relationship between his symptoms and the injury, yet he currently has obvious nonorganic findings. He relates the focal dystonia to the accident; however, from a structural standpoint his focal dystonic symptoms have nothing to do with his structure in his forearm. Nothing in his forearm could account for his symptoms.

As to any preexisting medical problems, Mr. Dulberg's has a history of prior left cubital tunnel syndrome, which has been attributed to a motor vehicle accident. He developed cubital tunnel syndrome on the right side after a forearm laceration, distant to the cubital tunnel. He does have a strong smoking history. Chronic smoking has been associated with nerve pathology, diminished capacity for nerves to heal and increased risk of nerve irritation.

1. What if any disability relates to the accident?

   I feel Mr. Dulberg was debilitated for four to six weeks after the accident. After the laceration had healed, his symptoms began to be nonorganic, as described by Dr. Talerico in his deposition

2. What if any permanency is related to the accident?

   At the present time from a structural standpoint, Mr. Dulberg has no structural deficit in his right upper extremity. He has no structural cause in his right arm that is causing him any dysfunction. The described focal dystonic symptoms are not due to any structural pathology within his upper extremity.

COUNTY OF McHENRY

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, vs. DAVID GAGNON, Individually, and as Agent of CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, and CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, Individually, Defendants.	)	Case No. 12 LA 178 INTERROGATORIES TO PLAINTIFF

TO: Paul Dulberg
c/o Attorney Hans A. Mast
Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich
3416 West Elm Street
McHenry, IL 60050

The Defendants, BILL McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE, by Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, their attorneys, hereby propound the following written interrogatories upon PAUL DULBERG to be answered in writing and under oath within the time required by law based upon information available to the Plaintiff.

INTERROGATORY NO. 1): State the full name, present residence address, birthdate, birthplace and Social Security number of the person answering these Interrogatories; and state PAUL DULBERG's full name, present residence address, birthdate, birthplace and Social Security number.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 2): State your marital status on the date of the occurrence in question and, if married, your spouse's name and age on said date.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 3): State the full name and present or last known address (indicating which) of each person who:

(a) Witnessed or claims to have witnessed the occurrence in question.

ANSWER:

(b) Was present or claims to have been present at the scene immediately before said occurrence.

ANSWER:

(c) Was present or claims to have been present immediately after said occurrence.

ANSWER:

(d) Otherwise has or claims to have any knowledge of the facts or possible causes of the occurrence to include any damages or injuries alleged to have resulted from said occurrence.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 4): State specifically and with certainty the personal injuries and property damage, if any, sustained to PAUL DULBERG as a result of said occurrence.

ANSWER:

INTERROGATORY NO. 5): With regard to said injuries, state:

(a) The name and address of each treating and/or consulting practitioner.

ANSWER:

Case: Paul Dulberg v. David Gagnon, Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire
(McHenry County Case No. 12 LA 178)

Issued For Settlement Purposes Only

Dear Mr. Mast:

I am writing to confirm our telephone conversation earlier this morning, wherein I advised you that I was authorized to propose settlement of Mr. Dulberg's claim against Carolyn and Bill McGuire for a lump-sum total of $5,000.00. The settlement would of course be contingent upon customary settlement documents, including a release, a good faith settlement finding and dismissal.

Pursuant to your request, I searched my file materials for lien notices. The only notice of lien contained in my file at this time is your Attorney's Lien (enclosed). I have asked my contact at Auto-Owners Insurance Company to confirm no lien notices have arrived on his end since Mr. Dulberg's case was assigned to me for the defense of Mr. and Mrs. McGuire. I do not anticipating any lien notices, but just wanted to be safe.

I understand that you intend to run my settlement proposal by Mr. Dulberg. I look forward to hearing from you once you have had a chance to confer with him.

Very truly yours,

RONALD A. BARCH

Re: Paul R. Dulberg
Bankruptcy Case No. 14 83578

Dear Attorney Balke:

Following up on matters we recently discussed, the Bankruptcy Estate seeks to employ you to assist the Estate in pursuing Mr. Dulberg's pending personal injury claim.

It is my understanding that you do not have a conflict of interest, and that you can represent the Bankruptcy Estate. As a caution, I enclose a copy of Debtor's list of creditors (Schedules D through F). In light of this information, if you do not have a conflict, I would be most appreciative if you would review the enclosed Affidavit of Disinterest for accuracy and completeness.

Also, please know if you are able to settle the pending personal injury claim, before any settlement can be finalized, I will need to file with the Bankruptcy Court a motion approving the Debtor's settlement, along with approval of the payment of your attorney fees and costs, and the fees to be paid to any third party. In that motion and order, we can ask that your firm's fees and costs and any third party fees paid out of the gross proceeds, with the net proceeds tendered to the Estate.

Very truly yours,

Case No. _____

SCHEDULE D - CREDITORS HOLDING SECURED CLAIMS

State the name, mailing address, including zip code, and last four digits of any account number of all entities holding claims secured by property of the debtor as of the date of filing of the petition. The complete account number of any account the debtor has with the creditor is useful to the trustee and the creditor and may be provided if the debtor chooses to do so. List creditors holding all types of secured interests such as judgment liens, garnishments, statutory liens, mortgages, deeds of trust, and other security interests.

List creditors in alphabetical order to the extent practicable. If a minor child is a creditor, the child's initials and the name and address of the child's parent or guardian, such as "A.B., a minor child, by John Doe, guardian." Do not disclose the child's name. See, 11 U.S.C. §112 and Fed. R. Bankr. P. 1007(m). If all secured creditors will not fit on this page, use the continuation sheet provided.

If any entity other than a spouse in a joint case may be jointly liable on a claim, place an "X" in the column labeled "Codebtor" ,include the entity on the appropriate schedule of creditors, and complete Schedule H - Codebtors. If a joint petition is filed, state whether the husband, wife, both of them, or the marital community may be liable on each claim by placing an "H", "W", "J", or "C" in the column labeled "Husband, Wife, Joint, or Community".

If the claim is contingent, place an "X" in the column labeled "Contingent". If the claim is unliquidated, place an "X" in the column labeled "Unliquidated". If the claim is disputed, place an "X" in the column labeled "Disputed". (You may need to place an "X" in more than one of these three columns.)

Total the columns labeled "Amount of Claim Without Deducting Value of Collateral" and "Unsecured Portion, if Any" in the boxes labeled "Total(s)" on the last sheet of the completed schedule. Report the total from the column labeled "Amount of Claim" also on the Summary of Schedules and, if the debtor is an individual with primarily consumer debts, report the total from the column labeled "Unsecured Portion" on the Statistical Summary of Certain Liabilities and Related Data.

☐ Check this box if debtor has no creditors holding secured claims to report on this Schedule D.

	Allstate Claim No.:	0245281968
	McHenry Co. Cause No.:	12 LA 178
	D/O/L:	6-28-11

Dear Ms. Baudin:

Our firm represents Allstate Property and Casualty Insurance Company with respect to the insurance coverage issues raised by the lawsuit filed against Allstate's insured, David Gagnon, in McHenry County cause number 12 LA 178. It is our understanding that you have asserted Allstate's liability limits are 20% greater than what is stated on the policy's declarations page, because document number X71644-1, which is attached hereto, states that Allstate's policy provides its insured with "Coverage Cushion" that "extend[s] protection that provides reimbursement of up to 120% of [Allstate's] policy limit for covered losses." Your assertion is incorrect for a number of reasons and thus, there is only $300,000 of liability limits available to Mr. Gagnon for the 6-28-11 incident.

First, document number X71644-1 is not part of the policy itself. The document makes that clear at the end of page 2 where it states as follows:

> "[T]his document provides general information about the features of the Gold Protection package you selected. The specific details, which govern how the features apply, are shown in Allstate's rates, rules, and/or forms currently in effect..."

As you clearly could see, the document you have asserted increases Allstate's liability limits is not part of the policy. Instead, it is the policy declarations, the body of the policy and its endorsements that provide the specific details that govern the policy. Thus, the document you reference does nothing to increase Allstate's liability limits beyond what is stated on the policy declarations page.

Second, the policy, which is also attached, is void of any provision, condition or endorsement that increases Allstate's liability insurance policy limits beyond what is listed on the policy declarations page. The only place in the policy that discusses extended protection that provides reimbursement of up to 120% of Allstate policy limit is in endorsement APC270. That endorsement however makes it clear that this extended protection you are referring to only applies to first-party property damage claims for "Building Structure Reimbursement".

Accordingly, there is $300,000 of liability limits available to Mr. Gagnon under his Allstate homeowner's policy for the 6-28-11 incident giving rise to McHenry County cause number 12 LA 178.

If you have any questions or comments, please advise.

Very truly yours,

MORSE BOLDUC & DINOS, LLC

Subject: Findings and Conclusions for Dulberg v. Gagnon and McGuire

After reviewing the Depositions of Mr. Dulberg and Mr. Gagnon and the chainsaw owner's manual, the following observations and conclusions were made:

Mr. Dulberg was cut on the forearm (bottom) by a chainsaw while helping Mr. Gagnon limb a pine tree on the property of Mr. Gagnon's parents – Bill and Carol McGuire. While power tools such as this chainsaw make work more efficient, they carry hazards such as experienced in this incident. Manufacturers and retailers of power equipment go to great lengths to reduce the dangers associated with such equipment through training and warnings listed in owner's manuals. The chainsaw in this incident appears from a photograph to be a EFCO MT3500 purchased by the McGuires close to the date of the incident and probably was a new saw and probably equipped with an owner's manual. Depositions from both Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg indicated that they received no additional chainsaw training. Therefore, the owner's manual and their field experience were the primary sources of instructions for the safe use of the saw.

Mr. Gagnon was the only operator of the saw and, therefore, was responsible for its use. While the saw was appropriate for the tasks involved, there are safe and unsafe activities that could have taken place. The owner's manual shows 2 bar lengths for this saw – 14 and 16 inches. It appears that the McGuires chose the 16 inch bar. For the work involved, the shorter bars would have been safer and might have prevented or reduced the injury. It appears that Mr. Gagnon performed some unsafe acts which lead to Mr. Dulberg being cut. Also, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire who owned the saw apparently did not heed the warnings posted on page 2 of the owners manual which states: "Allow persons only who understand this manual to operate your chainsaw."

Cuts with chainsaws cause more damage than those caused by power or hand tools having a thinner blade such as that of a table saw. Chainsaws are designed to take out a "kerf" of about ¼ -inch, so if someone is cut, the sides of the cut are separated by this gap (or kerf) removing a chunk of meat and causing excessive bleeding and organ damage.

From the depositions, there is no mention of safety apparel – hard hat with ear and eye protection, safety chaps or pants nor safety gloves. (See page 7 of the owners manual for proper safety apparel.)

Proper safety apparel may have eliminated or reduced the severity of the injury.

Mr. Gagnon and the McGuires' goal was to remove a tall pine tree (40 – 50 feet in height) in their yard without damaging their buildings. From depositions, Mr. Gagnon chose to delimb this tree as it stood in a vertical position. According to Mr. Dulberg, Mr. Gagnon did this by climbing and cutting off limbs as he climbed the tree using limb stubs as a ladder where he placed his feet. In the owner's manual on page 9, it tells to never cut limbs from a ladder or a tree and always cut from a firm foundation or platform. Not having seen the exact circumstances, it cannot be stated unequivocally, but my recommendations would have been to fell the tree first before trying to remove any limbs higher than could be reached safely from the ground. Once the tree has been felled on the ground, the secondary limbs could have been removed while the primary limbs were still attached to the main bole. Bucking the primary limbs into firewood lengths could also be done in a safer fashion with them attached to the bole. Doing the work in this fashion would have eliminated the conditions of where Mr. Dulberg was cut. From Mr. Gagnon's deposition, there was room to fell the pine tree with its described height.

The EFCO MT3500 has a number of features designed to operate it safely. The handle where the accelerator trigger is located has a throttle trigger lockout device that must be depressed before the engine can accelerate which means that Mr. Gagnon had a tight hold on the trigger handle when the saw accelerated before cutting Mr. Dulberg. Mr. Dulberg states in his deposition that he was holding the butt end of a primary limb, and Mr. Gagnon was removing the secondary limbs moving from the tip of that primary limb toward the butt. The accident occurred after Mr. Gagnon removed the last secondary limb and was moving toward him with the saw. The saw accelerated with the bar and chain moving upward contacting the bottom of Mr. Dulberg's arm.

There was no mention of the chain brake being used. The MT3500 has a lever mounted just forward of the front handle. This lever serves to stop and lock the cutting chain movement when pushed forward; when in the rear position, the chain travels freely on the bar. On page 8 of the owners manual, it is recommended that the chain brake be set whenever the operator moves from place to place. Also, the bar should be facing to the rear of the direction of travel so that the sawyer would not fall on the bar and chain if he were to trip and fall. This applies directly to this incident. If Mr. Gagnon had set his chain brake and/or put the bar in a rearward position as he finished cutting the last secondary limb, Mr. Dulberg would not have been cut.

The MT3500 comes with a saw chain designed to reduce kickback. Kickback is a violent upward action of a chainsaw bar when the chain on the upper quadrant of the bar's tip comes in contact with an object. While this chain does not completely eliminate kickback, it helps. It is assumed here that the chain supplied by the manufacturer had not been replaced. In addition, if the saw chain had come in contact with some object that caused a kickback, the chain brake would have instantly stopped the chain as the bar traveled vertically and Mr. Gagnon's hand activated the chain brake. This brake activation would probably have protected Mr. Dulberg. Therefore, it is doubtful that a kickback occurred.

Page 7 of the owner's manual recommends that other people (bystanders) be kept at least 35 feet from someone operating a chainsaw. This is because the chainsaw operator should be focusing his attention on his task, not bystanders. Chainsaws are noisy and anyone around them should be wearing ear protection thus muffling emergency calls for help. It is recommended that bright clothing be worn by all bystanders and operators to help operators see people who might inadvertently move into the danger zones. This distance of 35 feet may be a bit overcautious, but the intent is to keep bystanders beyond the reach of the saw, limbs or trees being cut. The operator is the person in control of his saw and responsible for whatever results from his cutting. When trees are being felled, bystanders should be beyond the height of the tree; 2 tree heights is the recommended distance. If this rule had been followed, Mr. Dulberg would not have been cut.

Page 7 of the owner's manual has some additional recommendations that might apply to this incident. Cutting with chainsaws is fatiguing even for professional sawyers who use their saws everyday. For the occasional operator, chainsaw work can be very exhaustive. In this incident, Mr. Gagnon not only used a chainsaw when he was not accustomed to using one, but he also climbed a tree and delimbed it as he climbed. By the time Mr. Gagnon stop limbing and started removing secondary limbs from the primary limbs, he must have been very fatigued even with frequent breaks as described by Mr. Dulberg. The warning of the owner's manual not to cut when fatigued is very important in that fatigue impairs judgment, reduces response time and probably impairs reflexive actions. Simply put, we make mistakes when we are tired.

Another factor of this incident may have been a loose chain. New saw chains stretch when first used. This saw was probably new; this may have been its first application. The owner's manual discussed how to tension the chain on page 17 and describes proper break-in of the chain. The chain should have been tightened after the engine had become warm and later after some use. A loose chain might jump off the bar. Pertinent to this incident was that a loose chain will not decelerate as fast as a properly tightened one. Without the chain brake engaged, the chain continues to travel along the bar until it naturally comes to a stop. Mr. Dulberg said he tried to move away from the saw chain but could not escape its travel path. With a properly tensioned chain, it may have stopped before contacting his arm or at least been traveling at a slower speed and caused less damage to his arm.

After the review of the above evidence, it is my opinion that Mr. Gagnon was fully responsible for this accident and his parents – the McGuires – were also somewhat responsible by letting their son, Mr. Gagnon, use their chainsaw – a potentially dangerous tool – without enforcing the warnings and instructions available in the owner's manual. Mr. Gagnon was in full control of the saw and Mr. Dulberg was his assistant. Mr. Gagnon could have prevented this accident by following the instructions given in the owner's manual. The instructions in the owner's manual are quite clear and unambiguous, and if followed, would have prevented this accident. Mr. Gagnon admits that he was relatively inexperienced in the use of chainsaws, and therefore, should have been more careful while using such a potentially dangerous tool.

Respectfully submitted,

Bobby L. Lanford

Re: Your File: Paul Dulberg v. David Gagnon, et al
My File: Bankruptcy Estate of Paul Dulberg; Case No. 14-82297

Dear Attorney Mast:

Thank you for the information you sent on January 23rd. At this point in time, I am unable to determine if my bankruptcy case may be an asset case. (If it might be an asset case, my Estate needs to retain you to continue the pending pi case -- assuming you can be and want to be retained.)

I received from you a list of medical bills (which bills total over $58,000.) In addition, I just received from Debtor's counsel a copy of a letter from US Phy, by which this creditor claims a medical lien.

Can you please advise:

1) What is the total amount of medical liens filed against the pending pi case? (I received a copy of a document, listing medical bills totaling $58,387.33, but I don't know if any of these bills are unpaid and, if so, if the unpaid providers timely filed a medical lien).

2) As to the medical lien apparently claimed by US Phy (via its letter of January 8, 2015 - a copy of which is attached for your ready reference) is this letter the first lien claim it made against the personal injury cause of action? If so, based upon the little research I've done, to date, I don't think this letter is sufficient to claim a lien -- post-bankruptcy filing -- on Debtor's right to recover in his pi case. (It may be that I need to file something in the bankruptcy case to cause this lien to be removed. Investigation continues.)

3) Once I know the above facts, I will need to know the potential range of recovery, and, assuming the potential recovery is large enough, if you want to be retained by the Bankruptcy Estate to continue to represent the Debtor/Estate in the pending personal injury cause of action.

I look forward to hearing from you again soon.

Very truly yours,

My File: Bankruptcy Estate of Paul Dulberg; Case No. 14-82297

Dear Attorney Popovich:

Paul R. Dulberg filed a Chapter 7 bankruptcy petition on November 26, 2014, and I was assigned as Trustee. (A copy of the Notice of bankruptcy filing is attached for your ready reference.) As Trustee, I am duty bound to collect the Bankruptcy Estate's assets for the benefit of the Debtor's unsecured creditors.

One of the assets of Mr. Dulberg's Bankruptcy Estate is his interest in the personal injury cause of action pending in McHenry County, Illinois. Please note the Bankruptcy Estate's interest in your records.

Debtor has provided to me a copy of the Complaint, but nothing more. At this time, can you please "pull out your crystal ball" and estimate for my Estate the possible result of the pending litigation, the possible timing of its resolution, the extent of any medical liens, and the likely finally distribution to debtor? Also, if the case has sufficient worth, it may be best if the Bankruptcy Estate retains you and your firm to continue the representation (for the benefit of the Bankruptcy Estate.)

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Very truly yours,

McGUIRE DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO VACATE PROTECTIVE ORDER

Defendants, CAROLYN McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, by their attorneys, Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, herby move this Court to vacate the Protective Order entered on August 8, 2012 and modified on April 3, 2013. In further support of the Motion, Defendants Carolyn and Bill McGuire state as follows:

1. On or about May 5, 2012, the Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg, filed a multiple count complaint alleging he suffered injuries as a result of negligence on the parts of David Gagnon, Carolyn McGuire and Bill McGuire. In general, Plaintiff alleges he sustained severe and permanent injuries when a chain saw being operated by David Gagnon made contact with his arm.

2. On July 31, 2012, Plaintiff filed a Motion for Protective Order wherein he alleged that Plaintiff's counsel (Attorney Hans Mast) wanted an opportunity to photograph and inspect the subject "chain saw" and any parts, accessories and manual/paperwork pertaining to the saw. In his prayer for relief, Plaintiff requested a protective order declaring the "saw and its parts and accessories and paperwork/manual be preserved and protected without destruction or loss until further order of this court." A copy of Plaintiff's Motion for Protective Order is attached as "Exhibit A."

3. On August 8, 2012, the Court granted Plaintiff's Motion for Protective Order. A copy of the Court's order of August 8, 2012 is attached as "Exhibit B."

4. On March 20, 2013, the depositions of Carolyn McGuire and Bill McGuire proceeded with counsel for Plaintiff (Attorney Hans Mast) and counsel for Co-Defendant (Attorney Perry Accardo) present. Prior to the start of the depositions the "chain saw" allegedly involved in the injury to Plaintiff was presented for inspection and photographing. Plaintiff's counsel photographed the chain saw and also photographed the Owner's Manual.

5. On April 3, 2013, the Court's protective order was modified to allow the owners to utilize the chain saw and Owner's Manual in the ordinary course. The protective order further directed that the owners shall not sell or discard the chain saw, parts, accessories and associated paperwork without further order of the court. A copy of the Amended Protective Order dated April 3, 2013 is attached as "Exhibit C."

6. Subsequent to the entry of the amended protective order the Plaintiff reached a settlement agreement with Carolyn McGuire and Bill McGuire as to all matters in controversy, whereupon the negligence claims and contribution claims against them were dismissed with prejudice. A copy of the Good Faith Finding and Order of Dismissal entered on January 22, 2014 is attached as "Exhibit D."

7. With the claims against Carolyn McGuire and Bill McGuire fully resolved, counsel for the McGuires issued a letter to Attorney Mast and Attorney Accardo seeking an agreement to have the pending protective order vacated. A copy of the February 12, 2014, letter to counsel is attached as "Exhibit E."

8. During a chance meeting in the Winnebago County Courthouse shortly after the February 12 letter issued, Attorney Accardo advised informally that he had no objection to vacating the protective order. Counsel for the McGuires has not heard from Attorney Mast.

9. Counsel for Plaintiff and Counsel for Defendant Gagnon have both had an opportunity to photograph and inspect the subject chain saw. In addition, both attorneys have copies of the Owner's Manual associated with the subject chain saw.

10. The subject chain saw was brand new on the date of Plaintiff's claimed injury and Plaintiff does not allege or claim that he was injured due to a manufacturing defect associated with the subject chain saw.

11. No prejudice will result to Plaintiff or Defendant Gagnon should this Court vacate the Amended Protective Order.

12. No just reason exists to delay the McGuires' request to vacate the Amended Protective Order.

WHEREFORE, the Defendants, Carolyn McGuire and Bill McGuire, respectfully pray this court to vacate the Amended Protective Order dated April 3, 2013.

McGUIRE DEFENDANTS' MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE AMENDED ANSWER AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Defendants, BILL McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE, by and through their attorneys, Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, hereby moves the Court for an Order granting them leave to file an amended answer and affirmative defense to Count I of Plaintiff's complaint. In support of their Motion, the movants further state as follows:

1. On May 15, 2012, Plaintiff PAUL DULBER filed a two count complaint over injuries he attributes to a chainsaw accident that occurred on June 28, 2011.

2. Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire owned the residential property upon which the chainsaw accident purportedly occurred. However, neither defendant witnessed the occurrence set forth in Plaintiff's Complaint.

3. On January 24, 2013, Plaintiff Paul Dulberg submitted for a discovery deposition.

4. Based upon the deposition testimony of Plaintiff Paul Dulberg, the movants reasonably believe Plaintiff Paul Dulberg was guilty of contributory negligence in connection with the occurrence set forth in his complaint.

WHEREFORE, the Defendants, BILL McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE, pray that the Court enter an Order granting them leave to file an amended answer adding an affirmative defense of comparative fault. A copy of the proposed Amended Answer and Affirmative Defense is attached to this motion as Exhibit A.

5/29/13 PC from pt. he had a severe migraine last night & tried samples but all he did was vomit. Taken up. PT lost his bowels too. PT stated he just "passed out from pain" last night and awoke this morning c no pain - but a numb feeling. Pt not sure how to measure/prevent next episode. Per RFC - pt can try. 10mg N.S. samples given to pt. rndm

8/12/13 PC from pt - he was taking the gabapentin 900mg bid until July + then stopped because he didn't think it was doing anything for him. But he now realizes it was helping + P.T. re: he restart as well. Per RFC - pt needs an appt. Appt rndm

8-14-13 here for F4. reads been doing well so he self stopped taking the Carbamazepine. He has been noticing spells of tingling & burning across scar area then notices contracture in scar area & his entire hand including wrist area contracts & curls up. Stays a few second
Even c other times he thinks the strength is so bad. He said Dr. Sagerman took him in past that there was a lot of scar tissue left.
Now says he had spells like this since injury only lately now having it several times a day.

Imp Not sure why he is now having dystonia like symptoms. I agree he needs to see Dr Sagerman.

Since he thinks Gabapentin helped will restart it @ 300 BID. Warned him not to stop "cold turkey" would need tapering. Call 2 weeks for possible ↑.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Hans

C: File

FROM: Bob

DATE: October 30, 2013

SUBJECT: DISCOVERY DEPOSITION OF DR. SCOTT SAGERMAN

CASE: PAUL DULBERG

On October 15, 2013, I attended the discovery deposition of Dr. Scott Sagerman regarding his treatment of our client, Paul Dulberg. To review, Paul was injured in a chainsaw accident in which his right forearm was significantly injured and damaged after a chainsaw struck it while helping a friend cut down a tree limb.

FAVORABLE TESTIMONY:

In summary, the doctor was able to tie the forearm pain and symptoms being muscle pain and weakness in gripping and pulling things in his forearm to the accident. It was a deep laceration to his forearm and there was some injury to those muscles and nerves which may have been causing the pain in that area. The surgery to the forearm and treatment of that he felt he could easily relate to the accident.

UNFAVORABLE TESTIMONY:

In contrast to the positive points, the cubital tunnel injuries and subsequent surgeries and treatment that Paul had in his right elbow would be difficult to relate back to the accident and the doctor basically said that it was too far distal from where the chainsaw struck him to have been caused by the accident. Furthermore, any subsequent pain Paul would have had to his left arm would also be a stretch to show that that was somehow related to overcompensate him from the right arm. The doctor did note that it was possible, but I don't know that we can firmly count on his testimony to show that to be a viable claim.

SUMMARY:

On October 15, 2013, I attended the discovery deposition of Dr. Scott Sagerman in Paul Dulberg's case. The doctor identified himself as an orthopedic surgeon with specialties in hand and upper extremities. He did have some recollection of Paul from the numerous treatments of him. This accident occurred on 04/28/11 and the first visit with Dr. Sagerman was on 02/27/12. He does know that he had seen Dr. Sek prior to this as well as Dr. Levin and Dr. Talerico.

The doctor did note that he had seen Paul sometime in the past in 2003 and 2004 when he was diagnosed with cubital tunnel syndrome in his left arm. This is an ulnar nerve condition regarding compression of the nerve in the elbow. The ulnar nerve is the main nerve behind the elbow in the cubital tunnel area. It extends to the inner side of the hand and provides muscle function to the hand. The symptoms of this syndrome would be numbness and tingling on the inside of the hand, mainly the ring finger and the small finger especially. This is significant as it also notes the same symptoms that Paul had displayed, along with others, in his current treatment with Dr. Sagerman. It is further significant because Dr. Sagerman was not able to tie that cubital tunnel syndrome and symptoms to the chainsaw accident. This earlier treatment in 2003 and 2004 showed the same symptoms and the same type of ailment as he was currently claiming of with his right hand now. The onset of this prior treatment was a motor vehicle accident in March, 2002. The doctor did not have anything else specific regarding that. He noted that the common causes of cubital tunnel syndrome is a compression on the nerve. It may be spontaneous or as a result of injury to the vicinity or it can also be from strenuous activities. As to whether it can be caused simply by repetitive use, he doesn't think so. He noted that these quite type of activities generally cannot create such an ailment. Back then, surgery was done to correct the cubital tunnel and it was successful.

Bring us up to more modern times, in February, 2012, he first came to him for the injury resulting from the chainsaw accident. He didn't really know how it occurred but he does have some history in his medical records. In February, 2009, he did send a letter to Dr. Sek regarding his treatment with Paul which he had on his first visit on February 27, 2012. He noted in that letter that Paul developed symptoms of numbness in the small finger as well as weakness and that he treated it with therapy and had an EMG test and an MRI scan. He noted that he did not have the emergency room notes at that time. Regarding the past medical history, it does note some arthritis as well as cervical disc disease. The doctor did not know much about this but it looked like it was in the neck area. There were various medications that he was on at the time as well and noted that they were for anti-inflammatory, a pain medicine, depression, and for muscle spasms. Regarding his exam on that first appointment of February 27, 2012, the doctor basically read from his notes on that day. He noted there was a large scar on the mid forearm between the elbow and the inner side in the wrist. He noted positive Tinel sign which is conducted by tapping over the nerve area and it will show pain or indicated nerve dysfunction or injury. This is a subjective finding. On the cubital tunnel region on the right side, there was sensitivity there also. Wrist and elbow motion were unrestricted and there were no visible signs of atrophy. He noted that he was able to abduct the small finger which is to pull it sideways from the other fingers. His flexion strength was normal. X-rays showed no fracture. He reviewed the films of the MRI from February 3, 2012 and noticed no abnormalities. The MRI report noted weakness in the ring and small finger. He noted that even though there was nothing abnormal in the images that he was not too exclude the possibility that the nerve was still injured. He noted that just because it's not in the film that there may still be some nerve injuries in and around the point where Paul was complaining. The nerve conduction study was also conducted on August 10, 2011, and there was no evidence of neuropathy. This is a negative finding, however, it does not rule out the possibility of the nerve injury. Same as the MRI report. That being said, it is important to note that simply because these two studies, being the MRI and nerve conduction study, did not show anything abnormal, that does not mean that there is not a nerve injury still present. His impression was that the right forearm was a laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury. At the scar area, he noted there was a deep laceration there and there may be ulnar nerve issues. It is possible that the nerve could have been directly damaged. He was showing signs of an ulnar nerve injury and local sensitivity in that area of his forearm. That is further suggestions of such a nerve injury. He then sent him for a follow up for an EMG. This is different from a nerve conduction study in that the nerve conduction study studies and evaluates the velocity of the nerve impulses. An EMG tests the muscle to be indicative of an injury. He wanted the EMG because it will give a more complete analysis. He felt in his opinion that was warranted. They also brought up surgery at that point as a nerve exploration to expose the area of injury. The EMG was ordered and no work restrictions were put into place. The EMG was done with Dr. Levin on March 13. The next visit with Dr. Sagerman was on 04/02/12.

On 04/02/12, Dr. Sagerman had another appointment with Paul Dulberg in his office. He had the EMG tests which was done by Dr. Levin and it showed no evidence of neuropathy. It also showed that the nerve conduction was within normal limits. At that point, there was no documentation that the nerve was not functioning properly. There was still a positive Tinel sign which is subjective and there is still the abduction of the small finger with a positive Wartenbergs sign. It is noted that he did not wish to pursue surgery at this time but there were some recommendations given for strength exercises and scar management.

The next visit was on 05/14/12 and there were new complaints at this point. Paul was having issues with persistent pain with the use of his arm as well as gripping and squeezing things. There was no change in the symptoms of numbness or tingling in his fingers, but that was not bothersome to him. His function in the arm was limited due to pain symptoms. Upon examination, he found that the Wartenberg sign is still positive and his intrinsic strain is slightly weak. This weakness was of the muscles in the hand that control the fingers. There was also no clawing. This would be an abnormal posturing to the finger due to the muscle issues. This is commonly seen in ulnar nerve injuries. However, there were no signs of clawing in Paul on that date. The discussion was had regarding possible surgery for an ulnar nerve neurolysis. This was more of an exploratory issue to find out what was bothering the nerve and to decompress the nerve. His next visit, he was ordered to follow up with a different doctor, being Dr. Sam Biafora. This was to get a second opinion on his pains and it was suggested by Dr. Sagerman to do this.

The next visit was on 05/17/12 with Dr. Sam Biafora. Dr. Sagerman testified as to what Dr. Biafora had noted in his records which we have. He noted in his records that he was to see Paul for a second opinion after being referred to him by Dr. Sagerman. He noted that Paul sustained a chainsaw injury to his right forearm. He noted that Paul told him that he had a partial nerve injury in the emergency room. On this day he noted weakness in his right hand as well as numbness in his right small and ring fingers at rest with occasional tingling. He also reported a shooting, burning type of pain which radiates proximally and distally from the area of the injury in the proximal forearm. He noted this occurs several times a day at rest and more predictably with use. Upon physical exam, Dr. Biafora noted that there is a positive Tinel at the cubital tunnel through to approximately several centimeters distal to that. There was also transverse swelling and a heeled scar several millimeters in length at the proximal third of the forearm on the ulnar side. He also noted that there is a positive Tinel over the scar and at the most volar radial aspect of the scar. There is also significant tenderness at the scar to deep palpation on its most ulnar and distal border near the ulna. He also noted Tinel over the most volar and radial aspect of the scar radiates into the ulnar digits. He noted there was still positive Wartenbergs signs. He did have good strength and flexation of the small and ring fingers but there is pain at the scar on its most dorsal and ulnar border with resisted DIP flexion of the small finger. His assessment was that he felt there was approximately a 1 year status post the laceration and there was likely a partial ulnar nerve injury with ulnar nerve neuritis. Dr. Sagerman explained this to be that at the site of injury, there was a potential at that location for dysfunction of the ulnar nerve. That would explain some of the symptoms Paul has had and he has been experiencing in the ulnar nerve in his hand as well. Dr. Biafora also recommended surgery and felt that the patient "may benefit from an ulnar nerve exploration with neuroysis". He also noted that he would recommend this also to include the cubital tunnel decompression with possible anterior transposition. He noted that it will not likely improve the motor deficits in his hand but it may improve the pain that Paul is experiencing in his forearm. He noted that he also had separate and distinct tenderness in the most dorsal ulnar aspect of the wound and it may require exploration of that portion of the scar as well. Paul noted that he wanted some time to think about it before he made a decision and will follow up with Dr. Sagerman in four weeks.

The next visit was with Dr. Sagerman on 06/06/12. He noted that prior Dr. Levin had given him Neurontin to treat the nerve pain that he was having. Dr. Sagerman normally doesn't give that drug and he feels there is problems with side effects and there is a better prescription for him to have. On that date he reported no change in his symptoms despite that medication. However, he is noting some side effects from that medication which may interfere with his functioning. Paul at that time noted he would like to proceed with the surgery that was discussed with Dr. Biafora previously. He also had had additional therapy but it was discontinued due to lack of progress. He went on with the physical examination and noted that the right elbow and forearm was unchanged. There was a positive Tinel sign present at the cubital tunnel without ulnar nerve subluxation. The forearm scar is stable with tenderness and sensitivity to percussion. He indicates he had pain when he was trying to grip things which was localized to the forearm region and resulted in increased numbness in his ring and small fingers as well as weakness in his grip. The surgery was discussed and Paul noted that he feels that any improvement in the symptoms will be beneficial in terms of his arm functioning normal. There was a bit of a discrepancy here between this visit and the last one in which on 05/14 it was noted that physical therapy seems to be getting him some benefit but as of the 06/06 appointment, it is noted that physical therapy is not helpful. The doctor could not explain the difference between the 2 or why that was the case.

Paul then had his surgery on 07/09/12. The doctor noted at that time that prior to the surgery regarding Paul's prognosis, the doctor was very guarded in his prognosis. He didn't really know how much improvement there was going to be as it is hard to predict how much better it is when you don't know the extent of the nerve injury, which is all the more reason why you are going in for the exploration to determine the extent of the surgery.

The surgery was on July 9th. The pre-operative diagnosis was the same and this was an outpatient type surgery. There were 2 things that they were going after in the surgery. No. 1 was the right elbow cubital tunnel issue and release and there was also the pain in the right forearm. Regarding the cubital tunnel release which is done in the right elbow, it did show thickening of the cubital tunnel ligament with scarring of the ulnar nerve to the floor of the cubital tunnel with local constriction. This basically meant a pinched nerve in the elbow area. This was in essence the same type of procedure or injury Paul had suffered back in 2003 and 2004. However, the doctor could not 100% confirm that as he did not have those records. What he found would be consistent with cubital tunnel syndrome and its causes. He did note regarding the surgery to the right forearm that there was a very deep laceration into the muscle which covered the nerves but the muscle fibers were actually in tact. He noted in his report that the site of the previous chainsaw laceration revealed extension to the subcutaneous tissue and fascia overlying the flexor carpi ulnaris muscle. He noted that the nerve was not cut and there was no visible scarring around the ulnar nerve at that level. The findings in this were important for us in that it showed that these were consistent with his complaints. It seemed that from the laceration, what he found would account for Paul's symptoms. He basically went on to discuss the scarring of the muscle and whereas it is maybe difficult to say, he felt the scarring of the muscle may have caused the ailments that Paul was suffering from. He also noted that as far as the cubital tunnel, that would account for the ailments that Paul was suffering in his ring and pinky finger. These are two separate independent findings at two different sites. In summary as I will go over later, it basically noted that the doctor would tie the injury to the forearm and that weakness and lack of grip to our accident. However, he would not tie the cubital release in his elbow to the accident as he felt it was too distal from where the accident actually occurred.

The next visit was on 07/11/12. There did not seem to be any real issues at that time and the patient was doing well. His function had increased and his symptoms had improved and his strength had increased. He still had some soreness in his elbow and that was normal. As far as restrictions at work, he did not feel that Paul should have any as doing work sitting at a computer.

The next visit was on 07/23/12. At that time, Paul seemed to be doing fine.

He then saw him on 07/30/12 and noted also that he was doing well and his arm feels much better and he has increased function and feels that his symptoms have improved.

The next visit was on 08/27/12. On this, he noted that Paul was doing okay and that his elbow was sore and he was participating in therapy. His progress at this time was satisfactory and his grip strength had increased and his hand function had improved. There were no signs of infection or any other issues. He was told to continue his therapy and come back in about 6 weeks.

His next visit was on 10/22/12 and he noted he was feeling better. His function has improved and he is gaining strength. The sensation in his fingers has improved and he is pleased he can now grasp objects better then he did before the surgery. He still has some difficulty with certain activities regarding gripping and pinching of small objects. He was examined and it was noted that he will continue his home exercises as well as those given by his therapist. He can also advance in his activities is as tolerated. He noted on this time that they discussed work activities and that Paul noted he is currently unemployed and plans to pursue disability. They noted the next visit in 6 weeks.

The next visit was on 12/03/12. On this date, he was in for an evaluation of his right hand and right arm. He noted he still has some weakness and pinch strength and difficulty grasping objects. But he is performing his home exercises. It is at this point that he also notices an onset of left elbow symptoms with no proceeding trauma. After an examination, the doctor's impression was that he had a left lateral epicondylitis. This is a degeneration of the elbow which basically is tennis elbow. Causes are normal wear and tear and are degenerative. The fibers lose their strength and it causes issues. This can be caused by blunt trauma or certain actions can cause it also. As to whether it will be caused by over compensation, that would seem to be a stretch, according to Dr. Sagerman. Most of it was the same and this examination was predominantly on the left arm and again, as stated before, he did not really feel that these injuries would be caused by over compensating from the injury he had to his right arm.

The next visit was on 03/25/13 and all is really noted regarding the right arm on this visit is he did have some intermittent soreness in the right forearm area. Nevertheless, the scar was stable and there was mild sensitivity at the most ulnar aspect of it. At the right forearm scar, a padded elbow sleeve was provided for protection and he may follow up on an as needed basis if symptoms worsen. On that date, it looks like he gave a steroid injection, but was not asked significantly about this during the deposition. Again, this seems to be an unrelated ailment.

The next visit was on 08/26/13. On that visit, he did come in for some slight intermittent pains in his right forearm in the muscle cramping area. He noted that the right forearm scar was stable with no focal tenderness to sensitivity. But he did describe intermittent muscle spasms with discomfort despite the medication. Dr. Kathleen Kajawa suspects possible dystonia. He was then referred out to a neurologist.

Regarding the doctor's opinions of his injuries in relation to the chainsaw accident, he noted that the chainsaw injury was a deep laceration of the right forearm. He felt that the injury to the forearm from the chainsaw was definitely related to our accident. He felt also that the surgery to that forearm was also related to the accident and the pain and symptoms that he was feeling in his right forearm would all be relatable to the chainsaw accident. As for the prognosis of that, he felt Paul should remain stable within a certain degree of certainty, the symptoms should remain unchanged as to what he would expect.

Regarding the cubital tunnel syndrome, he did not feel that that was related to the accident. He felt that the injury to the elbow where the cubital tunnel is located as well as the surgical procedure that they did there was too far from the forearm to relate it to the accident. As to whether the injury to the forearm could be some kind of a by-product of the cubital tunnel, he really didn't think so. He felt that the injury from the chainsaw was too distal to the elbow to effect the elbow in the way that they found. The injury would account for the scarring as well as the lack of grip and weakness that he was having in his forearm. However, the cubital tunnel would account more for the numbness and tingling in his fingers and that he could not attribute the accident.

Regarding any disability, as for the forearm, he would have difficult time pushing, pulling or lifting certain things at times. He would have to accommodate for that impairment in doing those activities. He could do some of those things to the extent that his forearm and the strength would allow him to do that. As to whether he can work at all from the forearm injury, he can work as it is tolerated. The doctor did note as to whether that makes him totally disabled would probably not be the case. Especially with the fact that he works at a computer most of the time. As to whether there is any overlap between the injury to the forearm which is relatable and the cubital tunnel which does not seem to be relatable, the doctor did note that you really have to look at the medical records to evaluate which of the charges could be deemed relatable versus not. They are two distinct and separate surgeries and incidents, but nevertheless, there are probably is some overlap between the two of them and there is treatment for both areas on any number of the doctor visits. As to whether the left elbow pain could anyway be related, the doctor felt it would be quite a stretch to do that but it really would depend on what you are doing with your left elbow. He would not commit. After surgery, as to whether he had full disability, it really depended on his function and his abilities to do whatever it is he was being asked to do. Again, as to whether it is a total disability, the doctor felt it was hard to say. But if it was a computer based job and he would not have to do any strenuous work, such as pulling, pushing, lifting, or whatnot, and if he stuck mostly to the computer-based jobs, he doesn't know if he could say he would be totally disabled.

HISTORY & PHYSICAL

PATIENT: Dulberg, Paul AGE: 41 years old EXAM DATE: 12/02/11

CHIEF COMPLAINT: Right forearm pain.

HPI: Patient is a 41-year-old male who is right-hand dominant. He was referred by Dr. Karen Levin, MD, neurology, for evaluation of an injury he sustained to his right medial forearm in June of 2011. He apparently was using a chain saw when he accidentally struck the volar medial aspect of his right forearm in roughly the mid forearm range with a chain saw. He had a large open wound down to muscle. He was seen in the emergency department where the wound is here it at the muscle was sewn together and the skin was closed. He followed up with his primary care provider. He has noted persistent pain which he describes as intermittent and shooting in character radiating from the laceration site. He occasionally has intermittent numbness and tingling in the ring and small finger. He reports grip weakness and no endurance with wrist flexion and gripping. He has not had therapy to date. He did have an EMG/NCS performed by Dr.Levin in August of 2011. Per the patient the study was normal. I do not have that study available at this moment. He currently is not working but is a graphic designer by training. He reports using a computer mouse for 20 minutes causes significant forearm pain.

MEDICATION: Patient has no current medications.
ALLERGIES: nkda
REFERRAL SOURCE: Not Referred By

ILLNESSES: Arthritis
OPERATIONS: Ulnar Nerve Transportation: Active
SOCIAL HISTORY: Alcohol - Denies
Marital Status: Single
Smoking: current every day smoker
FAMILY HISTORY: Diabetes

PHYSICAL EXAM:

Vitals: No data for Vitals.
Appearance: No distress, good color on room air. Alert and cooperative.
Skin: Bilateral upper extremities: no open wounds or skin changes.
Neuro: Bilateral upper extremities: Median, radial and ulnar nerves are motor and sensory intact. Light touch intact all digits, no weakness or wasting.
Vascular: Bilateral upper extremities: palpable radial pulses and brisk capillary refill.
Focused Exam: Examination of his right upper extremity reveals his elbow has normal painless range of motion. No focal tenderness to palpation. Collateral ligaments are stable. His forearm compartments are soft. He has a well-healed transverse laceration on the volar medial mid forearm level. There is no erythema, drainage, or fluctuance at the level of the laceration. There is no tenderness to palpation at the laceration site. There is some apparent muscle incongruity. Distally his hand demonstrates no atrophy. He has 5 out of 5 intrinsic strength. 5 out of 5 APB strength. He can make a full fist with full extension of all digits. He does not demonstrate a clawed posture. He has a negative Froment sign. He has a positive Wartenberg sign. Wrist flexion and extension is 5 out of 5 strength. He has a palpable FCU and ECU tendons at the level of the wrist. They have appropriate tension.

IMAGING: None today.

ASSESSMENT:
DIAGNOSIS: 906.1-LATE EFFECT OPEN WND EXTREM
PROCEDURES: 99203-NEW Detailed, Low Complexity

PLAN:
Plan: I reviewed findings, treatment options, and recommendations with the patient concerning the forearm complaints he has. I would like to see the official report of the EMG/NCS. We will obtain this report. There is no evidence of a complete injury to his ulnar nerve on physical exam. His complaints are likely muscular in origin. He may have some superficial sensory complaints as well. I do not think he needs any surgical intervention at this time. I did recommend and provided him with a prescription for occupational therapy to work on strengthening and conditioning of the forearm musoles. They can also perform some pain control modalities. I would like to see him back in 4-6 weeks' time to see if therapy is of some assistance to him. I will contact him by phone if his EMG is significantly abnormal. Otherwise we will discuss it at the next followup visit. Patient was in agreement with the plan.

Prescription: No data for Prescription
Work Status: Not applicable.

ASSESSMENT & PLAN:

Plan: I reviewed findings, treatment options, and recommendations with the patient concerning the forearm complaints he has. I reviewed the EMG/NCS which is a normal study. There is no evidence of ulnar nerve injury. Given the location of his injury this is the only significant problem I can imagine from this wound. There is no evidence of any nerve or tendon injury. He may have some residual soreness and some superficial sensory abnormalities but this should improve over time. Our recommendation is simply continued therapy. No need for surgical intervention that I can foresee. Unfortunately do not have anything further to offer the patient at this time. I would be happy to see him back in the future on an as needed basis.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE 22ND JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
COUNTY OF McHENRY

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, vs. DAVID GAGNON, Individually, and as Agent of CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, and CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, Individually, Defendants.	)	Case No. 12 LA 178

MOTION FOR GOOD FAITH FINDING AND FOR ORDER OF DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE BY DEFENDANTS BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLYN McGUIRE

Defendants, BILL McGUIRE (aka William McGuire) and CAROLYN McGUIRE (improperly named Caroline), by and through their attorneys, Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, P.C., hereby move this Court to dismiss all claims against them with prejudice and further request this Court to find that the settlement set forth in this motion was made in good faith and within the meaning and contemplation of the Illinois Contribution Among Joint Tortfeasors Act, 740 ILCS 100/1, et seq. In support of their Motion, Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire state as follows:

1. On or about March 15, 2012, Plaintiff Paul Dulberg filed a multiple count complaint seeking damages for personal injuries he generally attributes to a chain saw incident that occurred on or about June 28, 2011, at and upon the premises owned by Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire, known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

2. Plaintiff generally alleges that Defendant David Gagnon injured him with a chain saw while working under the supervision and control of Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire. Defendant David Gagnon denies any and all liability for Plaintiff Paul Dulberg's injuries. Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire also deny any and all liability for Plaintiff Paul Dulberg's injuries and further deny that Defendant David Gagnon was under their control and supervision and working or acting as their employee or agent at the time of the alleged chain saw incident.

3. On February 1, 2013, Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire filed a cross-claim for contribution against Defendant David Gagnon. The cross-claim for contribution seeks contribution from Defendant David Gagnon for injuries claimed by Plaintiff Paul Dulberg and is based upon the terms and provisions of the Illinois Contribution Among Joint Tortfeasors Act, 740 ILCS 100/1, et seq.

4. Plaintiff Paul Dulberg and Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire have negotiated a settlement of all claims which Plaintiff brought or could have brought against Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire. The settlement was negotiated at arm's length over a substantial period of time, and with the advice of counsel on the part of both parties. There is no collusion or fraud on the part of any of the parties to the negotiation.

5. Pursuant to Section 100/2(c) of the Contribution Act, an alleged tortfeasor that settles with a claimant in good faith shall be discharged from liability for contribution to any other tortfeasors.

6. Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire deny and continue to deny liability to Plaintiff Paul Dulberg and further contest the nature and scope of the injuries Plaintiff Paul Dulberg attributes to the subject chain saw incident.

7. The lump-sum payment of $5,000.00 to Plaintiff Paul Dulberg by or on behalf of Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire constitutes adequate consideration for purposes of a good faith settlement under Section 100/2(c) of the Contribution Act.

8. Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire respectfully suggest that the settlement with Plaintiff Paul Dulberg is and was made in good faith within the meaning of the Illinois Contribution Among Joint Tortfeasors Act, 740 ILCS 100/2(c).

WHEREFORE, the Defendants, BILL McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE, respectfully pray for the Court as follows:

(1) For an Order declaring that the settlement between Plaintiff Paul Dulberg and Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire was made and entered into in good faith within the meaning of the Illinois Contribution Among Joint Tortfeasors Act, 740 ILCS 100/1, et seq.;

(2) For an Order dismissing all civil complaints, cross-claims, counterclaims and contribution claims currently pending against Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire, and arising out of or otherwise connected to the injuries claimed by Plaintiff Paul Dulberg, with prejudice;

(3) For an Order declaring that any potential future claims against Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire, including, without limitation, claims for contribution arising out of or otherwise connected to the chain saw incident and injuries claimed by Plaintiff Paul Dulberg, are barred;

(4) For an Order declaring for purposes of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 304(a) that there is no just reason to delay enforcement or appeal of the Dismissal Order; and

(5) That this Court enter an order granting such further relief as this Court deems just.

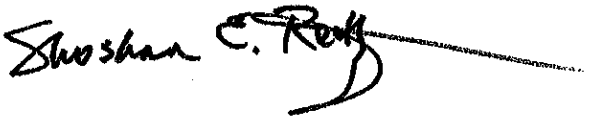
MOTION TO BAR NEW OPINIONS/MEDICAL TREATMENT OF DR. KUJAWA AND COMPEL PLAINTIFF EXPERT DEPOSITION

Defendant(s), David Gagnon, by and through the undersigned counsel, move(s) this Court for the entry of an Order to bar new medical opinions and treatment by Dr. Kujawa and compel discovery and deposition of plaintiff's new expert and as grounds therefore state(s):



1. Dr. Kujawa's discovery deposition was taken on 7/23/14 and plaintiff's last medical treatment at that time was in May 2014 with Dr. Kujawa.

2. Plaintiff recently made a policy demand in this matter and based that demand on Dr. Kujawa's new opinions as to medical care that plaintiff continued to receive from her that were not disclosed and the opinions that medical care will be necessitated for the remainder of plaintiff's life at an estimated cost of almost $ 300,000.00.

3. Plaintiff recently disclosed a new expert arborist opinion and defense requests the opportunity to take the discovery deposition of the expert and receive answers to written discovery requests.

Wherefore, defendant requests that this Honorable Court bar the new opinions and medical care of Dr. Kujawa as not being properly disclosed and seasonally supplemented and for the discovery deposition and answers to discovery from plaintiff's new expert arborist or for whatever other relief the Court deems appropriate.

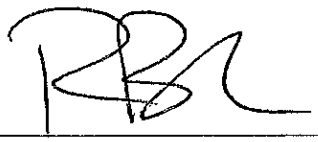
MOTION TO COMPEL

Defendants, BILL McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE, by and through their attorneys, Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, hereby moves the Court for an Order compelling Defendant David Gagnon to answer Interrogatories and a Request for Production previously propounded upon him. In support of their Motion, the movants further state as follows:



1. On September 27, 2012, the Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire served upon the Defendant David Gagnon written interrogatories and a production request to be answered within 28 days.

2. On October 29, 2012, during efforts to schedule party depositions, counsel for the movants orally requested Defendant Gagnon's discovery responses. The subject was revisited during Plaintiff Dulberg's deposition on January 24, 2013.

3. As of the date of writing, Defendant Gagnon has failed to cooperate in discovery by failing to answer the movant's written interrogatories and production request.

WHEREFORE, the Defendants, BILL McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE, pray that the Court enter an Order compelling Defendant GAGNON to provide responses to Defendants' written discovery within seven (7) days.

MOTION TO CONTINUE TRIAL

Defendant(s), David Gagnon, by and through the undersigned counsel, move(s) this Court for the entry of an Order to continue the Trial of this matter and as grounds therefore state(s):

1. This mater is set for trial on 9/26/16.

2. Plaintiff has recently disclosed a new expert opinion and discovery and deposition of the expert has been requested by the defendant.

3. The defense reserves the right and is entitled to name an expert in response to the plaintiff's arborist after plaintiff's expert discovery and deposition have been completed.

Wherefore, the defendant respectfully requests that the trial of this matter be stricken and/or continued for a new date.

MOTION TO WITHDRAW AS COUNSEL

NOW COME the LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., attorneys for the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and hereby move to withdraw as counsel for the Plaintiff in this cause pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 13. In support of said Motion, the attorneys hereby state as follows:

1. Communication between Plaintiff and Plaintiff's counsel has broken down resulting in an unworkable situation for both attorney and client.

2. By copy of this motion, Plaintiff is hereby advised that, to ensure notice of any further action in this cause, she should retain new counsel or within 21 days of the hearing of this motion and withdrawal of counsel, retain other counsel or file her own supplementary appearance with the clerk of the circuit court, stating an address at which service of notices or other papers may be had upon her.

WHEREFORE, the LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. respectfully requests that this Court enter an Order granting the LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. leave to withdraw as counsel for the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

Respectfully submitted,

INSTRUCTIONS: Please insert your answers in the space provided following each question. If additional space is needed, so indicate in the space provided, prepare your answer on a separate paper and attach.

1. State the full name of the Defendant answering as well as your current residence address, date of birth, marital status, driver's license number and issuing state, and the last four digits of your social security number, and, if different, give the full name as well as the current address, date of birth, marital status, driver's license number and issuing state, and social security number of the individual signing the answers.

ANSWER:

2. State the full name and current residence address of each person who witnessed or claims to have witnessed the occurrence that is the subject of this suit.

ANSWER:

3. State the full name, and current residence address of each person not named (in 2) above who was present or claims to have been present at the scene immediately before, at the time of or immediately after said occurrence.

ANSWER:

4. As a result of said occurrence were you made a Defendant in any criminal or traffic case? If so, state the court, the case number, the charge or charges placed against you and whether or not you pleaded guilty thereto and the final disposition.

ANSWER:

5. Were you the owner of the chainsaw used in the alleged occurrence? If so, was said chainsaw repaired and, if so, when, where, and by whom and what was the cost of said repairs?

ANSWER:

6. If you were the owner of the chainsaw in question, were you named or covered under any policy of liability insurance effective on the date of said occurrence and, if so, state the name of each such company, the policy number, the effective period, and the maximum liability limits for each person and each occurrence, including umbrella or excess insurance coverage, property damage and medical payment coverage.

ANSWER:

7. Do you have any information tending to indicate:

(a) That any Plaintiff was, within the five years immediately prior to said occurrence confined in a hospital, treated by a physician or x-rayed for any reason other than personal injury? If so, state the Plaintiff so involved and give the name and address of each hospital, physician, technician or clinic, the approximate date of such confinement or service and state, in general the reason for such confinement or service.

(b) That any Plaintiff had suffered serious personal injury prior to the date of said occurrence? If so, state each Plaintiff so involved and state when, where and, in general, how he or she was injured and describe, in general, the injuries suffered.

(c) That any Plaintiff has suffered either (a) any personal injury or (b) serious illness, since the date of said occurrence? If so, state each Plaintiff so involved and, for (a) state when, where and, in general how he or she was injured and describe, in general, the injuries suffered and for (b) state when he or she was ill and describe, in general the illness.

(d) That any Plaintiff has ever filed any other suit for his or her own personal injuries? If so, state each Plaintiff so involved and give the court in which filed, the year filed and the title and docket number of said case.

ANSWER:

8. Were any photographs, movies and/or videotapes taken of the scene of the occurrence or of the persons or vehicles involved? If so, state the date or dates on which such photographs, movies and/or videotapes were taken, the subjects thereof and who now has custody of them, and the name, address and occupation and employer of the person taking them.

ANSWER:

9. Have you (or has anyone acting on your behalf) had any conversations with any person at any time with regard to the manner in which the occurrence complained of occurred, or have you overheard any statements made by any person at any time with regard to the injuries complained of by Plaintiff or the manner in which the occurrence complained of occurred? If the answer to this interrogatory is in the affirmative, state the following:

(a) The date or dates of such conversations and/or statements;

(b) The place of such conversations and/or statements;

(c) All persons present for the conversations and/or statements;

(d) The matters and things stated by the person in the conversations and/or statements;

(e) Whether the conversation was oral, written and/or recorded; and

(f) Who has possession of the statement if written and/or recorded.

ANSWER:

10. Do you know of any statements made by any person relating to the occurrence complained of by the Plaintiff? If so, give the name and address of each such witness and the date of the statement, and state whether such statement was written and/or oral.

ANSWER:

11. Had you consumed any alcoholic beverage within twelve (12) hours immediately prior to the occurrence? If so, state the names and addresses of those from whom it was obtained, where it was consumed, the particular kind and amount of alcoholic beverage so consumed by you, and the names and current residence addresses of all persons known by you to have knowledge concerning the consumption of the alcoholic beverages.

ANSWER:

12. Have you ever been convicted of a misdemeanor involving dishonesty, false statement or a felony? If so, state the nature thereof, the date of the conviction, and the court and the caption in which the conviction occurred. For the purpose of this interrogatory, a plea of guilty shall be considered a conviction.

ANSWER:

13. Had you used drugs or medications within twenty-four (24) hours immediately prior to the occurrence? If so, state the names and addresses of those from whom it was obtained, where it was used, the particular kind and amount of drug or medication so used by you, and the names and current addresses of all persons known by you to have knowledge concerning the use of the drug or medication.

ANSWER:

MEDICARE SUPPLEMENTAL INTERROGATORY TO PLAINTIFF, PAUL DULBERG

INSTRUCTIONS: Please insert your answer in the space provided following the question. If additional space is needed, so indicate in the space provided, prepare your answer on a separate paper and attach.

1. As of January 1, 2010, the Federal Government is requiring all insurance companies that pay out for injuries, whether it be for at-fault (liability), no fault or medical expense payments from an accident, product liability, workers' compensation or the like, to report whether or not the claimant is a Medicare or Medicaid recipient. A person who is 65 years or older, a person with certain disabilities, or a person with end-stage renal failure may qualify for Medicare. In compliance with that request, we are requesting the following information, which must be updated throughout the claim and will be re-asked upon closing of the claim (pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 213 and the federal law):

Has Plaintiff/Plaintiff's decedent/the minor or disabled adult for which an injury is claimed, received payments or benefits from Medicare or Medicaid? If yes, please provide the name of the recipient, the recipient's gender, the recipient's Medicare Health Insurance Card Number or Social Security Number and the recipient's date of birth. In the case where the Medicare/Medicaid recipient is a minor or disabled adult or for another reason has a guardian, custodian, conservator, or other person who makes his/her medical decisions, please provide the name of the guardian, custodian, conservator, or other person who makes the medical decisions for the minor, disabled adult, or other Medicare recipient. Please be advised that pursuant to federal law these questions must be answered in their entirety or Defendant's insurance company will not be able to issue payments out of the claim. If while this claim is pending, Plaintiff, petitioner, Plaintiff's decedent, or the minor or disabled adult for which a claim of injury is advanced in this lawsuit becomes a Medicare recipient, please update this interrogatory.

ANSWER:

Under penalties as provided by law pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/1-109 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the undersigned certifies that the statements set forth in this instrument are true and correct, except as to matters therein stated to be on information and belief and as to such matters the undersigned certifies as aforesaid that he/she verily believes the same to be true.

ANSWER TO DEFENDANT'S, DAVID GAGNON, INTERROGATORIES TO CO-DEFENDANT BILL McGUIRE

TO: Mr. David Gagnon
c/o Attorney Perry Accardo
Law Office of M. Gerard Gregoire
200 N. LaSalle St., Ste 2650
Chicago, IL 60601-1092

Defendant, BILL McGUIRE, by and through HIS attorneys, Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, and for HIS Answer to Defendant David Gagnon's Interrogatories to Co-Defendant Bill McGuire, states as follows:

1. State the full name of the Defendant answering as well as your current residence address, date of birth, marital status, driver's license number and issuing state, and the last four digits of your social security number, and, if different, give the full name as well as the current address, date of birth, marital status, driver's license number and issuing state, and social security number of the individual signing the answers.

ANSWER: William "Bill" McGuire
1016 W. Elder Avenue, McHenry, IL 60051
Married: Carolyn
DOB: July 29, 1952
Defendant objects to providing driver's license information and Social Security Numbers. Such information is highly sensitive and private and is furthermore irrelevant to any issues in the pending lawsuit.

2. State the full name and current residence address of each person who witnessed or claims to have witnessed the occurrence that is the subject of this suit.

ANSWER: David Gagnon
39010 90th Place
Genoa City, WI 53128

Paul Dulberg
4606 Hayden
McHenry, IL 60051

3. State the full name and current residence address of each person not named (in 2) above who was present or claims to been present at the scene immediately before, at the time of or immediately after said occurrence.

ANSWER: Before and After:
Bill and Carolyn McGuire
1016 W. Elder Avenue
McHenry, IL 60051

4. As a result of said occurrence were you made a Defendant in any criminal or traffic case? If so, state the court, the case number, the charge or charges placed against you and whether or not you pleaded guilty thereto and the final disposition.

ANSWER: No.

5. Were you the owner of the chainsaw used in the alleged occurrence? If so, was said chainsaw repaired and, if so, when, where, and by whom and what was the cost of said repairs?

ANSWER: Yes, I was the owner of the subject chain saw. It was new and therefore did not require any pre-occurrence repairs. It did not require any post-occurrence repairs either.

6. If you were the owner of the chainsaw in question, were you named or covered under any policy or liability insurance effective on the date of said occurrence and, if so, state the name of each such company, the policy number, the effective period, and the maximum liability limits for each person and each occurrence, including umbrella or excess insurance coverage, property damage and medical payment coverage.

ANSWER: Yes, I was the owner of the subject chain saw.
Auto-Owners Insurance Company
Policy No. 48-010-965-01
Eff.: May 9, 2011 thru May 9, 2012
Personal Liability (Each Occurrence): $300,000.00
Medical Payments (Each Person): $1,000.00

7. Do you have any information tending to indicate:

(a) That any Plaintiff was, within the five years immediately prior to said occurrence confined in a hospital, treated by a physician or x-rayed for any reason other than personal injury? If so, state the Plaintiff so involved and give the name and address of each hospital, physician, technician or clinic, the approximate date of such confinement or service and state, in general the reason for such confinement or service.

(b) That any Plaintiff had suffered serious personal injury prior to the date of said occurrence? If so, state each Plaintiff so involved and state when, where, and, in general, how he or she was injured and describe, in general, the injuries suffered.

(c) That any Plaintiff has suffered either (a) any personal injury or (b) serious illness, since the date of said occurrence? If so, state each Plaintiff so involved and, for (a) state when, where and, in general how he or she was injured and describe, in general, thee injuries suffered and for (b) state when he or she was ill and describe, in general the illness.

(d) That any Plaintiff has ever filed any other suit for his or her own personal injuries? If so, state each Plaintiff so involved and give the court in which filed, the year filed and the title and docket number of said case.

ANSWER:

a. On information and belief, the answering party believes that Paul Dulberg was involved in a motor vehicle accident that resulted in a shoulder injury of some sort. The answering party does not know of any other details about the auto accident or injuries, if any.
b. See answer to Interrogatory No. 7(a).
c-d. No.

8. Were any photographs, movies and/or videotapes taken of the scene of the occurrence or of the persons or vehicles involved? If so, state the date or dates on which such photographs, movies and/or videotapes were taken, the subjects thereof and who now has custody of them, and the name, address and occupation and employer of the person taking them.

ANSWER: None, other than those furnished as part of Plaintiff's discovery response.

9. Have you (or has anyone acting on your behalf) had any conversations with any person at any time with regard to the manner in which the occurrence complained of occurred, or have you overheard any statements made by any person at any time with regard to the injuries complained of by Plaintiff or the manner in which the occurrence complained of occurred? If the answer to this interrogatory is in the affirmative, state the following:

(a) The date or dates of such conversations and/or statements;

(b) The place of such conversations and/or statements;

(c) All persons present for the conversations and/or statements;

(d) The matters and things stated by the person in the conversations and/or statements;

(e) Whether the conversation was oral, and/or recorded; and

(f) Who has possession of the statement if written and/or recorded.

ANSWER: (a) thru (f):

On information and belief, David Gagnon and Paul Dulberg were present at the time of the alleged occurrence and therefore know the circumstances surrounding the occurrence. Answering further, Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire were not present at the time of the occurrence but knew that David Gagnon and Paul Dulberg were present on the date of the occurrence. From conversations with David Gagnon, the answering Defendant believes that Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg had been cutting logs and tree branches into smaller sections without incident. While in the process of cutting tree branches Paul Dulberg unexpectedly and without warning moved his right arm directly in the path of the running chain saw. Answering further, on information and belief, a few weeks after the subject occurrence Paul Dulberg did roofing work and moved heavy pieces of lumber for Mike Thomas, 460 Walbeck Drive, Twin Lakes, WI 53181 (312/961-9655). Investigation continues.

10. Do you know of any statements made by any person relating to the occurrence complained of by the Plaintiff? If so, give the name and address of each such witness and thee date of the statement, and state whether such statement was written and/or oral.

ANSWER: See response to Interrogatory No. 9.

11. Had you consumed any alcoholic beverage within twelve (12) hours immediately prior to the occurrence? If so, state the names and addresses of those from whom it was obtained, where it was consumed, the particular kind and amount of alcoholic beverage so consumed by you, and the names and current residence addresses of all persons known by you to have knowledge concerning the consumption of the alcoholic beverages.

ANSWER: Objection. This interrogatory seeks irrelevant information. Answering subject to said objection, no.

12. Have you ever been convicted of a misdemeanor involving dishonesty, false statement or a felony? If so, state the nature thereof, the date of the conviction, and the court and the caption in which the conviction occurred. For the purpose of this interrogatory, a plea of guilty shall be considered a conviction.

ANSWER: No.

13. Had you used drugs or medications within twenty-four (24) hours immediately prior to the occurrence? If so, state the names and addresses of those from whom it was obtained, where it was used, the particular kind and amount of drug or medication so used by you, and the names and current addresses of all persons known by you to have knowledge concerning the use of the drug or medication.

ANSWER: Objection. This interrogatory seeks irrelevant information. Answering subject to said objection, no.

14. Were you employed on the date of the occurrence? If so, state the name and address of your employer, and the date of employment and termination, if applicable. If your answer is in the affirmative, state the position, title and nature of your occupational responsibilities with respect to your employment.

ANSWER: Objection. This interrogatory seeks irrelevant information.

15 What was the purpose and/or use for which the chainsaw was being operated at the time of the occurrence?

ANSWER: At the time of the alleged occurrence, Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire were in the process of replacing an old shed on their property. Paul Dulberg helped David Gagnon tear down the old shed. The answering Defendant further believes that Mr. Dulberg took the components of the old shed to his property for eventual reassembly. On the date of the occurrence, Mr. Dulberg was helping David Gagnon take down several trees to make room for a new shed. On information and belief, prior to the occurrence Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg had been cutting logs and tree branches into smaller sections without incident. While in the process of cutting tree branches Paul Dulberg unexpectedly and without warning moved his right arm directly in the path of the running chain saw.

16. State the names and address of all persons who have knowledge of the purpose for which the vehicle was being used at the time of the occurrence.

ANSWER: See answers to Interrogatory Nos. 2, 3 and 15.

17. Do you have any medical and/or physical condition which required a physician's report and/or letter of approval in order to drive? If so, state the nature of the medical and/or physical condition, the physician or other health care professional who issued the letter and/or report, and the names and addresses of any physician or other health care professional who treated you for this condition prior to the occurrence.

ANSWER: Objection. This interrogatory seeks irrelevant information. Defendant has not injected his driving capabilities as an issue in the case.

18. State the name and address of any physician, ophthalmologist, optician or other health care professional who performed any eye examination of you with the last five years and the dates of each such examination.

ANSWER: Objection. This interrogatory seeks irrelevant information. Defendant has not injected his eye sight as an issue in the case.

19. State the name and address of any physician or other health care professional who examined and/or treated you within the last 10 years and the reason for such examination and/or treatment.

ANSWER: Objection. This interrogatory seeks irrelevant information. Defendant has not injected his health as an issue in the case.

20. Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f), provide the following:

(a) List the name(s) and address(s) of each lay witness(s) and identify the subjects on which the witness(s) will testify;
(b) List the name(s) and address(s) of each independent witness(s) and identify the subjects on which the witness(s) will testify and the opinions that party expects to elicit;
(c) List the name(s) and address(s) of each controlled expert witness(s) and identify:
  (i) The subject matter on which the witness(s) will testify;
  (ii) The conclusions and opinions of the witness(s) and the bases therefore;
  (iii) The qualifications of the witness(s), and
  (iv) Any reports prepared by the witness(s) about the case.

ANSWER:

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(1) – Lay Witnesses:

The answering party has not yet determined the identity of the witnesses that might be called upon to offer lay witness testimony and opinions at trial. However, each of the following individuals are possible trial witnesses:

a. Paul Dulberg. Presumably, Mr. Kemp will testify about his age, education and work experience. He may testify concerning all the events and occurrences alleged in his complaint. He may also testify concerning his state of health before the events and occurrences alleged in his complaint, the injuries he attributes to the events and occurrences alleged in his complaint, and his current state of health. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered by his discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

b. David Gagnon. The answering party does not know the specifics of Mr. Gagnon's potential trial testimony. Presumably, however, Mr. Gagnon will testify about his age, education and work experience. He may testify concerning his connection to Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire. He may testify concerning the events and occurrences alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. He may also testify concerning observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health before the events and occurrences alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, observations he made about the injuries Mr. Dulberg attributes to the events and occurrences alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, and observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's current state of health. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered by his discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

c. Bill McGuire. If called upon to testify, Mr. McGuire will testify about his age, education and work experience. He will testify concerning his connection to David Gagnon and Carolyn McGuire. He may testify concerning the circumstances surrounding the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. He may also testify concerning observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health immediately after and since the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, including observations he made about the injuries Mr. Dulberg attributes to the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered by his discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

d. Carolyn McGuire. If called upon to testify, Mrs. McGuire will testify about her age, education and work experience. She will testify concerning her connection to David Gagnon and Bill McGuire. She may testify concerning the circumstances surrounding the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. She may also testify concerning observations she made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health immediately after and since the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, including observations she made about the injuries Mr. Dulberg attributes to the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. Lastly, it is anticipated that she will testify concerning all matters covered by her discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

e. Mike Thomas. If called upon to testify, Mr. Thomas may testify about his age, education and work experience. He may testify concerning his connection to Paul Dulberg. He may also testify concerning observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health after the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, including observations he made of Mr. Dulberg performing roofing work and moving lumber. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered in his discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

f. Investigation continues.

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(2) – Independent Opinion Witnesses.

To the extent any of the individuals disclosed above as potential Rule 213(f)(1) witnesses also qualify for disclosure as an independent expert witness within the meaning of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(2), the responding Defendants incorporate the above Rule 213(f)(1) disclosure as though fully and completely set forth herein as a Rule 213(f)(2) disclosure. Answering further, the responding Defendants further incorporate the identity and opinions of any medical provider that treated Plaintiff for injuries he claims are associated with the occurrence alleged in his Complaint. For additional detail, see the medical records and materials produced by Plaintiff as part of his production response. Investigation continues.

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(3) – Controlled Opinion Witnesses.

None at this time. Answering further, Defendants reserve the right to retain and disclose controlled opinion witnesses and will do so, if necessary, in accordance with all applicable court orders and discovery rules.

21. List the names and addresses of all other persons (other than yourself and persons heretofore listed) who have knowledge of the facts of said occurrence and/or of the injuries and damages claimed to have resulted therefrom.

ANSWER: None, other than as disclosed in response to the interrogatories above.

22. Identify any statements, information and/or documents known to you and requested by any of the foregoing Interrogatories which you claim to be work product or subject to any common law or statutory privilege, and with respect to each Interrogatory, specify the legal basis for the claim as required by Supreme Court Rule 201(n).

ANSWER: None at this time.

Open Advanced MRI

PATIENT:	DULBERG, PAUL	PHYSICIAN:	LEVIN, MD, KAREN
MRN:	1585839	EXAM:	MR FOREARM W/ AND W/O 73220
DOB:	03/19/1970	DOS:	02/03/2012

EXAMINATION: MRI examination of the right forearm without and with intravenous contrast infusion..

CLINICAL HISTORY: History of right forearm trauma with a chainsaw. Possible neuroma, nerve impingement or injury in the forearm. Possible tendon disruption. It appears that the patient had some difficulty holding still during image acquisition. There is motion artifact on this examination. Weakness in the fourth and fifth fingers. Pain in the forearm and hand.

TECHNIQUE: Multiplanar T1 and T2-weighted spin-echo pulse sequences and STIR sequence. Post-infusion multiplanar T1-weighted sequences were performed. A skin marker was taped to the point of maximal symptoms.

Contrast: 15 cc of gadolinium was infused.

FINDINGS: There is no bone abnormality seen. The bone marrow signal characteristics are normal.

There is no cystic or solid mass appreciated. The visualized muscles have normal signal characteristics.

There is no abnormal soft tissue infiltration or induration. Specifically, in the area of the skin marker which is marking the point of maximal symptoms, there is no soft tissue abnormality appreciated.

There is no abnormality identified along the course of the ulnar nerve in the forearm.

IMPRESSION: There is no forearm abnormality appreciated. This does not exclude the possibility of an ulnar nerve impingement or injury but there is no gross mass or abnormal infiltration along the expected course of the ulnar nerve. No obvious tendon or muscle abnormality appreciated at this time.

Thank you for referring your patient to Open Advanced MRI. If you have any questions, Dr. Levin, please feel free to contact me at my direct line which is: 630.885.2100.

Barabara Dulhberg, s/a/a to testify to the pain and disability experienced by the Plaintiff due to injuries suffered in the accident and the lack of prior symptoms or disability, inability to work, hours and wage history and loss of income from work as a result.

Defendants, each of them, will be called as an adverse witness pursuant to Section 2-1102 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure, to testify to matters involving the accident.

All witnesses identified by Defendant and/or deposed, on matters so identified or testified to.

Court Reporters present during evidence and/or discovery depositions of those parties and witnesses now or in the future deposed in this or any similar cause to testify to the accuracy of the transcripts and testimony stated therein by each witness including exhibits marked and testified to during the deposition.

All other independent witnesses disclosed by answer to previous interrogatory will testify to those matters and opinions naturally flowing from their personal knowledge and involvement in this matter and those matters specifically disclosed and or to be disclosed in the future.

Drs. Marcus Talerico (Mid America Hand to Shoulder) and Karen Levin/Mitchell Grobman (Associated Neurology), Biofora/Sagerman (Hand Surgery Associates), are intended to be called as opinion witness(es) to testify to the care and treatment of the Plaintiff to the extent allowed under Rule 213 and to all matters expressly and/or impliedly set forth in the patient's chart including matters flowing therefrom, including, but not limited to, history, exam, diagnostics/findings, exam/findings, diagnosis, treatment, physical therapy, medication, follow-up and continuing treatment through to trial; the nature and extent of injuries sustained by Plaintiff as set forth above and in deposition including injuries, and that such injuries were caused/aggravated by the underlying trauma; that the treatment for such injuries was/is reasonable and medically necessary and causally related to underlying accident, and any other opinions or matters set forth or described in the patients medical file or hospital chart, in addition to any matters and/or opinions naturally flowing from the witnesses work or personal knowledge and involvement in this matter, in addition to testimony and opinions on the following issues:

- Plaintiff suffered and is diagnosed as having the above injuries, not limited to: traumatic injury to right arm including numbness, neuropathy, scarring, and branch nerve involvemnt;
- Plaintiff's injury is consistent with mechanism of injury/history;
- Plaintiff's injury was caused/aggravated by the underlying accident based upon history and findings and experience;
- Plaintiff's injury is confirmed through exam and diagnostics;
- Plaintiff will require ongoing and continual treatment for the injury(s);
- Plaintiff's conservative treatment did not resolve symptoms, requiring surgery and chronic pain;
- Plaintiff's symptoms and disability are permanent;
- Review and interpretation of all diagnostics;
- Plaintiff may require surgery to correct the condition(s);
- Plaintiff's surgery and costs is medically necessitated and causally related to the accident;
- Plaintiff's symptoms are disabling from activities;
- Plaintiff's injury is pain producing;
- Plaintiff's injury limits and will limit in the future Plaintiff's activity at home and at work;
- Plaintiff's injury disabled him/her from work for a period of time causing a loss in income;
- The charges or expense for the medical treatment received from each and every treater or facility referenced by Plaintiff in deposition or by Medical Expense Report was/is customary, reasonable, and medically necessary and due to the auto accident based upon his/her expertise and experience and knowledge of the billing/charges for the same or similar treatment;

- Plaintiff is susceptible to re-injury in the future due to injury sustained in case, requiring future care and treatment, surgery and expense;
- Plaintiff will require future medical treatment and care and expense due to injury, estimate of $10,000 annually;
- That Doctors' practice involves treating patients with similar injuries under similar settings and causes;
- The witnesses report(s) are contained in medical records produced in discovery;
- This witnesses opinions are based upon the witnesses expertise, experience, education, treatment of same and similar injuries, review of history, records of all treating physicians and care providers, films/reports, and exam - all which is customary for the witness to rely upon in his/her practice.
- Foundational matters for purposes of admission of medical records into evidence;
- The testimony is also based upon a recent exam conducted before arbitration and/or trial.

Plaintiff expressly reserves the right to withdraw and/or not to call any 213 witnesses heretofore disclosed (or fewer than those disclosed) depending on counsel's legal determination at the time of trial and his judgment on the necessity of such testimony given the issues and evidence to be presented at the time of trial.

The accounts/financial services/billing representatives (any or each of them) from each of the facilities whereat the Plaintiff treated, as set forth in his discovery and deposition and Medical Expense Report(s) produced in discovery, including { } will each and themselves testify that based upon their experience and customs and practices and the practices of their internal office and those on their behalf, in their opinion the charges pertaining to Plaintiff's medical treatment in this case, as outlined in the Medical Expense Report, are reasonable and customary in the industry within the area. No one individual has been identified by the facility to testify, but if the defense wants to depose a specific individual before the evidence deposition of the representative is taken, Plaintiff will then designate a person for this purpose, otherwise the evidence deposition notice may simply designate the "representative with knowledge of the customary charges for such treatment" at each facility.

The records keepers from each of the facilities whereat the Plaintiff treated, as set forth in his/her discovery responses and deposition and Medical Expense Report provided throughout the course of this case, will each themselves testify to all foundational matters and requirements for admission of such records into evidence, including testimony as to the custody of the records kept in the ordinary course of business, and history provided by the patient and reliance upon such in the treatment or care of the plaintiff.

Plaintiff reserves the right to update these disclosures in the future in accordance with the order of the court, to add or delete witnesses as may be appropriate and in accordance with the court's order and reserves the right not to call a witness above as may be appropriate at trial.

ANSWER: PLAINTIFF'S RESPONSE TO 213 INTERROGATORIES

Plaintiff will testify to all matters concerning the circumstances of the accident and injury including, but not limited to, all matters set forth in any discovery responses, affidavit, statements and/or deposition testimony, and to those matters and opinions naturally flowing from their personal knowledge and involvement in this matter, and will testify to matters including, but not limited to the following: date, time and location of accident, observations at the accident scene, weather, defendant's negligence in X; continuing medical care to date; medical expense as set forth in updated Medical Expense Reports; payment of bills; lack of prior related symptoms, treatment; need for past and future treatment including, if applicable; pain and suffering and disability; lost time at work, including rate of pay, time lost, income and benefits lost; ongoing treatment during pending case including recent exam by treating physician(s); all other foundational requirements for admitting photos and medical bills into evidence.

Barabara Dulhberg, s/a/a to testify to the pain and disability experienced by the Plaintiff due to injuries suffered in the accident and the lack of prior symptoms or disability, inability to work, hours and wage history and loss of income from work as a result.

Defendants, each of them, will be called as an adverse witness pursuant to Section 2-1102 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure, to testify to matters involving the accident.

All witnesses identified by Defendant and/or deposed, on matters so identified or testified to.

Court Reporters present during evidence and/or discovery depositions of those parties and witnesses now or in the future deposed in this or any similar cause to testify to the accuracy of the transcripts and testimony stated therein by each witness including exhibits marked and testified to during the deposition.

All other independent witnesses disclosed by answer to previous interrogatory will testify to those matters and opinions naturally flowing from their personal knowledge and involvement in this matter and those matters specifically disclosed and or to be disclosed in the future.

Drs. Marcus Talerico (Mid America Hand to Shoulder) and Karen Levin/Mitchell Grobman (Associated Neurology), Biofora/Sagerman (Hand Surgery Associates), are intended to be called as opinion witness(es) to testify to the care and treatment of the Plaintiff to the extent allowed under Rule 213 and to all matters expressly and/or impliedly set forth in the patient's chart including matters flowing therefrom, including, but not limited to, history, exam, diagnostics/findings, exam/findings, diagnosis, treatment, physical therapy, medication, follow-up and continuing treatment through to trial; the nature and extent of injuries sustained by Plaintiff as set forth above and in deposition including injuries, and that such injuries were caused/aggravated by the underlying trauma; that the treatment for such injuries was/is reasonable and medically necessary and causally related to underlying accident, and any other opinions or matters set forth or described in the patients medical file or hospital chart, in addition to any matters and/or opinions naturally flowing from the witnesses work or personal knowledge and involvement in this matter, in addition to testimony and opinions on the following issues:

- Plaintiff suffered and is diagnosed as having the above injuries, not limited to: traumatic injury to right arm including numbness, neuropathy, scarring, and branch nerve involvemnt;
- Plaintiff's injury is consistent with mechanism of injury/history;
- Plaintiff's injury was caused/aggravated by the underlying accident based upon history and findings and experience;
- Plaintiff's injury is confirmed through exam and diagnostics;
- Plaintiff will require ongoing and continual treatment for the injury(s);
- Plaintiff's conservative treatment did not resolve symptoms, requiring surgery and chronic pain;
- Plaintiff's symptoms and disability are permanent;
- Review and interpretation of all diagnostics;
- Plaintiff may require surgery to correct the condition(s);
- Plaintiff's surgery and costs is medically necessitated and causally related to the accident;
- Plaintiff's symptoms are disabling from activities;
- Plaintiff's injury is pain producing;
- Plaintiff's injury limits and will limit in the future Plaintiff's activity at home and at work;
- Plaintiff's injury disabled him/her from work for a period of time causing a loss in income;
- The charges or expense for the medical treatment received from each and every treater or facility referenced by Plaintiff in deposition or by Medical Expense Report was/is customary, reasonable, and medically necessary and due to the auto accident based upon his/her expertise and experience and knowledge of the billing/charges for the same or similar treatment;

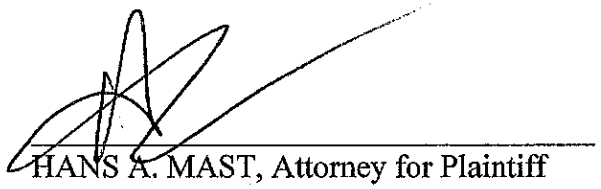
- Plaintiff is susceptible to re-injury in the future due to injury sustained in case, requiring future care and treatment, surgery and expense;
- Plaintiff will require future medical treatment and care and expense due to injury, estimate of $10,000 annually;
- That Doctors' practice involves treating patients with similar injuries under similar settings and causes;
- The witnesses report(s) are contained in medical records produced in discovery;
- This witnesses opinions are based upon the witnesses expertise, experience, education, treatment of same and similar injuries, review of history, records of all treating physicians and care providers, films/reports, and exam - all which is customary for the witness to rely upon in his/her practice.
- Foundational matters for purposes of admission of medical records into evidence;
- The testimony is also based upon a recent exam conducted before arbitration and/or trial.



Plaintiff expressly reserves the right to withdraw and/or not to call any 213 witnesses heretofore disclosed (or fewer than those disclosed) depending on counsel's legal determination at the time of trial and his judgment on the necessity of such testimony given the issues and evidence to be presented at the time of trial.

The accounts/financial services/billing representatives (any or each of them) from each of the facilities whereat the Plaintiff treated, as set forth in his discovery and deposition and Medical Expense Report(s) produced in discovery, including { } will each and themselves testify that based upon their experience and customs and practices and the practices of their internal office and those on their behalf, in their opinion the charges pertaining to Plaintiff's medical treatment in this case, as outlined in the Medical Expense Report, are reasonable and customary in the industry within the area. No one individual has been identified by the facility to testify, but if the defense wants to depose a specific individual before the evidence deposition of the representative is taken, Plaintiff will then designate a person for this purpose, otherwise the evidence deposition notice may simply designate the "representative with knowledge of the customary charges for such treatment" at each facility.

The records keepers from each of the facilities whereat the Plaintiff treated, as set forth in his/her discovery responses and deposition and Medical Expense Report provided throughout the course of this case, will each themselves testify to all foundational matters and requirements for admission of such records into evidence, including testimony as to the custody of the records kept in the ordinary course of business, and history provided by the patient and reliance upon such in the treatment or care of the plaintiff.

Plaintiff reserves the right to update these disclosures in the future in accordance with the order of the court, to add or delete witnesses as may be appropriate and in accordance with the court's order and reserves the right not to call a witness above as may be appropriate at trial.

STATE OF ILLINOIS
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE 22ND JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
COUNTY OF McHENRY

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, vs. DAVID GAGNON, Individually, and as Agent of CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, and CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, Individually, Defendants.	)	Case No. 12 LA 178 REQUEST TO PRODUCE TO PLAINTIFF

TO: Paul Dulberg
c/o Attorney Hans A. Mast
Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich
3416 West Elm Street
McHenry, IL 60050

Pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 214, Defendants, Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire, by Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, their attorneys, requests PAUL DULBERG to produce for inspection, copying, and reproduction on the 28th day after service of this request the documents, objects or tangible things set forth below.

PAUL DULBERG is requested to produce these documents either by mailing legible copies to Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, 6323 East Riverside Blvd., Rockford, IL 61114, or by producing the documents for inspection and copying on the 28th day after service of this request at Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander, PC, 6323 East Riverside Blvd., Rockford, IL 61114.

As used in this request the term "document" includes without limitation, any graphic matter, whether paper, cardboard, tape, plastic, film or any other material and includes any recording and transcript thereof. The term "you" or "your" refers not only to the party to whom this request is directed, but also to any representative who acts for you or under your control.

With respect to each document covered by the request which you refuse to produce by reason of any attorney-client privilege, you are requested to identify the nature and date of the document, its author and title, and each recipient of the document and his title.

1. Medical bills for any medical treatment rendered to PAUL DULBERG from January 1, 2010 to the present date.

2. Pharmacy bills for prescriptions and/or appliances regarding PAUL DULBERG from January 1, 2010 to the present date.

3. All photographs, slides, videos or motion pictures taken of PAUL DULBERG, any physical objects involved, or the scene of the occurrence.

4. All reports or records of doctors, hospitals, clinics or medical practitioners which, in any way, relate to the physical or mental condition of PAUL DULBERG prior to the alleged occurrence (including other injuries, illnesses or hospitalizations).

5. All reports or records of doctors, hospitals, clinics or medical practitioners which, in any way, relate to the physical or mental condition of PAUL DULBERG subsequent to the alleged occurrence (including other injuries, illnesses or hospitalizations).

6. A list giving the names and addresses of all persons making any examination or inspection in reference to the occurrence in question, any of the physical objects involved, or the scene of the occurrence.

7. All accident reports, investigation reports and materials, and all other like documents prepared as a result of or in reference to the occurrence complained of in the Complaint.

8. All receipts, records, bills, statements, invoices, wage loss materials, and any other documents relating to the amount of damages sought by the plaintiff.

9. Statements of any witnesses or persons having knowledge pertaining to the facts or issues in the lawsuit, including any party.

You are also requested to furnish an Affidavit to counsel for all parties stating whether the production is complete, and to advise counsel for all parties as to the date upon which the documents, objects or tangible things will be produced.

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

c. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on the dates set forth below.

Home Care Instructions

IMPORTANT: We examined and treated you today on an emergency basis only. This was not a substitute for, or an effort to provide, complete medical care. In most cases, you must let your doctor check you again. Tell your doctor about any new or lasting problems. We cannot recognize and treat all injuries or illnesses in one Emergency Department visit. If you had special tests, such as EKG's or X-rays, we will review them again within 24 hours. We will call you if there are any new suggestions. You were treated today by: Ford, Apiwat W..

After your visit to our Emergency Department, you may receive a survey in the mail. We want to be sure we have given you very good care and we ask that you please fill out the survey and return it in the mail.

After you leave, please follow the instructions below.

This Information Is About Your Follow Up Care

Call as soon as possible to make an appointment to see your doctor in 10 days for suture removal. You can reach your doctor by calling their clinic phone number.

Please return to the Emergency Department in 10 days for suture removal if you would prefer to have the sutures removed in the ER. We do recommend that you follow-up with your Primary Care Physician but you can return to the ER for removal of your stitches if you choose..

This Information Is About Your Illness and Diagnosis

WOUND CARE (with stitches)
Your wound was closed with stitches. These are small threads that keep the skin closed to help it heal. You have 3 internal and 11 external stitches. These should be removed in 10 days.

At home, please follow these instructions:
- Wash your hands before touching the dressing or wound.
- Keep the wound clean and dry.
- After 2 days, wash the wound gently with warm water and soap. Pat it dry.
- Put a light dressing on it if it rubs or there is drainage.

Call your doctor if:
- you have redness, pain, or swelling in the area of your stitches.
- your wound drains pus.
- your stitches come out before your wound is healed.
- you have any new or bothersome symptoms.

This Is Information About Your New Medications - Start taking as prescribed.

HYDROCODONE and ACETAMINOPHEN (Vicodin, Vicodin ES, Lortab, Lortab elixir, Zamicet, Norco, Zydone, Anexsia, Anolor, Bancap HC)

Take this medicine by mouth with food in the following dose: one 10mg/325mg tablet every 4 to 6 hours if needed for pain. Do not take more than as directed per day (24 hours).

This is a mixture of medicines (hydrocodone and acetaminophen) used to relieve moderate to severe pain. This medicine may be used for other reasons, as prescribed by your doctor.
Side effects may include:
- sleepiness or dizziness
- upset stomach, nausea or vomiting
- constipation

Other side effects may occur, but are not as common. Allergy would show up as: rash or itching, facial or throat swelling, wheezing or shortness of breath. This medicine can be habit forming if used for a long period of time.

Follow these instructions:
- Never take more of this medicine than prescribed. Too much acetaminophen in your body can cause liver damage.
- Read the labels of non-prescription medicines before taking them. Many contain acetaminophen. To avoid an overdose, do not take any other medicines that contain acetaminophen.
- Talk to your doctor or pharmacist before taking medicines for sleep, colds or allergies. Severe drowsiness may occur.
- Do not share this medicine with others as this medicine is a controlled-substance. Sharing this medicine with others is against the law.
- To avoid constipation while taking this medicine:
  - Drink plenty of liquids. Try to drink 8 to 10 eight-ounce glasses of water or juice each day.
  - Include extra fiber in your diet.
  - Exercise daily.
- Watch for signs of dependence:
  - feeling that you "cannot live without this medicine".
  - you need more of this medicine than before to get the same relief.
- Do not drink alcohol, drive or operate machinery until you know how this medicine affects you.
- Store this medicine away from heat, moisture or direct light.
- If you are taking this on a regular schedule and you miss a dose, take it as soon as possible. If it is almost time for your next dose, skip the missed dose and return to your regular schedule. Do not double the doses.
- Talk with your doctor before taking any other medicines (including vitamins and herbals) as you may require additional monitoring.

Call your doctor if you have:
- any sign of dependence or allergy.
- increased pain not helped by the pain medicine.
- slow, weak breathing.
- seizures.
- slow or irregular heart beat.
- a yellow-color to your skin or eyes, or dark urine.
- stomach pain.
- unusual or extreme tiredness.
- any new or severe symptoms.

CEFADROXIL (Duricef)

Take this medicine until gone in the following dose: 500 mg by mouth 2 times a day for 5 days.

Cefadroxil is an antibiotic used to treat infections caused by bacteria. Antibiotics kill bacteria or prevent them from growing inside your body. This medicine may be used for other reasons, as prescribed by your doctor.

Side effects may include:

- diarrhea
- upset stomach, nausea or vomiting
- headache

Other side effects may occur, but are not as common. An upset stomach is not a sign of allergy. Allergy would show up as rash or itching, facial or throat swelling, wheezing or shortness of breath.

Follow these instructions:

- Space your medicine doses evenly throughout the day. This medicine works best if there is a constant amount in your blood.
- Take this medicine with food to avoid an upset stomach.
- Swallow the capsule and tablet form of this medicine whole with a full 8-ounce glass of water.
- For diabetics, this medicine can cause false test results when testing your urine for sugar. Talk with your doctor if you have questions.

- Store the tablet or capsule form of this medicine away from heat, moisture or direct light.
- Store the liquid form of this medicine in the refrigerator. Shake the liquid well before each use.
- If you miss a dose, take it as soon as possible. If it is almost time for your next dose, skip the missed dose. Do not double the doses.
- Talk with your doctor before taking any other medicines (including vitamins and herbals) as you may require additional monitoring.

Call your doctor if you have:

- any sign of allergy.
- no improvement after you've taken all the medicine.
- a seizure.
- any sign of a new infection (fever, general aches, chills, or unusual tiredness or weakness).
- ongoing nausea, vomiting or stomach pain.
- white patches in your mouth.
- women: itching in or change in discharge from your vagina.
- inflammation (pain and swelling) in your intestine during treatment or up to weeks after you've finished this medicine:
  - ongoing diarrhea
  - stomach pain or cramping
  - blood or mucus in your bowel movements
- any new or bothersome symptoms.

SMOKING CESSATION

Smoking is the nation's leading preventable cause of death. It significantly increases the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke and cancer. In fact, more than half of all smoking related deaths in America each year are from heart disease, stroke, or other cardiovascular diseases. The good news is, that one year after quitting, the risk of heart disease is cut in half. After five to fifteen smoke-free years, the risk is that of a person who never smoked!

If you or someone you love is interested in quitting, consider joining our "Freedom From Smoking "classes for adults. Centegra Health System and the McHenry County Department of Health have partnered together to bring you an effective program that will help you quit smoking. Call 877-CENTEGRA, (877-236-8347) for more information regarding this program. To speak with a counselor immediately, call the Illinois Tobacco line at 1-866-QUIT-YES.

PAIN MANAGEMENT AFTER DISCHARGE:

A person may feel less pain just by being in familiar surroundings. Here are some frequently asked questions about your pain management:

- What can I do to help my pain management? A person's level of relaxation and their environment can affect their pain. If you are tired, over stimulated (too many visitors) are anxious about your diagnosis, or a past experience with a hospitalization, your pain perception may be impacted and your tolerance decreased. Ask questions, and inform us about any problems or concerns that you may have, re: pain. Partner with your health team for your best pain management.
- What if the medication is not working? Tell your health-care provider; physician, home health nurse, etc. You may need a different dose or type of medicaton.
- What if I feel I'm not getting enough pain control? Talk to your physician or home health nurse about it. Together you may be able to develop a plan to prevent or ease your pain. Depending on the cause of your pain, your health-care provider may suggest exercise, use of heat/cold, massage, repositioning, immobilization of the affected part, or distraction such as music or rest.
- There are other methods of pain management. Let your health-care provider assist you in finding the best one for you.

Weight management is one step to help maintain a healthy lifestyle. For certain medical problems, such as congestive heart failure, weight should be monitored daily.

YOU ARE THE MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR IN YOUR RECOVERY.

Follow the above instructions carefully. Take your medicines as prescribed. Most important, see a doctor again as discussed.

If you have problems that we have not discussed, or your problem changes or gets worse, Call or visit your doctor right away. If you cannot reach your doctor, return to the Emergency Department immediately.

Centegra Health System is very concerned about your safety and well being. As part of our efforts to always provide very good care, any medications you received during this visit were reconciled with medication you are currently taking. This reconciliation was based on the information you or your representative provided regarding your current medications and allergies.

"I have received this information and my questions have been answered. I have discussed any challenges I see with this plan with the nurse or physician."

GENERAL CONSENT AND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Account Number/Effective Date: _____ _____

_____ _____

CONSENT FOR MEDICAL TREATMENT

I have come to Centegra Health System (CHS) for medical treatment and consent to the customary examinations, tests, and procedures performed on patients in my condition. I understand and consent that independent professionals (such as my attending physician, on-call physicians, emergency medicine physicians, radiologists, anesthesiologists, pathologists, surgeons, obstetricians, consultants, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, certified registered nurse anesthetists and other specialists) may participate in my care as deemed necessary.

I agree to follow the Patient Rights & Responsibilities of CHS and to participate with independent professionals and CHS personnel in my care and treatment.

I understand the practice of Medicine is not an exact science and, therefore, no guarantees have been made regarding the likelihood of success or outcomes of any diagnosis, treatment, test, surgery or examination performed at CHS.

I understand this General Consent and Acknowledgement will remain in effect for this episode of care and will be provided to those areas of CHS where I receive care.

I understand the language in this Consent guides and controls all other forms and consents I may sign during my treatment with Centegra Health System and any inconsistencies shall be interpreted consistent with terms of this document.

PATIENT ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF INDEPENDENT PHYSICIANS

I acknowledge the independent professional(s) who provide services to me at CHS are not employees or agents of CHS, but are independent medical practitioners who have been permitted to use its facilities for the care and treatment of their patients. They include but are not limited to, my attending physician, on-call physicians, emergency medicine physicians, radiologists, anesthesiologists, pathologists, surgeons, obstetricians, consultants, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, certified registered nurse anesthetists and other specialists. My decision to seek care is not based upon any representation or advertisement of the independent professionals and I understand they are not employees or agents of CHS. CHS bills do not include physician, surgeon, or other independent professional services and I understand I will receive a separate bill directly from the independent professional. I have read and understand the above terms and confirm I am the patient or am authorized to sign on the patient's behalf.

VV
Initials

PATIENT ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF INDEPENDENT SERVICES

During the course of my hospital stay, my physician may determine I require care at another medical facility, or I may request care at an alternate facility. I acknowledge that all transportation services provided in connection with my transfer to another facility are provided by an independent third party and I will receive a separate bill directly from the service provider for which I may be responsible.

USE AND DISCLOSURE OF HEALTH INFORMATION

Unless I request otherwise, CHS will provide my room location or telephone number to visitors and callers.

I understand CHS will use and disclose my health information for the purposes of treatment, payment, and health care operations, as permitted by law as described in the CHS Notice of Privacy Practices. Certain information can be used without obtaining my consent. I fully understand that the use or disclosure of my health information may include history, diagnosis and /or diagnostic treatment of mental health/ developmental disabilities conditions, alcohol or drug abuse and Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS/ HIV).

I understand that if I refuse to allow disclosure of my health information to process my insurance claim, I may be financially responsible for all costs incurred by me for treatment. I agree to release and hold harmless CHS, its agents, and employees from any liability that may arise from the use or disclosure of my health information.

VV

PICTURES/IMAGES

I understand photographs, videotapes or other images may be taken to document my care. These images may be kept by CHS and/or by the independent professional involved in my care. I understand I have the right to view or obtain copies of these materials which are in possession of CHS upon written request. It is my responsibility to confirm if such photographs, videotapes or other images have been taken. I understand images identifying me will only be released as allowable under law or with my written authorization.

RELEASE FROM LIABILITY FOR VALUABLES

I understand my belongings are my responsibility and I have been advised to send any items of value home. I release CHS from any liability for the loss, damage to, or theft of any of my belongings. Safes or lockers are available at the hospital facilities and may be used to store valuables.

PATIENT PRE-CERTIFICATION RESPONSIBILITY

I understand I am responsible for the notification to my insurance company to obtain authorization before service is rendered. I further understand that if I do not pre-certify I may incur a reduction or loss of paid benefits to the hospital for which I will be liable.

ASSIGNMENT OF BENEFITS/ AGREEMENT FOR PAYMENT

I hereby authorize payment to be made directly to CHS and to the independent professional(s) for all insurance benefits otherwise payable to me. I understand I am financially responsible to CHS and independent professionals for all charges incurred. Patient "out-of-pocket" amounts will be requested prior to or upon discharge. In the event of default or non-payment, CHS shall be entitled to the right of recovery of all collection expenses, including court costs and reasonable attorney's fees for the purpose of securing payment. It is further agreed that any credit balance may be applied on any other account owed CHS by the guarantor/responsible party, or any open account for his/her dependent family.

Home Care Instructions

IMPORTANT: We examined and treated you today on an emergency basis only. This was not a substitute for, or an effort to provide, complete medical care. In most cases, you must let your doctor check you again. Tell your doctor about any new or lasting problems. We cannot recognize and treat all injuries or illnesses in one Emergency Department visit. If you had special tests, such as EKG's or X-rays, we will review them again within 24 hours. We will call you if there are any new suggestions. You were treated today by: Ford, Apiwat W..

After your visit to our Emergency Department, you may receive a survey in the mail. We want to be sure we have given you very good care and we ask that you please fill out the survey and return it in the mail.

After you leave, please follow the instructions below.

This Information Is About Your Follow Up Care

Call as soon as possible to make an appointment to see your doctor in 10 days for suture removal. You can reach your doctor by calling their clinic phone number.

Please return to the Emergency Department in 10 days for suture removal if you would prefer to have the sutures removed in the ER. We do recommend that you follow-up with your Primary Care Physician but you can return to the ER for removal of your stitches if you choose..

This Information Is About Your Illness and Diagnosis

WOUND CARE (with stitches)
Your wound was closed with stitches. These are small threads that keep the skin closed to help it heal. You have 3 internal and 11 external stitches. These should be removed in 10 days.

At home, please follow these instructions:
- Wash your hands before touching the dressing or wound.
- Keep the wound clean and dry.
- After 2 days, wash the wound gently with warm water and soap. Pat it dry.
- Put a light dressing on it if it rubs or there is drainage.

Call your doctor if:
- you have redness, pain, or swelling in the area of your stitches.
- your wound drains pus.
- your stitches come out before your wound is healed.
- you have any new or bothersome symptoms.

This is Information About Your New Medications - Start taking as prescribed.

HYDROCODONE and ACETAMINOPHEN (Vicodin, Vicodin ES, Lortab, Lortab elixir, Zamicet, Norco, Zydone, Anexsia, Anolor, Bancap HC)

Take this medicine by mouth with food in the following dose: one 10mg/325mg tablet every 4 to 6 hours if needed for pain. Do not take more than as directed per day (24 hours).

This is a mixture of medicines (hydrocodone and acetaminophen) used to relieve moderate to severe pain. This medicine may be used for other reasons, as prescribed by your doctor.
Side effects may include:
- sleepiness or dizziness
- upset stomach, nausea or vomiting
- constipation

Other side effects may occur, but are not as common. Allergy would show up as: rash or itching, facial or throat swelling, wheezing or shortness of breath. This medicine can be habit forming if used for a long period of time.

Follow these instructions:
- Never take more of this medicine than prescribed. Too much acetaminophen in your body can cause liver damage.
- Read the labels of non-prescription medicines before taking them. Many contain acetaminophen. To avoid an overdose, do not take any other medicines that contain acetaminophen.
- Talk to your doctor or pharmacist before taking medicines for sleep, colds or allergies. Severe drowsiness may occur.
- Do not share this medicine with others as this medicine is a controlled-substance. Sharing this medicine with others is against the law.
- To avoid constipation while taking this medicine:
  - Drink plenty of liquids. Try to drink 8 to 10 eight-ounce glasses of water or juice each day.
  - Include extra fiber in your diet.
  - Exercise daily.
- Watch for signs of dependence:
  - feeling that you "cannot live without this medicine".
  - you need more of this medicine than before to get the same relief.
- Do not drink alcohol, drive or operate machinery until you know how this medicine affects you.
- Store this medicine away from heat, moisture or direct light.
- If you are taking this on a regular schedule and you miss a dose, take it as soon as possible. If it is almost time for your next dose, skip the missed dose and return to your regular schedule. Do not double the doses.
- Talk with your doctor before taking any other medicines (including vitamins and herbals) as you may require additional monitoring.

Call your doctor if you have:
- any sign of dependence or allergy.
- increased pain not helped by the pain medicine.
- slow, weak breathing.
- seizures.
- slow or irregular heart beat.
- a yellow-color to your skin or eyes, or dark urine.
- stomach pain.
- unusual or extreme tiredness.
- any new or severe symptoms.

CEFADROXIL (Duricef)

Take this medicine until gone in the following dose: 500 mg by mouth 2 times a day for 5 days.

Cefadroxil is an antibiotic used to treat infections caused by bacteria. Antibiotics kill bacteria or prevent them from growing inside your body. This medicine may be used for other reasons, as prescribed by your doctor.

Side effects may include:

- diarrhea
- upset stomach, nausea or vomiting
- headache

Other side effects may occur, but are not as common. An upset stomach is not a sign of allergy. Allergy would show up as rash or itching, facial or throat swelling, wheezing or shortness of breath.

Follow these instructions:

- Space your medicine doses evenly throughout the day. This medicine works best if there is a constant amount in your blood.
- Take this medicine with food to avoid an upset stomach.
- Swallow the capsule and tablet form of this medicine whole with a full 8-ounce glass of water.
- For diabetics, this medicine can cause false test results when testing your urine for sugar. Talk with your doctor if you have questions.
- Store the tablet or capsule form of this medicine away from heat, moisture or direct light.
- Store the liquid form of this medicine in the refrigerator. Shake the liquid well before each use.
- If you miss a dose, take it as soon as possible. If it is almost time for your next dose, skip the missed dose. Do not double the doses.
- Talk with your doctor before taking any other medicines (including vitamins and herbals) as you may require additional monitoring.

Call your doctor if you have:

- any sign of allergy.
- no improvement after you've taken all the medicine.
- a seizure.
- any sign of a new infection (fever, general aches, chills, or unusual tiredness or weakness).
- ongoing nausea, vomiting or stomach pain.
- white patches in your mouth.
- women: itching in or change in discharge from your vagina.
- inflammation (pain and swelling) in your intestine during treatment or up to weeks after you've finished this medicine:
  - ongoing diarrhea
  - stomach pain or cramping
  - blood or mucus in your bowel movements
- any new or bothersome symptoms.

SMOKING CESSATION

Smoking is the nation's leading preventable cause of death. It significantly increases the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke and cancer. In fact, more than half of all smoking related deaths in America each year are from heart disease, stroke, or other cardiovascular diseases. The good news is, that one year after quitting, the risk of heart disease is cut in half. After five to fifteen smoke-free years, the risk is that of a person who never smoked!

If you or someone you love is interested in quitting, consider joining our "Freedom From Smoking "classes for adults. Centegra Health System and the McHenry County Department of Health have partnered together to bring you an effective program that will help you quit smoking. Call 877-CENTEGRA, (877-236-8347) for more information regarding this program. To speak with a counselor immediately, call the Illinois Tobacco line at 1-866-QUIT-YES.

PAIN MANAGEMENT AFTER DISCHARGE:

A person may feel less pain just by being in familiar surroundings. Here are some frequently asked questions about your pain management:

- What can I do to help my pain management? A person's level of relaxation and their environment can affect their pain. If you are tired, over stimulated (too many visitors) are anxious about your diagnosis, or a past experience with a hospitalization, your pain perception may be impacted and your tolerance decreased. Ask questions, and inform us about any problems or concerns that you may have, re: pain. Partner with your health team for your best pain management.
- What if the medication is not working? Tell your health-care provider; physician, home health nurse, etc. You may need a different dose or type of medicaton.
- What if I feel I'm not getting enough pain control? Talk to your physician or home health nurse about it. Together you may be able to develop a plan to prevent or ease your pain. Depending on the cause of your pain, your health-care provider may suggest exercise, use of heat/cold, massage, repositioning, immobilization of the affected part, or distraction such as music or rest.
- There are other methods of pain management. Let your health-care provider assist you in finding the best one for you.

Weight management is one step to help maintain a healthy lifestyle. For certain medical problems, such as congestive heart failure, weight should be monitored daily.

YOU ARE THE MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR IN YOUR RECOVERY.

Follow the above instructions carefully. Take your medicines as prescribed. Most important, see a doctor again as discussed.

If you have problems that we have not discussed, or your problem changes or gets worse, Call or visit your doctor right away. If you cannot reach your doctor, return to the Emergency Department immediately.

Centegra Health System is very concerned about your safety and well being. As part of our efforts to always provide very good care, any medications you received during this visit were reconciled with medication you are currently taking. This reconciliation was based on the information you or your representative provided regarding your current medications and allergies.

"I have received this information and my questions have been answered. I have discussed any challenges I see with this plan with the nurse or physician."

CONSENT FOR MEDICAL TREATMENT

I have come to Centegra Health System (CHS) for medical treatment and consent to the customary examinations, tests, and procedures performed on patients in my condition. I understand and consent that independent professionals (such as my attending physician, on-call physicians, emergency medicine physicians, radiologists, anesthesiologists, pathologists, surgeons, obstetricians, consultants, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, certified registered nurse anesthetists and other specialists) may participate in my care as deemed necessary.

I agree to follow the Patient Rights & Responsibilities of CHS and to participate with independent professionals and CHS personnel in my care and treatment.

I understand the practice of Medicine is not an exact science and, therefore, no guarantees have been made regarding the likelihood of success or outcomes of any diagnosis, treatment, test, surgery or examination performed at CHS.

I understand this General Consent and Acknowledgement will remain in effect for this episode of care and will be provided to those areas of CHS where I receive care.

I understand the language in this Consent guides and controls all other forms and consents I may sign during my treatment with Centegra Health System and any inconsistencies shall be interpreted consistent with terms of this document.

Initials PATIENT ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF INDEPENDENT PHYSICIANS

I acknowledge the independent professional(s) who provide services to me at CHS are not employees or agents of CHS, but are independent medical practitioners who have been permitted to use its facilities for the care and treatment of their patients. They include but are not limited to, my attending physician, on-call physicians, emergency medicine physicians, radiologists, anesthesiologists, pathologists, surgeons, obstetricians, consultants, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, certified registered nurse anesthetists and other specialists. My decision to seek care is not based upon any representation or advertisement of the independent professionals and I understand they are not employees or agents of CHS. CHS bills do not include physician, surgeon, or other independent professional services and I understand I will receive a separate bill directly from the independent professional. I have read and understand the above terms and confirm I am the patient or am authorized to sign on the patient's behalf.

Initials PATIENT ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF INDEPENDENT SERVICES

During the course of my hospital stay, my physician may determine I require care at another medical facility, or I may request care at an alternate facility. I acknowledge that all transportation services provided in connection with my transfer to another facility are provided by an independent third party and I will receive a separate bill directly from the service provider for which I may be responsible.

USE AND DISCLOSURE OF HEALTH INFORMATION

Unless I request otherwise, CHS will provide my room location or telephone number to visitors and callers.

I understand CHS will use and disclose my health information for the purposes of treatment, payment, and health care operations, as permitted by law as described in the CHS Notice of Privacy Practices. Certain information can be used without obtaining my consent. I fully understand that the use or disclosure of my health information may include history, diagnosis and /or diagnostic treatment of mental health/ developmental disabilities conditions, alcohol or drug abuse and Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS/ HIV).

I understand that if I refuse to allow disclosure of my health information to process my insurance claim, I may be financially responsible for all costs incurred by me for treatment. I agree to release and hold harmless CHS, its agents, and employees from any liability that may arise from the use or disclosure of my health information.

Initials PICTURES/IMAGES

I understand photographs, videotapes or other images may be taken to document my care. These images may be kept by CHS and/or by the independent professional involved in my care. I understand I have the right to view or obtain copies of these materials which are in possession of CHS upon written request. It is my responsibility to confirm if such photographs, videotapes or other images have been taken. I understand images identifying me will only be released as allowable under law or with my written authorization.

ASSIGNMENT OF BENEFITS/ AGREEMENT FOR PAYMENT

I hereby authorize payment to be made directly to CHS and to the independent professional(s) for all insurance benefits otherwise payable to me. I understand I am financially responsible to CHS and independent professionals for all charges incurred. Patient "out-of-pocket" amounts will be requested prior to or upon discharge. In the event of default or non-payment, CHS shall be entitled to the right of recovery of all collection expenses, including court costs and reasonable attorney's fees for the purpose of securing payment. It is further agreed that any credit balance may be applied on any other account owed CHS by the guarantor/responsible party, or any open account for his/her dependent family.

RE: Paul Dulberg

Dear Mr. Mast,

Mr. Dulberg was previously seen by my associate, Dr. Mitchell Grobman, in 2002 for left ulnar neuropathy, and had surgery and essentially became asymptomatic by 2007 and who had never had difficulty in his right arm. Approximately a month prior to the evaluation, he had been holding a branch for a neighbor when the chainsaw came up and cut his right forearm. He was taken to Northern Illinois Medical Center where they put in inner stitches in the muscle and outer stitches. He originally had very significant pain, but as the pain was getting better, he started noticing that he had numbness in his fifth digit in the inner aspect of his forearm. He had not been dropping things. It was mostly just a tingling and a numb feeling. He denies ever having any right-sided symptoms or right-sided injuries. His examination was significant for a healing scar in the right forearm and for decreased light touch, pinprick, and temperature sensation in the ulnar distribution of the right arm. His strength was normal. Given the distribution, it was felt that this was a branch neuropathy to the sensory nerves. I did have him undergo nerve conductions to make sure that the median and ulnar nerves were all without involvement and they were. I recommended that he see a hand surgeon as well just to be certain that there were no other treatment options for him; however, most likely this was just a sensory branch neuropathy that may improve or may result in permanent numbness in the distribution that he was showing numbness. Mr. Dulberg should followup if any additional symptoms develop or if he wished to try any neuropathic pain treatment if it became painful and not just numb.

Sincerely,

Karen Levin, MD (mdm)

HISTORY & PHYSICAL

PATIENT: Dulberg, Paul AGE: 41 years old EXAM DATE: 12/02/11

CHIEF COMPLAINT: Right forearm pain.

HPI: Patient is a 41-year-old male who is right-hand dominant. He was referred by Dr. Karen Levin, MD, neurology, for evaluation of an injury he sustained to his right medial forearm in June of 2011. He apparently was using a chain saw when he accidentally struck the volar medial aspect of his right forearm in roughly the mid forearm range with a chain saw. He had a large open wound down to muscle. He was seen in the emergency department where the wound is here it at the muscle was sewn together and the skin was closed. He followed up with his primary care provider. He has noted persistent pain which he describes as intermittent and shooting in character radiating from the laceration site. He occasionally has intermittent numbness and tingling in the ring and small finger. He reports grip weakness and no endurance with wrist flexion and gripping. He has not had therapy to date. He did have an EMG/NCS performed by Dr.Levin in August of 2011. Per the patient the study was normal. I do not have that study available at this moment. He currently is not working but is a graphic designer by training. He reports using a computer mouse for 20 minutes causes significant forearm pain.

MEDICATION: Patient has no current medications.
ALLERGIES: nkda
REFERRAL SOURCE: Not Referred By

ILLNESSES: Arthritis

PHYSICAL EXAM:

Report Date: June 21, 2012 Patient: Dulberg, Paul R DOS: 12/02/11

Vitals:	No data for Vitals.
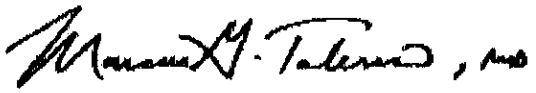
Appearance:	No distress, good color on room air. Alert and cooperative.
Skin:	Bilateral upper extremities: no open wounds or skin changes.
Neuro:	Bilateral upper extremities: Median, radial and ulnar nerves are motor and sensory intact. Light touch intact all digits, no weakness or wasting.
Vascular:	Bilateral upper extremities: palpable radial pulses and brisk capillary refill.
Focused Exam:	Examination of his right upper extremity reveals his elbow has normal painless range of motion. No focal tenderness to palpation. Collateral ligaments are stable. His forearm compartments are soft. He has a well-healed transverse laceration on the volar medial mid forearm level. There is no erythema, drainage, or fluctuance at the level of the laceration. There is no tenderness to palpation at the laceration site. There is some apparent muscle incongruity. Distally his hand demonstrates no atrophy. He has 5 out of 5 intrinsic strength. 5 out of 5 APB strength. He can make a full fist with full extension of all digits. He does not demonstrate a clawed posture. He has a negative Froment sign. He has a positive Wartenberg sign. Wrist flexion and extension is 5 out of 5 strength. He has a palpable FCU and ECU tendons at the level of the wrist. They have appropriate tension.
IMAGING:	None today.



ASSESSMENT:

DIAGNOSIS:	906.1-LATE EFFECT OPEN WND EXTREM
PROCEDURES:	99203-NEW Detailed, Low Complexity

PLAN:

Plan: I reviewed findings, treatment options, and recommendations with the patient concerning the forearm complaints he has. I would like to see the official report of the EMG/NCS. We will obtain this report. There is no evidence of a complete injury to his ulnar nerve on physical exam. His complaints are likely muscular in origin. He may have some superficial sensory complaints as well. I do not think he needs any surgical intervention at this time. I did recommend and provided him with a prescription for occupational therapy to work on strengthening and conditioning of the forearm muscles. They can also perform some pain control modalities. I would like to see him back in 4-6 weeks' time to see if therapy is of some assistance to him. I will contact him by phone if his EMG is significantly abnormal. Otherwise we will discuss it at the next followup visit. Patient was in agreement with the plan.

Prescription:	No data for Prescription
Work Status:	Not applicable.

PROCEDURES: 99213-ESTABLISHED Expanded, Low Complexity

ASSESSMENT & PLAN:

Plan: I reviewed findings, treatment options, and recommendations with the patient concerning the forearm complaints he has. I reviewed the EMG/NCS which is a normal study. There is no evidence of ulnar nerve injury. Given the location of his injury this is the only significant problem I can imagine from this wound. There is no evidence of any nerve or tendon injury. He may have some residual soreness and some superficial sensory abnormalities but this should improve over time. Our recommendation is simply continued therapy. No need for surgical intervention that I can foresee. Unfortunately do not have anything further to offer the patient at this time. I would be happy to see him back in the future on an as needed basis.

DYNAMIC HAND THERAPY
Re-Evaluation of Progress, Goals and Plan of Care

Patient: Paul Dulberg Physician: Dr. Talmieri Date: 1-5-12

Diagnosis: (R) Forearm laceration of ulnar flexors Date of Injury: 6-28-11

Surgical Hx: Date 6-28-11 Procedure Sutured in ER Start of Care: 10-6-11

Number of visits to date: _____

SUBJECTIVE:

Pain: 4-5 /10 at rest / best 9 /10 with activity / at worst

Details: Spike of pain up to 9/10 that lasts only a few seconds

Function/ADL's:
Improvements: No functional improvements due to increase in tremors

Continued difficulties: writing, using menus, pouring coffee, manipulating small objects, dressing wt through pelvis

OBJECTIVE:

Wound/Scar: Minimal hypertrophy with a bump increasing in size on ulnar side

See flow sheet for:

☑ Edema: Moderate edema across MCP jts

☐ Sensation: TBA next visit due to time constraints

☑ ROM: Elbow ✓ ↑'d 6°, wrist ✓ ↑'d 5° wrist / ↑'d 5°

☑ Strength: (R) grip ↑'d 17# (R) = 59% of (L) /

Treatment summary to date: Mtl, US, ex's ordered, STM, PROM all, wrist & digits AROM of wrist, extension exercises, forearm strengthening

Assessment/therapist impression: Pt shows improvements in ROM but functional improvement limited due to ↑ in tremors

Goals: STG's met: ☑ yes ☐ no (1) (2) LTG's met: ☐ yes ☐ no

Revised functional goals: (3) wks

1. (Cont.) ↑ (R) pronation 5-8° to ↑ pt's ability to pour coffee

2. ↑ (R) grip another 5# to improve ability to hold cup coffee mug or open jars

3. Pt to report pain 2-3/10 at best to enable him to use (R) UE to assist in ADL's

Patient: Paul Dulberg

Skilled therapy needed for: ☑ progression of exercise ☐ continued need for manual therapy

☐ other: Scar mob, STM, Rcom, elbow, wrist, digits

PLAN:

Modalities: MHP, U.S. - RN

Exercise: RCom, elbow, wrist, digits, intrinsic exercises, functional grip & pinch, strengthening as tolerated

Splinting:

Other:

Frequency/Duration: 2-3 times/week for 4 weeks or 8-12 additional visits

I have reviewed this plan of care and recertify a continuing need for services from the date of this updated plan of care; the above updated plan of care is herein established and will be reviewed every 30 days.

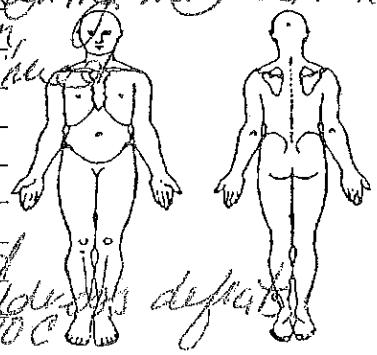
SOAP: S: The pt reports moderate soreness in the forearm following the last OT session due to the "deep massage she did around the scar." He states the nerve pain however, did lessen significantly following the deep massage. He does report occasionally still "getting the tingers & pins and needles" when he tries to hold something between my thumb & small finger- like a computer mouse."



O: The chart's most recent OT eval dated 1/5/12 were reviewed & today's gross assessment & ROM & strength consistent findings of this report. Also palpation revealed moderate scar tissue present @ injury site & along ulnar border of forearm. Palpation also created complaints of tingling & burning into ulnar distribution of hand. RX was performed today per flow sheet following reviewed & agreed plan of care of primary therapy. Pt reported tingling & burning during manual RX today along ulnar distribution, however denied prolonged or continuous SX following RX.

A: Pt presents w moderate scar tissue along ulnar aspect of forearm & reports of neurological SX's & functional mobility hand. Would benefit from cont. therapy to address deficits.

P: Cont. therapy along 1st & 4th as per POC with return to ot.

Open Advanced MRI

PATIENT:	DULBERG, PAUL	PHYSICIAN:	LEVIN, MD, KAREN
MRN:	1585839	EXAM:	MR FOREARM W/ AND W/O 73220
DOB:	03/19/1970	DOS:	02/03/2012

EXAMINATION: MRI examination of the right forearm without and with intravenous contrast infusion..

CLINICAL HISTORY: History of right forearm trauma with a chainsaw. Possible neuroma, nerve impingement or injury in the forearm. Possible tendon disruption. It appears that the patient had some difficulty holding still during image acquisition. There is motion artifact on this examination. Weakness in the fourth and fifth fingers. Pain in the forearm and hand.

TECHNIQUE: Multiplanar T1 and T2-weighted spin-echo pulse sequences and STIR sequence. Post-infusion multiplanar T1-weighted sequences were performed. A skin marker was taped to the point of maximal symptoms.

Contrast: 15 cc of gadolinium was infused.

FINDINGS: There is no bone abnormality seen. The bone marrow signal characteristics are normal.

There is no cystic or solid mass appreciated. The visualized muscles have normal signal characteristics.

There is no abnormal soft tissue infiltration or induration. Specifically, in the area of the skin marker which is marking the point of maximal symptoms, there is no soft tissue abnormality appreciated.

There is no abnormality identified along the course of the ulnar nerve in the forearm.

IMPRESSION: There is no forearm abnormality appreciated. This does not exclude the possibility of an ulnar nerve impingement or injury but there is no gross mass or abnormal infiltration along the expected course of the ulnar nerve. No obvious tendon or muscle abnormality appreciated at this time.

Thank you for referring your patient to Open Advanced MRI. If you have any questions, Dr. Levin, please feel free to contact me at my direct line which is: 630.885.2100.

CHART NOTES

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of left elbow. He is doing well. His arm is feeling much better. The strength in his hand has improved dramatically. He is very pleased with the results of his surgery. He does not report any paresthesias in his hand.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The left elbow scar is stable. Range of motion is full. Sensation around the scar is decreased as expected. This should improve with time. Intrinsic strength is 5/5. Pulp-to-palm distance is 0. Sensation is intact in all distributions.

TREATMENT PLAN: He will continue home exercises as directed by the therapist. He may resume use of his left hand for activities as tolerated. He was cautioned to limit heavy lifting activities if any symptoms arise.

He did not wish to schedule a follow-up appointment. He was invited to return back to the office at his discretion if any further problems or concerns arise. Follow-up PRN. Work status is no restriction.

NEXT VISIT: PRN.

ACTIVITY/WORK STATUS: Unrestricted.

function is intact.

TREATMENT PLAN: I reviewed the operative findings. The patient's questions were answered. The need for activity restriction was explained.

He was given a therapy referral for fabrication of an elbow extension-block splint and instruction in protected range of motion exercises.

The sutures will be removed next week, and he will begin scar management after that. Follow up is three weeks. Work status is no use, wear splint.

NEXT VISIT: Three weeks.

ACTIVITY/WORK STATUS: Restricted. No use of affected hand/arm. Keep wound clean and dry. Wear splint.

CHART NOTES

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of left elbow. He is doing well. His symptoms have improved. His pain is decreased. Sensation has improved. He is participating in therapy. His progress is satisfactory.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The left elbow scarring is stable. Range of motion is satisfactory. There is no nerve subluxation. He reports diminished sensation surrounding the surgical scar which is expected. Sensation is intact distally. Finger motion is satisfactory.

TREATMENT PLAN: He will continue postoperative therapy including scar management and gradual strengthening exercises. I reviewed the need for temporary activity restriction and protection of the left arm. He was given a padded elbow sleeve for protection of the surgical scar. The sensation surrounding the scar should improve gradually over time. Follow-up one month. Work status is no forceful, no heavy.

NEXT VISIT: One month.

ACTIVITY/WORK STATUS: Restricted. No forceful gripping/strenuous use. No heavy lifting.

CHART NOTES

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of left elbow. He is doing okay. Overall, his ulnar nerve symptoms have improved. He still has intermittent medial elbow pain and paresthesias associated with movement of his elbow. He is concerned about the persistent snapping of the ulnar nerve.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Left elbow scar is stable. The ulnar nerve is nontender. There is no Tinel's sign. Range of motion is full. Sensation is intact distally. Intrinsic strength is normal. There is marked left ulnar nerve subluxation at the cubital tunnel.

TREATMENT PLAN: I reviewed the clinical findings. The patient's questions were answered. Treatment options were discussed.

Additional surgery may be indicated to address the ulnar nerve instability. Options would include ulnar nerve transposition or medial epicondylectomy. The timing of additional surgery would be elective, and I believe observation is appropriate at this time.

I asked the patient to obtain a second opinion regarding additional surgery. Follow up for second opinion with HSA M.D. Work status is no restriction.

NEXT VISIT: After second opinion.

CHART NOTES

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of left elbow. The history is as given by Dr. Sagerman.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: On examination, his symptoms are reproduced with elbow flexion and extension with subluxation of the ulnar nerve.

The soft tissues are soft. I don't think that there would be a problem with proceeding with a second surgery at this point.

Because his symptoms are present both at rest, though aggravated with flexion extension, it may be that an epicondylectomy would not be enough. I would favor a submuscular transposition and have reviewed reasonable expectations of outcome of such a surgery with Mr. Dulberg as well as potential risks and complications. He believes that he would proceed and I have discussed this

CHART NOTES

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of left elbow. He is doing well. His symptoms have improved. He reports some residual paresthesias, which is expected.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Left elbow scar is stable. Range of motion is full. There is slight ulnar nerve subluxation at the cubital tunnel. Sensation is intact in all distributions. The patient reports that his grip strength has improved.

TREATMENT PLAN: He will continue postoperative therapy for range of motion exercises and gradual strengthening. Continued improvement is expected over time.

I briefly explained the option for ulnar nerve transposition, if the nerve subluxation causes persistent symptoms. For now, his symptoms will be observed.

Follow up is one month. Work status is no restriction.

NEXT VISIT: One month.

ACTIVITY/WORK STATUS: Unrestricted.

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of left arm. He is doing well. No problems reported after surgery. His pain is controlled.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The left elbow incision is clean. Sutures are in place. No sign of infection or hematoma. Elbow motion is satisfactory. Circulation is intact distally.

TREATMENT PLAN: I reviewed the operative findings. The patient's questions were answered. The expectation for gradual improvement and ulnar nerve symptoms was discussed.

A therapy referral was provided for range-of-motion exercise and scar management. Infection precautions were reviewed. Follow up in one week for suture removal.

RE: Paul Dulberg
O/V: 9/11/03

Dear Dr. Grobman:

I had the opportunity to examine your patient, Paul Dulberg, concerning his left arm. He reports persistent numbness and tingling in the ulnar nerve distribution of the left hand following a motor vehicle accident which occurred in March, 2002. He has had conservative treatment including injections, medications and therapy. A nerve conduction study from May, 2002 and repeat study in December, 2002 showed evidence of ulnar neuropathy at the elbow.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Examination in the left arm shows positive Tinel sign at the cubital tunnel with local sensitivity. Range of motion is full. Sensation is diminished in the ulnar nerve distribution. There is slight weakness of the intrinsic muscles and positive Froment's sign. There is no visible atrophy. Circulation is normal distally.

TREATMENT PLAN: I explained the diagnosis and treatment options. Surgery is indicated on an elective basis for cubital tunnel release. The patient requested to proceed with surgery. This may be scheduled at his convenience.

Thank you for the opportunity to participate in his care.

Sincerely,

Scott D. Sagerman, M.D.

DSC OPERATIVE REPORT

DATE OF OPERATION: 03/10/2004

PREOPERATIVE DIAGNOSIS: Recurrent left ulnar neuritis at the cubital tunnel with ulnar nerve subluxation.

POSTOPERATIVE DIAGNOSIS: Recurrent left ulnar neuritis at the cubital tunnel with ulnar nerve subluxation.

PROCEDURE: Revision of left ulnar neurolysis at the cubital tunnel with anterior transposition.

SURGEON: Scott D. Sagerman, MD

ASSISTANT: John R. Ruder, MD

ANESTHESIA: General.

COMPLICATIONS: None.

TOURNIQUET TIME: 1 hour and 10 minutes.

OPERATIVE FINDINGS: The patient developed symptomatic ulnar nerve subluxation at the cubital tunnel with recurrent ulnar neuritis following previous cubital tunnel release surgery. Exploration revealed marked instability of the ulnar nerve which easily subluxated anterior to the medial epicondyle with elbow flexion. Scar formation was present surrounding the ulnar nerve within the cubital tunnel.

TECHNIQUE: Consent was signed by the patient, and he was taken to the operating room. General anesthesia was given. The left arm was prepped and draped sterilely. A sterile tourniquet was applied to the upper arm and inflated following exsanguination of the limb.

The previous longitudinal scar over the cubital tunnel was incised at the posteromedial aspect of the elbow, and the incision was extended proximally and distally in longitudinal fashion for additional exposure. Under loupe magnification, the subcutaneous tissue was dissected. The branches of the medial antebrachial cutaneous nerve were identified, dissected, and retracted safely. The skin flaps were elevated, and the ulnar nerve was exposed.

Neurolysis was performed to mobilize the ulnar nerve from surrounding scar tissue. The release was carried proximally and to the upper arm. The medial intermuscular septum was excised. The arcade of Struthers were absent. The release was then carried distally into the flexor/pronator musculature. The aponeurosis was divided to mobilize the ulnar nerve. The articular branch had to be divided to allow adequate mobility of the ulnar nerve for anterior transposition. Small horizontal vessels were ligated and divided, preserving the longitudinal blood supply to the ulnar nerve.

The ulnar nerve was then transposed to the medial epicondyle, assuring a straight line course of the nerve. There was no kinking of the nerve either proximally or distally. The transposition was then stabilized using submuscular flap. The flexor/pronator muscle fascia was incised to create a Z-plasty, permitting lengthening of the muscle fascia. The muscle fibers were then divided, with ligation of perforating vessels. The ulnar nerve was placed in the submuscular position, maintaining a thin layer of muscle fibers deep to the nerve. The fascia was then reapproximated in a lengthened position using 3-0 Vicryl sutures, maintaining the ulnar nerve in the transposed position without excessive tension on the nerve. The elbow was taken through a range of motion, and the nerve showed excellent gliding with no visible angulation of the nerve.

The field was irrigated with antibiotic solution. One free end of a cutaneous nerve branch was identified. This was placed deep to the medial arm fascia which was sutured with Vicryl, to prevent symptomatic neuroma formation.

The subcutaneous tissue was reapproximated with buried 5-0 Vicryl sutures, and the skin edges were reapproximated with 5-0 nylon sutures. A sterile bulky gauze dressing was applied followed by posterior plaster splint to maintain the elbow in a flexed position. The patient was awoken, extubated, and transported to the recovery room in stable condition. He tolerated the procedure well. There were no complications.

Scott D. Sagerman, MD

OPERATIVE REPORT

Preoperative Diagnosis:
Left cubital tunnel syndrome.

Postoperative Diagnosis: Same.

Operation Performed:
Left cubital tunnel release.

Surgeon: Scott Sagerman, M.D.
Anesthesia: General.
Complications: None.
Tourniquet Time: 38 minutes.

OPERATIVE FINDINGS: The left ulnar nerve showed obvious constriction at the distal aspect of the cubital tunnel beneath the cubital tunnel ligaments. The ligament was thickened with several bands of deep layers over the area of nerve compression. The floor of the cubital tunnel was clear. The ulnar nerve did subluxate slightly over the medial epicondyle at end range of flexion. There was no arcade of Struthers.

PROCEDURE: Consent was signed by the patient, taken to the operating room, general anesthesia was administered. The left arm was prepped and draped sterilely. A tourniquet was inflated on the upper arm following exsanguination of the limb. A longitudinal incision was made over the cubital tunnel at the posteromedial aspect of the left elbow. Under loupe magnification the subcutaneous tissues dissected, superficial veins were ligated with bipolar cautery. Branches of the medial interbrachial cutaneous nerve were identified. These were dissected and gently retracted safely using a vessel loop. The fascia was incised proximal to the cubital tunnel to expose the ulnar nerve. The nerve was dissected distally by dividing the cubital tunnel ligament, until the nerve entered the flexor/pronator fascia of the proximal forearm. The fascia was incised distally and motor branches of the ulnar nerve were seen with normal perineural fat at this level. Proximally, the nerve was dissected by dividing the arm fascia for a distance of 10 cm proximal to the epicondyle.

The ulnar nerve was inspected, adhesions around the nerve were divided with gentle blunt dissection. The nerve was noted to be constricted at the distal aspect of the cubital tunnel. Following neurolysis, tendon gliding was found to be satisfactory with elbow motion. No other areas of nerve compression were seen.

The field was irrigated with antibiotic solution. The vessel loop was removed. The subcutaneous tissues were reapproximated with 5-0 Vicryl undyed buried sutures. The skin edges were reapproximated with 5-0 and 6-0 nylon sutures. A sterile bulky compressive dressing was applied. The tourniquet was deflated, circulation returned to the left hand with normal capillary refill. The patient was awoken and transported to the recovery room in stable condition. The patient tolerated the procedure well, there were no complications.

PREOPERATIVE HISTORY AND PHYSICAL

DATE OF ADMISSION: 03/10/2004 12:00 AM EST

DATE OF BIRTH: 03/19/70

DATE OF SURGERY: 03/10/04

HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS: The patient is a 33-year-old male who reports symptoms of left medial elbow pain and intermittent paresthesias due to ulnar neuritis decubitus tunnel. Previously he underwent decubital tunnel release surgery in October of 2003 which resulted in some improvement in his symptoms, however, due to persistent symptoms he is now being admitted for additional surgery.

PAST MEDICAL HISTORY: Negative.

MEDICATIONS: Naproxen.

ALLERGIES: None.

HABITS: Smoking history is positive.

FAMILY HISTORY: Noncontributory.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION:
VITAL SIGNS: Stable.
LUNGS: Clear.
HEART: Rate is regular.
EXTREMITIES: The left elbow shows healed surgical scar across the cubital tunnel. Range of motion is satisfactory. Circulation and sensation are intact distally. There is ulnar nerve subluxation at the cubital tunnel and paresthesias with flexion and extension of the elbow. Circulation and sensation are intact distally.

X-rays of the left elbow are negative.

IMPRESSION: Left ulnar neuritis at the cubital tunnel with nerve subluxation.

TREATMENT PLAN: Repeat neurolysis left ulnar nerve with anterior transposition. Surgery scheduled under general anesthesia in Day Surgery. The patient understands the risks, benefits and possible complications of surgery and requests to proceed.

Assessment & Plan (Kim E Brandon, RT; 7/8/2013 3:35 PM)

HISTORY & PHYSICAL

PATIENT: Dulberg, Paul AGE: 41 years old EXAM DATE: 12/02/11

CHIEF COMPLAINT: Right forearm pain.

HPI: Patient is a 41-year-old male who is right-hand dominant. He was referred by Dr. Karen Levin, MD, neurology, for evaluation of an injury he sustained to his right medial forearm in June of 2011. He apparently was using a chain saw when he accidentally struck the volar medial aspect of his right forearm in roughly the mid forearm range with a chain saw. He had a large open wound down to muscle. He was seen in the emergency department where the wound is here it at the muscle was sewn together and the skin was closed. He followed up with his primary care provider. He has noted persistent pain which he describes as intermittent and shooting in character radiating from the laceration site. He occasionally has intermittent numbness and tingling in the ring and small finger. He reports grip weakness and no endurance with wrist flexion and gripping. He has not had therapy to date. He did have an EMG/NCS performed by Dr.Levin in August of 2011. Per the patient the study was normal. I do not have that study available at this moment. He currently is not working but is a graphic designer by training. He reports using a computer mouse for 20 minutes causes significant forearm pain.

MEDICATION: Patient has no current medications.
ALLERGIES: nkda
REFERRAL SOURCE: Not Referred By

ILLNESSES: Arthritis
OPERATIONS: Ulnar Nerve Transportation: Active
SOCIAL HISTORY: Alcohol - Denies
Marital Status: Single
Smoking: current every day smoker
FAMILY HISTORY: Diabetes
OCCUPATION: Graphic Designer

ROS:

1. Head and Neck: System reported as normal by patient.
2. Heart: System reported as normal by patient.
3. Lungs: System reported as normal by patient.
4. GI: System reported as normal by patient.
5. GU: System reported as normal by patient.
6. Neuro: As per HPI.
7. Musculoskeletal: As per HPI.
8. Abdomen: System reported as normal by patient.
9. Heme/Lymph: System reported as normal by patient.
10. Other:

PHYSICAL EXAM:

Vitals: No data for Vitals.
Appearance: No distress, good color on room air. Alert and cooperative.
Skin: Bilateral upper extremities: no open wounds or skin changes.
Neuro: Bilateral upper extremities: Median, radial and ulnar nerves are motor and sensory intact. Light touch intact all digits, no weakness or wasting.
Vascular: Bilateral upper extremities: palpable radial pulses and brisk capillary refill.
Focused Exam: Examination of his right upper extremity reveals his elbow has normal painless range of motion. No focal tenderness to palpation. Collateral ligaments are stable. His forearm compartments are soft. He has a well-healed transverse laceration on the volar medial mid forearm level. There is no erythema, drainage, or fluctuance at the level of the laceration. There is no tenderness to palpation at the laceration site. There is some apparent muscle incongruity. Distally his hand demonstrates no atrophy. He has 5 out of 5 intrinsic strength. 5 out of 5 APB strength. He can make a full fist with full extension of all digits. He does not demonstrate a clawed posture. He has a negative Froment sign. He has a positive Wartenberg sign. Wrist flexion and extension is 5 out of 5 strength. He has a palpable FCU and ECU tendons at the level of the wrist. They have appropriate tension.

IMAGING: None today.

ASSESSMENT:

DIAGNOSIS: 906.1-LATE EFFECT OPEN WND EXTREM

PROCEDURES: 99203-NEW Detailed, Low Complexity

PLAN:

Plan: I reviewed findings, treatment options, and recommendations with the patient concerning the forearm complaints he has. I would like to see the official report of the EMG/NCS. We will obtain this report. There is no evidence of a complete injury to his ulnar nerve on physical exam. His complaints are likely muscular in origin. He may have some superficial sensory complaints as well. I do not think he needs any surgical intervention at this time. I did recommend and provided him with a prescription for occupational therapy to work on strengthening and conditioning of the forearm muscles. They can also perform some pain control modalities. I would like to see him back in 4-6 weeks' time to see if therapy is of some assistance to him. I will contact him by phone if his EMG is significantly abnormal. Otherwise we will discuss it at the next followup visit. Patient was in agreement with the plan.

Prescription: No data for Prescription

Work Status: Not applicable.

He followed up with his primary care provider. He has noted persistent pain which he describes as intermittent and shooting in character radiating from the laceration site. He occasionally has intermittent numbness and tingling in the ring and small finger. He reports grip weakness and no endurance with wrist flexion and gripping. He has not had therapy to date. He did have an EMG/NCS performed by Dr.Levin in August of 2011. Per the patient the study was normal.
I saw the patient a proximally one month ago recommended a course of occupational therapy. He has attended one or 2 sessions thus far. I also obtained and the EMG nerve conduction study to review. The patient reports no improvement in symptoms. He thinks that therapy is not helpful. He feels he is getting weaker. He feels burning in the forearm region. He also asked me about disability paperwork.

MEDICAL HISTORY: Arthritis
MEDICATION: naproxen (Dosage: 375 mg Tablet, Delayed Release (E.C.) SIG: Take 1 tablet Oral twice a day Oral Dispense: 90 Refills: 2)
ALLERGIES: nkda
SOCIAL HISTORY Alcohol - Denies
Marital Status: Single
Smoking: current every day smoker

PHYSICAL EXAM:
Appearance: No distress. Alert and cooperative.
Skin: Bilateral upper extremities: no open wounds or skin changes. Well-healed laceration in the mid forearm region right side ulnar aspect. No evidence of infection.
Neuro: Bilateral upper extremities: light touch intact all digits, no weakness or wasting.
Focused Exam: Elbow with full and painless motion in the right side. Forearm compartments are soft there is no obvious deformity. He has preserved wrist flexion and extension strength. He can make a full fist and has full extension of all digits. He has no intrinsic or thenar atrophy. He has 5/5 APB and intrinsic strength. He has a negative Froment sign. He does have a positive Wartenberg sign. FDP to the small finger is 5/5.

IMAGING: None today.

DIAGNOSIS: 906.1-LATE EFFECT OPEN WND EXTREM
PROCEDURES: 99213-ESTABLISHED Expanded, Low Complexity

ASSESSMENT & PLAN:
Plan: I reviewed findings, treatment options, and recommendations with the patient concerning the forearm complaints he has. I reviewed the EMG/NCS which is a normal study. There is no evidence of ulnar nerve injury. Given the location of his injury this is the only significant problem I can imagine from this wound. There is no evidence of any nerve or tendon injury. He may have some residual soreness and some superficial sensory abnormalities but this should improve over time. Our recommendation is simply continued therapy. No need for surgical intervention that I can foresee. Unfortunately do not have anything further to offer the patient at this time. I would be happy to see him back in the future on an as needed basis.

Work Status: Not applicable.

RE: PAUL DULBERG
OV: 02/27/2012

Dear Dr. Sek:

On February 27, 2012, I evaluated your patient, Mr. Paul Dulberg, concerning his right arm. He sustained a laceration of his forearm from a chainsaw accident on June 28, 2011. He developed symptoms of numbness in the small finger with weakness. He was treated with therapy. He had an EMG test and MRI scan.

PAST MEDICAL HISTORY: Remarkable for arthritis and cervical disc disease

MEDICATIONS: Naproxen, Tramadol, Cyclobenzoprine, Flexetine.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The right forearm shows a 7 cm. transverse scar at the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm. There is local tenderness and sensitivity to percussion with a positive Tinel sign and paresthesias radiating into the small finger. There is also sensitivity at the cubital tunnel region. Wrist and elbow motion are unrestricted. There is no visible atrophy. He is unable to adduct the small finger. Flexion strength is grossly normal. Sensation is decreased to light touch in the small finger only with inconsistent two point discrimination.

X-RAY EXAMINATION: Outside films of the right forearm from June 20, 2011 were reviewed. There is no fracture or foreign body.

MRI films of the right forearm from February 3, 2012 were reviewed. No abnormality is seen.

A nerve conduction study by Dr. Levin from August 10, 2011 shows no evidence of diffuse neuropathy.
Sparing Nerve damage.

IMPRESSION: Right forearm laceration with probable partial ulnar nerve injury.

TREATMENT PLAN: I explained the diagnosis. For further evaluation, the patient was referred for additional electrodiagnostic testing including an EMG.

Re: Paul Dulberg

Occupational therapy reports were reviewed.

I explained the potential indication for surgery for nerve exploration, pending review of the electrical study.

He will follow-up after the EMG. Work status is no restriction.

If you have any further questions regarding Mr. Paul Dulberg, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Scott D. Sagerman, M.D.

CHART NOTE:
The patient was in the office today for evaluation of the right hand. He reports no change in his symptoms.

He had an EMG test by Dr. Levin, and the report from March 13, 2012 shows no evidence for neuropathy. The EMG portion showed no denervation, and ulnar nerve conduction was within normal limits.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The right forearm scar is stable and nontender. There is sensitivity to percussion with a positive Tinel sign at the ulnar aspect of the scar. Adduction of the small finger remains limited consistent with a positive Wartenberg's sign.

TREATMENT PLAN: I explained the findings of the EMG test. Treatment options were given. He does not wish to pursue any surgery at this time.

A therapy referral was given for strengthening exercises and scar management.

CHART NOTE:
The patient was in the office today for evaluation of the right arm. He reports persistent pain with use of his arm, especially gripping activities. He has had additional therapy which has been beneficial. He reports no change in his symptoms of numbness which is not bothersome. However, his function is limited due to his pain symptoms.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The right forearm scar is tender at the ulnar aspect with a positive Tinel sign and local sensitivity. Composite finger flexion is full. There is no triggering or locking, there is no clawing. Wartenberg sign is positive. Intrinsic strength is slightly weak.

TREATMENT PLAN: I reviewed the diagnosis and treatment options. The possible surgical indication for ulnar nerve neurolysis was discussed. Before deciding on surgery, the patient will contact Dr. Levin for discussion of medication to address his nerve-related pain symptoms.

He will also see Dr. Biafora for a second opinion regarding possible surgical intervention.

Patient ID: 80330
Patient Name: PAUL DULBERG
Date of Birth: 03/19/1970
Date of Service: 05/17/2012

CHART NOTE:
The patient was seen in the office today for evaluation of the right upper extremity. Mr. Dulberg is a patient of Dr. Sagerman's who presents today for a second opinion, referred by Dr. Sagerman. Briefly, Mr. Dulberg is a 41 year old, right hand dominant male who on June 28, 2011 sustained a chain saw injury to the right forearm. The patient states that he was told he had a partial nerve injury in the emergency room. Today, he reports some weakness in his right hand. He reports numbness in his right small and ring fingers at rest with occasional tingling. He also reports occasional shooting, burning type pain which radiates both proximally and distally from the area of the injury in the proximal forearm. This occurs several times a day at rest and more predictably with use. He denies ny previous injuries. He has undergone electrodiagnostic tests in the recent past. He was recently seen by Dr. Levin a few days ago and has been taking Neurontin over the past couple of days. The patient is currently applying for disability, secondary to his injury as he states that he is unable to perform his previous work activities.

PAST MEDICAL HISTORY: Arthritis, migraine headaches.

PAST SURGICAL HISTORY: Ulnar nerve decompression at the elbow with anterior transposition.

MEDICATIONS: Neurontin, Naproxen, Flexdine, Tramadol, Cyclobenzoprine.

ALLERGIES: No known drug allergies.

SOCIAL HISTORY: He smokes one pack of cigarettes per day.

PHYSICAL EXAM: Examination of the right upper extremity – elbow motion is from 0 to 140 degrees with full forearm rotation which is painless. There is a positive Tinel at the cubital tunnel through to approximately several centimeters distal to this. There is a transverse swelling and a healed scar, several millimeters in length in the proximal third of the forearm on the ulnar side. There is a positive Tinel over the scar at the most volar radial aspect of the scar. There is also significant tenderness at the scar to deep palpation on its most ulnar and distal border near the ulna. The Tinel over the most volar and radial aspect of the scar radiates into the ulnar digits. Moving two point discrimination in the small finger is 6-7 mm. There appears to be good strength to first dorsal Interosseous testing. Negative Froment's sign. Positive Wartenberg's. Full digital motion. He has good strength to DIP flexion of the small and ring fingers. There is pain at the scar on its most dorsal and ulnar border with resisted DIP flexion of the small finger. FCU function also appears to be intact, also eliciting pain at the scar. Electrodiagnostic studies dated March 13, 2012 has been reviewed.

ASSESSMENT: Approximately one year status post right forearm laceration with likely partial ulnar nerve injury, with ulnar nerve neuritis.

PLAN: The nature of the patient's condition has been explained in detail. All of his questions were answered. The patient may benefit from an ulnar nerve exploration with neurolysis. I would recommend this also include a cubital tunnel decompression with possible anterior transposition. He understands that this will not likely improve the motor deficits in his hand, however, it may improve he pain to his forearm. An ulnar nerve repair of a partial laceration is unlikely at this point. He also has a separate and distinct tenderness in the most dorsal ulnar aspect of the wound. He may require exploration of this portion of the scar as well. The patient would like some time to think about this. He will continue to be treated with the Neurotin under the neurologist. He will follow-up with Dr. Sagerman in four weeks.

CHART NOTE:
The patient was in the office today for evaluation of the right elbow. He reports no change in his symptoms despite medication. He has side effects from the medication which interfere with functioning. He would like to proceed with surgery which was discussed with Dr. Biafora previously. He had additional therapy, but this was discontinued due to lack of progress.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Examination of the right elbow and forearm is unchanged. A positive Tinel sign is present at the cubital tunnel without ulnar nerve subluxation. The forearm scar is stable with tenderness and sensitivity to percussion. He indicates pain with gripping activities localized to the forearm region and resulting in increased numbness in his ring and small fingers with weakness of his grip.

TREATMENT PLAN: I reviewed the diagnosis and treatment options. The surgical indication was discussed. Informed consent was obtained for the procedure. He understands the risks, benefits and possible complications of surgery as well as the expected outcome. The prognosis is guarded in terms of symptom improvement. However, he feels that any improvement in symptoms would be beneficial in terms of his arm functioning.

He was advised to contact the neurologist to report his symptoms associated with the use of Neurontin medication. Medical clearance will be obtained from his primary care physician before surgery is scheduled.

NEXT VISIT: After surgery.

ACTIVITY/WORK STATUS: Unrestricted.

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of the right arm. He is feeling better. His function has improved. He had additional therapy with gains in his strength. The sensation in his fingers has improved. He is pleased that he can now grasp objects better than he did before surgery. He still has some difficulty with certain activities involving gripping and pinching small objects.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: The right elbow and forearm scars are stable and nontender. There is no sensitivity at the cubital tunnel. There is no ulnar nerve subluxation. He still has tenderness at the dorsal aspect of the forearm scar but less pain with gripping activities. His maximum grip strength was 112 pounds, according to the most recent therapy measurement.

TREATMENT PLAN: The patient will continue home exercises as previously directed by the therapist. He may advance activities with use of his right arm as tolerated. Continued improvement in strength is expected over time.

We discussed his work activities. He is currently unemployed and plans to pursue disability.

The patient was in the office today for evaluation of his right hand. He still has some weakness in his pinch strength and difficulty grasping objects. He is performing home exercises.

He also reports a recent onset of left elbow symptoms with no preceding trauma.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION: Examination of the right elbow and forearm scars are stable with no tenderness or sensitivity. Finger motion is normal. There is slight weakness in key pinch. Sensation is intact in all distributions.

The left elbow shows tenderness at the lateral epicondyle. Range of motion is guarded. There is pain at the end range of extension and pain is reproduced with resisted wrist extension. There is no effusion or bursitis. The posteromedial scar is stable. There is no joint crepitus.

X-RAY EXAMINATION: Multiple views of the left elbow today are negative.

TREATMENT PLAN: I explained the diagnosis and treatment options. The etiology of the condition was discussed. A therapy referral is given for epicondylitis protocol. Activity modifications were explained. He will continue home exercises for the right hand for strengthening.

History of Present Illness (Scott D Sagerman, MD; 8/29/2013 5:01 PM)
The patient is a 43 year old male presenting for a follow up visit. The patient is improving (Still complains of intermittent right forearm muscle cramping).

Physical Exam (Scott D Sagerman, MD; 8/26/2013 11:15 AM)
The physical exam findings are as follows:
Note: left elbow shows the tenderness in the lateral condyle region. Skin is intact. Range of motion full. No pain with resisted wrist extension. No joint crepitus. right forearm scar is stable with no focal tenderness or sensitivity. He describes intermittent muscle spasms with the discomfort despite medication.

DSC OPERATIVE REPORT

DATE OF OPERATION: 07/09/2012

PREOPERATIVE DIAGNOSES:
1. Right cubital tunnel syndrome.
2. Right ulnar nerve injury at the forearm.

POSTOPERATIVE DIAGNOSES:
1. Right cubital tunnel syndrome.
2. Right ulnar nerve injury at the forearm.

PROCEDURES:
1. Right cubital tunnel release.
2. Right ulnar neurolysis at the forearm.

SURGEON: Scott Sagerman, MD.

ASSISTANT: Sam Biafora, MD.

ANESTHESIA: Regional block.

COMPLICATIONS: None.

TOURNIQUET TIME: 1 hour.

FINDINGS: The right cubital tunnel showed thickening of the cubital tunnel ligament with scarring of the ulnar nerve to the floor of the cubital tunnel and local constriction. The nerve also appeared constricted at the flexor pronator aponeurosis at the distal aspect of the cubital tunnel. Also, a thick arcade of Struthers was present proximal to the cubital tunnel, though the ulnar nerve was not visibly constricted at this level.

The right forearm, the site of the previous chainsaw laceration revealed extension to the subcutaneous tissue and fascia overlying the flexor carpi ulnaris muscle. A piece of retained absorbable suture material was present. The muscle fibers were in intact. The ulnar nerve was intact beneath the muscle belly. There was no visible scarring around the ulnar nerve at this level.

DESCRIPTION OF PROCEDURE: Informed consent was obtained from the patient. Prophylactic IV antibiotic was given. He received medical clearance from his primary care physician. Regional block anesthetic was administered by the anesthesiologist in the right upper extremity. The right arm was prepped and draped sterilely. A sterile tourniquet was applied to the right upper arm, and it was elevated following exsanguination of the limb.

A longitudinal incision was made over the posteromedial aspect of the right elbow centered at the cubital tunnel. Under loupe magnification, the subcutaneous tissue was dissected. Superficial veins were ligated with bipolar cautery. A branch of the medial antebrachial cutaneous nerve was identified. This was gently retracted safely and protected. The fascia was incised proximal to the cubital tunnel, and the ulnar nerve was visualized. The cubital tunnel ligament was divided and completely released. The flexor pronator aponeurosis was also incised and released, and the nerve was dissected distally into the musculature where motor branches were identified. The release was then carried proximally, and the arcade of Struthers was divided and completely released. The ulnar nerve was inspected. The nerve was mobilized from adhesions with gentle blunt dissection. Nerve gliding was checked and found to be satisfactory. The ulnar nerve was stable at the cubital tunnel. The field was irrigated with antibiotic solution. The subcutaneous tissue was reapproximated with buried Vicryl sutures, and the skin edges were reapproximated with nylon sutures.

Attention was then directed to the forearm scar. A longitudinal incision was made over the ulnar aspect of the mid forearm centered at the site of the scar. Under loupe magnification, the subcutaneous tissue was dissected. The fascia was visualized. Superficial vein was ligated with bipolar cautery. The dermis was elevated off of the scarred fascia with blunt dissection. The retained suture material was removed. The muscle fibers were visualized and found to be in continuity. The ulnar nerve was exposed in the interval between the flexor digitorum and flexor carpi ulnaris muscle bellies. The nerve was dissected proximal and distal from the region of the laceration. The nerve was completely intact at this level with no visible scarring or adhesions. The field was irrigated with antibiotic solution. The subcutaneous tissue was reapproximated with buried Vicryl sutures, and the skin edges were reapproximated with nylon sutures.

A sterile bulky gauze dressing was applied. The tourniquet was deflated. Circulation returned to the right arm with normal capillary refill distally. The patient was transported to recovery in stable condition. He tolerated the procedure well. There were no complications. An arm sling was applied for protection.

AUTHORIZATION FOR PERIPHERAL NERVE BLOCK PLACEMENT

A peripheral nerve block has been chosen by both your surgeon and anesthesiologist as a way to manage your pain after surgery. The following information outlines the type of block that has been indicated for your procedure. Your anesthesiologist, who is specially trained in performing this procedure, and is an independent practitioner and not an employee of Northwest Community Healthcare, will be placing the nerve block.

Though peripheral nerve blocks have a good safety record, all the listed blocks below have possible adverse effects of incomplete block, infection, bleeding, hematoma formation, adverse drug reaction, local anesthetic systemic toxicity, damage to nerve and/or surrounding structures. The duration of block may vary between patients and some motor and sensory deficits may last longer then expected.

Right

___ Brachial Plexus block
This is performed to reduce post operative pain in the upper extremity. Possible specific adverse effects include but are not limited to dryness or numbness of the throat/facial region, hoarseness of the voice, redness of the eye, drooping of the eye lid, shortness of breath and rarely collapsed lung.

___ Femoral, Sciatic, Popliteal nerve block(s)
This is performed to reduce post operative pain in the lower extremity. This block(s) will reduce your sensation and muscle strength in your leg. You will be required to have a leg splint on at all times when standing or walking until full feeling and muscle strength has returned, otherwise a potential injury due to fall may occur.

___ Lumbar Plexus block
This is performed to reduce post operative pain in the hip and lower extremity. Possible specific adverse effects include but are not limited to hematoma of the retroperitoneal space, spread of local Anesthetic to epidural/subarachnoid space, hypotension, possible injury due to fall.

___ Transversus Abdominis Plane Block (TAP block)
This is performed to reduce post operative pain in the abdominal area. Possible adverse effects include inadvertent needle puncture of the peritoneal space or abdominal viscera, bowel hematoma.

Other regional nerve blocks: _____

With your signature, you have acknowledged that you have been informed of risks and benefits as well as expected outcomes for the post operative nerve block chosen for you. You are also confirming that you have read and fully understand the content of this authorization.

CONSENT FOR TREATMENT [P.L] (please initial)
I hereby consent to the administration and performance of all tests and treatments by members of the medical staff and personnel at Northwest Community Hospital, Northwest Community Day Surgery Center, and/or Northwest Community Medical Group ("NCH") which in the judgment of the physicians may be considered necessary or advisable for the diagnosis or treatment for the condition for which I am presenting myself. I understand that the practice of medicine and surgery is not an exact science and acknowledge that no guarantees have been made to me. I authorize NCH to request and receive information, including my medical record, from my treating physician(s) or agents.

DISCLOSURE STATEMENT [P.L] (please initial)
My care will be managed by physicians who are not employed by or acting as agents of NCH but have privileges at these facilities. My physician may decide to call in consultants who are also not employed by or agents of NCH and who practice in other specialties to provide care to me. To provide specialized services such as emergency medicine, radiology, radiation oncology, pathology and anesthesiology, NCH has entered into agreements with independent physician groups. The members of these groups are not employees or agents of NCH. My care may be managed by allied health professionals such as nurse anesthetists, physician assistants, advanced practice nurses and nurse midwives who are not employees or agents of NCH. I understand that NCH does not exercise any control or authority over any physician's professional or allied health professional's judgment, diagnosis or treatment decisions. I understand that my treating physicians may not participate in the same insurance plans as NCH, and that I will receive a separate bill for these physician services.

RELEASE OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR VALUABLES [P.L] (please initial)
I acknowledge that NCH WILL NOT be liable for any loss or theft of any personal property of mine, other than that which is deposited in the hospital safe, whether such loss or theft is caused by any patient, visitor, guest, agent or employee of NCH. I hereby release and exonerate NCH from any loss or theft of my personal property.

ASSIGNMENT OF INSURANCE BENEFITS AND RELEASE OF RECORDS [PL] (please initial)
I currently maintain insurance coverage which will reimburse the charges from NCH, my treating physicians, and any ambulance transport for medical care provided to me. In consideration of those services, I hereby assign, transfer and convey to NCH, my treating physicians, and any ambulance providers all of my rights, title and interest in my medical insurance for medical expense reimbursement, including, but not limited to adding dependent eligibility, and to have a policy continued or issued in accordance with the terms and benefits under any insurance policy continued or issued.

I hereby authorize the NCH and any physician or other healthcare provider who may treat me to release, for the purpose of billing and collecting, any and all pertinent information contained in my medical records, including HIV, to one another and/or their billing agents, and third party payors responsible for payment of patient charges including but not limited to insurance companies, health benefit plans, employers involved in approval of benefit claims, government agencies or intermediaries representing any of the above.

PAYMENT GUARANTEE [PL] (please initial)
I hereby assume full responsibility for and agree to pay all costs, charges and expenses incurred by me for the medical care provided by NCH and/or my treating physicians, whether as an inpatient or outpatient, unless I qualify for financial assistance or charity care. If my medical insurance coverage is not sufficient to satisfy such costs, charges and expenses in full, or I do not follow guidelines of my insurer and the resulting balance is not covered by the Assignment of Insurance Benefits, I will be fully responsible for payment of the balance.

RECEIPT OF NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES [PL] (please initial)
I acknowledge that I have received NCH's Notice of Privacy Practices. I understand that the notice describes the uses and disclosures of my protected health information by NCH and informs me of my rights with respect to my protected health information. For more information, please contact the Patient Advocate Office at 847.618.4390.

RECEIPT OF CHARITY CARE/FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE BROCHURE [PL] (please initial)
I acknowledge that I have received the NCH Charity Care/Financial Assistance brochure. For more information, please contact a Financial Counselor at 847.618.4542.

Upon signing this consent, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the foregoing and accept its terms.

Key Points to observe after hospital discharge:

1) Begin to take your oral pain medication when you start to have feeling in your operative limb. This will provide more effective pain relief than if you wait until the block wears off completely.

2) Start taking your home medications as directed by your family physician or surgeon.

3) You may notice a slight temperature difference between your "blocked" limb versus your other limbs. This is not unusual and is a normal occurrence for this type of anesthesia.

Upper Limb (Arm)

1) The nerve block will wear off in about 6 - 24 hours. Until then, your arm and shoulder area will be numb and weak. DO NOT lift or carry objects.

2) Limit your activities until full feeling and strength have returned to avoid injury due to altered sensation.

3) If given an arm sling, wear sling until you have feeling and muscle strength to control your arm or your surgeon tells you to remove it. This also is to prevent injury.

Lower Limb (Leg)

1) The nerve block will wear off in about 6 - 24 hours. Until then, your leg will be numb and weak. DO NOT try to bear weight on your leg or you might fall! When given a brace, wear it at all times that you are up and about, until your surgeon tells you otherwise.

2) Limit your activities until full feeling and muscle strength have returned to avoid injury due to altered sensation.

3) Use assistive devices such as crutches or a walker as ordered by your physician.

If you have redness or swelling at the injection site, metallic taste in your mouth, facial numbness or tingling, slurred speech, restlessness, or any question that is of concern please call the 847.618.7200 immediately and ask to talk to an anesthesiologist.

PREOPERATIVE HISTORY AND PHYSICAL

DATE OF ADMISSION: 07/09/2012 12:00 AM

CHIEF COMPLAINT/DETAILS OF PRESENT ILLNESS: The patient is a 42-year-old male being admitted for elective surgery for right ulnar nerve injury.

PAST MEDICAL HISTORY: Negative.

PAST SURGICAL HISTORY: left ulnar nerve decompression - SS

FAMILY HISTORY: n/c - SS

ALLERGIES: None.

MEDICATIONS : Naproxen, tramadol and fluoxetine

SOCIAL HISTORY: Smoking history positive.

REVIEW OF SYSTEMS: Negative.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION:
HEART AND LUNGS: Normal.
EXTREMITIES: The right elbow shows positive Tinel signs at the cubital tunnel with satisfactory range of motion. Scar is noted at the ulnar aspect of the midforearm from prior chainsaw accident with local sensitivity and tenderness. He indicates numbness in his ring and small fingers with gripping activities.

DIAGNOSTIC DATA : X-rays of the right forearm from June 20, 2011, are negative. The MRI of the right forearm from February of 2012 was unremarkable.

IMPRESSION: Right ulnar neuritis at the cubital tunnel and partial ulnar nerve injury right forearm.

PLAN: Right ulnar nerve decompression, possible transposition and neurolysis at the forearm. The surgery is scheduled under regional block anesthetic in day surgery. The patient understands the risks and benefits of surgery and the chance of complications, and he requests to proceed.

BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE℠ Program
Re-Enrollment Notification

November 10, 2014

Kathy Kujawa, MD - Medical Doctor
Alexian Rehabilitation Hospital
Uberti Bldg 900 Biesterfield Rd # 610
Elk Grove Village, IL 60007

Service Request Number: AL000ZOP

Dear Kathy Kujawa, MD - Medical Doctor,

The BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program is pleased to have provided your patient, Paul Dulberg, with BOTOX® at no charge for the past year. After 10 months from the date of enrollment, we are required to review the patient's eligibility information to ensure that the patient continues to qualify for the program.

To re-enroll in the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program, please complete the following steps.

1. Review the completed application for accuracy.
2. Ensure you and your patient sign the Certification and Consent Statement on the application form.
3. Include a copy of your patients (or guardian's) income documentation.

Acceptable forms of income documentation include one of the following:

- 1040, 1 040A, or 1040 from the most recent tax year
- W-2
- Social Security Statement

Should your patient receive coverage for BOTOX® through Medicare, Medicaid, or any other third party payer benefit, please notify the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program immediately so that we can review your patient's eligibility.

Please remember that in order to comply with applicable laws and regulations, you agree not to bill or collect from the patient or any government or private payer, or to trade, sell, barter for or return for credit any vial you receive under this program. In addition, if you are unable to waive the administration fee, please be sure that your patient understands that these costs are his or her responsibility.

As a reminder, the patient is not eligible for consideration to participate in the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program until we receive the necessary form and income documentation. If we do not receive the required paperwork by , your patient will be withdrawn from the patient assistance program.

Thank you for your continual support in helping financially needy patients to gain access to BOTOX®.

Sincerely,

BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program

PLEASE READ DECLARATION BEFORE SIGNING FRONT OF FORM

PATIENT APPLICATION AND PRESCRIBER ATTESTATION STATEMENT

The BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program offers assistance to financially eligible patients who need BOTOX® treatment. Patients who are uninsured or underinsured and are unable to afford the cost of therapy may be eligible for enrollment. While Allergan makes every effort to grant aid when needed and appropriate, the program is limited to available resources and may be discontinued at any time, without further notice.

I certify that the use of BOTOX® is medically necessary and appropriate and that I will be supervising the patient's treatment accordingly.

I further certify that, to the best of my knowledge, the patient has no medical insurance coverage for BOTOX®, including Medicaid/Medicare or other public programs, and the patient has insufficient financial resources to pay for the prescribed therapy. I agree not to bill or collect from the patient or any government or private payer, or to trade, sell, barter for or return for credit any BOTOX® provided under the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program.

I also certify that my patient understands that these costs are his/her responsibility if I am unable to waive the administration fee.

I agree that any BOTOX® I receive for the patient named in the application will be used only for this patient.

I also understand that Allergan Inc. reserves the right to modify or discontinue the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program at any time, without further notice.

PATIENT AUTHORIZATION AND CONSENT STATEMENT

Under this program, Allergan agrees to ship product to the sponsor for visits of therapeutic BOTOX® for patients who have met the requirements set forth by the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program. All of the terms and conditions below must be met in order for a patient to be enrolled in the program.

- Patient must meet the eligibility criteria
- Sponsor must complete and sign the application.
- Patient must complete and sign the application and provide income documentation

I understand that this patient assistance program provides BOTOX® at no charge and does not include the provider administration fee.

I verify that the information provided in this application is complete and accurate to the best of my knowledge and may be used by Allergan Inc. and/or its agent or authorized designee in determining eligibility to participate in the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program. I understand that at such time as I obtain coverage or have the financial resources to pay for the cost of therapeutic BOTOX®, I will notify Allergan of such a change in my coverage status. I understand that I will be re-evaluated for eligibility for the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program every 12 months.

I understand that, by my signature, any and all information that I provide may be shared with my treating provider.

By my signature, I agree that Allergan Inc. and/or its agent or authorized designee may contact my health care provider to request information concerning my medical condition and I hereby direct them to provide information relative to my medical condition or treatment or drug therapy, as requested. In addition, I agree that Allergan Inc. and/or its agent or authorized designee may contact my payer to obtain benefit information for therapeutic BOTOX®.

Allergan Inc. and/or its agent or authorized designee agrees not to disclose any information obtained from these sources to any third party except as provided herein or except as required by applicable law.

I also understand that Allergan Inc. reserves the right to modify or discontinue the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANCE® Program at any time, without further notice.

HIPAA AUTHORIZATION FOR THE USE AND DISCLOSURE OF PATIENT INFORMATION

I authorize my physician, _____ ("Physician") to give Allergan, Inc., any subcontractors or agents of Allergan, Inc. ("Allergan") information about me which is necessary to determine my eligibility for the BOTOX PATIENT ASSISTANT Program ("Program"), to administer the Program and to account for my withdrawal should I decide to stop participating in the Program. I understand that the type of information that can be given under this authorization may include my name, birth date, address, telephone number, social security number, income, prescription coverage, prescription for medication(s), financial documents and insurance records. I further understand that if my information is incomplete or the completed information does not allow me to participate in the Program that I may be notified of such by Allergan. I also understand that signing this authorization does not guarantee that I will be accepted into the Program. I further understand that because Allergan is not covered by federal privacy regulations, after my information is disclosed to Allergan, it will no longer be protected under federal law and could be subject to re-disclosure. This authorization will expire one (1) year after the date it is signed below, or one (1) year after the last date I receive medications under the Program, whichever is later. I may cancel this authorization at any time by providing written notice to Allergan at the address set forth below. My revocation will become effective on the date my written notice is received and processed by the Program and at such time I will no longer be qualified to receive medication assistance from the Program. I understand that my refusal to sign this authorization will not affect my ability to obtain treatment from my Physician, but that I will not be able to participate in the Program.

You are entitled to a copy of this authorization for your records.

Patient ID: 315684

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing at the request of my patient, Mr. Paul Dulberg, after our most recent clinic visit on 11/11/16. During that visit, we discussed at length the IME from Dr. Craig Phillips at the Illinois Bone & Joint Institute completed on 10/4/16. Dr. Phillips wrote a very detailed, elegant and comprehensive review of Mr. Dulberg's orthopedic injury that occurred on June 2011. However, I was rather surprised and shocked at the paucity of neurologic input into Mr. Dulberg's evaluation.

A Movement Disorders neurologist, like myself, practices in a highly subspecialized field that includes Tourettes syndrome, Parkinsons disease, Essential tremor, and Mr. Dulberg's condition of dystonia. I completed an additional 2-year fellowship program at Rush Medical Center in Chicago, after my 4-year neurologic resident training period, and have been practicing exclusively in this field for the past 17 years. I do not know Dr. (?Karen) Levin, from the Associates of Neurology, but I can assume this physician is a general neurologist.

Dystonia is a rare neurological disorder, and can be easily missed by any physician who does not have the specific training or experience to recognize its symptoms. Therefore I ask that this information be considered in Mr. Dulberg's case.

Sincerely,

Electronically Signed by: KATHY KUJAWA, MD

RE: Paul Dulberg vs. David Gagnon, Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire
McHenry County Case: 12 LA 178

Dear Mr. McArtor:

Please find enclosed a Subpoena issued by the Circuit Court of McHenry County compelling your attendance at a discovery deposition set for March 20, 2013, beginning at 12:00 p.m. in the above-captioned matter. The deposition will proceed at the Law Office of Scott A. Hiera at 3421 W. Elm Street, McHenry, Illinois. Further enclosed, please find a check in the amount of $35.00 for your attendance.

Please contact my assistant, Sheila upon your receipt of this letter to confirm the date, time and location of your deposition. Do not appear on your deposition date without confirming your availability. Please be advised that pursuant to the applicable Supreme Court Rules, your failure to respond to the enclosed subpoena may subject you to further sanctions upon order of the Circuit Court of McHenry County.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

Very truly yours,

Form W-9
(Rev. January 2011)
Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service

Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification

Give Form to the requester. Do not send to the IRS.

Print or type
See Specific Instructions on page 2.

Name (as shown on your income tax return)
Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.

Business name/disregarded entity name, if different from above

Check appropriate box for federal tax classification (required): ☐ Individual/sole proprietor ☒ C Corporation ☐ S Corporation ☐ Partnership ☐ Trust/estate

☐ Limited liability company. Enter the tax classification (C=C corporation, S=S corporation, P=partnership) ▶

☐ Other (see instructions) ▶

☐ Exempt payee

Address (number, street, and apt. or suite no.)
3416 W. Elm Street

Requester's name and address (optional)

City, state, and ZIP code
McHenry, IL 60050

List account number(s) here (optional)

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on the "Name" line to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Note. If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Social security number

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and
3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below).

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 4.

Sign Here Signature of U.S. person ▶ Thomas J. Popovich Date ▶ 1-13-14

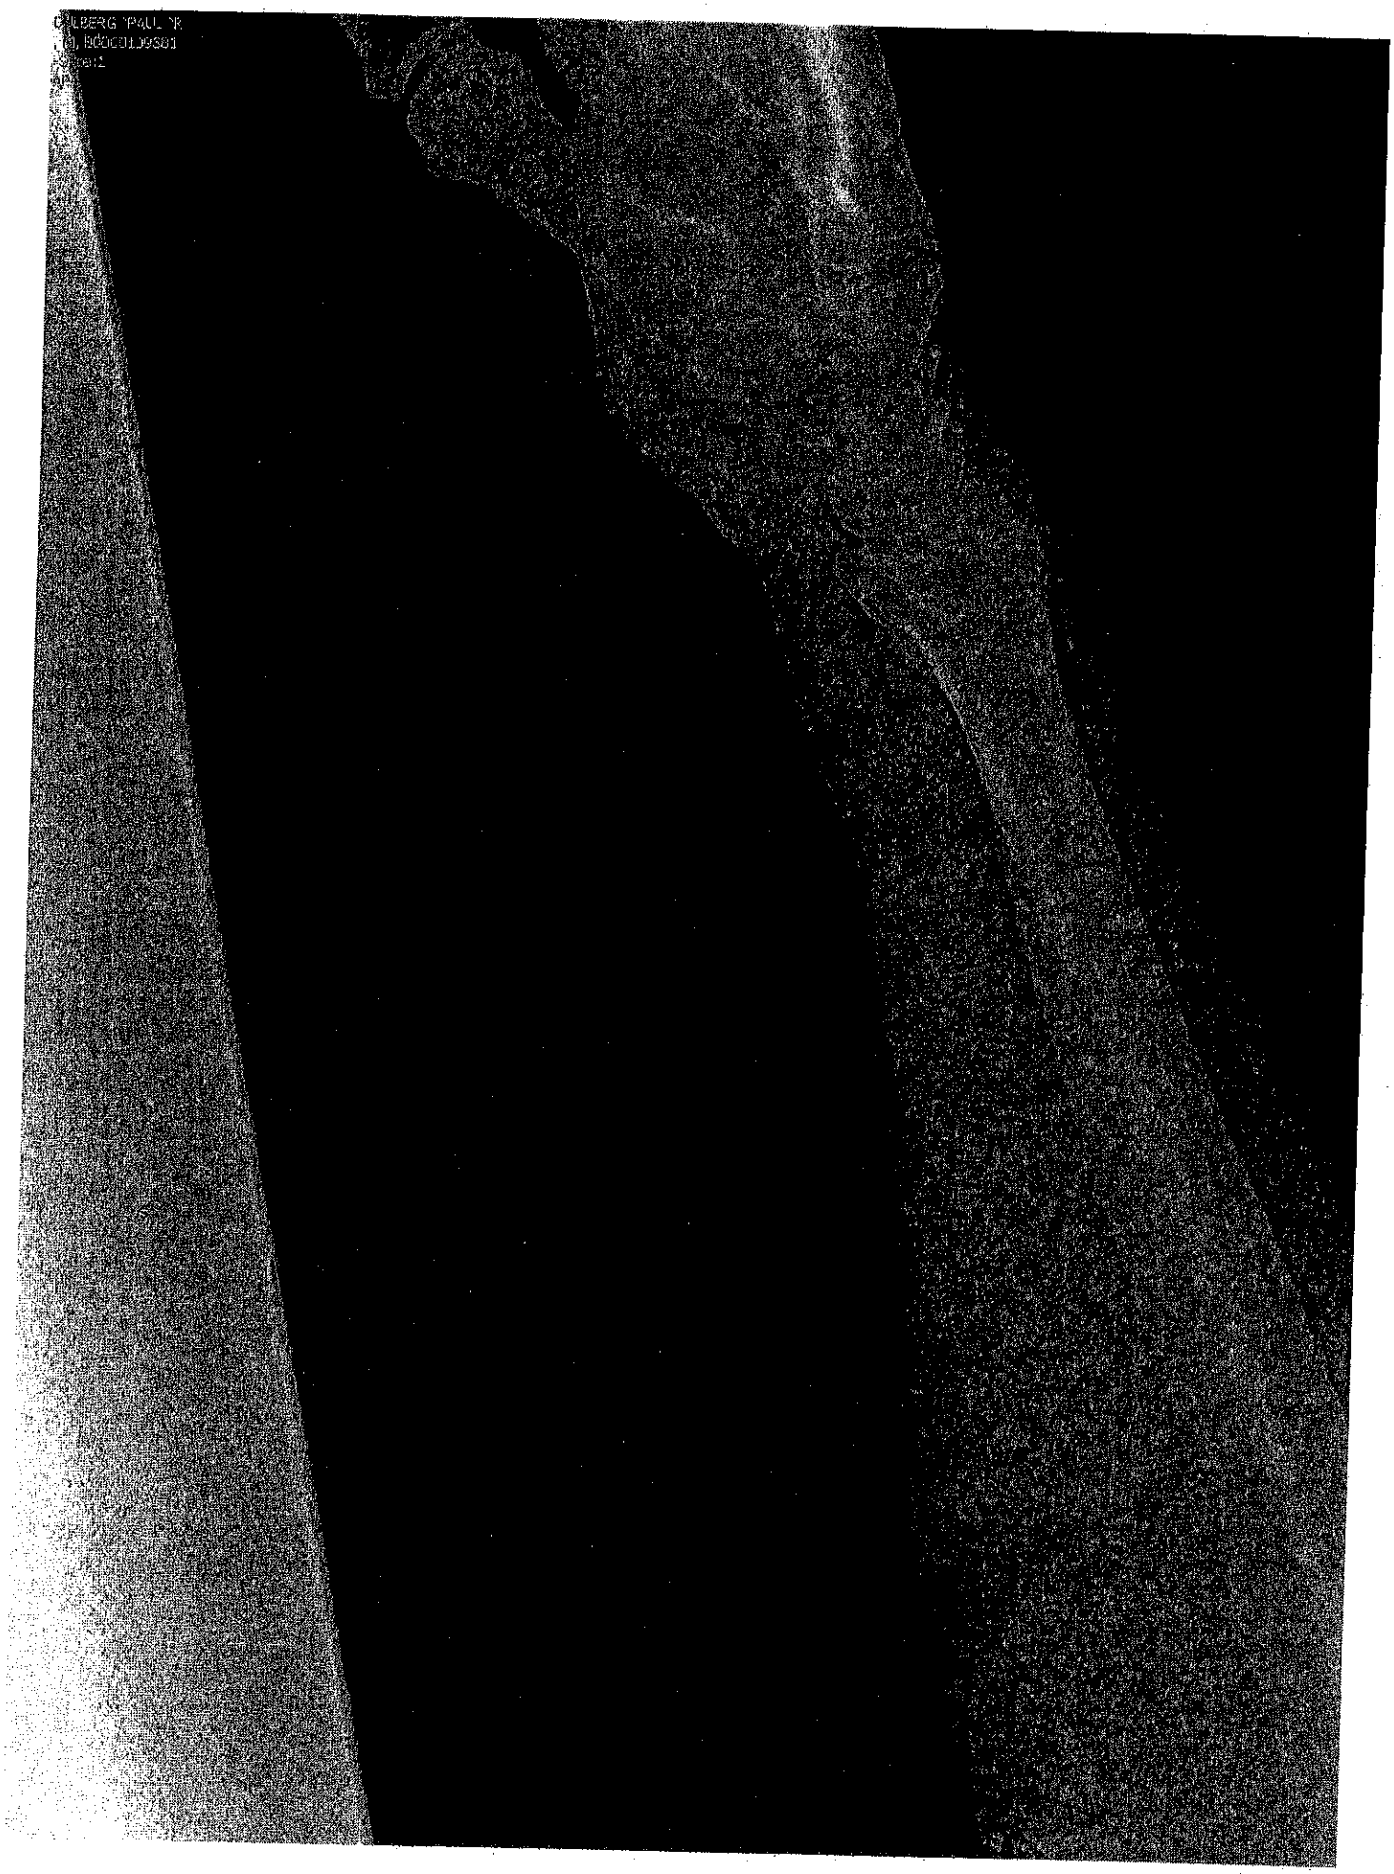
General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:



1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

Your Benefits and Opportunities

With the Allstate ® Your Choice Home Gold Protection package, you enjoy a wide range of rewards!

Gold Protection Package Features at a Glance:

- ✓ Guaranteed Renewal for Claims—with this feature, your policy will be renewed regardless of the number of claims you have.
- ✓ Claim-Free Bonus—if you remain claim-free, you can earn a credit of up to 5%, which can be applied toward your next renewal premium. Your current credit amount is $19.59.
- ✓ Coverage Cushion—extended protection that provides reimbursement of up to 120% of your policy limit for covered losses.
- ✓ Increased contents coverage—for contents and valuables inside your home (while this amount is typically equal to 60% of your current Dwelling coverage limit, it is increased to 75%).
- ✓ Coverage for theft of jewelry, watches and furs—up to $5000.

Please see the "Important Information" section of this form for additional Gold Protection package features information.

New Personalized Options

In addition to Allstate ® Your Choice Home packages, we also now offer new Personalized Options. These specialized options provide specific coverage and limit combinations that cater to the individual interests of today's homeowner. Perhaps one of these Personalized Options is right for you:

Prized Possessions : provides extended coverage—up to $10,000—and increased limits for special assets, such as jewelry, watches and furs and increased limits for silverware.

Home Enterprise Coverage : provides increased coverage limits for those who work from home in an office or studio and need additional protection for equipment, supplies, furnishings and liability for business pursuits. Also includes $5000 worth of electronic data recovery expense.

Electronic Data Recovery Endorsement : provides expense reimbursement up to $5000 for costs associated with researching, replacing and restoring lost data. It also provides coverage in the event of lost data due to a computer virus.

Yard & Garden : includes higher limits and extended coverage for trees, shrubs, landscaping and motorized land vehicles (such as riding lawn mowers and garden tractors).

Sports & Leisure : provides expanded coverage for items such as sports equipment and increased coverage limits for certain watercraft.

Music & Photography : provides extended coverage for musical instruments and photography equipment.

You can add a Your Choice Home package or Personalized Option to your policy right away, without waiting for your current policy to expire—just call your Allstate representative for a quote today!

With this renewal, keep getting protection and rewards like never before.

Allstate ® Your Choice Home Insurance—Your Renewal Offer
We're pleased to offer to renew your Allstate Property and Casualty Homeowners policy with the Your Choice Home Gold Protection package for another year.

With this package, you're saying YES to extra benefits, including:

- Being renewed regardless of the number of claims you have.
- For remaining claim-free, a credit of up to 5% to apply towards your next renewal premium.
- Extended protection in the event of a covered loss.
- Increased coverage for contents and valuables inside your home.
- Coverage for theft of jewelry, watches and furs—up to $5000.

Be sure to check the Your Benefits and Opportunities page, which provides information about the Gold Protection package features, along with ways to save even more on your premium. And don't forget that we now offer new Personalized Options, which provide tailored coverages designed to meet the needs of today's homeowner—details are also highlighted on the Your Benefits and Opportunities page.

Additional Information
You'll want to review the attached Policy Declarations to make sure you're comfortable with the coverage choices you've made. Also, unless a mortgage company or lienholder pays your insurance premium for you, your bill will be sent to you separately. If you're enrolled in the Allstate Easy Pay Plan, you won't receive a bill. Instead, we'll send you a statement detailing your payment withdrawal schedule.

Paul:

I forwarded the IME to her office a week or so ago and left a message for her nurse stating we were requesting her to review the report prior to your appointment this week.

There's nothing in particular that you need to ask her. After your appointment, Randy and Kelly will be contacting her to see if she has any commentary regarding the report or if any of her opinions have changed and/or why. They wanted her to be the most recent doctor to see you prior to the mediation and wanted her to see you again since the IME.

Randy will not be attending your appointment tomorrow though.

Paul:

They would like to meet at 12:30 the day of the arb- at the same location as the arb will be held at ADR Systems.
Would that be okay for you to meet them there by 12:30?

Thanks,

Myrna

Ok got to break that promise and make a new one.
I can't help myself cause it's been 51/2 years since I did these hobbies.
Bowling, I was good at it and did it once a week since I was a kid till this happened.
Ok that's all for today but the list of things I used to be able to do is a long one. Sorry

One more thing I totally forgot about cause I just can't do it anymore but used to do at least twice a year, usually more.
Rock face climbing and rappelling

Oh, add walking, brushing and playing fetch for more than a few minutes with the dogs to that list.
Another item for the dogs is getting their food. Moving Large bags of dog-food from in the store to the car then into the house and up a flight of stairs is something I have a lot of trouble with. It's why Dr. Kujawa got me the handicap placard for my car.

Hi Myrna,
Kelly was asking what hobbies I had prior to the accident so I started a list.
All of the following are things I used to do that are now affected or altogether stopped after the accident.
This is the quick short list.

Camping, Canoeing & Fishing
Vegetable gardening & other yard work
Cooking, Baking, Candies & canning
Motor Sports, boating, ATV & motor cross, snowmobile

Water Sports, skiing, tubing, etc...
Winter sports, skiing, tubing, snowmobile, etc...
Building, maintaining and repairing motors on cars motorcycles lawn mowers and boats
Playing Guitar
Off road Bicycle riding
Building, repairing, remodeling and maintaining my home
Art, Design & Sketching
Photography
Typing
Writing

Like I said earlier, this is a short list. I had a lot of hobbies but these are the ones that I remember the most and miss

Hope this helps,
Paul

Hi Hans,
Just picked this up today from Centegra when I was getting the reports.
It's the original x-ray from 6-28-11. It looks much deeper than I thought.

I have 2 dr's visits on Monday and Tuesday next week. will let you know how they go.

Thank you very much for helping me with all this,

Hi Hans,
I received the results from the MRI done on my right arm and Dr. Levin said the MRI came up negative. The physical therapist had already told me that this type of damage seldom shows up on an MRI. Dr. Levin said it was all muscle and tendon damage. Dr. Levin and the physical therapist both suggested I see an hand and arm orthopedic specialist.

I am going to try and make an appointment with DR. Scott Sagerman. Will keep you updated.

Hi Hans,
Time for an update. I went to see Dr Sagerman today. He was able to look at the X-Rays, EMG, MRI and Physical Therapy Reports. He did a much better evaluation then I've had in the past and seemed to nail the symptoms and provide possible outcomes. I feel much more confident in his abilities. He is sending me for a new EMG to see if anything has changed. I called Dr Levin and have an appointment for March 8th to do the test.

Thanks again for all your help,

Paul

Hi Hans,
I had a new EMG test done on Tuesday by Dr. Levin at Associated Neurology. She said I should hear from Dr. Sagerman by Friday with results but she doesn't think the test will show anything because of the localized type of damage to the nerve. She did say that it looks like the paralysis in my right hand is probably permanent since it hasn't shown any signs of healing.

When I was at Dr. Seks office he told me that the Hand Surgeon (Dr. Sagerman) had contacted him and talked about possible exploratory surgery in my arm.

I have done nothing to lose your respect. I have gone far above what you would get from any other attorney you just don't realize it or appreciate it. Instead you continue to focus on issues that have nothing to do with your case. You don't listen to my advice. Which is fine. You don't have to listen to my advice. But 9 out of 10 times you will lose this case for trial. As I told you before that is why the defense is never going to offer the policy limits. To settle the case you will need to take far less than the limits. But you don't have to you definitely can go to trial. That is your personal choice. In my view your case is not worth the limits given the issues we've already discussed. So I have done what I can do for you.

We have I think $3000 in costs that we will be paid no matter who is handling Case. We have worked on the case for years without pay....but if it will allow you to find another attorney we will consider waiving Our fee unless your eventual recovery exceeds $100,000.

Exactly how is giving you chance after chance to correct yourself not giving you the respect you think you deserve from me?

I can keep going...
I have witnesses to all of this. It's not just your word vs mine.

Bottom line is if you want out simply because you feel I have no respect for you then all of your fees are subject and any lean you have is subject.

I'm giving you the opportunity to remedy this coarse of action you have chosen.

Do you chose to be professional and do the job your capable of or do you chose to remove yourself for some made up reason. Our emails alone show there is no breakdown in communication. We are still communicating. This email proves that.

So, unless you can explain your action to remove yourself from this case for some excusable reason I see no reason why you feel your entitled to being able to get excused from it at all.

I put you to task to do as you agreed to and represent me to whatever ends this case comes to. Will you be professional and finish what you started?

Damn these emails hurt to type...

Wish you had it in you to go after the bad guy who did this and not your innocent client.

But 9 out of 10 times you will lose this case for trial. As I told you before that is why the defense is never going to offer the policy limits. To settle the case you will need to take far less than the limits. But you don't have to you definitely can go to trial. That is your personal choice. In my view your case is not worth the limits given the issues we've already discussed. So I have done what I can do for you.

My case is "gross negligence" causing "untreatable, irreversible and debilitating harm"

Never had a lawyer who needed me to help write or correct anything before.
The SSDI lawyer pulled everything from the record and it was perfect.

Yes, I would like to reword much of it because I wouldn't want anything used in it twisted later if we do go to trial.

Yes, I understand that your firm won't back me but it doesn't mean I'm not going to take it to trial anyway. I need the wording to match exactly what I need should I go the distance.

I can honestly say the dollar amount you listed I would never agree to. It wouldn't even cover my wages for the years in physical therapy yet the rest of my life.
If I end up with a structured settlement where I have to chase this guy I believe we can always sell the settlement and cash out. Is that possible?

Hi Hans,

Please find the attached .jpg's. They were taken this afternoon. It is hard to get a picture of the whole scar in one shot because it wraps around my arm. Hopefully these help. I can take more if these don't work.

I have a Dr.'s appointment this friday and will let you know what happens.

Thanks for all your help with this matter.

I will be contacting them in the morning.

I'm still unclear as to who ordered the medical depositions be taken?

Thanks again,

In the Paper file I received It appears that it is incomplete, sections of the depositions are missing as well as all the Dr's depositions.
Makes me wonder what else isn't included.
Any chance you have the complete file?
Thanks,

Hans,
No need to get back together next Thursday.
Didn't know that brad balky holds the entire lean and paid your expenses.
Sorry for the bother.
Hope the rest of the vacation is wonderful,

Hans,
If your referring to Brad Balky, he no longer represents me in this case And I am unaware of the deal you two agreed upon.

Here's the deal;
I'm offering cash in return for all leans on this case before Friday or no one gets anything.
Let me know what you want, cash amount or nothing?

Hope your vacation is wonderful,
Paul

Brad,

Before I decide to sign this release I'd like to know exactly why it is you don't think this case is easily winnable?
And please don't spout that it's his word vs mine. That is obvious and is the situation in most cases.
And don't give me the old your only getting 15k no matter what excuse because that's not about this case being winnable or not.

I want some honesty
I deserve that much

Please feel free to call me with the answer

Brad,
You could have just stopped with this is the best deal you could get but you didn't.
You pulled a Hans and assaulted me when you threatened to remove yourself from this case if I didn't sign this release before you see the judge.

That's an ultimatum and it's not something I'm going to react to positively.

The way I see it, there is more than just the 2 options in your ultimatum...

A.) I can take this deal, shut up, go away and keep suffering and praying for SSDI

B.) I can refuse to take this deal, lose you as an attorney and have to find new council or simply represent myself and start over with the same 15k on the table and possibly an extra 15k in bankruptcy surplus while still suffering and preying for SSDI.

C.) I can stop this suit all together and lose 15k, in which no one gets anything while I suffer and prey for SSDI

Any which way I go, I'm the one who's getting thrown under the buss and I'm tired of being a victim of others threats.

As of now I'm leaning towards option "C".
As you said, the medical providers have already written off my accounts as loses and that leaves Option "C", me losing 15k, well, it is kind of a cheap way of saying how I feel about the state of my legal representation and their efforts because their afraid they can't prove the defendant put a chainsaw into my arm and that the defendants mother is an elderly woman with whom the jury may sympathize yet didn't see the actual incident, refused to call 911 for help, but did call her insurance followed by a call to the hospital and lied to the staff claiming to be my mother only to disrupt the emergency room treatment not to ask how I was doing but to tell me she was insured. Good for granny, she is insured. Where was her slick phone skills when I needed an ambulance and for god sakes why lie to the hospital staff and call me in the emergency room to tell me the most important thing on her mind... The fact that she was insured. Big deal what did it do to help me?

These people had no concern for anyone's well being other than their own.
They are the type that deserve to get sued. Granny or not.

This may all make a great documentary one day about the state of legal representation and their ethical commitment to following through once they commit themselves to a client. A series false dichotomies of sorts.

It is just a leaning towards option "C" not an actual commitment yet.

I need to sleep on the options for a couple nights

I'll get back to you with my answer just before court starts later this week.

Please remind me, what is the time and date the judge set?

Thanks for everything,
Paul

The address of the location of the incident in the first paragraph is incorrect. If the address was in Wisconsin wouldn't we be in a different court?

The address of the location of the incident in the first paragraph is incorrect. If the address was in Wisconsin wouldn't we be in a different court?

Morning Brad,

Talked with my mom and it seems to us that if all I'm going to get is 15k even if we max out the defendants policy limit then I should seriously look at taking this to trial and leaving it up to a jury to decide an appropriate amount. 15k might as well be 0 because it doesn't even begin to pay for the damages I've suffered.

I know the risks and that it would cost me almost 20k more in expenses and that the defendant can run off and pay nothing beyond his insurance limits.

Assuming that Allstate may claim the act was criminal and that their not responsible has to be overcome. I'm not a mind reader and can't make any claim as to their clients intentions and their client isn't going to self incriminate himself so I don't see how their claim of something criminal can hold water. Especially since their client hasn't been charged with any crimes associated with his actions on that day.

At the last court date, The judge asked if I was doing this for principles. I answered no.
However, after thinking it through... Seeing as how I'm getting virtually nothing out of this and will eventually lose my home, that I was working most of my life to keep, because SSDI can't cover living here or almost anywhere that I can consider worthy, my principles are evolving and I'm not opposed to going the distance and taking this to trial. I'm willing to make a principled point that people should not get off 'scot free' other than having to find a new insurance company after using a chainsaw on another person causing real life threatening harm with permanent damages.

I'm more than positive that a jury will award more than the insurance limits and that we will not recover anything more than those limits, but one thing is almost for sure, the defendant will most likely have to file bankruptcy to protect his assets and the next person he hurts over the next 7-10 years will have full access to his assets because he won't be able to file bankruptcy again for that period.

Either way, I get virtually nothing so principles are all I have.

On the positive side, If the jury does award an amount more than the insurance limits we get to see if the defendant has any assets that can't be protected and if he does I stand to get the costs of a trial covered a perhaps a smidgen more than 15k, if not, well then I'm in the same boat I am already and nothing changes.

Have you talked with the trustee?

My understanding was its over and that if I felt strongly about paying those I owed I still could but wasn't required to anymore.

If it turns out the suit is still in play for the bankruptcy I wonder why the order from the court I sent you doesn't list the suit as an exemption from the order. On the back of the order it details what the exemptions listed on the front mean and my order didn't have any exemptions listed.

Either way it doesn't matter.
My thoughts are, if we get enough to pay the debts all the better.
Perhaps we can get enough to undo the bankruptcy altogether.
Would be nice not having a bankruptcy on the record.

Thanks again,
Paul

Hi Brad,
Thanks for the heads up.
My understanding was the 15k bankruptcy protection limit included all my assets, not just the proceeds from this settlement. I was also informed that I can receive much more than just 15k if the settlement or trial verdict produced enough to satisfy the creditors.

Just so you know...
I won't settle just for the insurance. It isn't enough.
I don't know what a crippled dominate hand/arm is worth but it would seem to me that it is worth a whole lot more than the insurance limits the defendant has.

Thanks and feel free to call me,
Paul

Morning Brad,

You have power of attorney to endorse the draft on my behalf.

Ps. Wish I could make Hans choke on this check for his lies/incompetence that lead to such a small amount!

Hi Brad,

As we discussed, I was to receive via certified US Mail depositions and communications between Hans Mast and myself from Saul Ferris an attorney in Gurnee, IL. Saul Ferris number is (847) 263-7770

I called Saul Ferris office last week and was assured they were sent. I was told to give it another week.

I called Saul Ferris office again today to find out they were mailed to and signed for at 3416 W. Elm St. McHenry, IL. by someone named Anne Oupl on March 7th. This is Hans Mast office.

I called Hans office and apparently no one by that name works there and no one knows anything about receiving the certified mail.

I'm at a loss as to how these documents were sent to the wrong place and am a bit furious because it has the memo about the pre-trial settlement you wanted to see.

Please advise.

Thank you in advance for your help with this matter,

Hans,

May I remind you, Less than 2 weeks ago you said in an email you had all the records ready for my new attorney. I can provide a copy of that email if you can't even remember two weeks ago or can't figure out how to go back that far in your email account.

Now that you removed yourself, you claim that you cannot turn over the records until your paid.

The lean is your only guarantee. It's the same guarantee all the medical professionals have against this case.

If you are unwilling then This has all the makings of what society calls a shyster lawyer.

Please Turn over all records pertaining to this case from start to finish for you may not speak with my new council.

I most likely already have to pay double attorney fees for this case thanks to you.

Please don't cost me any more money or I may just let this case expire and you get nothing.

Is that what you want?

Hi David,

Please note and notify whomever needs to know pertaining the bankruptcy

As of this morning Hans Mast and the Popovich law firm are no longer representatives in the lawsuit that is pending.

I was granted 21 days to find new council.

I ask that any and all communications cease immediately with the Popovich firm pertaining to this case.

I'm giving you the opportunity to remedy this coarse of action you have chosen.

Do you chose to be professional and do the job your capable of or do you chose to remove yourself for some made up reason. Our emails alone show there is no breakdown in communication. We are still communicating. This email proves that.

So, unless you can explain your action to remove yourself from this case for some excusable reason I see no reason why you feel your entitled to being able to get excused from it at all.

I put you to task to do as you agreed to and represent me to whatever ends this case comes to. Will you be professional and finish what you started?

Damn these emails hurt to type...

Wish you had it in you to go after the bad guy who did this and not your innocent client.

But 9 out of 10 times you will lose this case for trial. As I told you before that is why the defense is never going to offer the policy limits. To settle the case you will need to take far less than the limits. But you don't have to you definitely can go to trial. That is your personal choice. In my view your case is not worth the limits given the issues we've already discussed. So I have done what I can do for you.

Find an attorney and I will talk to them about the lien.

Hans,

Your cornering of me and my brother in your office, bullying me into signing off on The McGuires policy citing cases that have nothing to do with the agency clause in the homeowners policy, which clearly makes her policy accountable.
You sir are the one whom told me that I would never see a dime from either case if I didn't sign that piece of paper before leaving your office that day. You wouldn't even let me sleep on it as I had asked. You said you needed the $5,000 settlement with the McGuire's insurance to help fund your costs for the case with David Gagnon.

Then when the physical therapists tried to demand payment in full you told me and my mother that medical leans against lawsuits often expire before the case is resolved saying yes the medical providers can proceed in collecting funds from my assets. Meaning my home. Forcing me into bankruptcy. Then, after filing for bankruptcy, denying you ever said that to both me and mother and going on to say to us that filing for bankruptcy protection had ruined the case.

All that followed up by getting a brief to review from you on the David Gagnon case that was of such a poor understanding of the facts are what lost any hope of respect I had.

I am and have been trying to get you to be professional and earn that respect back at every step.

If you had not taken advantage of my ignorance you would not be receiving this letter nor trying to squirm your way out of representing me today.

As far as your costs and in light of your poor performance to date, it throws into question all of the work you have done on this case. Even the depositions you sat in on are in question. Do you actually think anyone in their right mind wouldn't see it that way.

You may argue strategy as a defense for incompetence but since you sat in on the medical depositions and don't even know what medications I was and wasn't prescribed after almost 3-1/2 years on this case I highly doubt anyone will see your defense as viable.

Exactly, What part of being harmed by both the McGuires and Gagnon through no fault of my own is 9 out of 10 times a losing case?

Exactly what part of you manipulating me into a settlement for only $5000 was seeing to my best interests?

Exactly how is lying in a briefing you were prepared to put before a judge is in my best interests?

Exactly how is giving you chance after chance to correct yourself not giving you the respect you think you deserve from me?

I can keep going...
I have witnesses to all of this. It's not just your word vs mine.

Bottom line is if you want out simply because you feel I have no respect for you then all of your fees are subject and any lean you have is subject.

I'm giving you the opportunity to remedy this coarse of action you have chosen.

Do you chose to be professional and do the job your capable of or do you chose to remove yourself for some made up reason. Our emails alone show there is no breakdown in communication. We are still communicating. This email proves that.

So, unless you can explain your action to remove yourself from this case for some excusable reason I see no reason why you feel your entitled to being able to get excused from it at all.

I put you to task to do as you agreed to and represent me to whatever ends this case comes to. Will you be professional and finish what you started?

Damn these emails hurt to type...

Wish you had it in you to go after the bad guy who did this and not your innocent client.

Paul

The only breakdown was a very poorly written brief you asked me to look over in which the only truthful substance in it was the names and dates. Oh and the fact that you did manage to put the chainsaw in the correct persons hands.

I hope to be able to review your revised copy of this brief again soon.

Hans,
I have found several attorneys and none are willing to represent me as long as you hold the lean on this case and apparently it is not legal for me to finance their representation by other means.

Respect for your thoughts does not constitute a breakdown in communications.

Respect is earned through truth, hard work and results.

I am asking for an honest brief to go before the judge. That is all.

Earn my respect and you will receive the best recommendation I have ever given anyone.

Hans,

If I have to get a new attorney in the 11th hour of this, The damage done to my case far outweighs your lean.

If you sign off the lean I'll see to it your paid for your real costs.

Hans,
I'm just a laymen but my eyes are opening, As you should very well know, I can't have a new attorney until we are dissolved. So, your suggestions to me for over a year to get a new attorney is in error, one of many to my dismay.
I no longer feel you or your firm are seeing to my best interests and most likely haven't been since I signed on.
It's a shame because you come across to me as a Jon Stewart type and I honestly thought you would be good.

Hans,
I'm not asking to see you.
I'm asking for a copy of the policy numbers and an accounting of all the fees your firm feels it's entitled to.
Please have someone at the office print them out and have them available for pickup.
Thanks in advance again,
Paul

Thanks
On another note;
The McGuires home owners policy...
How did they get around the agency clause?

But to have me release everything given the time and expense I've invested in the case without knowing what the final result is unfair. We have completed substantially 100% of the fact discovery. All that needs to be done is deposing experts and going to trial. But don't get me wrong I think we can work out something very reasonable. Typically any type of lien arrangement is done when the case is concluded.

Oh, and unless I'm wrong, David did admit to having control over the chainsaw. David, in his lie, admitted to seeing me move my arm and continued along his path with the chainsaw at cutting rpm's.
In effect he did admit it was his fault.

You got some nerve and your earning the reputation of a shady lawyer

This is as total as it gets for us in the working class short of being paralyzed or dead.

I need someone who is on my side, top of their game and will see to it that I'm comfortable after all this is over.

What I feel is an attempt to settle for far less than this is remotely worth just to get me off the books.

I know you don't believe I'm hurt...
I'm not interested in belief, I think the facts speak volumes above belief

I question who's side your on?
Your comments about believing David's deposition, etc...

Hans, I have no degrees but I was better at my career in printing and graphic design than anyone I ever worked with who did. If I need character references from past clients, employers, coworkers, teachers, etc... I have an army of people who know I'm one of the most genuine, honest, dedicated hard working persons who takes responsibility for my actions. David on the other hand isn't a stand up guy at all. He couldn't even take responsibility for his actions not to mention his attempts at collecting from this, which I believe constitutes insurance fraud.

Oh and I'm contacting the McHenry county states atty... I know too much time has passed since the threats but those threats were for a future time once all this was settled. If he attempts to collect or make good on his threats and if I end up back in the hospital I want everyone to know who to go get. I'm done playing nice with this guy and I can only hope I have an attorney who feels the same.

I have to ask since you think I don't understand, what is it your trying to do?

Paul

important. This is just a memo to introduce the judge to the case. If there are different ways you want to say things I'm happy to do that. It's going to serve it's purpose perfectly.

The SSDI lawyer pulled everything from the record and it was perfect.

Yes, I would like to reword much of it because I wouldn't want anything used in it twisted later if we do go to trial.

One more ?
Why isn't David Gagnon being charged for either the chainsaw incident or his coercion and intimidation to try and get money out of this in a criminal court?

I have to wonder...

Is it the fact that David Gagnon doesn't have a bigger insurance policy?

Or perhaps that I didn't lose my arm?

What is it that isn't good enough for your firm that they would actually drop a client they chose to represent?

I'm betting in the end it's all about the amount of money your firm can make off of my injuries because I've done nothing to exaggerate or hide anything.

Have a merry Xmas, now I'm late to see a dr and my arm muscles are in spasm from trying to type this waisted email as fast as I can.

Oh and that stupid statement I heard you say in the past that part of my injuries were to distal from the cut...

I dare you to Try fending off a chainsaw that's violently cutting into you unexpectedly and survive without any other issue other than where the chainsaw cut you.

And if during that event you should twist an ankle, hit your head, another part of the body or anything else from trying to save yourself... Remember it's too distal from the wound so you lose...

That is absolutely retarded to think that my elbow was too distal from the cut... Think about what it takes to fend off an aggressive chainsaw cutting into you and then tell me if any other smaller, at first unnoticed injury is too distal to be real?

I'm tired of this crap

Talk with you after Monday,

Hans,

At first my goal was to get my medical paid for...
That's changed because it's turned out worse than I thought...
Now it's simply to get as much as we can and move on with my life...

What are your goals in this case?

Paul

Subject: Associated Neurology

Hi Hans,

Just got a call from associated neurology because of the bankruptcy notice they received.

Tried to explain that the leans on the lawsuit expired after 3 years and I really don't have any choice.

They said they never heard of such a thing and are looking into the lean issue and will get back to me.

On another note, Baudin's firm must not be interested because they never called me.

Do I need to find a new firm or what?

Thanks,

Paul

John Choyinski is sitting here and just told me that David Gagnon has been moving everything he owns into his mothers and two sisters names so he can't lose anything.

I just had to file bankruptcy because of that incident 3-1/2 years ago. I could no longer make all the payments to my creditors. I also have a disability suit because of it.

I don't care about a settlement unless it's enough to drag David Gagnon through bankruptcy for his idiotic use of a chainsaw and made up story under oath. Gagnon sure showed his true colors when he was deposed, he just isn't a standup guy at all.

Either way it goes, (settlement or trial) I'm not going to make anything near what I've already lost or what my future losses are going to be so it just doesn't matter.

The only thing that would be remotely satisfying is knowing that David Gagnon had to go through a settlement or trial and lose, then find himself actually having to face bankruptcy.

I can only hope he has enough assets that it actually hurts.

I just found out from John Choyinski that David Gagnon took apart the mustang. It's down to the frame. John said that David did that to make sure he doesn't lose it and won't put it back together till the mess he caused with me is finished.

Subject: SSDI appeal update

Hi Hans,

I heard from Meredith (my lawyer for SSDI) about when I should expect a response from SSDI.
Apparently the SSDI courts are understaffed and it may take up to a year or a little longer from the date the appeal was filed.

I'm unsure of the exact date it was filed but the last hearing was in April or May and I believe the appeal was filed just after that so it may be a while before I hear anything and then it all depends if it's dismissed and I actually have to sue or its remanded back to the lower court for reconsideration.
Either route it's going to be many months before I know anything more.

At my last visit with Dr. Kujawa she said she is filing my injury as permanent but I'm not sure if that is admissible to the appeal at this point. Meredith is working on that.

On another note, I called Randal Baudin's office again and am waiting to hear back again.

Thanks for everything,
Paul

Hi Hans,

Coleen at dynamic hand therapy called with a proposal.
She is going to write up an agreement.
It will be $25.00 per month till the SSDI judgement is finished.
After that it will increase to $100 per month if the SSDI judgement is favorable or stay at $25 per month if it isn't.
Payments end once your case against David Gagnon is settled and they receive their share of the settlement.

This keeps it out of collections.

Does this sound fair?

Paul

Hans,
Any chance I can get a list of all the medical providers in my case so I can turn in my insurance info to each of them?
Also, I spoke with Rene at dynamic hand therapy and tried to give her my insurance info. she informed me that they only take Medicaid once and a while and probably won't in my case. She is having someone named Colleen call me tomorrow about it.
Can medical providers actually deny my insurance after they already treated me knowing before hand that with my injury I was most likely going to end up disabled and on the states medical insurance?
Also, does it help to give you or your secretary a copy of the Medicaid card?
Thanks,
Paul

Just so you know...

Last week when Coleen from dynamic hand called to inform me that the lean against the suit expired, I offered to make payments and that was also refused.

So technically this is the second time they refused compensation.

I can send a List of Providers to you. We don't need the Medicaid info unless they end up paying your bills.

Hi David,

Please read the letter below.

Does bankruptcy protect me and my house from medical leans that expire?

Hans,

Apparently Dynamic Hand Therapy has a lean that expired.
It's for $23,900.00 and they said they will give me a 30% discount if I pay within the next few days or they could take me to trial over it.

Colleen with their corporate office said she contacted you on Aug. 6th about this.

Her number is 815-986-1564

Please advise,
Paul

Hans,

Last evening I was in the hospital with the most severe migraine I've ever had.

This morning I filed for bankruptcy with David Stretch.

This afternoon I spent with my regular physician Dr Zaide doing a follow up from yesterday.

And right now, I have to email you. All when I still have a slight residual headache and should be in bed.

At first I thought the migraine was brought on by the medications I'm taking but it wasn't, it was brought on after our discussions. Now I can't prove that but it seems pretty obvious to me. Joke no pun intended there!

That migraine made me realize I need the stress of this situation over with. All the stress on top of losing everything is too much and I'd rather live than die from it all before my body does something worse.

My body is not reacting well and the migraines are getting more frequent and worse. Have you ever vomited at the same time as deficating while being in some of the most excruciating pain in your life?

If not, neither did I till the chainsaw went through my arm. That's when the migraines became more frequent, stronger and faster coming on. And now for the first time during the day.

Ever since I awoke this morning, all I can I think is the stress of it all is killing me more and more as the reality sets in and I just can't afford to care about it anymore.

My health means more than some lawsuits and the lure of money.

All because some idiot named David Gagnon forgot to tell me to move out of the way and he can't seem to admit it.

Yes, after reading his deposition and hearing it was my fault I was pissed.

In my anger I suspected all sorts of things. Including it being intentional especially after my discussions at his home only trying to get his homeowners policy number and him wanting money and threatening me for it.

Yes, my arm and elbow were hurt from his stupidity irregardless if some dr can link the two together or not.

Yes, there will be ongoing medical as a result of all this because it still hurts and doesn't work right.

Yes, I am now disabled irregardless of what SSDI appeal goes because of this.

Yes, I understand I'm screwed because of a system that allows one person to hurt another and even after a trial and judgement entered all they have to do is go file for bankruptcy in the same courthouse on the same day.

Yes, it just took me almost an hour just to type this.

Yes, yes, yes...

but none of it matters anymore!

Bottom line Hans... Do the best you can with what you got, I've got nothing more to lose or give. I need it all to just go away.

Paul

Hans,
if I use a chainsaw and cut you badly who is going to believe me when I say it's not my fault, Hans just fell into it?

Who in their right mind is going to believe me when your pointing your finger at me saying I did it?

Who?

case to trial. I just don't think we have enough evidence to prove our case and to invest the time and cost and preparing for trial and moving to trial just in my mind does not make sense to me. I have to be very realistic about things and honest with my opinion. It doesn't do you any good if I do not feel strongly about the case.

That's the very reason why I wanted to have this discussion. I want to give you the option of finding other counsel at this point if you really want to take the case to trial which I think ultimately will be necessary. I just do not believe strongly that defense counsel will offer much in the way of a settlement. Although I will ask him if he is going to make an offer and maybe that will allow you to make a better judgment on this.

First, I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to help prove David cut me with a chainsaw. I was but a lowly printer/graphic designer my whole life and never asked for anyone's sympathy till now.

Secondly, I'm sorry I must live among a bunch of potential jurors that you don't trust to just do the right thing.

Thirdly, I'm most sorry for agreeing to lend David Gagnon a hand when he needed some help, I had no idea he was going to try and lop it off.

A few questions from a layman,

How much could a trial actually cost?
What,
$50,000
$150,000
Does it even cost as much as a car?
What number?

How much would you hope to get for us in a settlement?

How much could be expected if the trial does proceed and we have a favorable outcome?

Hans, if your heart is not in this I'm sorry

Hi Hans,

I spoke with dr. Kujawa's assistant Elsie by phone on Friday. I updated her on how the increased dosages of Neurontin/Gabapentin are having an effect on the burning spasms in my arm. I told her that each week that I increased the dose I was able to get a 75-80% reduction in the amount of burning spasms for approximately 2-1/2 to 3 days tops before I adjusted to the new dosage and the beneficial effects wore off. Unfortunately, I also sleep for 2-1/2 to 3 days each time the dosage is increased.
I am now at the recommended level of 1800mg a day and don't have anymore dosage increases scheduled and it's as if I'm not getting any relief again. She said dr. Kujawa wants to keep me at that dosage until our next office visit.
As far as the Botox injections go, I told her this time it definitely had an effect. My hand is now weaker and I can't even my full coffee cup up straight. She said that's what it's supposed to do and that as it wears off the spasms may get stronger and that we will do another round of injections at the 3 month office visit. She also said that I shouldn't be grabbing anything more than a couple of pounds.

Paul

Subject: Bankruptcy ?

Hi Hans,
I spoke with David Stretch, a bankruptcy lawyer, about possibly going the route of Bankruptcy. He said if I have a pending a suit that it is considered a possible asset and may allow the court to hold off any bankruptcy judgement pending the outcome and that I would only be able to exempt 15,000 before the creditors get their share.
He also said if all I default on is credit cards but keep up on the mortgage and basic needs all that can happen is a judgement will be issued against me and it goes on my credit report and it can be cleared later by filing.

I know my personal financial issues are not your problem but I am to a point for the first time ever that I am stopping all payments to my credit cards and focusing on the house, food and utilities. Or rather I should say my Mom is thanks to the chainsaw.

Does filing bankruptcy make any difference on your end and would it complicate anything?

In your opinion what would be the better route, file bankruptcy now or just default on the credit cards and deal with it later?

I added the contact info for David Stretch below

Thanks,
Paul

Hi Hans and Meredith,

I had an appointment with Dr. Kujawa yesterday.
She said the Botox injections will not solve the spastic pains you saw marked on my arm in the video I sent you but it should help with opening and closing my hand so I did another round of injections.

Of coarse I asked, am I stuck with those pains the rest of my life, it's been almost 3 years?

She replied, most likely but that's what the Neurontin/Gabapentin are for and it should help curb some of those pains.

She prescribed Neurontin/Gabapentin for the pains and asked that I report any changes to her and to see her again in another 3 months.

My next appointment is set for August 14th.

Thanks again,
Paul

I spoke with my counselor at Rosecrance, Dennis, he said the issue is the old records are kept on their old system. He is going to try and have them for me Monday morning.

I got the records from rosecrance (minus the original councilors stuff and gave them to Meredith the day of the hearing. Rosecrance was in the process of getting the original records. I'll call and see if they have them.

My case is "gross negligence" causing "untreatable, irreversible and debilitating harm"

Never had a lawyer who needed me to help write or correct anything before.
The SSDI lawyer pulled everything from the record and it was perfect.

Yes, I would like to reword much of it because I wouldn't want anything used in it twisted later if we do go to trial.

Yes, I understand that your firm won't back me but it doesn't mean I'm not going to take it to trial anyway. I need the wording to match exactly what I need should I go the distance.

I can honestly say the dollar amount you listed I would never agree to. It wouldn't even cover my wages for the years in physical therapy yet the rest of my life.
If I end up with a structured settlement where I have to chase this guy I believe we can always sell the settlement and cash out. Is that possible?

Hans,
What is a small amount?
Is it enough to pay for the medical expenses?

Its your word against Mr. Gagnons. Most times, that means we lose - as plaintiff. I don't think we want to invest the time and expense to get to that result. Im happy to try to settle the case for you, but it will probably be a low amount. So, I want to advise you now should you wish to retain other counsel to try the case for you. Please advise how you wish to proceed. I know this is not good news, but I have learned a long time ago, some cases just are not proveable - not because you are not credible, but because jurys demand more than we can give at trial.

Paul,

I was able to get this email! I had written Meg to see the status of the records.

Again, here is what we discussed:
(1) the medical expert gave you a closed claim of benefits - we don't want to take that (i want you to have the ability to appeal any unfavorable decision/not be foreclosed from getting a closed period of benefits and then reapplying if need be) so that is why we went to the vocational expert testimony.
(2) when we went to the Vocational Expert, he gave jobs that conflicted with his testimony so I eliminated the jobs through his testimony (I just need to write a post-hearing memo for that and I am holding off and waiting for the medical records from Dr. Kujawa so i can address ongoing treatment in a memo to the judge as well)
(3) your psych records also reflect you can't do the jobs the vocational expert listed because they all require social contact which your records reflect that you really shouldn't do and the ALJ didn't develop the testimony there - kept saying we were running late - i will address that as well in the memo to the judge.

The records we addressed were requested previously by Meg and from my knowledge we are still waiting on the records (medical records often take quite a long time to come in).

I'll be happy to follow up with Meg/Janet tomorrow to find out the status of the records and if we may require you to get the updated records. While the Dr. Kohn records would show old treatment, it is Dr. Kujawa's records that are more useful (they show ongoing issues during the period in which you are claiming disability). Old records from 2002 will only show that you had problems in 2002 - updated records (from 6/28/11 onward) are key to your case at this point.

I'll be in the office tomorrow to speak further as well (312) 561-3030 if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Hi Janet,
I had the SSDI hearing last Thursday. It was a learning experience and I am not sure how it went. Much of it I didn't understand.
We were missing some of the reports. Particularly anything from Dr. Kujawa showing ongoing care for post traumatic Dystonia in the right forearm and some old reports from Dr. Kohn who was the Dr. who gave me over 100 shots in my neck, shoulders and back for severe muscle spasms after the car accident over a decade ago. Dr. Kohn from Kohn medical group in McHenry, I completely forgot about until the questions about muscle spasms came up in the hearing.

The judge left open the record for 30 days for us to add anything to the medical record.
Should I be the one to get the old reports from dr Kohn and the ongoing reports from dr Kujawa?
Also, Meredith Marcus, the attorney from Daley Disability law, asked me to send her Dr. Kujawa's contact information but her email (mmarcus@fdaleylaw.com) keeps getting sent back to me with an error saying its undeliverable. I'm not sure how to get around the emails being sent back. What should I do?

Thanks again for everything,
Paul

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

David was the one the neighbor talked to. The neighbor did not know Dave's name but described him to a T and did say he would know him if he saw him.

On another note: I noticed David had the order of cutting down the apple tree before or after the pine tree goofed. Not a big deal but I think Bill, Carols and my own deps agree it was done prior. I remember the same neighbor talking about that day prior to the big trees coming down.

That neighbor has a better view from inside his house of the McGuires back yard than the McGuires do from their own house.

I think David wasn't just confused about the timing, he was trying to show he hadn't done any work prior to this incident. Not sure why but the complete fabrication as a whole shows that David was right, he wouldn't lie to help me but he would lie to help himself.

I'm done ranting...
Reading that dep got me going. Need to let this thing rest for a bit.

Have a good day and enjoy your holidays,
Paul

Hi Hans,

A while back I sent you the name and number of the McGuires neighbor. I don't have it in front of me at the moment but it's in our correspondence.

The neighbor claimed that the McGuires had asked him to borrow his chainsaw to cut down the trees on the McGuires property just a few days prior to the trees coming down.

It would seem to reason that the McGuires did not own a chainsaw at that point and tried to borrow one from a neighbor before going out and purchasing one specifically for that project.

So my question is, if the McGuires can be proved to be hiding the reason and timing of purchasing the chainsaw can this benefit us in any way?

Thanks,
Paul

Hans,

I read through David's dep. it's mostly lies with a few truths.

Where should I begin or better yet where would you like me to begin?

Almost everything he said was made up, from which end of the branch I was holding, at who's direction I was doing it under and even as to why I was even there on the McGuires property, etc...

Not to mention the nonsense of $10,000.
The only good thing he has coming from me is my ability to hold back my primal side be civil.
It's a shame we don't live in ancient times under the old eye for an eye philosophy of justice.
I'd much rather take a chainsaw to his arm than get any money.

As far as the McGuires are concerned give me a call.

Paul

Hi Hans,
Just picked it up in the mail and haven't read it yet.

Is the typed version of the dep actually verbatim or edited somehow?

After reading my own it made me realize not everything said was included.

Thanks again and I'll have an answer sometime tomorrow. This thing looks like a novel.

Hans,

I wanted to review David Gagnons dep before letting the McGuires off the hook.

And that word "foreseeable" in the McGuire suite...
Well I suppose if I gave anyone a chainsaw and told them to use it, given enough time, an injury is foreseeable, very foreseeable just not hoped for.

And the comment about people not liking friends who sue friends, um well we all should know other than entirely random acts such as auto accidents, train derailments, air plane accidents, etc. Etc.. That most of the time it's those we know who hurt us most often than not. and if it's serious we must be able to sue even if it is or once was a friend.

I hope not.
Sounded to me like they claimed to be hiding in their home all day when the neighbor saw them outside actively participating all day.
And carol seeing me pick up a 200 lb. tiller alone with her own eyes when it was really someone she knew very well since the 1970's and sees once a week at least. This shows a desperate wanting to prove my claim of injury as false.
Those are a bit more than a bad recollection by anyone's standard.
I would feel better if we had in reserve and were ready to use all tools needed to win.

Hans,
If we take the McGuires off the suit can their deps still be used against us in any way?

John Choyinski stopped by yesterday and I asked him about the tiller. He openly admits being the one who loaded and unloaded the tiller. I recorded the conversation and my Mom was also present and on the tape. Both knew I was recording it in my home. I can send it to you if you need it.

Brian Beebe, McGuires neighbor told me he saw the McGuires out working in the yard most of the day. He doesn't know their names but said he would recognize them if he saw them.

If their deps can or will be used in any way against us can or should we bring provable perjury charges and have them thrown out?

Thanks,
Paul

Hans,
Just got done reading those deps.

First off, Glad I'm not a lawyer.
Secondly, it's full of half truths and flat out lies.

Your right, going after those half truths are probably not worth anything in the long run but I do have to comment about the tiller because that one was hysterical.

Dave's best friend John Choyinski was with me when I delivered the tiller and he was the one unloading the trailer and I'm more than positive he would testify to that effect.
It's just amazing how families lie and exaggerate to protect each other but I do understand it, it is Caroline's son.

If there is anything in them we could use or need to be weary of let me know and we can go over it.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

Hans,

A while back you told me that the jury's here in this county are primarily conservative and that they know the only reason we are before them is for money.

Not sure if that statement was meant to scare me or not but I do agree, they are, for the most part conservative and I would hope we should make it known we want money for damages, lawyers fees and the medical bills, etc... loud and clear.

We should also make it known to the jury that the parties or their insurance companies have never even offered to pay 1 cent for any of the medical damage and that's why we seek the juries help in settling this dispute. Perhaps if the insurance companies would have paid for these basic things none of us would even be here. but they didn't and now yes after years of waiting I am seeking money to pay for the medical treatments, you as the lawyer and finally myself as I'm the one who has had to suffer the consequences of the Gagnon/McGuire choices on that day.

I cannot believe that a conservative jury isn't going to award anything less than the cost of the medical damages and lawyer fees from them unless something catastrophic changes. I do see them being conservative as to what I will end up with at the end but not the real medical and lawyers bills. Even the conservative juries in this county are not so conservative that they won't give the base bills.

The McGuires insurance is free to go after David for damages if they lose.

Other than fearing a motion to dismiss the suit against the McGuire's insurance based on some false concept that because they didn't have their finger directly on the chainsaw trigger they hold no responsibility for damages.

what are the real benefits of letting them off so easy?

And I don't want to hear its because 2 parties vs 1 is much easier.

Letting off the McGuires insurance for such a small amount is anything but reasonable and I just can't see any ethical judge in this county not keeping them in the suit all the way for a jury to decide whether they had any part to play in the days events and the level of responsibility they share with David for the consequences considering it was the McGuires project, their land, their choice of who did the labor etc. etc...

When you advised me to seek a settlement with the McGuires insurance, I agreed to look at it only because they didn't have their hands directly on the trigger of the chainsaw and That you would get at the least the medical bills paid for out of it. I thought that was made clear in your office.

I know you work on approximately 33%. Is 33% of 5,000 even worth the time and money you already invested? It's only $1650 for you and I'm sure your hourly fee eats that up rather quickly, I know mine did back when I had hands and arms that worked so I could charge.

That's their personal issues of control with their own son. I will testify all day long about the things they wanted him to do that he did do throughout the day.

By claiming they had no control over the work dave did after all the preparation, money and time spent out in the yard yelling at him that they wanted certain things done in a particular way I don't see how they get out of the direct over site of the project because now that there is an injury they don't feel they had any real direct control over their own workers actions?
This is ridiculous.
Hans, they have to do better than claim they had no control over David that day. If that's the case why were they there watching the work most of the day? Even Bill had hands on doing some of the work and rarely let David go to long without checking and seeing if things were being done the way Carol and Him wanted it.

If you want a negligence case for the homeowners ask what happened immediately after the accident.

Neither of them offered me any medical assistance nor did either of them call 911 and all Carol could think of besides calling David an idiot was calling her homeowners insurance.

Thinking of what I just wrote,
Should we take the 5 and let them off David's suite and then charge them with the aftermath?
The same can be done with David.
He absolutely refused me a ride to the hospital in his car because I was bleeding so bad.

Is this a take it or leave it or do we have any other options?

If you want a negligence case for the homeowners ask what happened immediately after the accident.

Neither of them offered me any medical assistance nor did either of them call 911 and all Carol could think of besides calling David an idiot was calling her homeowners insurance.

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

Paul

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

conduct immediately after the incident does show his lack of moral values for other humans and what he was willing and was not willing to do to help me get medical help. For his actions towards me or any other human being is enough to sue the shit out him alone. It is the things that happened afterwards that upset me the most.
Sorry for the rant but Dave was a complete ass all the way and deserves this.

Subject: Sagerman deposition

Hi Hans,

Reading through the summary of Dr. Sagermans Deposition I'm curious as to whether Dr. Levin has been deposed? The reason for this question is because of the EMG tests. Dr. Levin only conducted both the tests from just above the scar in the right forearm to the right hand and fingers. She never tested the right elbow which most likely would have identified the compression in the ulnar nerve earlier. She told me she didn't see any reason to give a full test beyond the scarred area even though The Dr asked for a full test of the nerve. She did tell me that all of the branch nerves in the forearm were severed but that is considered minor nerve damage and most likely wouldn't repair itself. Those minor nerves that were ripped out is what caused the loss of feeling in the right forearm and loss of fine motor skills in the areas they control. Again, no major nerve damage was found, only minor nerves but they still hurt like hell and play a significant part.

As far as the MRI, I was told the test cannot tell the difference between scar tissue and good tissue by both Dr. Sagerman and Dr Levin and neither expected to see much from the test.
